Over 800 wood duck houses have been placed in Polk and Red Lake counties. Predators such as raccoons and foxes have prevented the wood duck population from growing. This year's hatch has proved to be pretty strong and should make for some of the best duck hunting in years

Post-high school planning program Monday at NCTC

Post-high school planning program for all high school students and their parents will take place Monday, October 2, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls.

The program will give students and their parents an opportunity to explore a variety of options for continued education or military service after high school. Representatives from nearly 60 educational institutions and other organizations will be available to answer questions and provide important information for post-high school planning.

Structured like a fair, the program will permit students and their parents the freedom to look at various displays and speak to those schools, colleges and organizations that interest them. There is no admission or charge for participation.

The program is sponsored by the Minnesota Association of Secondary School Counselors and College Admission Officers, the same group that hosts the National College Fair held in the Twin Cities each fall. Students should contact their high school counselor for further information.

Lincoln high choir plans return to New York City

Fifty-six members of the 71-voice Lincoln high school concert choir have signed up to participate in a tour to New York City next May to present a concert in famous Carnegie Hall, according to Darcy Reese, vocal music instructor at Lincoln high school.

Three years ago the Lincoln choir made a similar performance and sight-seeing tour to New York City and it proved to be an eye-opening as well as gratifying educational experience, Mrs. Reese said.

The first trip was on the Easter weekend. This year the group will leave on May 9 and return May 14, performing at Carnegie Hall on the evening of May 12. The choir will perform Mozart's "Great Mass in C Minor" under the direction of New York director Don Neuen.

"Last time we had a very large and responsive crowd and received a standing ovation," Mrs. Reese said. "The people at Mid-America Productions who make the arrangements remembered us, which really surprised me because they work with so many groups.

"They said they were familiar with the quality of our performance and that we didn't need to send an audition tape this time—that we would be welcome to perform in their program at any time. I think that's a real tribute to our school and our choir," Mrs. Reese added.

Efforts are also being made to arrange for the students to perform in another famous public place in New York City.

Cost of participation is set at $1,360 per student with half to be provided by the student himself or herself in monthly installments for the next seven months. The other half is to be earned through various fund-raising projects which are already underway.

Each student has an individual account which is credited in relation to the monthly payments and individual efforts in fund-raising. If individuals fall short of half the total through their contributions toward fund-raising, they must pay the difference.

Presently underway is a candy and gift wrap sale which continues through October 9. October 15 has been designated as "Bucket Day" when choir students will go door-to-door throughout the city. More information on that project will be

ODC buys Home Lumber facilities for expansion

Crate-making operations to be moved, freeing space for program expansion

Occupational Development Center (ODC) of Thief River Falls has completed arrangements for purchase of the buildings and site of Home Lumber Company at Dewey Avenue and East Eighth Street in Thief River Falls from Norris Melander of Minneapolis.

The facilities will soon be vacated by Home Lumber Company, owned by Richard Kruta, which is building a new lumber yard on highway 59 south. Home Lumber has leased the Eighth and Dewey facilities from Melander since he sold the business to Kruta on Jan. 1, 1986.

Purchase transaction was finalized September 8 and the actual change of ownership will be effective Jan. 1, 1996.

Peter Lavalier, president of the ODC, said the acquisition is being made primarily to accommodate expansion of the company's local crate-building operations. ODC builds all of the shipping crates used by Arctco, Inc. of Thief River Falls for its lines of snowmobiles and personal watercraft and will provide crates for its soon-to-be-released all-terrain vehicles.

The Home Lumber site provides ODC with 5.4 acres of land, 20,000 square feet of work space in the main building and an additional 30,000 square feet of covered storage. Planning is now being done for necessary repairs and changes, including electrical wiring and installation of a pneumatic system for air-powered tools.

Move To Allow Expansion

Moving of the crate-building operation to Eighth and Dewey will vacate space on the first floor of the present ODC building on highway 32 south for expanded programs of service, including vocational evaluation, vocational training, habilitation and training and placement in industry (outside the ODC).

The present building has 15,000 square feet of space and remodeling will create options for additional programs for services, Lavalier said. The second floor of the present building will be remodeled for administrative quarters.

Lavalier said the crate building operation will involve approximately 30 clients and employees. These will include people with disabilities as well as non-disabled workers.

The first floor at the present site will have 40 to 50 clients and employees, he said, and there will be about a dozen people on the second floor in various administrative, clerical and accounting roles.

Increasing Need For Space

"There has been an increasing need for additional space over the years with the growth of Arctco and their crate requirements," Lavalier explained. "In the past we have converted space within our present plant at the expense of our other programs or discontinued operations, such as our aluminum can recycling.

"With from five to 10 semi-loads of crate materials coming into our facility every day and a comparable quantity of crates being shipped out, the necessity for change became obvious. Availability of the Home Lumber Company site—which has been used for truck traffic and lumber handling for many years—appeared to provide a lot of solutions to our problems."

Lavalier said the ODC has been operating its crate business with two shifts a day, six days a week for

TRF man killed in accident on Highway 32

Ernest Henry Huot, 69, Thief River Falls, was killed Thursday night when his van struck a trailer being pulled by a Freightliner semi truck.

Minnesota state patrol received a report of the accident at 8:35 p.m. September 28 at the junction of Highway 32 and State Aid 3 near St. Hilaire. According to the accident report, Leo Merlyn Potter, 47, Grand Rapids, was driving a 1987 Freightliner and pulling a trailer. Potter was traveling west on State Aid 3 and turning south onto Highway 32 when the 1985 Dodge van driven by Huot collided with the trailer. Huot was taken to Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls with head and chest injuries. He later died from his injuries.

City council decides to proceed with new group home

Karlstad — At a special meeting, the Karlstad city council decided to proceed with the building of a new home in which all residents will live on the main floor.

First, the city must purchase the existing group home from Polk County Group Home, Inc. of Crookston. Once the city has a clear title, it can proceed with financing.

Construction will likely be done in two phases: (1) the ground work and (2) the building structure. Welfare director John Beau Lae and Roger Deneen of Polk County Group Home, Inc. both prefer that residents are housed off of the premises during construction.

The council decided to have Lonnie Laffen of Johnson, Laffen Meland of Grand Forks draw up plans for the project.

Group of girls form their own babysitters club

East Grand Forks — A group of four girls between the ages of 10 and 12 wanted an after school project, so they decided to do what they do best. They formed a babysitting club.

The girls have a wealth of experience, which includes babysitting siblings, cousins, nieces and nephews and neighborhood children.

The girls pay club dues which are used to supply babysitting kits comprised of toys, treats and quality-kid cards, which reward children for good behavior. The girls started the club because they love to babysit and they wanted some extra money.

"And," said one of the girls, "we wanted to go to the mall and buy school clothes."

Rudel is the author and publisher of two books—Cooking Healthy and Fast and Cooking Healthy, Fast and Superfast—both released in 1994.

Class topics will include eating breakfast in the fast lane, packing lunches for the family, quick one-minute meals on the go, using that favorite crockpot, ideas for one or two, tips about redoing some favorite desserts and tasting a chocolate cake with three grams of fat.

Participants will be provided with at least five menus and some ideas for meal planning for the whole family. "This class will help participants get in the mood to cook and not feel rushed," emphasizes Deb Zak, Pennington county extension coordinator. "A lifestyle quiz will also be completed by participants."

'Tis the season for apples and today we have some apple recipes for you.

Here is an apple pie that will be great for a dessert to serve at the next gal's get-together.

HARVEST APPLE PIE

5 cups apples, sliced
1 cup brown sugar
1 2 tablespoons corn starch
1 teaspoon pumpkin pie spice

Topping

1/2 cup brown sugar
3/4 cup graham cracker crumbs
1/2 teaspoon pumpkin pie spice
1/2 cup walnuts, chopped
1/4 cup butter or margarine

Combine first four ingredients and let stand while making pie shell. Pour mixture into unbaked shell.

Mix topping ingredients and place over apples. Place aluminum foil over top of pie and bake at 400 degrees for 25 minutes or until bubbly.

Something quicker that is just as good as pie:

APPLE TORTE

3/4 cup softened shortening
1 cup brown sugar
2 cups flour
1 cup oatmeal
1/4 teaspoon salt
Apples
1 cup water
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons corn starch
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/8 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla

Mix shortening, brown sugar, flour, oatmeal and salt. Press half of the mixture into a 9x13 inch pan and place sliced apples over.

Mix remaining ingredients in saucepan and bring to a boil. Pour over apples and then top with remaining flour mixture.

Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. Serve with whipped cream or ice cream for a special treat.

How about an elegant apple cake:

APPLE CAKE

2 cups sugar
2/3 cups shortening
2 eggs
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup cold coffee
2 teaspoons soda
1/2 teaspoon cloves
1 cup raisins (ground, if desired)
2 1/2 cups finely chopped or grated apples
3 cups flour
1/2 cup chopped nuts, if desired

Mix in order given, as for other cakes. Place in greased 9x13 inch pan and bake at 350 degrees for about an hour.

Apple-Scotch Frosting

3/4 cup walnuts
1/3 cup butterscotch chips
1/2 cup coconut
2 tablespoons butter
1/3 cup brown sugar
1/4 cup light cream

Mix in saucepan or micro-safe bowl and heat until chips are melted. Spread on cake and broil until brown.

If you don't want to make cake, make these bars right now, quick as a wink:

APPLE BARS

1 cup sugar
1 egg
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 1/2 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 cup warm coffee
2 cups raw apples, diced

Mix in order given. Press into greased and floured 9x13 inch pan. Sprinkle with Topping.

Topping

1/2 cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 cup chopped nuts

Mix together and sprinkle over unbaked bars. Bake at 350 degrees for 35 minutes.

DOT to conduct drainage work on Highway 59

Minnesota Department of Transportation (MnDOT) will be conducting drainage work Tuesday, October 3, on Highway 59 from First Street to Nelson Drive in Thief River Falls.

According to Richard Kjensrud, MnDOT area maintenance supervisor, the work is scheduled to be started and completed on the same day.

"Because of heavy traffic in that area," Kjensrud said, "motorists and pedestrians are cautioned to be especially alert to workers, equipment and traffic control in that area Tuesday."

LETTERS

To The Editor:

I am looking for some Thief River Falls area auto racing fans with long memories.

In about 1950 there were track roadster or "hot rod" races held in Thief River Falls on a half mile dirt track at the Pennington county fairgrounds. I'd like to find out more about these races and, if possible, locate some photos.

I am currently working on a book about the history of roadster racing. These cars were once popular all over the United States but disappeared from the racing scene some 40 years ago. Digging out their story is not easy.

I'd like to include the account of the Thief River Falls cars and drivers in the book and I am asking for your help. If you know anything about roadster racing in the Thief River Falls area please contact me at 3880 Road 39G, Sagle, ID 83860. The phone number is 208-263-5953. Thank you.

Sincerely,
Don Radbruch

To The Editor:

The "wetlands task force" organized by House Minority Leader Steve Sviggum and Rep. Tim Finseth is nothing more than a political ploy. The Republicans don't really want this issue resolved because they want to use it in the 1996 campaign. It's cynical politics taking the place of serious debate—and haven't we had enough of that?

I strongly support reforming wetlands laws for the benefit of farmers and landowners. I co-authored a bill with Rep. Jim Tunheim which passed with bi-partisan support. Having worked on the bill, I can testify that Rep. Finseth's caustic comments damaged the effort. Every time he calls metro-area legislators "ignorant" it gets harder to get votes for a pro-farmer bill. But Finseth gets his headlines.

A bigger obstacle to pro-farmer wetlands reform is Gov. Arne Carlson and his veto threats. If Sviggum and Finseth are serious, they would be talking to the Governor—not sending an all-Republican group out to inflame the public with political rhetoric at taxpayers' expense.

The House recently held a hearing on wetlands in Bemidji and several hundred people attended. These folks showed a greater understanding than Rep. Finseth of the need for bi-partisanship on the issue. I believe we can bring forth a good wetlands bill in 1996—but it would be a lot easier if Rep. Finseth gave up his inflammatory rhetoric and put the needs of his constituents above partisanship.

Sincerely,
Irv Anderson
State Representative
Speaker of the House

Editorial opinion published on this page, whether locally written or re-printed from other sources is intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. Opinions expressed in items from other publications may be contradictory to the editor's own views but are offered for their general interest.

Are HMOs Dangerous To Your Health?

There has been rapid growth over the last few years in health maintenance organizations (HMOs) and the evidence is mounting that the managed care they provide is something less than it should be expected to be. The following article by F. R. Duplantier of America's Future quotes a number of publications and individuals familiar with the problems:

According to the September issue of Consumer's Research, the main difficulty with (HMOs) is "the financial arrangement made with doctors." That arrangement may include a fixed amount of money per covered patient as well as bonuses for delivering care on a frugal basis.

Such incentives reward physicians for deferring or withholding care that is seen as being too expensive—in essence, pitting the financial interest of the doctor against the medical interest of the patient.

Consumers Research reports that, with HMOs, "the less your doctor does for you, the more money he gets to keep." That means that HMOs have built-in incentives "against referring you to a specialist, authorizing a high-tech procedure or approving a costly operation. In some HMOs, there may be a review board empowered to deny you such treatment even when your doctor says you need it."

Consumers' Research offers a sampling of "the mounting number of press accounts and official studies" indicating that, once you join an HMO, "you may receive inadequate care, or be denied some procedure that could improve your health or even save your life."

A Washington Post story from August of last year reports that some doctors believe the managed care system "changes the way physicians think about patients for the worse and may encourage them to shun patients with high risks or expensive health problems." This past August, the Washington Post reported on the situation at a San Francisco medical center, where "organ transplant specialists have turned down patients who might have been given transplants in the past even though they had poor prospects for recovery." Without transplants, of course, such patients are doomed.

Last November American Medical News reported the comments of an emergency physician in Sacramento, CA, regarding "dangerous interference by managed care plans" lobbying the state legislature to restrict the scope of their coverage. He cited the case of a patient with a possible spine fracture whose plan denied authorization for care, and a patient with "an externalizing arterial hemorrhage" who was ushered out of an emergency room and sent off to a plan physician's office.

"There has been a great deal of gatekeeper misbehavior and failure to understand emergency medical procedures," said the doctor. "That puts patients in a position of choosing between their lives and their pocketbooks, even though they are insured and these services should be covered."

According to the July 9 New York Times, "hospitals across the country report that HMOs are increasingly denying claims for care provided in hospital emergency rooms." Early this year, the Department of Health and Human Services revealed that up to 25 per cent of former HMO participants surveyed "said they failed to receive primary care, referrals to specialist, and HMO coverage of emergency care they believed they needed."

The Department found that "chronically ill and disabled patients" have expressed "an alarmingly high level of dissatisfaction with the care provided by HMOs."

Trial Lawyers President Plays With Statistics

"Figures don't lie but liars figure," is an old axiom that comes to mind once in awhile when we hear or see statistics being tossed around. It doesn't necessarily mean that the figures are known by the user to be inaccurate, only that they are selectively used to show only one side of an issue. For every set of statistics used to attempt to prove a point there must be at least that many more to refute it.

Further, studies which produce statistics may be flawed in a number of ways so that the result is at best a calculated guess rather than an absolute fact. This is frequently the case in polls and surveys. Nevertheless, it is interesting to see how people use statistics in support of their biases and opinions.

Take for instance the statements by Mark R. Kosieradzki, president of the Minnesota Trial Lawyers Association, in a letter he circulated to the news media early last spring. No one has ever accused the MTLA of being too passive in espousing the right to sue. Kosieradzki's letter led off with the question: "Why is the United States Senate considering laws to limit the accountability of doctors and hospitals that commit medical malpractice?"

What Congress was considering, of course, was some means to hold down the outrageous court awards in too many cases across the country. But here is the rest of Kosieradzki's letter:

"Based on the Harvard Medical Malpractice Study, medical researchers estimate that 80,000 American die every year due to medical malpractice. Notwithstanding, the New England Journal of Medicine reported that only two per cent of those injured by physicians' negligence ever seek compensation through a lawsuit.

"In Minnesota the Supreme Court has reported that only .013 per cent of Minnesota cases are medical malpractice cases and such claims continue to be on a downward trend. According to the Midwest Medical Insurance Company there has been a 27.8 per cent decrease in premiums since 1989. As a result of this downward trend 3,300 Minnesota doctors will receive an additional premium refund this year.

"Proponents of medical malpractice revision argue that doctors are practicing 'defensive medicine' by ordering more tests in an effort to avoid malpractice claims. However, the United State Congress Office of Technology Assessment found less than eight per cent of diagnostic procedures are performed due to a concern with medical malpractice liability.

"At the same time the Consumer Federation of America found that physicians with financial interest in the laboratories which perform the tests order up to 96 per cent more tests than doctors without such interest. The total bill to patients who receive care at physician-owned laboratories can be as much as 25 per cent higher than those in non-physician-owned laboratories.

"While we attempt to teach our children that they must be responsible for the consequences of their actions, Congress is attempting to create a class of people, physicians, who would no longer be held to the same level of accountability as the rest of us. Let's not allow the safety of our families to be taken away by politicians."

That is the text of Kosieradzki's letter. His organization's interest in its members having a continued free rein to prosecute claims of medical malpractice and seek exorbitant settlements is understandable. It's how they make their living. The information from no less than six sources to support his opinion is interesting if questionable: Are there really 80,000 medical malpractice deaths in the U.S. annually? Someone must have statistics to refute that claim!

Internet access available at TRF Extension Office

Area residents are invited to drop by the Minnesota Extension office in Thief River Falls and "surf" the Internet. The Pennington county site is one of 60 established throughout the state by the Access Minnesota project. The University of Minnesota's Extension Service is coordinating the effort.

Local extension service agents recently received training on the Internet and are now prepared to answer your questions and guide you through Internet. They do ask, however, that you reserve a time to use the computer.

The Internet is a collection of computer networks that are tied together to provide services to people world wide. The most common activity on the Internet is interacting with other people through electronic mail. Another activity people do on the Internet is search for information and retrieve files. Searchers can view or retrieve information at universities, libraries, government agencies and commercial businesses worldwide. Information that can be found on internet represent everything from art to university research.

In Thief River Falls, the project represents an opportunity to evaluate the merits of the Internet, determine community needs and assess the various options for connecting to the Internet.

People who use an Access Minnesota site to link to the Internet will be able to view, print, and download information contained in electronic files stored in over 7,000 computer systems throughout the world. This information includes university research results, business development information, government and public service information, library catalogs, health care information; and online books, journals and magazines.

Because the Access Minnesota project is supported primarily with public funds, the sites will not provide access to electronic mail and commercial services such as CompuServe, America OnLine and Prodigy. Users will be unable to participate in discussion groups found on the Internet. The project will also not provide Internet access to homes or private businesses.

The Access Minnesota project is made possible in part by a $425,000 grant from the Telecommunications and Information Infrastructure Assistance Program, National Telecommunications and Information Administration, U.S. Department of Commerce. Additional in-kind contributions are made by the State of Minnesota's Department of Administration, the University of Minnesota and Minnesota Extension Service, FirstCall-Net, and InforMNs.

The project will continue through Spring 1996. For more information contact the Pennington County Extension Service office in Thief River Falls at 681-2116.

Kim Swenson of the Pennington County Extension office is among the extension agents ready to assist first time users of Internet. The office recently received training on how to use the equipment and system provided to the office through the Access Minnesota project. Individuals interested in using Internet at the office are asked to make reservations. It is also open from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

TAYLOR® Outdoor Woodstove
TAYLOR® did not become the largest manufacturer of outdoor woodstoves by deceiving the public to make sales. Rather, we built our reputation by producing the most thermal efficient, best designed and longest lasting woodstove on the market. One of our competitors chose to use our name in their advertising as one of their attempts to mislead customers. They claim to be the cleanest burning stove with a 92.5% combustion efficiency. To clarify what this figure of combustion efficiency actually means is that 92.5% of the wood you put in their firebox will burn up; that's it. A good bonfire could achieve this meaningless number. Thermal efficiency is the percent of heat energy or BTU's that is successfully transferred from the wood to the water. TAYLOR® stoves have always had the highest proven thermal efficiency of all woodstoves tested, 81%. This is due to the double pass flue design and separate secondary burn chamber that reburns gases all other stoves put up in the clouds. Please check out TAYLOR® and you will see we clearly have a superior outdoor wood heating system.

Wildlife Refuge Week observed October 8-14

Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge east of Holt will join refuges across the country October 8-14 in observance of the first National Wildlife Refuge Week.

Agassiz will hold an open house Sunday, October 8, from 2 to 7 p.m. Wildlife related movies and videos will be shown from 2 to 4 p.m., the observation tower and office will be open and a bus tour will start at 4:30 p.m. and end at 7 p.m.

Refreshments will be served and door prizes donated by many local businesses will be awarded.

Beginning this year, the second week in October will be observed annually as National Wildlife Refuge Week, leading to the system's 100th birthday anniversary in the year 2003.

"By that time," states U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service Director Mollie Beattie, "we hope to make all Americans aware of the national wildlife refuge system as places to enjoy wildlife, to hunt, fish, watch and learn about our natural heritage."

Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge was established in 1937 and developed as a vital link for waterfowl and wildlife in the chain of national wildlife refuges in the Mississippi Flyway. It is composed of 40,043 acres of wetland, 10,000 acres of shrubs, 7,000 acres of forests, 4,250 acres of grassland and 150 acres of cropland.

This diversity of wetland and upland habitat supports 280 species of birds, 49 species of mammals, 12 species of amphibians and nine species of reptiles. Because of the great diversity of wildlife, Agassiz is nationally known for its unique birding opportunities as well as a place where moose and wolves may be seen.

President Theodore Roosevelt established Pelican Island, FL, as the first national wildlife refuge in 1903 to protect herons, egrets and other colony-nesting birds from market hunters. He established 50 more refuges during his presidency, nearly all to protect species threatened with extinction.

Today there are more than 500 refuges covering 92 million acres in all 50 states and several territories, ranging in size from one-half acre to 20 million acres and including every kind of ecosystem from deserts and mountains to swamps and remote islands. The national wildlife refuge system is the only one in the world dedicated to conserving wildlife and its habitat.

National wildlife refuges are held in trust for the American public and last year more than 28 million people visited refuges to enjoy and experience wildlife.

For more information about National Wildlife Refuge Week at Agassiz refuge call Maggie Anderson, refuge manager, at 218-449-4115 or visit the refuge headquarters located 11 miles east of Holt on Marshall County Road 7. Office hours are 7:30 to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Jack Tunheim gains support for judgeship

At confirmation hearings Thursday, September 28, before the U.S. Senate Judiciary Committee in Washington, DC, Newfolden native John R. Tunheim was introduced by Sen. Rod Grams as "a superior nominee, and well qualified for this appointment to the federal bench."

Tunheim, who has served the State of Minnesota since 1986 as its Chief Deputy Attorney General, was nominated by President Bill Clinton in July to the U.S. District Court for the District of Minnesota. The post has been vacant for nearly three years.

"This is a most important nomination," Sen. Grams said in a statement before the committee. "We have the highest expectations of those we choose to serve on our federal courts. We entrust them with a tremendous responsibility, and in return we expect them to be wise and fair, and we expect nothing less than the utmost integrity and honor. That's a great deal to ask of any person, but I am convinced that Jack Tunheim will meet those high expectations."

In noting Tunheim's qualifications for the federal bench, Grams specifically cited his many years of public service wit the Attorney General's Office and as Minnesota's Solicitor General, and the high level of respect Tunheim has earned from Minnesota's law enforcement and legal communities. Just last year, Tunheim won Senate confirmation to chair the U.S. Assassination Records Review Board, a commission screening documents relating to the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Although the Judiciary Committee has not yet scheduled a formal vote, Sen. Grams urged the panel to work swiftly in approving Tunheim's nomination.

"Jack has served the State of Minnesota with passion for many years," Sen. Grams said. "I anticipate he will serve with equal distinction on the U.S. District Court, and honor the judiciary through his service. I am proud to support this nomination, and I urge this committee to give Jack Tunheim its unanimous confirmation."

Agassiz refuge issues permits for woodcutting

Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge is issuing woodcutting permits valid from September 30 through the 1995-96 winter season, according to Gary Tischer of the refuge staff.

Tischer said woodcutting is used as a management tool to promote habitat diversity and more specifically to enhance oak-savannah habitat on the refuge.

A refuge map showing locations of designated cutting areas and a list of special use permit conditions are available at the refuge office. Woodcutters may select a plot where all standing live and dead aspen, balsam poplar and willow must be cut. Any other standing tree species can not be removed, but all trees on the ground may be taken. Wet conditions on some plots may prevent access until freeze-up.

Cutting and hauling of wood is permitted during daylight hours. The permit holder must be present during any woodcutting or hauling activity and have the permit in possession. Helpers are allowed and encouraged for safety purposes.

Firearm, bow and arrows, alcoholic beverages and drugs are not permitted. There is no cord limit within each plot. Wood is to be cut for personal use only. Cost of the permit is $10 which covers the administrative charge.

Interested people are to contact refuge personnel at 449-4115 or stop at the refuge headquarters located 11 miles east of Holt on Marshall County Road 7. Inspection hours are Monday through Friday from 7:30 a.m. to 2:00 p.m., excluding holidays.

Paula Hovda of Roseau spiked the ball against Thief River Falls defender Kendra Dimich during Tuesday's high school volleyball match in the Lincoln gym. The Rams swept the Prowlers 15-10, 15-5, 15-11.

Roseau hitters carry Rams past Prowlers

Roseau, featuring the hard-hitting combination of Megan Taylor and Sarah Lundbohm, stretched its season-opening high school volleyball winning streak to 11 Tuesday with a 15-10, 15-5, 15-11 sweep over host Thief River Falls.

Taylor and Lundbohm, both juniors, drilled spikes through the Prowlers' defense on a pretty regular basis during a rotation that always had one of them at the net.

The Rams were impressive in scoring the first 12 points of the night. The Prowlers showed some spunk in a comeback that made it 12-9 off a Michelle Mathson ace, and they were still within three points at 13-10 before Lundbohm finished it off with back-to-back big-time kills.

Roseau rolled through Game 2, then spotted Thief River Falls an 8-1 lead in Game 3 before putting together a sweep-completing finishing kick. The Rams went ahead 9-8 on a mis-play by the Prowlers and scored 13 unanswered points before Mathson came up with a kill.

Thief River Falls did pull within 14-11 but got no closer. It ended on a net violation as the Prowlers set up to block Taylor.

"I thought we were right with them," offered Thief River Falls coach Helen Anderson, who said the use of a double-block at the net helped slow down the Roseau attack. "But we have to be more consistent with it," she added.

Thief River Falls won an extended junior varsity match 15-13, 8-15, 17-15, while Roseau took the C squad contest 15-6, 7-15, 15-8.

TRF Scoring

■ Kills - Michelle Mathson 9, Maren Thorson 6, Desirae Aberg 5, Katie Kraemer 2, Kendra Dimich 2

■ Last touch - Dimich 7, Alberg 6, Mathson 5, Sarah Kolsnd 3, Thorson 3, Kraemer 1

MCC wraps up sweep of Gators in volleyball

Marshall County Central completed a regular season sweep over Badger/Greenbush-Middle River Tuesday with a 15-4, 15-11, 16-14 high school volleyball win at Newfolden.

The Nordics, who are 8-4 overall, won the first match between the two rivals 3-2 earlier this fall. It was the sixth straight loss for the 3-8 Gators, who started with a 5-0 lead in Game 2 and had a 6-0 head start in Game 3.

"First game we played pretty well, then we got back on our heels," said Marshall County Central coach Mark Jorgenson. "I wish we could have started the next two games a little better, but we're happy to take it in three."

Junior Kelly Liedberg came off the bench to give the Nordics a boost at the service line, pointed out Jorgenson.

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke

Kittson County North and Lake of the Woods handed Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke back-to-back early-week setbacks.

The Cougars won a 3-2 Monday match in Lancaster, 15-9, 15-8, 4-15, 8-15, 16-14.

"First two games were kind of shaky," admitted Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke coach Tina Rode. "Next two games we did a nice job setting and getting the ball to our hitters. The last game was close. We had some mental mistakes that hurt."

The Bears won 3-1 Tuesday in Grygla, 4-15, 15-7, 15-7, 15-10.

"We had a great game to start the match," noted Rode, "but they (Bears) have a good-hitting team, and I think we got a little rattled."

Senior Melissa Bernstein continues to play strong all-around volleyball, according to Rode, who was also happy with the setting done by junior Rachel Klein against the Bears.

Red Lake County Central

Angie Chervestad came up with 17 kills, seven of them in the fifth and deciding game, to lead Red Lake County Central to a 12-15, 15-13, 15-10, 6-15, 15-7 Tuesday win over East Grand Forks Sacred Heart in Plummer.

"It was a struggle," reported Red Lake County Central coach Nancy Bray. "They (Eagles) have a scrappy team. We ended up on defense most of the night."

Shari Evenson backed away as teammate Anne Padilla returned this shot for the Prowlers during Thursday's high school tennis action at the Northland Community and Technical College courts. Evenson and Padilla played No. 1 doubles for the Prowlers, who hosted East Grand Forks, Roseau and Park Rapids Area in a quadrangular to close out their 1995 home schedule.

Prowlers win three matches Thursday

Host Thief River Falls swept all three of its matches Thursday in a quadrangular girls high school tennis outing that closed out the Prowlers' 1995 home schedule.

Thief River Falls beat both East Grand Forks and Park Rapids Area by 4-3 scores, and added a 6-1 victory over Roseau.

Results boosted the Prowlers' dual meet record to 7-6.

"We needed that," said Thief River Falls coach Sylvia Sjoberg. "They played well. They were fired up."

Sjoberg used a variety of line-ups in winning the three matches, giving a number of players an opportunity to contribute to the sweep, she noted.

Fosston tops TRF 3-1

Tuesday Roseau beat Thief River Falls 3-0 with power-hitting high school volleyball. Thursday Fosston defeated the Prowlers 3-1 with a different kind of volleyball – defense based around back row quickness and front row jumping/blocking.

The Greyhounds won 15-7, 15-9, 14-16, 15-4.

"They have a very good defensive team," confirmed Thief River Falls coach Helen Anderson. "They play well defensively in both the front and back row. They're quick. They don't let many balls hit the floor."

Fosston broke open an 8-7 first-game battle on a seven-point scoring run at the service line by Erin Reitmeier, who began the streak with back-to-back aces.

The Greyhounds trailed 7-6 in Game 2 but had another strong finish and they appeared to be headed toward a sweep with a 9-0 start in the third game before the scrappy Prowlers put together an unlikely comeback that caught Fosston at 14-14 following a couple of hits by sophomores Desirae Alberg. The rally was completed when Fosston had trouble cleanly fielding serves by Maren Thorson, producing points 15 and 16.

"I was really pleased with the way we came back in the third game," said Anderson. "The kids wouldn't quit. They kept fighting back."

But the comeback was short-lived. It was 4-3 in Game 4 when Fosston took charge. It ended when Reitmeier scored on a soft, but well-placed shot at the net.

"Once we fell behind, we had a hard time coming back," acknowledged Anderson.

The loss dropped the Prowlers to 10-5.

Fosston won a close junior varsity match 15-12, 12-15, 15-11. Thief River Falls took the C squad match 15-7, 15-2.

Pioneers drop 3-1 match with division leader

Northland Community and Technical College won Game 1 and stayed with Central Lakes in Game 2 before losing steam Wednesday in a Northern Division volleyball match at Brainerd.

The defending division champion Raiders remained unbeaten in Minnesota Community College Conference play with a 12-15, 15-12, 15-5, 15-5 win.

"We were really happy with the way we played," reported Northland coach Shari Olson. "Being able to play with a good team like that should give our kids some confidence."

It was a strong night defensively for the Pioneers, who had a season-high 66 blocks – 19 by LaVonne Nelson and 13 apiece by Jenny Steen and Jenny Smith.

Steen led the team with 12 kills, hitting nearly 50 percent.

Ali Hietala and Erika Spilde finished with 18 assists each. Hietala left in the fourth game with a leg injury.

Stacy Stanwick came up with a team-high 12 digs.

Northland, 4-7 overall, will be idle until Wednesday when the Pioneers play at Fergus Falls.

Wolverines lose to Warroad 3-1 in Thursday outing

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke saw its record dip to 3-8 Thursday with a 3-1 high school volleyball loss at Warroad.

Warroad won 15-5, 15-8, 13-15, 15-8.

The Wolverines could have played better, acknowledged coach Tina Rode, but the Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke attack was hurt by the absence of Rachel Rychlock, sidelined by illness, and the limited availability of Jaclyn Haack, who was slowed by an ankle injury.

Red Lake County Central

A 90 percent figure at the service line carried Red Lake County Central past Red Lake Falls 15-13, 15-11, 3-18, 8-15, 15-3 Thursday on the Eagles' court.

Shelly Perreault served nine straight points in Game 1 to get the Mustangs' attack going, and finished with eight aces.

A balanced Red Lake County Central attack featured Angie Chervestad with 16 kills, Meckenzie Malwitz 14 and Maria Austad 11.

"We played pretty well," said Red Lake County Central coach Nancy Bray. "Our offense came through for us."

The Mustangs are 8-4-1.

People who are allergic to eggs, paralysed with Gullian-Barre syndrom, pregnant, or moderate to severely ill should consult a physician before getting a flu shot.

As with any medicine, there are very small risks of complications. The risk from the vaccine is much smaller than the risk from the disease. Because influenza vaccine contains only noninfectious viruses, it cannot cause influenza.

The American Hospital Association indicates that up to 80,000 people over the age of 65 died every year from influenza and pneumococcal infections. Many of these deaths could have been prevented by annual influenza immunization and a one-time Pneumonnal immunization. Both of these vaccinations are paid for by Medicare, unfortunately only 58 per cent of Medicare beneficiaries received influenza vaccine in 1994 and only 30 per cent of eligible elderly persons have received the Pneumoccal vaccine.

Influenza is a viral infection of the nose, throat, bronchial tubes and lungs that can make someone of any age ill. Usually the flu occurs in the United States from about November to April. Vaccination is recommended starting mid-October thru mid-November, this time frame is recommended as it takes two weeks to build immunity and it should peak during the influenza season.

Influenza is more than a cold. It is a respiratory disease in which the tissue lining the lungs and respiratory tract become swollen and inflamed. Symptoms are a sore throat, dry cough, fever, chills, weakness, loss of appetite and aching all over. In health children and adults it is typically a moderate illness. Patients are usually back on their feet within a week. For people who are not healthy, influenza can be very severe and even fatal.

Health officials recommend the following groups of people get immunized against the flu:

- all people over 65 years of age
- adults and children with long term heart and lung disease, chronic kidney disease, diabetes or anemia
- anyone with a disease or on treatments that depress the immune system
- residents of nursing homes or care centers
- anyone caring for any of the above named high-risk groups, such as nurses, doctors and family members
- persons in group settings where outbreaks are likely
- persons wishing to reduce their chances of catching the flu

Vaccinations can be obtained at a number of places. Most clinics administer flu shot this time of year. While at the clinic, patients may want to consider getting a pneumococcal vaccination to prevent bacterial pneumonia. They can be given simultaneously and Medicare covers the cost of eligible persons, as do some health plans. Most nursing homes will be offering the vaccine to residents. Those with a family member in a nursing home should inquire as to whether or not residents will receive vaccines. Northwest Medical Center will be offering the flu vaccination to its employees at no cost. NWMC will also offer an influenza clinic to all employees of school district 564. Vicki Jenson, the school nurse, will be arranging this clinic at a minimum cost to employees. An inpatient influenza immunization project will also be carried out during the recommended vaccination time period.

Jamie Lunsetter, and Keri Stratton were named king and queen of the Grygla High School Homecoming Wednesday evening. Jamie is the son of Bruce and Diana Lunsetter. Keri is the daughter of Chester Jr. and Kathy Stratton.

Choir plans trip

announced later.

Tentative plans have also been made for a number of activities, including a "Big Apple Raffle" with a large number of prizes and a "Hire the Choir" project which will offer choir members to work on one-time or part-time tasks.

"We have set a minimum of $4 per hour and a minimum of one hour of work," Mrs. Reese said. "If those who hire choir members would like to pay a premium above those minimums the extra money would be greatly appreciated.

"Choir members are listing their availability and the public is invited to hire them for seasonal tasks such as yard work or snow removal. Persons who would like to "hire the choir" may call Darcy Reese at Lincoln (681-7432) between 8 and 9:30 a.m., Monday through Friday.

Also scheduled are a dance marathon for choir members and their families on February 17, at least four school dances, a $25 per plate "Evening of Enchantment" sweetheart supper in February at which choir members will provide entertainment and a telethon to be presented in March.

Other fund-raisers will be conducted throughout the year and groups from the choir will be available to perform for local groups and organizations in exchange for donations toward the New York City trip.

"Three years ago we had 47 choir members participate and I am still hearing from them about how the trip had an influence on their lives," Mrs. Reese said.

The concert choir includes boys in grades 10 through 12 and girls in grades 11 and 12.

ODC buys Home Lumber facilities for crate building much of the year. He expects that will remain necessary in the new location to meet the demand. The actual move is expected to take place over a weekend with very little interruption in production.

ODC Now In 25th Year

The Occupational Development Center is now in its 25th year in Thief River Falls. It began in the former Shetler's Hatchery building on Atlantic Avenue, moved to the School District service center, moved again to the former Gamble-Robinson building across from the Eagles Lodge on Dewey Avenue, then acquired the former Digi-Key building which is its present location.

In addition to Thief River Falls, the ODC has operations in Bemidji, Crookston, Grand Rapids, Hibbing, International Falls, Roseau and Virginia.

Home Lumber Started In 1940s

Home Lumber Company was started in the early to mid 1940's, according to Norris Melander, who purchased the business from Andrew Williams in 1963. At that time the lumber yard fronted on Eighth Street.

Property was acquired from Oen Appliance in 1967 and Osborn-McMillan Elevator Company in 1968 and later the Manning building and Johnson Plate Glass were added to the holdings, Melander said. He built a 100x100 addition to the lumber yard in 1975 and the business also sold mobile homes.

Since 1985, a year prior to selling Home Lumber Company to Kruta, Melander has been in the lumber business in the Twin Cities area. He has purchased and sold several lumber yards and continues to operate building supply businesses in South St. Paul and Delano, headquartering at the South St. Paul location.

"I believe the facilities in Thief River Falls will make an ideal situation for the ODC," Melander told The Times and Northern Watch by phone this week.

New Home Lumber Advances

Dick Kruta said construction on the new facilities for his lumber, hardware and building supplies business on highway 59 south started on June 1. Work is presently being done on the storage buildings which utilize pole construction.

Kruta said the yard is designed in accordance with modern standards to be more compact, efficient and "user friendly." Moving of materials is expected to start in December and be completed before Jan. 1, 1996.

Testimony favors scrapping wetland law

Minnesota Senate Agriculture and Rural Development Committee conducts hearing in Thief River Falls

Sen. LeRoy Stumpf
Thief River Falls

by Marvin Lundin
Northern Watch Editor

Advocates for less government interference in land use told the Minnesota Senate Agriculture and Rural Development Committee in Thief River Falls Tuesday evening that it would make sense to scrap the 1991 Wetlands Conservation Act and start all over again.

"The law is unfixable," declared Loren Hentges of Blaine, who said he has been a life-long farmer and served 25 years on the Coon Creek Watershed Board. He told of the effort to clean up the "nutrients" which were in Coon Creek and believed to originate in the farmland draining into the creek which flows through Coon Rapids.

Hentges said the University of Minnesota was involved to set up check stations along the stream to find out where the highest concentration of nutrients originated. That study showed the "dirtiest" water came out of Carlos Avery wildlife refuge and the cleanest from a vegetable and sod farm, he said.

Studies were also made to see how far chemicals were leaching into the soil, Hentges said, and virtually none were found more than two inches below plow depth.

Personal Interest In Change

Hentges also has a personal interest in securing changes in the wetland law. He said in 1985 he purchased 137 acres of an industrial park which had been considered for a horse race track. It contained no wetland and he paid $3,000 an acre.

Now 80 acres have been declared wetland, the property is virtually useless under that classification and "they have taken $240,000 away from me," Hentges said. "That was my retirement. The land was purchased with after-tax money."

Hentges said that if five wetland delineators would determine wetland areas on his property individually, they would come up with five different maps. "And if they didn't want to find any wetlands they wouldn't find any," he added.

Proposes Posting Land

He proposed posting private land with "No Trespassing Due to Government Over-Regulation" signs and distributing leaflets to would-be hunters explaining reasons for the posting as a means of soliciting additional support. Farmers comprise only three per cent of the population, he said, and support is needed to accomplish legislative change.

One of about a dozen persons who registered to testify at the hearing, Hentges was only one of several to advocate scrapping the law.

Another was Russ Larson, Roseau county highway engineer, who also testified at a House task force hearing here in September. He lamented the impact of the 1991 law on road construction, both in paperwork and mitigation.

44 Wetlands On One Project

Larson said he had one road project with 44 defined wetland sites, none of which was wet and all on the sideslope of the road. Yet when he proposed mitigating with other sideslope sites they were projected to have insufficient value.

Questioning if there is an actual need for preservation of all Class 1, 2 and 6 wetlands, Larson said that 61 of Minnesota's 87 counties have less than eight per cent of their original wetlands remaining and 35 have less than one per cent but there is no proof any of them have water supply problems.

Further, he said, 10 counties have no wetlands but are mitigating on their road projects. "It makes no sense," Larson said.

Questions Wetland Crisis

Dave Zavoral of Grygla also asked if there is a verifiable wetland crisis in Minnesota. "Yes," interrupted Senate committee member Charlie Berg of Chokio. "There is too much!" The comment brought affirming chuckles from the crowd in attendance.

Zavoral again assailed the booklet "Growing Energy Crops on Minnesota Wetlands" by Anderson and Craig which he said is quoted in the 1991 law. The booklet is an unofficial study by two college students studying biomass production, particularly cattails, he said, and certainly cannot be considered scientific data.

"Where is the scientific support that demonstrates a need for all the remaining wetlands?" he asked, citing conflicting estimates of wetland acreage existing originally and remaining in the state. He said there are eight state and federal agencies which are involved with wetland determinations on private

Me and my shadow

Oklee — Some people have canaries, some have parrots, but how many have pet crows? Paul Bachand, 11, has a pet crow named Shadow. Paul and his father, David, found a nest of crow eggs last spring. They took Shadow as a pet when he was 10 days old. Raising a bird was a learning experience for Paul. To raise a healthy crow, one must be very responsible. Baby crows eat once every hour and a half to two hours.

Paul lets Shadow fly free, but the bird always returns to the Bachand home. At the sound of Paul's voice, Shadow perches on Paul's arm. As winter approaches, Shadow will probably want to join other crows and fly south. Paul and David hope that Shadow will return to the Bachands' home in the spring.

Far from home

Grygla — Kelly Wong is a long way from home. She is an exchange student from Hong Kong who is living with the Callahan family in Grygla. She was surprised at the differences between rural Grygla and metropolitan Hong Kong.

"There are so few buildings and so much space," said Kelly. Her reaction to the landscape of northern Minnesota is not surprising. Hong Kong has a population of about six million people, about 15,000 people per square mile.

"It is such a long, long drive to go somewhere. In Hong Kong, we can just walk to a movie." Kelly is a senior at Grygla high school and plays volleyball for the Grygla-Goodridge Wolverines. She says the students and teachers are very nice and she likes the people she has met.

New business for used clothing

Middle River — No more driving to "the big towns" like Grand Forks and Fargo to shop for clothes. Middle River now has its own clothing store.

Denae and Jason Lee are the owners of a second hand clothing store called New 2 U. The owners work during the day so the store will be open from 5-9 p.m. on weekdays and on the weekend. They recognize that most people have day jobs and can't shop in the morning or afternoon.

The Lees find Middle River to be a supportive and friendly place to own a business.

Seven inducted into hall of fame

Warroad — This year Warroad High School honored several alumni and former coaches by inducting them into the Warrior Hall of Fame. Those inducted were Henry Bouchn, Billy and Roger Christian, Cal and Jack Marvin, and, posthumously, Harold Heneman and Tony Stukel.

Many of the men are known, not just locally, but nationally for their contributions to youth athletics. The former coaches and athletes were honored not just for their involvement in sports, but for their leadership and contributions to the community as a whole.

Meal cost is $2.20 per adult. Since many visitors are expected next week, a call in advance will greatly assist in meal planning. To indicate the day and time you wish to visit, call Challenger at 681-6851, Franklin at 681-7323, Lincoln at 681-7282 or the district office at 681-8675.

17-year-old faces charge of assault, attempted murder

Charges of attempted murder in the first degree, assault in the first degree and assault in the second degree have been filed against a 17-year-old male of Thief River Falls. The Pennington county attorney's office is also attempting to certify the 17-year-old as an adult.

On September 21 at 11:35 p.m. police received a report that a man was being treated for injuries at Northwest Medical Center. Police learned that the 35-year-old man had been at a residence in the 400 block of South Tindolph and had been hit with a baseball bat by two men. The two men allegedly hit him several times breaking the man's arm and fracturing his skull. Police say the 17-year-old man and an accomplice, Kelly Daniel Stepp, 19, Thief River Falls, were the two men. Stepp is being charged with assault in the first degree and assault in the second degree. Both were arrested on October 3.

Wednesday, Don Aandal, assistant public defender, was appointed Stepp's attorney. Bond was set at $10,000 and his next Ninth District court appearance was scheduled for 9 a.m. October 9.

No information was available on the 17-year-old as he is still considered a juvenile.

Cindy Arlt, activities director at Hillcrest Nursing Home nominated Laura Gagnon to represent the nursing home as Ms. Hillcrest. Laura was later named Ms. Nursing Home.

Red Lake Falls area native named Ms. Nursing Home

by Elizabeth Reishus
Northern Watch Reporter

Those who tuned in to watch the Miss America scholarship pageant last month got a chance to see a lot of intelligent and beautiful young women. However, some believe that real intelligence and beauty are achieved over time. Such beauty and intelligence are personified by Ms. Nursing Home 1995 Laura Gagnon of Red Lake Falls.

Laura has been a resident at Hillcrest Nursing Home in Red Lake Falls since April of 1994. She said that Activities Director Cindy Arlt asked Laura to represent the nursing home.

"I said, laughing, if I didn't have to make a speech, I'd try it," explains Laura with a smile.

Contestants were judged based on information received from a one-on-one interview. Nine contestants from the region met at the Villages in Bagley, and on August 14 Laura was named Ms. Nursing Home.

Laura was born and raised on a farm between Terrebone and Red Lake Falls. Her parents, Regis and Lumena Gagnon moved to the area from St. Justin, Canada. Her mother arrived in the United States at age three. Her father moved to the area when he was older. Regis and Lumena had seven children, three boys and four girls. They are all deceased now except for Laura and her sister Lillian, a retired nun who lives in Crookston.

Laura has many fond memories of growing up on the farm. She remembers how all the neighbor kids would get together to play ball, and on Sunday's they would make ice cream. In the winter, they would get a big group together and go sliding on a big sled.

Many volunteer for successful blood drive

Clearbrook — 80 people volunteered to give blood at what turned out to be a successful blood drive sponsored by the First Baptist Church of Clearbrook.

According to United Blood Services' spokesperson Bev Willits, Clearbrook had a good turnout for this busy time of the year. Of the 80 people who signed up to donate, 62 were able to give blood. Ten donors gave blood for the first time.

Donations will help meet the blood needs of many patients in 46 area hospitals served by United Blood Services.

In celebration of National Dog Week

Winger — In honor of National Dog Week, Pioneer Memorial Care Center invited Joyce Ulland of Winger and her dog Goldie to entertain the residents on September 26.

Joyce is a long-time animal lover who was chosen by the center to promote dog week. Goldie is a mixed breed dog with a curly coat and friendly eyes. Joyce and Goldie spend many hours each day working on tricks and dance steps.

Joyce and Goldie both love to entertain people. When the performance is over, Goldie is allowed to fraternize with the audience. The audience seemed to love Goldie as much as she loved them.

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere

October has come and we just have to have some pumpkin recipes right away.

Use this recipe to make a tasty cake or a delicious bread.

PUMPKIN FRUIT NUT BREAD

2 cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon allspice
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cloves
1/2 cup oil
1 1/2 cups sugar
2 eggs
1 cup pumpkin
1/3 cup water
1/2 cup raisins
1/2 cup nuts
Orange rind

Blend dry ingredients together. In another bowl, combine oil, sugar and eggs and beat well. Add pumpkin and water and mix.

Add dry ingredients to pumpkin mixture and blend well without beating. Stir in raisins, nuts and orange rind.

Bake at 350 degrees in greased bundt pan for 1 hour or in greased loaf pan for 60 to 70 minutes.

Make the family happy with a plate of these cookies tonight:

PUMPKIN COOKIES

2 cups flour
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
3/4 cup shortening
1 cup pumpkin
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup chopped nuts

Combine dry ingredients. Add shortening, pumpkin, egg and vanilla and beat 2 minutes. Stir in nuts.

Drop by spoonfuls on greased baking sheets. Bake 12-15 minutes at 350 degrees, until cookies are lightly browned.

Frost with powdered sugar frosting, if desired, but it is not necessary.

Make this sinfully rich dessert for company so you don't eat it all yourself.

PUMPKIN PIE SQUARES

Bottom Layer

1 cup flour
1/2 cup oatmeal
1/2 cup brown sugar
1 cup butter or margarine

Middle Layer

2 cups pumpkin
1 (13 ounce) can evaporated milk
2 eggs
3/4 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1/2 teaspoon cloves

Topping

1/2 cup chopped walnuts
1/2 cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons melted butter

Mix bottom ingredients and place in greased 9x13 inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes, until light golden.

Beat middle layer ingredients well and pour over baked crust. Bake 30 minutes.

Mix topping ingredients and sprinkle over dessert. Bake an additional 15 minutes. Serve with whipped cream or ice cream.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

After reading Rep. Irv Anderson's letter in the Sept. 30, 1995 edition of the Northern Watch, I thought perhaps it would be appropriate for someone not directly involved to comment.

As a veterinarian practicing large animal medicine, I travel over most of Pennington and Marshall counties and parts of Roseau, Beltrami and Red Lake counties. Occasionally in conversation with farmers, including a sample of county commissioners, the subject of wetland legislation comes up.

I have not talked to one client who likes the 1991 Wetlands Conservation Act. It is a bad piece of legislation that primarily affects northern Minnesota. The prime agricultural land of southern Minnesota is not significantly affected because that was brought into full production many years ago. And it is not economically feasible nor desirable to drain or fill lakes.

But it has significant effect on those of us in northern Minnesota—for county governments trying to maintain or improve the transportation systems, for farmers who are trying to make a living from the land, and people with recreation land who want to build a road, a cabin, etc. The rules are written such that the DNR has the possibility of interrupting just about any change in land use.

Rep. Irv Anderson attacks Rep. Tim Finseth for not helping passage of his wetland reform bill. That brings a question to my mind about Irv Anderson. As current Speaker of the House, I would assume he was a Representative when the 1991 Wetland Conservation Act was passed. Am I also correct in assuming that he voted for it? I know Sen. LeRoy Stumpf voted for it. And now we have both Mr. Anderson and Mr. Stumpf claiming to be advocates of reform.

It seems to me that legislators who do a good, conscientious and dedicated job for their constituents don't need to reform something that their constituents told them that they didn't want in the beginning. Also, it makes me wonder how much reform is really coming down, or is it just the same tyranny with a few adjustments here and there, new titles and names, larger committees, etc., just to pacify the public or perhaps to help reorient our understanding.

Rep. Anderson accuses Rep. Finseth of cynical politics with no serious debate. I have had several conversations with Norma Hanson of Goodridge (a Democrat), who served on the Heritage Commission. She talks about the frustration of spending countless hours in trying to help write reasonable rules for the 1991 Wetland Conservation Act only to see virtually all of their recommendations pushed aside with the bureaucrats writing the rules the way they wanted from the beginning.

Were the Heritage Commission and all the citizens who came to their hearings involved in cynical politics or was it serious debate? When people drive 110 miles to defend their constitutional right of private property ownership, Mr. Anderson, I believe we have serious debate.

Rep. Anderson accuses Rep. Finseth of wasting taxpayer money. I don't think it is a waste of money to bring Representatives from other areas of the state to Thief River Falls in order for them to hear our concerns. Some of the Representatives are serving their first term and they need to hear what we have to say. If we listen to what people at the county level have to say, the cost of implementing the "Wetlands Act" is tremendous. It creates another bureaucracy in every county. It demands more time from engineers, commissioners and other staff. The mitigation process is very expensive, along with litigation that may be involved. If we want an example of wasting taxpayer money, just observe the consequences of the "Wetland Act."

Perhaps we need to rethink the whole situation about wetland conservation. Much of this legislation is based on a college thesis written by Anderson and Craig. The thesis was concerned about biomass, such as cattails, and not wetlands specifically. From expert testimony, the area of Minnesota wetlands mentioned in the thesis is not from actual measurement, but from various assumptions.

Also in any discussion about wetland loss, we need to consider how many acres of wetlands we have created. Every drainage ditch is a wetland. How many thousand acres of drainage ditches do we have? Every highway and county road has two ditches that should qualify as wetlands.

If we assume that a 16 1/2 foot width of every ditch is wetland, then we have four acres of wetland for every one mile of road. How many thousand miles of interstate, federal, state, county and township roads do we have? What about water impoundment areas, wildlife ponds, stock ponds, etc.?

Another question to ask: Are we really suffering from any real dire effects from loss of wetlands? Has the water table dropped in northern Minnesota? I believe the basements in old houses are just as wet today as they were 50 years ago. Are livestock and wildlife ponds going dry? These are common sense questions with common every day answers. Shouldn't we have laws that generally address common problems with common sense solutions?

So now what do we really need a wetland conservation law for? North Dakota, as I understand, had a wetland act passed a few years ago, and after trying to implement it, the legislature repealed the law. Almost all the people I have talked with, both Democrat and Republican, think the best solution is to repeal the 1991 Wetland Conservation Act. This will be difficult because the real purpose of the law, I dare say, is not wetlands but land control... and people control.

When an entity controls the land, that entity eventually controls the people. This type of legislation may initially have the support of a lot of people who mean well, but are very naive. Their naivete provides money for advocacy and suits. The result is we feed a powerful bureaucracy with an insatiable appetite for more power and money. And the cycle continues until the people become informed and courageous enough to stop it.

So what do I suggest? I think the best solution is what I have heard most people say, simply repeal the 1991 Wetland Conservation Act. If that is not possible, then we should develop a system whereby the DNR or BWSR could lease land that they consider strategic wetlands. This would produce a much friendlier relationship between the bureaucrats and the people they are supposed to serve. We must preserve private property rights if we intend to remain and go forward as free and prosperous people.

Sincerely,
Lyle Kenner, DVM

Watch The Simpson Verdict? We Plead Guilty

We didn't care at all for the carnival atmosphere of the O. J. Simpson double murder trial in California and for the past year or so have tried to avoid exposure to it as much as possible. The rampant speculation and pandering to the public's base instincts by the television networks, newspaper wire services and pulp tabloids alike seemed to profane the very real brutal deaths of two innocent people.

During the past year we have resisted the occasional temptation to comment editorially about some bizarre phase of the trial which permeated the national media. It would serve no purpose, we felt, and our personal opinion would be no more valid than anyone else's.

Having said that, we admit to watching the televised presentation of the not guilty verdicts at noon Central time on Tuesday, October 3. It was convenient at that time, and we were curious what the result of a year-long trial would be. The verdict was what we expected.

Much has been made in the post-trial reports of a race issue in the case. Certainly racial bias was exploited. As one looks at the criminal justice system as it applies to this particular case, however, the issue of status and economics is perhaps more prevalent than race. This defendant didn't have a court-appointed attorney to plea bargain a lesser charge. He had the status and possibly the resources to attract a recognized high-powered legal defense.

The jury found him not guilty. It didn't find him innocent. There is a difference. The jury's verdict was that the prosecution had not proved beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant had committed the crime. The defense had done all it had to do—create doubt.

All this supposes that the defendant committed the acts and the skill of the defense "got him off." We have a tendency in our country to have faith in the competency of our law enforcement agencies and to suppose that arrests are not made unless those arrested are guilty. This is a mistake. Our society has mistakenly imprisoned people for crimes they did not commit.

Following the verdict, lead defense counsel Johnnie Cochran was asked, "If O. J. Simpson did not kill Nicole Brown Simpson and Ronald Goldman, who did?" That is not the defense's question to answer. Another reporter asked Los Angeles County Attorney Gil Garcetti if the not guilty verdict meant starting over from square one—apparently meaning reopening the investigation. The visibly shaken Garcetti's response was almost a sneer at the very idea. The prosecution had spent an estimated $8 million to $9 million in public funds to prove the right person had been arrested. Would it be likely to respond, "Oh...well....maybe we did make a mistake. We'll have to look around a little more."

Two post trial "Ifs" will continue to haunt:

If O. J. Simpson did commit the crimes, a brutal killer has been set free and justice has not been served.

If he indeed did not, as he has professed all along, the actual killer or killers remain free, will not be pursued, and justice is still wanting.

Both thoughts must leave everyone much less than comfortable.

Sportsmen Should Be Interested In Changes In Wetland Law

Farmers in northern Minnesota often feel they are fighting alone to effect meaningful changes in the Minnesota Wetlands Conservation Act passed by the state legislature in 1991. And if they are indeed alone in the effort, the prospects for success must be considered bleak.

In any war, combatants seek allies with similar interests to rally to their cause and provide support that will result in victory. It would be a good idea for sportsmen who are not farmers to take an active interest in the wetlands movement, become familiar with what is being discussed and to seriously consider alignment with farmer interest groups.

Contrary to what many might think, interests of sportsmen and farmers are not mutually exclusive. Farmers who seek reason in the state wetlands law are not out to drain the state. It is not their goal to plow marshes and significant potholes. Most of them value wildlife and to a large extent they provide the feed and habitat which allows wildlife to survive. Non-farm sportsmen who do not realize this should become aware because the farmers' cause in this case is the right one.

Further, sportsmen should become aware for their own self-interest. Public lands are important to the public, and many have advantages to some species of wildlife. It would be wrong to want to eliminate public lands. But in the big picture they don't hold a candle to the contribution to wildlife made by farmers, either intentionally or incidentally.

At the Tuesday night meeting of the Senate Agriculture and Rural Development Committee in Thief River Falls, Loren Henges of Blaine proposed getting sportsmen' attention with a private land posting of signs stating: No Trespassing Due to Government Over-Regulation.

Sportsmen have long been dependent on the generosity of farmers who share access to their land and the game which lives there. They have done little in return in most cases to repay that generosity. Here is an opportunity to lend support in a cause that will also have long-range benefit for sportsmen in wildlife enhancement and goodwill.

Farmers want what every American should want—the government to govern in accordance with the Constitution and the freedom to use their own private property as they see fit for personal benefit. Individual sportsmen and sportsmen groups are on notice. If they fail to help when the opportunity is there, they may find their future fall visits unwelcome. That would be both unfortunate and unnecessary.

Wetlands law is ridiculed

Proposed Bill Criticized

Zavoral criticized a proposed bill to modify the wetland law as drafted by the Board for Water and Soil Resources (BWSR). One proposal was for a payment of 50 per cent of the value of the land for a perpetual easement.

"You lose half the value of your land and you get to pay taxes on it forever without getting any use from it. What kind of a deal is that?" he asked.

He also questioned the use of highway funds to mitigate wetlands. "The gas tax was never intended to be used to purchase wetlands," he said. "And there are thousands of miles of road ditches which are not counted as wetlands in the state."

Sistad Says Wetland Value Is Relative

Cheryl Sistad, manager of the Marshall-Beltrami Soil and Water Conservation District, said that when 99 per cent of a county's wetlands are gone, saving what's left seems significant. When 80 per cent remain, the urgency is much less.

"If wetlands on private land have public value, payment should be made for them," she said.

Arnold Stanley, Grygla area farmer, speculated that changes in the wetlands law won't change anything unless there is a change in the people who administer it. "They're the ones who give you the problems," he said.

He said that "farmers always seem to be portrayed as the culprits," while the state seems to be able to ignore the law. Asked to be specific, he cited law which calls for an elk hunting season to be held when the herd exceeds 20 in number. "There are 30 now and no season set," he said.

"The counties had to go to court to get the state to pay its share of ditch taxes a couple of years ago and it is two years in arrears now," he said. "The state's idea of wildlife enhancement is to drive around in new pickups and put up signs."

Don Schmick, Red Lake county farmer, discussed economic development and adding value to agricultural products. He said that wetland requirements inhibit stable agriculture which is necessary to provide product for value added processing.

Greater Concern For Vanishing Cropland

Harold Klamar, Gatzke area farmer, said he had great concern about vanishing cropland. He said that the United States had 21 per cent cropland in 1978 and that this has now been reduced to 16 per cent.

Sewage lagoons, ditches, wetland areas and expansion of cities have all reduced available cropland, he said, and "without cropland we can't exist." More cropland acreage would permit farmers to summer fallow land while maintaining necessary production, he said, thereby reducing the need for fertilizer and chemicals.

Doyle Martin of rural Thief River Falls said that the wetlands act is "scary." "In Minnesota we always want to be first," he said, "but we don't have no common sense about 90 per cent of it." He said people in St. Paul don't care about this area of the state because "it's already drained down there."

Law Conflicts With Oath

Delray Larson, Marshall county commissioner, said commissioners in the five counties which refused to sign the wetlands act agreement felt it conflicted with their oath to uphold the U.S. and state constitutions. They were worried about the cost of lawsuits to the county and believed that payment of ditch taxes by residents gave them the right to use the ditches for drainage.

Larson cited Minnesota Department of Transportation figures which showed expenditure of up to $649,000 to mitigate one acre of wetland in the metro area and up to $24,200 an acre in the rural area. He expressed a need for local control of wetlands because "we know what's best for our county."

Beverly Hunt, Kittson county commissioner, said the cost of mitigation is prohibitive for the counties and that types 1 and 2 wetland have no public value. Of 73,000 designated wetland acres in Kittson county, she said, 47,000 are types 1 and 2.

"We Can't Return One Resource To The 1700s..."

Regarding the pre-settlement wetlands as a base for no net loss, she said that "we are going into the 21st century. We can't return one resource to the 1700s."

Commissioner Don Jensen of Pennington county said the county board here felt the drainage system was very important and the 20-year limit on cleaning ditches was a concern. Some ditches don't have a foot of fall to the mile.

"You can drive 50 miles east of Thief River Falls without coming to a hill you can't see over," he said. "It doesn't make sense to use road construction money to mitigate wetlands when people are losing their lives on unsafe roads."

Sen. Joe Bertram, who chaired the committee, was not present at the hearing. He was recently apprehended for shoplifting a leather vest and has since resigned from the committee chairmanship. Presiding was Sen. Dallas Sams of Staples. Also present were committee members Sen. LeRoy Stumpf of Thief River Falls, Sen. Paula Hanson of Ham Lake and Sen. Charlie Berg of Chokio.

"...Go Hunt In Wayzata"

Sen. Berg upheld his reputation of being outspoken. When Henges suggested posting land and handing informational leaflets to hunters, Sen. Berg suggested saying, "If you want to hunt, go hunt in Wayzata."

And he made his longstanding contempt for the Wetlands Conservation Act—which he was one of very few to vote against in 1991—quite clear. "The damn bill was no good to start with and should be scrapped," he said, "because you can't live with it."

Central Boiler is the #1 manufacturer of outdoor wood furnaces. Our reputation has been built on quality product and customer satisfaction. Central Boiler is the first outdoor wood furnace to complete EPA testing and has always been in the forefront of providing consumers with the most accurate and up to date information available. Recently a competitor has been claiming that we are misleading the public by advertising a 92.5% combustion efficiency. This number is a result of testing that was performed by a nationally recognized independent test lab (Warnock Hersey) that specializes in wood and gas burning appliances. Our competitor says that this number means that only 92.5% of the wood burns up. Their statement only proves how little they know about testing and combustion principles. The 92.5% combustion efficiency rating is important because in order to have a high delivered (thermal) efficiency you must have a high combustion efficiency. Central Boiler has watched many competitors make claims in brochures and public ads that are not only misleading but absolutely false. These claims prompted us to have Warnock Hersey test a Central Boiler furnace and four of our competitors units. One competitor claims 200,000 BTU with a 12 hour burn time, in actual tests this unit could only produce 122,525 BTU's for 5 hours and 26 min. Another competitor claims 81% thermal efficiency while testing their unit shows a 35% delivered efficiency in their best test. Claims of BTU and efficiency ratings not verified by an accredited labratory are many times false and as we have shown, often deliberate lies. If you have purchased a furnace based on any false claims you may be entitled to a full refund. Now competitors are claiming the results of Warnock Herseys testing have been slanted or are not true. The truth is Warnock Hersey would not jeopardize their solid reputation by reporting false information. These tests prove without a doubt that Central Boiler's furnace is the most efficient. The EPA has recognized Central Boiler's expertise and involvement in efficiency and air quality concerns. Thus prompting an invitation for Central Boiler to present a paper at the upcoming Air & Waste Management Association's annual meeting in Nashville. Quite an Honor!

As a child, Laura was "sickly" she says. She often had to stay in the school house during recess. It was during recess that Laura learned to crochet. She had trouble reading the directions so some of the other girls taught her. Ever since then, crocheting has been one of Laura's favorite pastimes. Laura has crocheted four or five afghans, but she mostly makes doilies. She does beautiful, delicate work. In fact, many members of the Hillcrest staff have placed orders for the fine pieces of handwork.

This year Cindy Arlt suggested that Laura make something to enter in the Red Lake County Fair. She had never entered anything in the fair before but Laura crocheted a doily that won Reserve Champion.

Laura attended school through the eight grade. There were no buses to take her to town, so she was not able to attend high school.

After finishing rural school, Laura stayed and worked on the family farm for many years, but she knew she didn't want to farm all her life. She enjoyed sewing and figured she could make a living at it. At age 23 she left home and moved to Crookston were she took three months of sewing lessons. Her teacher was a busy seamstress. She took in two girls at a time whom she would teach to sew. In return, the girls worked for her.

"She was a real goodsteacher," Laura recalls.

After Laura finished her training she sewed for people in their homes. When her father died, she moved home to live with her mother in Terrebone. There she opened up a shop in the second floor of the house. Laura still remembers her very first pattern which was an apron pattern she cut out of old newspaper, a humble beginning for someone who would have a career as a professional seamstress for 51 years.

People from all over the area came to Laura's shop. She had customers from Red Lake Falls, Gentilly and even Crookston. Laura's mother died in 1960 and she continued to live and work in her house for 18 more years.

In 1978, Laura retired and moved to Sunset Court in Red Lake Falls. Since retiring, she has been very active in the Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP). While at Sunset she would volunteer to wash and set tables, and she once made an afghan to donate to a senior meals fund raiser.

Eventually Laura decided she could no longer take care of herself, so she moved into Hillcrest. She is not just sitting around, though. She still enjoys crocheting and she is involved in all the activities at Hillcrest, she says enthusiastically.

"The nurses and staff are real nice and friendly people. I'm happy to be here."

Laura never married, so she has no children. She does have lots of cousins, nieces and nephews that are close to her. Her nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Gagnon are very close to Laura. She explains that they "look after" her and visit almost every Sunday.

Laura is so chipper and active, it's hard to believe she needs anyone to look after her. It is also hard to believe that on September 27 she celebrated her 91st birthday. (Miss America can only hope she's still going strong at that age.)

Laura's pageant ribbon hangs on her wall along with her Reserve Champion ribbon from the fair. Her tierra sits in a case among the plants and flowers on her window ledge. She has kept a newspaper clipping about the pageant and sent other copies to friends and family.

"We had a really nice day," she says as she reflects on the day she was crowned.

Unlike Miss America, Laura does not have to spend the next year on tour. She can stay at home. It's a good thing, too, because she's pretty busy trying to keep up with orders for doilies.

Brush pick-up service to end on October 30

Residential brush pick-up provided by the Thief River Falls parks and recreation department will end for the season on Monday, October 30.

Brush on Monday and Thursday sanitation pick-up routes will be collected Tuesday, October 10 and Monday, October 23. Collection will be made on Tuesday and Friday sanitation routes on Mondays, October 16 and 30.

This summer Laura Gagnon entered a project in the Red Lake County Fair for the first time. She won Reserve Champion. She says she sometimes has trouble reading the directions for doily patterns so she just uses the picture as a guide. Laura was recently named Ms. Nursing Home 1995.

On the performance schedule were Torgerson, trombone soloist; Jane Anderson, soprano, Catherine Hagen, piano; Dennis Johnson, tenor; Kristin Buckley, flute; Diane Johnson, soprano; and Tera Marquis, Miss Thief River Falls, soprano.

Accompanists were Catherine Hagen, Avis Dyrud and Marian Marquis.

North Sub-Section 8AA tournament...

Tennis seedings listed

Bemidji is the No. 1 seed for the team portion of the 1995 North Sub-Section 8AA girls high school tennis tournament, scheduled to be held Wednesday at the Grand Forks Tennis Centre.

First round matches will feature No. 5-seeded Moorhead vs. No. 4 Fergus Falls at 9 a.m. and No. 3-seeded Detroit Lakes vs. No. 6 Thief River Falls at 10:30 a.m.

In the semifinals, Moorhead or Fergus Falls will play Bemidji at 12-noon and Detroit Lakes or Thief River Falls will face No. 2-seeded Alexandria at 1:30 p.m.

North Sub-Section 8AA individual competition will take place Thursday at the same site. Singles matches begin at 8:30 a.m. Doubles will begin at the completion of singles play.

Ruth Rhoades of Detroit Lakes and Kamie Twomey of Thief River Falls are the No. 1 and No. 2 seeds, respectively, in singles. The Prowlers' Bobbi Dahlstrom is No. 8.

Thief River Falls' Shari Evenson-Anne Padilla are seeded No. 1 in doubles. The Prowlers' Kate Ihle and Elizabeth Odette are No. 10.

TRF wins 6-1 tennis match over Roseau

A 6-1 win at Roseau Tuesday closed out an 8-6 regular season dual meet schedule for the Thief River Falls girls high school tennis team.

The Prowlers, who were rained out of a scheduled Saturday double-dual at Detroit Lakes vs. the Lakers and Alexandria, will compete in the 1995 North Sub-Section 8AA team tournament Wednesday at the Grand Forks Tennis Centre. Individual portion the tournament will be played at the same site the following day.

TRF 6, Roseau 1

Singles - 1. Kamie Twomey (TRF) def. Amber Kemp 2-0 (forfeit); 2. Bobbi Dahlstrom (TRF) def. Anne Johnson 6-3, 6-1; 3. Stephanie Leach (TRF) def. Nicole Brolen 6-2, 6-2; 4. Beth Goddard (TRF) def. Holly Bicker 6-1, 6-0.

Doubles - 1. Shari Evenson-Elizabeth Odette (TRF) def. Anna Mattson-Carla Mattson 3-6, 6-3, 1-0; 2. Kia Goddard-Vicki Battaglio (TRF) def. Trisha Loken-Lissa Bicker 6-4, 6-2; 3. Sarah Lelor-Liza Jain (Roseau) def. Heidi Johnson-Andrea Vigen 7-5, 6-2.

Gators sweep Ponies

Krissi Super, Bridget Rinde and Stefanie Sparby combined forces to lead Badger/Greenbush-Middle River to a 15-5, 15-10, 15-3 Monday high school volleyball win over Warren-Alvarado-Oslo.

Super and Rinde did the hitting, while Sparby collected 17 assists in the three-game sweep and also came up with eight third-game service points.

"We played well," reported Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Christi Anderson. "We came at them hard in the first game. We struggled a little bit in the second game, but we got on a roll in the third game. It was a good confidence-builder for the kids."

Wolverines vs. Rams

Unbeaten Roseau swept a 3-0 match from Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke Monday 15-5, 15-3, 15-5.

"They're good," acknowledged Wolverines coach Tina Rode, "and I don't think we played up to par."

Fan bus set for Fargodome

A Thief River Falls fan bus is being planned for the Prowlers' Friday, Oct. 13, high school football game against Woodbury at the Fargodome.

Game time is 5:30 p.m. The bus will leave at 2:45 p.m. from the Lincoln High School gym. Cost for the trip is $5 per person. You may sign up for the trip in the Lincoln High School activities office between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday through Wednesday, and until 12-noon Thursday.

Advance sale game tickets, priced at $5 for adults and $3 for students, are also available at the LHS activities office.

The Thief River Falls vs. Woodbury game will be preceded by a 3:30 p.m. Dilworth-Glyndon-Felton vs. Warroad match-up and will be followed by an 8 p.m. Hibbing vs. Moorhead contest.

Tickets will be good for all three games. The Thief River Falls fan bus will return immediately following the last game of the evening.

Lincoln High School fine line dance team and the Prowler pep band will also perform during the Thief River Falls Fargodome appearance.

Spuds impressive in 3-0 win vs. Prowlers

Moorhead showed why it was ranked No. 5 in the Associated Press Class AA poll Tuesday with a impressive showing in a 15-10, 15-2, 15-2 high school volleyball win over Thief River Falls.

The Prowlers played with the Spuds briefly before the visitors' hard-hitting attack took over.

Down 11-5 in Game 1, Thief River Falls flashed some promise in pulling within 11-9 on an ace serve by sophomore Desirae Alberg. But the Spuds dominated the rest of the play – finding holes in the Thief River Falls defense with a never-ending barrage of spikes.

"They've got a very good team," confirmed Thief River Falls coach Helen Anderson. "They hit hard consistently. I thought the first game went well for us; I was happy. But they (Spuds) kept hitting the ball and I think we got gun shy."

Moorhead went to 15-3 with the win. It was just the second Class AA opponent for the 13-7 Prowlers, who beat Bemidji twice earlier.

In preliminary matches, the Thief River Falls junior varsity won 15-12, 16-14 and the Moorhead C squad won 15-8, 16-14.

TRF Scoring

■ Last touch - Maren Thorson 6, Desirae Alberg 4, Sarah Koland 2
■ Kills - Tholson 10, Carrie Rud 2
■ Ace serves - Koland 2, Alberg 2

Fergus Falls squad picks up 3-0 MCCC win over Northland

Fergus Falls handled Northland 15-3, 15-2, 15-13 Wednesday in Minnesota Community College Conference volleyball action.

The host Spartans improved their second place MCCC Northern Division record to 6-1. The Pioneers fell to 2-5, 4-8 overall.

Jenny Steen had 3 kills, 3 blocks and 1 ace serve for the Pioneers. Teammate Ali Hietala finished with 3 kills, 5 assists and 1 ace.

TRF holds off W-A-O rally in volleyball win

Sidetracked on the way to an apparently easy three-game sweep, Thief River Falls stumbled, regrouped and finished with a 15-3, 15-5, 13-15, 16-14 high school volleyball win over Warren-Alvarado-Oslo Thursday.

The Prowlers watched an 11-7 third-game lead and sweep slip away when the Ponies' Brenda Myrfield took over at the net and teammate Heather Kujava served aces for the final two points of the comeback.

And with Kujava back at the service line, it looked like it was going to turn into a full five-game match when the Warren-Alvarado-Oslo momentum carried the visitors to an 8-0 head start in Game 4.

To complicate matters for the Prowlers at that point, they lost setter Kendra Dimich, who was struck in the face in a collision with a teammate.

"Things looked so easy the first two games," offered Thief River Falls coach Helen Anderson. Liberal substitution, and a mix-up in the scorers' book robbed the Prowlers of the early momentum, though, and Warren-Alvarado-Oslo took charge.

However, Thief River Falls rebounded, catching the Ponies at 11-11 on a string of three service points by freshman Lindsay Drury.

A full rotation later the Prowlers took their first Game 4 lead, 13-12, on a Drury ace and came within a point of finishing the comeback on a kill by Maren Thorson.

Jessica McGregor put one away for the Ponies to tie it again at 14-14, but a spike by sophomore Desirae Alberg broke serve, and her kill put the Prowlers ahead 15-14. An ace by Kim Hook closed it out.

"Give the girls a lot of credit for coming back like they did," said Anderson. "Kim Hook stepped in and did a nice job taking charge after Kendra got hurt, and Lindsay Drury came off the bench and got some big service points for us."

Thief River Falls took a 14-7 record into a Saturday matinee match against Detroit Lakes. The Prowlers host Win-E-Mac Monday in their final regular season home appearance.

A 15-10, 15-4 sweep put the Thief River Falls junior varsity at 14-4 for the year. Warren-Alvarado-Oslo won the C squad match 15-4, 12-15, 15-4.

TRF Scoring Leaders

■ Last touch - Maren Thorson 13, Desirae Alberg 11, Michelle Mathson 10
■ Kills - Thorson 15, Alberg 10, Mathson 7.
■ Ace serves - Sarah Koland 3, Kendra Dimich 2, Thorson 2.
■ Assists - Dimich 14, Kim Hook 10.

Ten-year-old Ben Weigelt of Thief River Falls turned in a major feat at the Family Bowl when he went 114 pins over his average in rolling a 218 game during his Prep League outing Sept. 30. He finished with a 501 series. A bowler since age 5, the St. Bernard's fifth grader had a previous single-game high of 177.

Nordics collect 3-1 Tuesday volleyball win vs. Wolverines

Marshall County Central shut out Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke in the fourth game Tuesday to close out a 3-1 high school volleyball win.

The Nordics won 15-6, 15-6, 8-15, 15-0.

"We came out strong, but we lost our fire in a hurry," said Wolverines coach Tina Rode. "We weren't setting the ball up and our hitters were inconsistent. Our serving was terrible in the last game."

Experimental northern regulations proposed for Lake of the Woods

Department of Natural Resources is proposing experimental regulations on Lake of the Woods to protect the quality northern pike population that currently exists.

Public meeting on the subject will be held Monday, Oct. 23, from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Warroad Community Center.

The proposal is in response to the desire, expressed by anglers surveyed in recent years, to manage Lake of the Woods as a trophy northern pike fishery.

TRF tops Crookston in ninth grade match

Thief River Falls freshmen beat Crookston twice Tuesday in high school volleyball.

The Thief River Falls A team won 15-11, 15-6 and the B squad won 15-3, 10-15, 15-12.

Itasca beats Northland 32-22

Jason Hall rushed for 222 yards and scored four touchdowns Thursday to lead Itasca to a 32-22 Minnesota Community College Conference football win over Northland.

A speedster from Cambridge, Hall scored on runs of 40, 50 and 28 yards, in averaging nearly 14 yards per carry on his 16 attempts. He also returned a punt 83 yards for a touchdown and added 22 yards on two receptions – the only pass completions of the night for the Vikings.

"He (Hall) is a good running-back," noted Northland coach Gene Klinke. "He's got good quickness. But we gave him everything. We're playing so poorly on our containment right now that [illegible] killing us on the outside. That's our weakness, and teams are exploiting it. We knew what was coming but we couldn't stop them."

Northland got a 27-carry, 164-yard game from Brett Miller and a pair of touchdowns from the defense – fumble returns covering 42 yards by Brandon Baker and 28 yards from Paul Barringer. Laurence Reid also added to the Pioneers' running game with 48 yards on just 7 carries (6.9 yard average), but the Pioneers were just 2-for-9 in the air for 48 yards.

Itasca blitzed Northland with a 20-point second quarter as the Pioneers fell to 0-5 for the year.

"[illegible] moved the ball, but [illegible] to be able to complete [illegible] passes at the college level," [illegible]. "We haven't been able to play a complete football game [illegible] got good players, but [illegible] is a must, and that should be happening five weeks into the season."

The game, played in Grand Rapids, was the third straight on the road for the Pioneers, who find themselves all but eliminated from the MCCC playoff picture with an 0-2 start in the Northern Division. They face unbeaten divisional leader Vermilion Thursday in Northland's 6 p.m. homecoming game at Prowler Field.

Counties receive funds

■ DNR payments are made

Twenty counties in northwest and west-central Minnesota recently received a total of $1,441,940 from the Department of Natural Resources under the state's in-lieu-of-tax payment program. The money was part of more than $6.8 million distributed statewide this year to Minnesota counties in lieu of real estate taxes for land owned or administered by the DNR.

Included in the program are state forest lands, wildlife management areas/public hunting lands, consolidated conservation lands, state trails, DNR-owned public water access sites, county-managed tax forfeit lands, school trust fund lands, and state parks. Payments also include a portion of funds derived from the sale of state timber, plus agricultural, mineral and miscellaneous leases.

This is the 16th year counties have received the payments.

DNR Commissioner Rod Sando said, "Each year the department makes a significant contribution to the budgets of counties throughout the state through the in-lieu-of-tax payments. Our partnership with the counties and local governments is important to the DNR."

Local dollar distribution is based on the total acreage of state and county-administered land in each county.

By law, counties are required to deposit 40 percent of the funds received into the county general revenue fund. Another portion must be deposited into a county resource-development fund for use in forest management, fish and wildlife habitat improvement, recreational development and maintenance of county-administered natural resource lands. However, counties receiving less than $5,000 annually for resource development may elect to deposit those funds into their general revenue accounts. Organized townships also receive a portion of the payment for road and bridge projects.

Payment amounts to counties in the DNR Region 1 area include Becker $115,172; Beltrami $536,310; Clay $19,918; Clearwater $140,165; Douglas $16,735; Grant $10,338; Hubbard $244,307; Kittson $103,787; Lake of the Woods $442,090; Mahnomen $29,889; Marshall $96,886; Norman $19,539; Otter Tail $57,758; Pennington $11,684; Polk $50,573; Pope $13,100; Red Lake $7,496; Roseau $315,178; Stevens $9,785; Traverse $754; and Wilkin $16,683.

TAYLOR®
Outdoor Woodstove
TAYLOR® did not become the largest manufacturer of outdoor woodstoves by deceiving the public to make sales. Rather, we built our reputation by producing the most thermal efficient, best designed and longest lasting woodstove on the market. One of our competitors chose to use our name in their advertising as one of their attempts to mislead customers. They claim to be the cleanest burning stove with a 92.5% combustion efficiency. To clarify what this figure of combustion efficiency actually means is that 92.5% of the wood you put in their firebox will burn up; that's it. A good bonfire could achieve this meaningless number. Thermal efficiency is the percent of heat energy or BTU's that is successfully transferred from the wood to the water. TAYLOR® stoves have always had the highest proven thermal efficiency of all woodstoves tested, 81%. This is due to the double pass flue design and separate secondary burn chamber that reburns gases all other stoves put up in the clouds. Please check out TAYLOR® and you will see we clearly have a superior outdoor wood heating system.

New technology

Warren — Computer technology is the key to customized fertilizing. At the end of August Harvest States Cooperative Fertilizer Plant in Warren purchased an Ag-Chem Model 1903 Soilection airflow floater and since then has been using it to provide variable application for area farmers.

The cab of the floater contains a computer which uses military satellites to determine its geographical location, then applies the precise amount of fertilizer for that area of land.

A production specialist will work with the cooperative manager to develop test plots next spring that can compare results from the Soilection technology with that of conventional spreading.

Worst nightmare

Fosston — Since June over 90 of Darlene and Art Ferguson's cattle have died from a strange virus. They have consulted their veterinarian, researchers from NDSU, state dairy inspectors and test laboratories and still no one knows the source or cure for the disease.

Dr. Berg of NDSU states that the virus may be BVD 2, a virus that mutates around BVD vaccinations and disarms their effectiveness. The Fergusons bought several cows from southern Minnesota on May 31.

On June 6 one cow died on June 21 one more died and on June 22 three more died. After much media coverage of the outbreak, other farmers from southern Minnesota have called the Fergusons with similar stories. Veterinarians urge farmers to quarantine all additions to existing herd for at least two weeks.

Volunteers wanted

Red Lake Falls — Last year more than 100 people volunteered their time at Layfayette High School and J.A. Hughes Elementary School. This year volunteer coordinator JoAnn Zutz is hoping for continued success.

She is looking for teachers and parents to volunteer their time in various ways. Volunteers can save Campbell's soup labels at home, spend time in the classroom, chaperone a trip, supervise the playground or help in the office.

There are many other options for those who want to contribute to education in the Red Lake Falls community. Call 253-2637 or 253-2161 to volunteer.

Unusual animals

Gonvick — She's not Old McDonald, but she sure has a lot of animals. Karen Copeland and her husband Tim recently moved to Avalon Farm southwest of Gonvick and they brought some unusual animals.

When the couple moved from Oregon they brought 24 goats (pygmy and Angora), 17 sheep, 11 ducks, 25 chickens, five peacocks, 14 Angora rabbits, 10 guinea pigs, three dogs, six cats, one hamster and six indoor birds. The peacocks and some of the chickens didn't survive their first winter in Minnesota. Karen shears the sheep, goats and rabbits and spins the wool herself. She also sells guinea pigs and some miniature Angora rabbits to Ben Franklin stores.

Plan beef cattle workshop at Bagley Oct. 17

Minnesota extension service will conduct the 1995 Northwest Minnesota Beef Cattle Producer's Workshop Tuesday, October 17, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Bagley Livestock Exchange located west of Bagley on Highway 2.

A noon meal will be provided by Joe Varner of Bagley Livestock Exchange.

The beef producer's workshop is an extension educational effort designed to provide pertinent and up-to-date information for livestock producers in this area of the state. In addition to the educational presentations, a large number of commercial and livestock exhibitors will be on hand to display their goods and services.

Featured at this year's workshop will be presentations on "Healthy Management for Calf Survival" by Ken Odde of Pfizer, Inc., and "Reducing Winter Feeding Costs" by Alfredo DiConstanzo, extension beef specialist.

Afternoon session will concentrate on a topic of interest to many cattle producers titled: "Fall Calving Considerations for Northern Minnesota." Dr. Harvey Peterson, UMC livestock specialist and beef producers Kelly Nordlund, Dean Schultz and Henry Johnson will cover the options, economics, considerations and practical results of a fall calving system.

Throughout the day program participants will have the opportunity to visit with a large number of machinery, equipment, feed, pharmaceutical and livestock exhibitors.

Although the program will focus on beef cattle, all livestock producers are invited to attend this free event.

For more information contact the Beltrami county extension office in Bemidji at 218-759-0038.

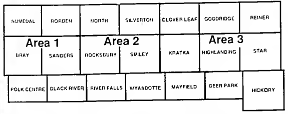
Pennington County FSA Committee Areas



Farm Service Agency elections scheduled

Nominations are being sought from throughout Pennington, Red Lake, Marshall and Roseau counties for the election of members to the Farm Service Agency county committees, according to county executive directors for the new federal agricultural agency.

Period for nominations is now open and will continue open through October 30. The elections themselves will be conducted by mail ballot between November 24 and December 4, 1995, with the newly elected committees to take office on Jan. 1, 1996.

Farm Service Agency (FSA) is a new federal agency created by the merger of the former Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC) and the agricultural loan portions of the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA). It had been called the Consolidated Farm Service Agency (CFSA) but the word Consolidated has been deleted.

The new FSA administers commodity programs, crop insurance and farm loans and the locally-elected FSA committee will have supervisory responsibilities at the county level, according to Phillip Bergland, county executive director for the Pennington county FSA.

To create the county committees each county has been divided into three separate geographical divisions called Local Administrative Areas (LAA). Agricultural land owners in each of the townships will elect one person to represent them on the county committee for a one-year, two-year and three-year period.

"Valid petitions must be limited to one nominee each, must include written certification that the nominee is willing to serve if elected and must be signed by at least three eligible voters in the Local Administrative Area," notes Barbara Roseen, Roseau county executive director.

"If a minimum of four nominees for each community are not submitted, the current FSA committee must complete the ballot before the ballots are mailed in November. At least one of the four nominees must be a female to comply with the federal regulations."

Nominating petitions are available on request at the county offices. In Pennington county call 681-1612, in Marshall call 745-4251, in Red Lake call 253-2181 and in Roseau call 463-2452 and the petitions will be mailed to those requesting them.

Townships included in the LAAs in the four counties mentioned above include the following:

Pennington County

Area 1—Numedal, Norden, North, Bray, Sanders, Polk Centre and Black River;

Area 2—Silverton, Rocksbury, Smiley, River Falls, Wyandotte and Mayfield; Area 3—Cloverleaf, Goodridge, Reiner, Kratka, Highlanding, Star, Deer Park and Hickory.

Marshall County

Area 1—Eagle Point, Donnelly, Fork, Parker, Big Woods, Bloomer, Oak Park, Vega, Sinnott, Augsburg, Tamarac, Warrenton, Middle River, Alma, Warrenton, McCrea and Boxville;

Area 2—Nelson Park, Lincoln, Wright, West Valley, Foldahl, Marsh Grove, Comstock, Viking, East Park, Huntly, New Maine, Spruce Valley, Newfolden, Holt, New Solum and Excel; Area 3—Como, Thief Lake, Cedar Whiteford, East Valley, Mud Lake, Agder, Grand Plain, Moose River, Linsell, Rollis, Veldt, Eckvoll, Valley, Moylan and Espelie.

Red Lake County

Area 1—Wylie, Browns Creek, Louisville, Red Lake Falls and Lake Pleasant;

Area 2—River, Gervais, North Emardville, South Emardville and Terrebonne;

Area 3—Poplar River, North Garnes, South Garnes, North Equality, South Equality and Lambert.

Roseau County

Area 1—Blooming Valley, Polditz, Juneberry, Soler, Moose, Polonia, Barto, Skagen, Dewey, Hereim, Barnett, Lind, Deer and Huss;

Area 2—Dieter, Spruce Valley, Ross, Jadis, Spruce, Stokes, Stafford, Malung, Nereson, Grimstad, Mickinock, Poplar Grove, Palmville and Golden Valley; Area 3—Norland, Enstrom, Lake, Cedarbend, Moranville, Laona, Falun, America, Clear River, Oaks, Beaver, Reine and Elkwood.

The opportunity to nominate, vote and be elected to office is guaranteed to all farmers regardless of race, color, religion, national origin, age, sex, marital status or disability.

Work progressing smoothly on new Roseau county courthouse

by Elizabeth Reishus
Northern Watch Reporter

On July 31 Roseau county broke ground on its new courthouse and since then things have been progressing smoothly. Job superintendent Lee Hanble of Kraus-Anderson said that the project is exactly on schedule, in fact, if the steel beams arrive on Tuesday, the crew will be three days ahead of schedule. "Weather permitting," he adds. So far, he says, the days with good weather made up for the days with bad weather.

The concrete for the floors have been poured in most of the building. Buy Wednesday all the floor slabs should be complete. The curbs outside the building were put in place on October 11.

Right now the crew is working on building the structural walls so they are ready when the beams arrive. The roof can then be put in place before the really cold weather sets in. Interior walls will be built after the roof is on. The structural walls are made of burnished concrete blocks. The sturdy blocks are virtually indestructible once in place. The exposed side of the block is finished to look like tile and, once cleaned and sealed, requires no maintenance. Hanble credited the county with making a wise decision when choosing the burnished block.

The decking and joisting should be finished next week. The decorative columns are also expected to arrive next week. The columns will be put in place during the second week of November, if everything goes according to schedule. The outside of the building will be covered with three inches of styrofoam insulation and then covered with brick veneer. The bricks are on order. Hopefully all the outside work will be finished so crews can work indoors during the winter.

The completion date everyone is shooting for is March 1, but, says Hanble, mid-March may be more realistic.

Other outdoor work like the parking lot and landscaping will be finished next spring. The building is located on Highway 89 south of Roseau. The parking lot will be accessible from the highway.

The new building is adjacent to the existing Social Services building and will include an addition to the current Social Services facility.

Dave Anderson, Director of Social Services for Roseau County, says the space is much needed. Right now the facility is so inadequate that they have social services offices in the basement of their building. This is a problem because, they need to have offices that are accessible to all people.

The new courthouse building has basically three sections. The north section is the additional social services offices. This end of the building has a separate entrance to help protect the privacy of social service clients. Social services and the courts work closely on so many cases that it makes sense to have the offices in the courthouse building. The middle section is the court area, which contains two courtrooms, two jury rooms, the law library, the court reporter's office, the county attorney's office, the court administrator's office and the judges chambers. The south end of the building contains county offices such as the assessor, the county recorder, environmental services, MN extension service, the county

The curb around the main entrance to the new Roseau county courthouse was put in place on October 11. The stairs were finished a couple of weeks ago. The outside walls will be finished soon and a shipment of beams for the roof are expected to arrive early next week.

Community effort

Warroad — A cooperative effort between Northwest Technical School and the Warroad Community Education Department is helping to establish a selection of courses for people who are interested in continuing their education.

Representatives have been working at Marvin Windows doing task identifications to assist them in offering courses to upgrade employees in their particular work area.

Special response team training

Williams — The Northwest Minnesota Special Response Team, along with teams from Beltrami and Polk counties and officers from police and sheriff's departments of Warroad, Roseau, and Greenbush took part in high-risk-entry training at the Williams Community Center.

According to Lake of the Woods Sheriff Bob Paulseth, the response team holds some kind of training session every month.

The NW MN Special Response Team was created a little more than a year ago, in order to provide a well-trained and well-equipped unit to respond to risky situations in the region. Paulseth said that the team is used for high-risk searches or arrests where there is a risk to officers or the public. The team most recently was used to apprehend two suspected kidnappers from a house south of Williams.

Now that's a classy pen!

Ada — Some people write with pens from the dime store and throw them away after a while. Others write with fancy pens that cost hundreds of dollars. Some people write with wooden pens.

Wes Magnusson of Ada Minnesota manufactures custom pens from a variety of woods. He has made pens from purple heart, red oak, Australian blackwood, as well as Ironwood.

He got the idea while in Mesa, AZ where he and his wife spend each winter. He pre drills the hole for the filler and pen mechanism, then works the pen down to size on the lathe.

Wes makes a number of other wood items that he sells at craft shows.

Scholarships available

The Penn-Mar-Red Chapter of American Agri-Women will offer three scholarship to the Harvest of Knowledge Agri-Women's Conference, October 27 at the Ramada Inn in Grand Forks.

Penn-Mar-Red president Connie Mehrkens says the conference is an opportunity to network with agribusiness women from across North Dakota and Minnesota, enjoy the speakers and Ag Fair and also attend the Red River Valley Farm Woman of the Year Banquet.

"These scholarships are for women who have never attended the conference. It's a great way to attract interest in membership and promote Agri-Women as effective advocates and educators in the world of agribusiness." She says the Penn-Mar-Red Chapter hopes to award one scholarship in each county.

Applicants from Red Lake, Pennington and Marshall counties who have never attended the Harvest of Knowledge Conference are encouraged to write a short paragraph about why they would like to attend, to be mailed to Mehrkens at Route 1, Box 252, Thief River Falls, MN 56701 before October 18. Applications will be reviewed and scholarships awarded by the Penn-Mar-Red Executives Committee.

Arctco concept store opens in G.F.

Arctco Inc., will introduce the future of Arctic Cat snowmobile and Tigershark watercraft dealerships in Grand Forks this weekend. Grand Forks Equipment was selected to be the first prototype Arctco World Class Store and will host a grand opening October 12-14, highlighting its new showroom.

"We started the World Class Store program to give Arctco dealers the opportunity to professionally design or upgrade their dealerships in a manner which has been proven to increase sales and profits," said Tom Schaefer, Arctco's merchandising and packaging coordinator.

Creative Retailing, Inc., a leading retail design firm based in Irvine, CA, provided the expertise in designing the World Class Store concept. "They are on the cutting edge of store design, layout, fixturization, signage and merchandise presentation," said Schaefer.

Grand Forks Equipment's new World Class Store showroom features a new floor design with traffic patterns, wall display systems highlighted with multiple focal points, and fully integrated ceiling displays. The new showroom allows 90 to 95 per cent of the dealership's in-stock product to be visible and provides a customer-friendly environment which offers better service and selection. The prototype World Class Store design, in parts or as a whole, will be available to all Arctco dealers in the future.

"We felt it was necessary to have a prototype store first, to test ideas, concepts, and the process," said Schaefer. "Grand Forks Equipment will provide us with valuable information we can pass on to the rest of our dealer network, like the cost to implement this program, the financial payback to a dealership over time, and a start to finish time line. We chose Grand Forks Equipment as the prototype store because of its proximity to Arctco, and the fact that they had a clean sheet approach to designing the showroom in their new building."

"We're honored to have been selected as the prototype store," said Grand Forks Equipment owner Jeff [illegible]. "Grand Forks and the surrounding communities should be excited as well. It's a big approach, and it will change how people view a recreational vehicle dealership."

Grand Forks Equipment will hold its open house on Thursday, October 12 from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., Friday, October 13 from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Saturday, October 14 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Refreshments will be served, and customers can enter drawings to win an Arctic Cat leather snowmobile suit, a VIP limousine ride to Thief River Falls to tour the Arctco plant, and a weekend vacation for two at Pinehurst Resort. Grand Forks Equipment is located on Highway 2, just west of I-29.

Community business forum scheduled for November 1

Former U.S. Congressman Tim Penny will be featured at A Community Business Forum to be conducted Wednesday, November 1, from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. at the Best Western Inn of Thief River Falls.

The event is sponsored by Dakota Community Health Network, Dakota Clinic—Thief River Falls and the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce.

Mailings sent to Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce members state that those attending will learn how to "have a voice in shaping the issues that impact your bottom line" and "how our community is creating the health care system Congress couldn't. Local health care providers, employers, and consumers are working together on an affordable, accessible, high-quality health care option."

NWRDC seeking input from public on transportation

To better identify the transportation needs in Region 1, the transportation advisory committee of the Northwest Regional Development Commission (NWRDC) has scheduled two public meetings to gather local input on state trunk highway, transit, air, rail, bridge and other needs throughout the region.

Meetings are scheduled for Wednesday, October 25, at the Polk county courthouse in Crookston and Wednesday, November 1, at the Greenbush Community Center. Both meetings will begin at 7 p.m. Those attending the Crookston meeting are asked to park behind the building, use the first floor entrance and go to the ground floor meeting room.

"As the need for transportation dollars continues to outpace revenues available, it becomes increasingly important to target the limited funding to transportation projects which will best serve the region's needs," states Steve Lorch of the NWRDC office in Warren.

The transportation advisory committee will review the information and opinion provided at the meetings and make recommendations to the Minnesota Department of Transportation (MnDOT) regarding improvement priorities in the region.

"Considering the time required to process a project, it is important that local concerns on particular transportation projects be presented as early as possible," Lorch said.

Officials from MnDOT District 2 will be in attendance at the meetings to discuss the area transportation partnerships which have been created statewide in order to make transportation funding decisions at the local level. This is part of the implementation of the Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act (ISTEA) of 1991. The act emphasizes cooperation among all modes of transportation and all state and local transportation interests.

Those who cannot attend either of the meetings but would like to provide input, or who have any questions concerning the public meetings, are encouraged to contact Steve Lorch at the NWRDC in Warren, phone 218-745-6733.

To The Editor:

Year after year the citizens of Minnesota see state and federal governments grow, becoming more out of touch with the real needs of real live citizens. Luckily for us, State Senator LeRoy Stumpf is not a typical bureaucrat. He is responsive. He understands the fact that government must not be over burdensome with its rules and regulations. We need flexibility in programs and we need programs that do not bankrupt taxpayers and the communities in which we live and do business.

Last spring Senator Stumpf took on some powerful state agencies. Not only did he try to improve Minnesota's wetlands law, much to the dismay of the Department of Natural Resources, but he asked the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency (MPCA) to be more accountable for the way it spends your and my tax dollars.

During the 1995 legislative session, Senator Stumpf added two amendments to the omnibus environment finance bill that were the first steps in changing the way the MPCA does business. The first amendment directed the MPCA to provide the legislature with a list disclosing all wastewater projects in the state, the cost of these projects and the resulting sewer rate increases. The second amendment required specific legislative oversight and approval of new state wastewater mandates that are more stringent than those imposed by the federal government.

The first amendment was passed into law. Unfortunately, the second amendment was defeated due to strong opposition from the agency and legislators who are not willing to make the state accountable for its regulatory agencies.

Both of these amendments were common sense approaches to making our government aware of how much their regulations cost taxpayers. Senator Stumpf should be thanked for being a leader in pushing for an honest and cost-effective government. Minnesotans greatly benefit from having a legislator like Senator Stumpf working for them.

To The Editor:

The Times of October 4, 1995 includes a resolution by the City council declaring October 2-6 as Public Power Week. Among other things the resolution notes the low cost of public power and the benefits provided as a result.

Also on the front page is a listing of the costs for remodeling of the (Soo Line) Depot for use as the city offices. The mechanical bid indicates that the city is considering a geo-thermal heat system.

At the risk of stating the obvious, if public power is all of the things stated in the resolution, then shouldn't the city be heating the depot with electricity?

Sincerely,
Paul Nelson

"Medi-Scare" Tactics Irk Congressman

One of the political ploys of the Democrats in Congress is to portray the budget-balancing efforts of Republicans in the least favorable light possible. Regarding Democrat response to Republican attempts to get a handle on escalating Medicare costs, Newsweek magazine calls it "Medi-Scare."

The Washington Post in late September editorialized: "The Democrats have fabricated the Medicare-tax cut connection because it is useful politically. It allows them to attack and to duck responsibility, both at the same time. We think it's wrong."

Sen. Rod Grams was irked recently when his 91-year-old grandmother, residing in a nursing home in Cambridge, received a letter from her Congressman about Medicare. He says the letter was "liberally sprinkled" with inflammatory phrases like "drastic cuts" and "benefits coming under attack"—accusing Republicans of "coercing seniors into health plans" and "herding as many seniors as possible into managed health care programs."

"Republicans in Congress are proposing to cut Medicare by $270 billion over the next seven years," the letter states, "in order to pay for a tax cut of $245 billion for the wealthiest of Americans, those making over $350,000 a year."

Sen. Grams says the letter scared his grandmother and he imagines it had a similar affect on a number of other seniors. "I am appalled," he said, "that older Americans, who are among the most vulnerable in society, are being subjected to these kinds of scare tactics, fear-mongering and blatant, self-serving distortions."

He presents the three following ideas which he calls "the real facts:"

Fact number one: We must reform Medicare to ensure quality health care for our seniors at a cost we can honestly afford. Unless we do, there are only two options. Either the Medicare hospital insurance trust fund—which has provided health care services for 37 million Americans—will go bankrupt in seven years or we can raise taxes on our seniors and working families by $388 billion over the next seven years.

Fact number two: We're going to save Medicare by increasing spending, but at a slower rate, not with "dangerous cuts." Medicare spending under our plan will increase by 40 per cent—from $4,800 per beneficiary this year to $6,700 in the year 2002.

Fact number three: Medicare reform has no connection at all to our efforts to provide tax relief to middle-class taxpayers, the working families who so desperately need it. With or without cuts, Medicare is in severe financial trouble.

Fact number four: The vast majority of the tax relief in the Republican budget is directed right where it's needed most—to middle-class American families. Every family with children will benefit from the $500 per child tax credit, and more than 85 per cent of the children eligible for it live in families with incomes at or below $75,000. These families aren't the "privileged" or the "wealthiest of Americans." They're average folks who are struggling to meet their tax burden while trying to make a good life for themselves.

There is nothing wrong with a healthy difference of opinion on major questions such as national health care, but it is irresponsible to use unfounded fears to attempt to achieve personal political gain. Shame on those who use such tactics instead of tackling and solving the problem in a straight forward and honest manner.

First The Action, Then The Study.....

The September issue of The Red River Messenger, published by The International Coalition for Land and Water Stewardship in the Red River Basin, carries a front page article that should be cause for at least a little head scratching and brow furrowing.

"A four-year project to develop a wetlands conservation plan for Minnesota has been underway since August 1993 under a planning grant from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency," the article states. It notes that Elizabeth Carlson is the project coordinator and that the project is scheduled to be complete by mid-1997.

Minnesota enacted the Wetlands Conservation Act in the 1991 legislative session and its rules have been in effect for some time now. Does it seem at all that there is a little question of mis-timing here?

Well, probably this is some independent study that is being done without the approval of state agencies.

Not exactly. One of Carlson's hearings was held in Thief River Falls some months ago with representatives from a number of groups and agencies participating. The Messenger article states that the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources, Board of Water and Soil Resources, Pollution Control Agency and Department of Transportation are cooperators in the project.

"The purpose of the project is to define clear and specific objectives for protection, management and restoration of wetlands; to provide a useful framework for making decisions about wetland impacts, protection and mitigation; and, for the first time, to refine the state's wetlands policies to reflect regional factors of ecology, geography and economics."

First phase of the project was to focus on clarifying the issues. Next phase is deeper analysis of issues and the whole system of wetlands programs, development of goals and strategies and action commitment for use of the plan.

The Messenger article continues:

Some of the issues for a long-range state wetlands conservation plan identified by resource groups in the first phase include:

- Regional differences;
- Wetland functions and values;
- Confusing and complex permitting process; lack of consistency and coordination in the permitting process;
- Clear, long-term goals;
- Educating interested parties.

Two work teams are to start meeting late this year "...to grapple with...regional differences, use of wetland functions and values in planning and decision-making, social and economic considerations and long-range objectives."

The work teams are to have access to a "consulting pool" which includes local government officials, developers, environmentalists, farmers, educators, property rights advocates, sportspersons and other concerned citizens.

Two questions immediately come to mind:

(1) Why was a state law passed before the results of such a study could be made available;

(2) What purpose does the study have now that the law is in existence and being enforced?

We would appreciate having someone provide us with some logical answers.

SOUPCON

Sherry LaCoursiere

Here are some "chocoholic" recipes from a Hershey's chocolate cook book I am lucky enough to have.

Feel like something rich — here it is:

CHOCOLATE PECAN PIE BARS

1 1/3 cups flour
2 tablespoons packed brown sugar
1/2 cup packed brown sugar (used separately from above)
1/2 cup butter or margarine
2 eggs
1/2 cup light corn syrup
1/4 cup cocoa
2 tablespoons butter, melted
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/8 teaspoon salt
1 cup coarsely chopped pecans

Heat oven to 350 degrees.

In medium bowl, stir together flour and 2 tablespoons brown sugar. Cut in 1/2 cup butter or margarine until mixture resembles coarse crumbs.

Press in bottom and 1 inch up sides of ungreased 9 inch square baking pan. Bake 10-12 minutes until set. With back of spoon, lightly press crust into corners and against sides of pan.

In small bowl, lightly beat eggs, syrup, 1/2 cup brown sugar, cocoa, melted butter, vanilla and salt. Stir in pecans.

Pour mixture over warm crust and return to oven. Bake 25 minutes or until filling is set.

Cool in pan on wire rack and then cut into bars.

Yum, yum. You might want to make these for Christmas, but try them this week to see if they are good, right:

CHOCOLATE THUMBPRINT COOKIES

1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened
2/3 cup sugar
1 egg yolk
2 tablespoons milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup flour
1/3 cup cocoa
1/4 teaspoon salt

Vanilla Filling

1/2 cup powdered sugar
1 tablespoon butter, softened
2 teaspoons milk
1/4 teaspoon vanilla

Beat butter, sugar, egg yolk, milk and vanilla until light and fluffy.

Stir together flour, cocoa and salt and add to butter mixture, beating until well blended. Refrigerate dough at least 1 hour or until firm enough to handle.

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Lightly grease cookie sheet.

Shape dough into 1-inch balls and roll in granulated sugar. Place on cookie sheet and gently press thumb into center of each ball.

Bake 10-12 minutes or until set.

Prepare Vanilla Filling and as soon as cookies are removed from oven, spoon about 1/4 teaspoon filling into each thumbprint. Decorate filling with pecan or walnut half.

Now that your chocolate tooth is ready, make these in a hurry:

MINI CHIP BROWNIES

1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 cup packed brown sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup mini chocolate chips

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Grease 8 or 9 inch square pan.

In small saucepan, melt butter. Stir in brown sugar. Remove from heat and pour mixture into mixing bowl and cool.

Add egg and vanilla and beat well. Add flour and salt and beat just until well blended. Stir in chips.

Spread batter into prepared pan and bake 25-30 minutes until brownies pull away from sides of pan. Cool completely (if you can wait) and then cut.

Make this when you want an old-fashioned dish with a newfangled flavor:

BAKED CHOCOLATE RICE PUDDING

1/2 cup regular long grain rice
1 cup water
2/3 cup sugar
1/4 cup sugar (used separately)
1/3 cup cocoa
1 tablespoon cornstarch
Dash of salt
2 1/2 cups milk, divided
2 eggs, separated
1/2 cup raisins

In medium saucepan, stir rice and water. Cook, stirring occasionally, to boiling. Reduce heat, cover and simmer 14 minutes without removing cover or stirring. All water should be absorbed. Remove from heat and stir lightly with fork. Set aside.

Heat oven to 350 degrees.

In large bowl, stir 2/3 cup sugar, cocoa, cornstarch and salt. Add 1/2 cup milk, then egg yolks and beat until well blended.

Stir in rice and raisins.

Place 1 1/2 quart casserole in baking pan and pour rice mixture into casserole. Place hot water in outside pan to 1 inch depth.

Bake, uncovered, about 1 1/2 hours, stirring occasionally, until pudding is creamy and most of liquid is absorbed. Remove from oven but not from water pan.

Increase oven temperature to 400 degrees. Beat egg whites until foamy, adding 1/4 cup sugar. Beat to stiff peaks and then spread over top of pudding.

Return to oven and bake 8-10 minutes, until lightly browned.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

In the Saturday, October 7 issue, Dave Zavoral of Grygla gives misinformation on the BWSR August 7, 1995 Draft Bill. I wish to correct his specific accusation.

Zavoral was quoted as saying one proposal was for a payment of 50 per cent of land value. I have before me the assessment of the draft bill. There is no such proposal!

There is much to the Draft Bill that provides relief beyond the existing law for small landowners and developers; for public roads; agricultural activities and local government compensation. There is a proposal for farmers who have been maintaining wetlands.

The concern of many is that wetlands are not respected. Our sacred earth is one living organism and abuse in one part affects throughout. It is the same with our living organism: pain in one part, choking off in one part, affects our entire organism.

I am thankful that we in Minnesota have a chance to express our problems and our views. Thank you at The Times and Northern Watch for allowing freedom of speech to be expressed. It is relished; it is much needed.

Respectfully Submitted,
Euneese Wages

Newfolden begins its annual One-Appeal fund-raising drive

Polaris Industries has announced that it will begin manufacturing its own engines for selected 1996 models of personal watercraft, in addition to engines manufactured through its joint venture with Fuji Heavy Industries Ltd. of Japan.

The 1996 models will have engines manufactured at the company's Osceola, WI, facility, according to W. Hall Wendel Jr., Polaris chairman and chief executive officer.

"There is increasing consumer demand for all our products, and the relationship between the dollar and the Japanese yen has made it too costly to have a single Japanese source for our engines," Wendel said.

Last February, Polaris and Fuji Heavy Industries Ltd., entered into an agreement to form Robin manufacturing USA, a new Hudson, WI, based company that builds engines for Polaris products, and golf and industrial products. Polaris and Fuji have had strong business ties since the mid-60s, when Fuji first began building engines for Polaris snowmobiles.

"The goal is to have three sources for our engines for all our products — Fuji (Japan), Robin (Fuji/Polaris joint venture, USA) and our own production models (USA) — so we can assure our dealers and customers uninterrupted access to high-quality products," Wendel said.

Pioneers upset Vermilion

■ Winless Northland stuns unbeaten Ironmen

Unbeaten Vermilion, ranked No. 13 nationally, vs. winless Northland. In the final moments, a coach yells across the field, accusing the soon-to-be winning team from trying to run up the score with a halfback option pass.

That was the scenario Thursday at Prowler Field. In a surprising twist, however, it was the heavily-favored Ironmen who were throwing out the verbal barbs as they watched the scoreboard clock run out on a stunning 28-12 loss to the Pioneers in a Northern Division football result that undoubtedly created neck-breaking double-takes when the score filtered through the Minnesota Community College Conference ranks.

Most will figure it's a typo, but to Vermilion it's a recurring nightmare. Last time the Ironmen were in Thief River Falls, in 1993, they were unbeaten and ranked No. 9 in the nation. They lost 23-7.

Northland made it happen by playing the role of gambler at the start – recovering an on-side kick to open the game and then coming up with a 49-yard Eddie Fluerant-to-Eric Hamre pass on the first snap from scrimmage. The wide-open Hamre made it to the Vermilion 1-yard line, and Luke Anderson scored on the next play. An Efa Aneleghe conversion kick made it 7-0 with just 17 seconds elapsed.

Vermilion never recovered. The Ironmen wound up turning the ball over seven times – four interceptions and three fumbles – and were penalized 11 times for 106 yards.

Another Fluerant/Hamre pass play doubled the Northland lead when the receiver ran by the defensive back and the quarterback put a perfect throw into his arms as he reached the end zone – a 25-yard strike with 4:45 remaining in the first quarter. The kick made it 14-0.

Still not done, Fluerant and Hamre hooked up again late in the second quarter on a 45-yard touchdown play that really had the Pioneers' backers thinking serious upset thoughts. Hamre was wide open on the play when his defender fell down and help was late arriving.

"Those guys (Fluerant and Hamre) put on quite a show early," acknowledged Northland coach Gene Klinke, amid post-game congratulations.

Klinke wouldn't admit to being surprised by the outcome. "We came ready to play," he said. "We told our kids if they stayed focused and played good, smart football, we could win the game. We really believed that. We weren't going to be satisfied with just staying close and getting a moral victory out of it. That was the best team effort I've seen since the last time we beat them. In fact, those two wins over Vermilion are two of the sweetest wins I've ever enjoyed."

The early gambles paid handsome dividends, noted Klinke. "We weren't going to hold back," he explained. "We had nothing to lose."

Northland didn't come up with much offense in the second half, but the Pioneers' defense chipped in. After going to Chris Markuson for a 7-yard touchdown pass on the final play of the third quarter to make it 20-6, Vermilion quarterback Jeff Grover dropped back to pass on a first down snap from the Northland 17 near the midway mark of the final period. He was hit twice, but managed to dump the ball off to avoid the sack. Unfortunately for the Ironmen, he tossed it right into the arms of middle linebacker Scott Fowler, who had a wide open field in front of him on a 76-yard game-clinching touchdown romp.

Final score of the night was another Grover-to-Markuson pass – a 22-yarder with 4:58 to play.

The pass-happy Ironmen were 14-for-40 in the air for 192 yards. They rushed for only 73 yards.

Northland wound up with 107 yards on the ground, led by Brent Miller, who netted 63 yards after losing 19 on a scramble for a fumble on his first carry.

The first half Fluerant/Hamre combination produced all of the Northland passing yards – 119.

Brandon Baker led the Northland defense with a pair of fumble recoveries and a blocked extra-point kick. Jesse Barbot came up with the on-side kick recovery. Willie Skylark had two interceptions to go along with one each by Fowler and Shane Myhre.

Northland will close out its 1995 home schedule Thursday with a 1:30 p.m. game against Hibbing. The Pioneers will finish the year on the road vs. Central Lakes Oct. 28.

Green Wave holds off Prowlers for a 3-2 win

Thief River Falls will close out its 1995 regular season high school volleyball schedule Tuesday at Fergus Falls, and will likely face the Otters again in the first round of the North Sub-Section 8AA tournament Oct. 26. Tuesday's winner is expected to earn the No. 4 seed and gain the post-season home court edge.

The Prowlers fell to 14-10 Tuesday following a 3-2 loss at East Grand Forks. The Green Wave won 15-8, 13-15, 15-4, 14-16, 15-13.

"I felt bad for the girls, especially when you play so hard and come out on the losing end of it," said Thief River Falls coach Helen Anderson. "We started out slow in Game 1 and had difficulty in setting up our offense. We played well as a team and did a nice job finding the holes in their defense in Game 2 – it was fun to watch. We played our hearts out in Game 4. We got off to a late start in Game 5, but we had a number of chances to finish it off."

Maren Thorson (15) and Michelle Mathson (10) both hit double figures in kills for the Prowlers.

Thief River Falls won both preliminary matches, with the B squad winning 15-9, 15-11 and the C squad winning 15-12, 15-12.

Wolverines' volleyball losing streak stopped

A string of eight straight losses ended Tuesday for Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke in a 15-5, 6-15, 15-3, 15-6 high school volleyball win over Argyle.

"We ended the losing streak," said Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke coach Tina Rode. "The girls played really well. They played as a team. They did a lot better job communicating on the court and not letting balls drop."

The win put the Wolverines at 4-12 for the year.

Improved performance at the service line and strong blocking by Rachel Rychlock, Deanna Kotrba and Jill Schuler were instrumental in the win, pointed out Rode. Rychlock and Shaunna Thomas led the Wolverines' offense.

Gators vs. Bears

Lake of the Woods swept Badger/Greenbush-Middle River 15-13, 15-12, 15-2 Tuesday.

The Gators did not play well, said B/G-MR coach Christi Anderson. "They (Bears) gave us many opportunities to get back into the first two games, but we didn't capitalize on their mistakes," explained Anderson, who went with reserves in Game 3.

Nordics vs. Rams

Marshall County Central tried a couple of new wrinkles on defense in an effort to slow down the hard-hitting Roseau offense, but still lost a 3-0 Tuesday match, 15-8, 15-10, 15-3.

"We were going with a double and triple-team block for the first time," explained Marshall County Central coach Mark Jorgenson. "We got our hands on the ball, but they still got the points."

The loss dropped the Nordics to 12-7.

"We didn't play so terribly bad, but they have a lot of weapons," noted Jorgenson. "We started well in the first game and finished well in the second game. We had trouble passing the ball all night."

Mustangs vs. Pirates

A second game rally, even though it came up short, helped provide Lake County Central with the momentum to finish off a 15-11, 12-15, 15-7, 15-1 Tuesday win over Crookston.

The Mustangs trailed 12-1 in Game 2 before coming back. They didn't catch the Pirates, but they did carry the play over the final two games.

Red Lake County Central coach Nancy Bray said it was a good team effort, with key performances being provided by players off the bench, including Marci DuChamp, whose serving sparked the second game rally.

He discussed a number of subjects, including the proposed four-class format for the boys and girls state high school basketball tournaments. Hunters: watch for swans

With Minnesota's waterfowl season now underway, hunters are being advised by the Department of Natural Resources that more than 250 protected trumpeter swans are present throughout the state. Trumpeter swans have experienced nesting success in recent years, but that success could be dampened if hunters don't properly identify birds before shooting.

Trumpeter swans have been released into the wild and may be encountered anywhere in the state, according to Carrol Henderson, supervisor of the DNR's Nongame Wildlife Program. Trumpeter swans are about 5 feet long, with wingspreads of up to 7 feet. Adults are all white and the cygnets are light gray. Swans will normally be seen as singles, pairs of adults, or family groups of two white adults and several light gray young ones. They do not normally fly or migrate in large flocks like snow geese or Canada geese do.

Snow geese, which are legal game birds, are white with black wing tips. They are only about 2 feet long, with 4-foot wingspreads. Their necks are much shorter than swans' necks.

People who shoot swans face stiff fines, possible confiscation of their shotguns, and restitution charges of up to $3,000 per swan.

"Waterfowl hunters must be able to identify birds in flight," noted Henderson. "They should remind each other of that responsibility when going afield, and they should take special efforts to educate young hunters about how to identify protected trumpeter swans."

Weather produce colors in leaves

People have different ways of saying "good-bye" to the warm summer days. Some cast off for one last fishing trip. Others head into the woods and fields for a hike or a hunt.

Nature celebrates the beginning of fall by a display of bright colors. As the temperature cools and the days get shorter, the green leaves that blanketed the trees during the summer turn into variations of red, yellow, orange and purple.

Predicting when leaves will start to change color is easy when you know how the color changes occur. During the summer, leaves use a chemical called "chlorophyll," which is green in color, to make sugar from the sun's energy. The chlorophyll absorbs red and blue light waves (energy from the sun), and reflects the green light we see. Plants can make chlorophyll when there is just the right amount of sunlight, moisture and heat.

There are also pigments in leaves that trap light waves (energy) that chlorophyll can't. These pigments are yellow (carotenes), or red, purple and blue (anthocyanin). Since there is more chlorophyll than any of these other pigments in the leaves during the summer months, other colors are "hidden" so the leaves look green.

In the fall the production of sugar stops, and the chlorophyll breaks down. The green color then fades away to reveal the other pigments.

On warm, sunny fall days, leaves in the direct sunlight build up sugars. This excess sugar in the leaves are revealed as bright reds, while leaves in the shade stay yellow. On cool autumn nights the movement of sugar from the leaves to the roots for winter storage slows down. Therefore, the most colorful days of autumn are those with warm sunny days and cool nights.

Each deciduous tree species has its own characteristic coloring. Elm, ash, birch and poplar will turn only yellow. Sumac shows the dark red and purple pigments. Oaks and maples vary from brown to yellow, orange and red.

Soon after the leaves turn their bright colors the leaves die, turn brown, and fall off.

Red River watershed basin

Flood control to be subject of meeting in Thief River Falls

Thief River Falls will be the site of an informational meeting Nov. 15 concerning the recent release of the draft environmental impact statement for flood control impoundments in northwest Minnesota.

Information received from the Red River Watershed Management Board and its member districts, along with local units of government, and other state and federal agencies – all with various responsibilities for flood control and environmental protection in the Red River watershed basin – was used in preparing the document. St. Paul District of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources put together the 325-page study, which is the product of nearly three years of discussions, planning, field work, data analysis and review.

The document details the potential for cumulative impacts of approximately 33 water impound projects which have been proposed by various watershed districts and other governmental units for construction within the Minnesota side of the Red River watershed basin, for purposes of flood damage reduction.

The study addresses potential impacts to fish, wildlife, native plants and their ecosystems; water quality; flood flows and low flows; groundwater supplies; socioeconomic resources, including land values, land use and development, agricultural production, transportation systems, recreation and tourism; tribal trust resources of cultural value to Native American peoples; cultural resources, including historic sites, prehistoric archeological sites and architectural resources.

Copies of the environmental impact statement are available at most city and county libraries in the Red River Valley area, as well as county auditors' offices, watershed district offices, and most DNR field offices. An eight-week period of public review will include meetings in the Comstock Memorial Union on the Moorhead State University campus Nov. 14 and at the Best Western Inn of Thief River Falls Nov. 15.

Both sessions will follow an informal, open-house format where interested persons may drop in anytime between 2 and 9 p.m. to examine informational displays, discuss the document with agency personnel and submit written comments. Each open house will also include two formal question-and-answer sessions, scheduled for 3:30 and 7 p.m.

Written comments will be accepted through Dec. 1. Those comments should be addressed to Paul Swenson, Minnesota Department of Natural Resources, 2115 Birchmont Beach Road NE, Bemidji, MN 56601.

After the current period of public review, a revised, final environmental impact statement will be prepared for release in the spring of 1996.

auditor, and the treasurer. It also contains two public meeting rooms.

Hauble said that architect Thomas Vecchi, of Duluth, designed a building that looks nice, but wastes no space.

The building is only one story, and meets accessibility requirements for public buildings. The new building itself will be about 28,650 square feet. When combined with the existing Social Service building the, entire structure will cover about 36,650 square feet. Combined with the parking lot and the county land surrounding the building, the total area is about 161,700 square feet or 5.2 acres, leaving plenty of room for expansion, if necessary.

The building will feature a new innovation in the Roseau county justice system. It will be equipped with interactive television. ITV will reduce the need for transporting prisoners to and from the courthouse.

The building committee recently picked out tile, paint and other material for the inside for the building in preparation of the "working indoors weather".

The building committee is made up of eight individuals who represent the various departments who will utilize the new structure. Committee members are Dick Jackson, commissioner, Orris Rassmussen, commissioner, Anne Grantz, auditor, Dale Carter, extension, Jim Hanson, assessor, Judge James Wilson, and Dave Anderson, social services. Arnold Pederson is the county inspecter for the project.

Our Seamless gutters are manufactured from .032 gauge pre painted aluminum, the heaviest gauge used in the industry. If your home is 20 feet or 200 feet in length our seamless gutter is made in one continuous length, eliminating any joints or seams in the middle. Inquire before you purchase "Seamless Gutter" about the thickness of the material used and be certain that it is made in one continuous length.

Seamless gutter is formed, cut and installed on site by a two-man crew, saving on labor cost. Freight charges are eliminated. Waste is almost unheard of due to gutter being measured and cut on site to exact lengths. No need to store left over odds and ends that get damaged before they can be used. Most jobs can be completed the same day. Call us for complete information and free estimates of your job at no obligation to you.

Clearwater County marsh owner sues DNR for taking of private property

James Peternell of Hanover brought suit in Clearwater County District Court September 29, the day before the Minnesota waterfowl opener, seeking declaration that a 112-acre heavily vegetated marsh is his private property or that it has been taken unconstitutionally and without compensation.

The suit is being brought on his behalf against the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources by the Defenders of Property Rights and a Minneapolis property rights attorney.

According to information provided by Peternell's representatives, he purchased the 112-acre slough in 1971 and uses it for private duck hunting.

Under the Minnesota Wetlands Conservation Act of 1991, the DNR has declared that the slough is now a "public water wetlands" which prohibits him from exercising what he calls "the most valuable right a property owner has—the right to exclude others from his property."

"After Mr. Peternell continued in efforts to keep individuals off his slough, including an incident in which Mr. Peternell attempted to remove from the slough an undercover DNR agent posing as a public hunter," Mohrman states, "the State of Minnesota filed criminal charges against Mr. Peternell for leaving decoys in public water overnight and for violation of the 'hunter harassment' statute.

"After Mr. Peternell expended over $8,000 in legal fees defending himself, a Clearwater county jury found him "not guilty" on the charge of leaving the decoys in the water overnight and deadlocked on the charge of hunter harassment."

If Peternell succeeds in having the Wetlands Act declared unconstitutional, the State will be further prohibited from taking property belonging to Minnesota landowners under the guise of environmental regulation, Mohrman said, or when they do take the property through such regulation, the State will have to pay market value for the property.

"This case will put the State on notice that it can no longer casually ignore the property rights of its citizens," Mohrman said.

Anyone seeking further information may call Mohrman at 612-373-8416.

Central Boiler is the #1 manufacturer of outdoor wood furnaces. Our reputation has been built on quality product and customer satisfaction. Central Boiler is the first outdoor wood furnace to complete EPA testing and has always been in the forefront of providing consumers with the most accurate and up to date information available. Recently a competitor has been claiming that we are misleading the public by advertising a 92.5% combustion efficiency. This number is a result of testing that was performed by a nationally recognized independent test lab (Warnock Hersey) that specializes in wood and gas burning appliances. Our competitor says that this number means that only 92.5% of the wood burns up. Their statement only proves how little they know about testing and combustion principles. The 92.5% combustion efficiency rating is important because in order to have a high delivered (thermal) efficiency you must have a high combustion efficiency. Central Boiler has watched many competitors make claims in brochures and public ads that are not only misleading but absolutely false. These claims prompted us to have Warnock Hersey test a Central Boiler furnace and four of our competitors units. One competitor claims 200,000 BTU with a 12 hour burn time, in actual tests this unit could only produce 122,525 BTU's for 5 hours and 26 min. Another competitor claims 81% thermal efficiency while testing their unit shows a 35% delivered efficiency in their best test. Claims of BTU and efficiency ratings not verified by an accredited labratory are many times false and as we have shown, often deliberate lies. If you have purchased a furnace based on any false claims you may be entitled to a full refund. Now competitors are claiming the results of Warnock Herseys testing have been slanted or are not true. The truth is Warnock Hersey would not jeopardize their solid reputation by reporting false information. These tests prove without a doubt that Central Boiler's furnace is the most efficient. The EPA has recognized Central Boiler's expertise and involvement in efficiency and air quality concerns. Thus prompting an invitation for Central Boiler to present a paper at the upcoming Air & Waste Management Association's annual meeting in Nashville. Quite an Honor!

13th District Horticultural Society re-elects officers

All officers of the 13th District Horticultural Society were elected for another term when the society conducted its annual meeting and fall workshop October 7 in Roseau.

Reelected were Ione Carlson, Warroad, president; LaVonne Radniecki, Thief River Falls, vice president; Anne Oie, Roseau, secretary; Jayce Erickson, Viking, treasurer; and Betty Mohrbacher, Warroad, advisor-past president. John Lamberson of Williams was elected delegate to the state horticultural society.

State awards presented included an honorary life award to LaVonne Radniecki of Deer Park Garden Club, Thief River Falls; outstanding district service awards to Kelly Falk of Roseau and Lois Swanson of Goodridge; and awards of merit to Helen Ebeltoft and Orville Nelson of Baudette and Dorothy Gehrke of Roseau.

Volunteer service awards were presented to Luella Erickson of Roseau, John and Fern Lamberson of Baudette, Joyce Lorenson of Warroad and Ethel Wiseth of Goodridge.

Theme of the workshop hosted by the Ladyslipper Garden Club of Roseau was "From the Past and Into Tomorrow." Joan Nelson of the Moccasin Garden Club of Thief River Falls presented a workshop on pressing flowers and showed samples of note cards, pictures and candles she had made with a number of natural materials.

Maggie Kramer of the Roseau Garden Club gave a presentation on "Life Is Just an Arrangement—Dried Materials." She completed an arrangement with home-grown and collected wild materials along with some purchased items. Some of the materials had been sprayed or painted to keep them intact.

Eleanor Johnson of the Ladyslipper Garden Club of Roseau demonstrated "A Gift from the Garden" as she showed how she uses an apple juicer to make juice from Centennial and Whitney crab apples. She also presented samples of the juice.

Arlene Billberg, also of the Ladyslipper club, demonstrated "Fruits and Vegetables Can Be Beautiful—Sculpting." Her demonstration showed how to make birds, flowers and other items from apples, cantaloupe, eggplant, cucumber, tomatoes, pears, carrots, grapefruit, cauliflower and other fruits and vegetables.

District events scheduled by the society for the coming year include the spring workshop in Roseau on March 23, 1996; the annual horticultural show in Roseau on August 10; and the fall workshop in Warroad on October 5. The public is always invited to attend any of the events.

Most garden clubs in the district are in the process of reorganizing at this time of year and all welcome new members. Persons interested in learning more about club activities or joining a club are encouraged to contact a garden club member or the county extension office in their area.

Charges are dismissed

Charges of wrongfully obtaining public assistance and food stamps against Karen Griffin of rural Red Lake Falls were dismissed earlier this week.

In Pennington County District Court on Tuesday, October 10, the state dismissed charges against Griffin and she agreed to pay back one month's overpayment.

Public Defender Don Aandal explained that during the course of the investigation it was determined that Griffin had met requirements of mandatory reporting but she had received a one-month overpayment. The charges were then dismissed.

Griffin had been charged with two counts of theft on July 26. Pennington county sheriff's department, which had received a referral from the Pennington County Social Services department, investigated the case. Griffin pled not guilty to the charges on September 11.

Fibrositis group

Recently formed support group for those persons who have fibromyalgia will hold its second meeting on Tuesday, October 17, at 5 p.m. at the Ferol Ranum residence at 524 Riverside Avenue in Thief River Falls. A 90-minute film on the subject, prepared by the University of Texas, will be shown and all interested persons are invited.

The dog days of . . . winter?

Middlebro, MB — Millie Kuryliw and Brent Hahkala have started an unusual business. The Fort Francis, ONT natives are the owners/operators of Anarok Kennels. They have 25 dogs which they have trained as sled dogs.

They have several packages available for adventurers. A fall safari which uses a cart instead of a sled is planned this fall. A day long sled trip is also being planned. People many also take shorter trips as either a passenger or a musher.

Kuryliw and Hahkala are training a young musher and hope to put together a race team some day. The Warroad Public Library featured the owners, sleds and dogs on October 19.

Board votes against county economic developer

Red Lake Falls — On Tuesday Red Lake county board members voted 4-1 against funding half the cost of a county-wide economic developer.

The four cities in the county, Red Lake Falls, Oklee, Plummer and Brooks earlier agreed to pay a share for the developer. According to Red Lake Falls Mayor Deb Eukel the no vote kills the idea of a county-wide economic developer.

Commissioner Eddie Larson said, "I think the developer could work for the cities only. Let's let the cities do it. I just don't want to add it to the county budget this year."

Recognized for being the calm in the storm

Hallock — Gary Rice, emergency manager for Kittson County Emergency Services, was presented with the Joe Strub award. The award is given by the Association of Minnesota Emergency Managers (AMEN).

The Strub Award recognizes program development and administration of severe weather preparedness in the state of Minnesota.

Rice has spent the last six years as the director of Kittson county. In that time he has experienced a toxic spill which resulted in evacuations, several floods and agricultural disasters. This year the county was hit by a tornado.

Tax appeal will cost county over $5,000

Roseau — An incorrect property assessment for two years on Northern Minnesota Utilities gas lines in Roseau and Warroad equals $5,306, reports County Assessor Jim Hanson.

Roseau county commissioners are upset because the State Department of Revenue negotiated a deal with Northern Utilities without input from local governments. Commissioner Doran Horner wants the county to force a judge to dictate payment instead of following the state mandate.

County Attorney Michelle Morgen warned that fighting the settlement could result in high costs due to compounding interest and attorney fees.

Chris Efta, Boy Scout Troop 199 Eagle Scout candidate in Thief River Falls, planned and carried out a proposal to put in a cross-country ski and hiking trail behind the woods of the Sportsman's Club. Efta is the son of Cory and Penny Efta of Thief River Falls. Above, he holds one of the signs that will mark the 1.5 kilometer long trail.

Scout project marks ski trail

Chris Efta began putting up some of the signs for a new hiking and cross-country ski trail at the Sportsman's Club in Thief River Falls last week. Efta, a senior at Lincoln high school, has made the ski trail his Boy Scout Eagle project.

Efta mapped out a trail, enlisted the support of many of his fellow troop members and friends and began cutting a trail through a wooded area. The Sportsman's club is a firing range and club for area sports enthusiasts, but they have agreed to allow trails through a wooded area near the range.

The first thought Chris and others had was whether it was safe to put a trail in behind a firing range. Signs and rules were established to protect anyone who might be using the trail.

The second problem Chris faced was how to cut a trail through thick undergrowth. That problem was solved by the local Deer Hunter's Association which provided him with a brush cutter.

Chris then began to work on the trail, cutting it between six to 10-feet wide, going around bigger trees and removing deadfalls or trees cut by beavers. He received a lot of help from his fellow Boy Scout troop members and especially, Dallas Russ, a good friend. He

Land posting protests state's Wetlands Act

In a move designed to protest excessive land use regulations like the state's Wetland Conservation Act, the Minnesota Landowners Rights Association (MLRA) announced that it will immediately begin posting private land against trespassing and urge northern counties to implement a firearms discharge permit fee, as the height of the hunting season approaches.

"We've shared our land with the hunters for generations," explained MLRA Legislative Director Dave Zavoral, Grygla. "But the state is taking land away from innocent people and now we need the help and understanding of sportsmen in our struggle to exist."

The signs make it clear why landowners have posted their land — "No Trespassing Without Permission Due to Land Use Over-Regulation." When the votes on an amendment to change the act were counted, it was pretty much metro vs. rural. Zavoral said he hopes that when the deer hunters from the Twin Cities discover signs posted on land they traditionally hunt, they take the message back to their legislators.

Zavoral expects that 100,000 acres will be posted with the bright fluorescent chartreuse signs.

Zavoral said the Wetland Conservation Act became excessive and harmful because strident environmental organizations pushed rule makers to "screw the bolts down," on private property. He said the law and rules, while protecting the marshes, bogs and habitat that everybody agrees must be preserved, went much further to include land that is dry 97 per cent of the time in the wetland definition.

"This effort is directed at the environmental groups of this state like the Sierra Club and the Audubon Society, that don't care who they hurt in their quest to put private lands under state control," Zavoral said.

He indicated their efforts have resulted in Minnesota "enacting the nation's most punitive wetland law which, at its core, is a land-grab that makes criminals out of ordinary citizens and causes frustration and heartache among property owners" in rural Minnesota.

"Prior to passage of the wetland act in 1991, the state controlled 750,000 acres of wetland," Zavoral explained. "Following enactment, and the resulting rules, that number

NCTC to host fourth annual vocal festival

Fourth annual Northland High School Honors Choir Vocal Festival will be hosted by Northland Community and Technical College Wednesday, October 25, with more than 110 students from 14 area high schools to perform a concert at 2:30 p.m. in the NCTC gymnasium. Admission is free to the public.

Les Togerson, festival director, said that students will be working earlier in the day with Dr. Karle Erickson, nationally-known choral conductor and clinician. Dr. Erickson is the interim director of the Bach Society Chorus and Sebastian Singers of the Bach Society of Minnesota and the music minister at St. Andrew Lutheran Church in Eden Prairie.

Choirs under his leadership have performed at national and divisional conventions of the American Choral Directors Association and the Wisconsin and Minnesota Music Educators Associations. He has presented concert tours in China, Hong Kong, Japan, Russia, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Estonia, France, Germany, Holland, Luxembourg, Belgium, Liechtenstein, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Italy, Switzerland, Austria, England and Scotland.

High school students participating in the workshop and concert will begin their day with a Master class from 8:30 to 9:30 a.m. During this time, four students—Crystal Peterson of Norman County East, Phil Flickinger of Marshall County Central, Sara Ellenson of Badger and Lisa Swanson of Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls—have been selected to work with Dr. Erickson as a demonstration for other students and instructors.

Diane Johnson, NCTC vocal instructor, will work throughout the day with a number of students who are prepared to present vocal solos. They include the following:

Amanda Umphrey, Catherine Broers, Jessie Matson and Steven Peterson, Norman County East; Edian Englund, Amber Stormo and Melinda Britten, Tri-County; Kelly Liedberg, Tricia Pederson, Michael Olson and Kyle Halvorson, Marshall County Central; Michelle Lunsetter, Rachel Rychlock, Shaun Verbout and Brian Haugen, Grygla.

Also Nathaniel Nienaw, Jaime Niswander and Trisha Sunderland, Bagley; Danielle Gaulet, Lincoln in Thief River Falls; Alicia Erdahl, Erin Friest, Joe Ness, Reid Bemel and Tanya Monson, Fertile.

Students will rehearse the remainder of the day, ending with the concert at 2:30 p.m. Concert selections will be Gloria! by Spevacek, Gloria from Heiligmess by Haydn, A Red, Red Rose by Mulholland and Rhythm of Life by Barnes.

Dr. Karle Erickson

Students who have been selected and registered to participate in the vocal festival include the following:

Land owner sues DNR over use of duck slough

A Minnesota man has filed a lawsuit against the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources to have its enforcement of the Wetland Conservation Act declared unconstitutional.

James Peternell, Hanover, purchased a slough in 1971 to use for private duck hunting. As a result of the passage of the Minnesota Wetland Conservation Act in 1991, the DNR declared Mr. Peternell's slough a "public waters wetland," which prohibits Peternell from exercising what he describes as the most valuable right a property owner has — the right to exclude others from his property.

After continued attempts by Peternell to keep individuals, including an undercover DNR agent off his slough, the state filed criminal charges against Peternell for leaving decoys in public water overnight and for violation of the "hunter harassment" statue. A Clearwater county jury found Peternell "not guilty" of the charge of leaving decoys in the water overnight and deadlocked on the charge of hunter harassment.

Peternell is backed in the claim by Defenders of Property Rights, a public interest law firm out of Washington, DC, specializing in property rights claims. The claim was filed September 29 and seeks declaration by the court that the slough is his or that the DNR has unconstitutionally taken his property.

Searchers find lost hunter

Twenty-one year old Chris Larson of Thief River Falls was reported lost in the Elm Lake area in Marshall county at about 8:30 p.m. Wednesday. Searchers quickly discovered his truck, but no sign of Chris. As the duck hunter had been missing since Tuesday morning, officials were very concerned. Larson was presumably lost in a very remote area, which has thick undergrowth. In addition, the weather had turned rainy and wet.

The search ended almost as quickly as it began and for once, it was a good ending.

A spokesperson for the Marshall County Sheriff's department said that Wednesday night searchers found his truck but could not see anything in the dark. Family and friends kept searching until about 2 a.m. Officials decided instead to start their search in the morning.

Marshall County Sheriff Dennis Brekke, with pilot Ronnie Davidson, began a search pattern of the area. Larson was soon located waving to his rescuers.

At about 10:30 a.m. Larson was rescued from the marshy area known as Elm Lake. After 26 hours of being on his own and without food, he was in fair shape. The spokesperson said Larson had built a shelter, but he was soaking wet.

After being rescued, the spokesperson said Larson went home with his family.

Corey Erickson, his sister, said he didn't require hospital care, but a relative who is an EMT looked him over. She thought Chris might have

Tech Prep is putting graduates to work

by Elizabeth Reishus
Northern Watch Reporter

Minnesota Tech Prep is putting graduates to work. Minnesota Tech Prep is a federally funded, state administrated and locally operated program which involves higher education, public schools and business.

A pilot program in Thief River Falls, one of eight pilots in the state, was given a three-year grant in 1991. It has since expanded to include many schools in the region. The North Borders Tech Prep Consortium, which is based in East Grand Forks, includes East Grand Forks Senior High and Sacred Heart, Argyle, Fisher, Goodridge, Greenbush-Middle River, Grygla, Lancaster, Thief River Falls-St. Hilaire, Newfolden, Plummer, Stephen, Karlstad and, most recently, Alvarado/Oslo/ Warren. The Pine to Prairie consortium out of Red Lake Falls includes Ada/Borup, Bagley, Fertile/Beltrami, Fosston, Mahnomen, Norman County East, Norman County West, Oklee, Red Lake Falls, Waubun and Win-E-Mac.

The issues

Bev Arnston, of Thief River Falls school district, explains that the purpose of the program is to prepare young people for technical careers.

Only 25 per cent of Minnesota high school graduates actually graduate from college. Those who do usually have trouble finding a job in their field. The bottom line is that students don't need a four-year degree to be successful. Studies show that the fastest growing area of employment is technical careers.

However, technical colleges were finding that students entering college were not prepared for college. Students didn't have the basic math, science and communications skills needed to be successful. Another problem was that students had trouble applying what they knew about science, math and communication.

Educators concluded that they needed to do a better job at preparing students for technical college and encouraging students to explore careers in rapidly growing technical fields.

Misconceptions and stigma

The program needs to change the way some people think about technical programs and colleges. Too many students think they don't need to have good math or science skills if they are going to technical college. That is simply not true. Technology is so advanced and changes so rapidly that people must have a strong science background to keep up with the changing technology. For example, car repair is not just a matter of knowing what parts go where. It involves sophisticated diagnostic computers.

Another common misconception people often have upon entering technical college is that they don't need strong communication skills. On the contrary, electronics graduates find that they spend close to 30 per cent of their time writing tech-

Science Instructors, Maxine Penas of Greenbush/Middle River, and Larry Langevin of Tri-County, discuss "applied" curriculum at a workshop in Thief River Falls. Both schools are members of the North Borders Tech Prep Consortium.

Lions plan Halloween parties

For the 52nd year, the Thief River Falls Lions club will host two parties for area young people at the Thief River Falls armory on Tuesday, October 31, according to Dr. Charles Samuelson, chairman of the committee. There is no admission charge to either event.

A costume party for children from toddlers through fifth grade will be held from 4 to 5:30 p.m. with games played and prizes given. All young children and their parents are invited to participate. A Halloween bag will be given to each child. Children are urged to dress in a Halloween costume. Judging will be done at about 4:30 p.m. with cash prizes awarded for the best costume.

From 7 to 10 p.m. a dance for students in grades six through eight will be held with music provided by KSRQ disc jockeys. Free pop and pizza will be provided and cash drawings will be held throughout the evening. Costumes are not required to attend the dance.

Funds for this and other club projects are earned through various fund-raising events. All money raised by the club goes to service projects, in keeping with the club's motto "We Serve."

Public opinion sought on region's road priorities

To better identify the Region's transportation needs, the Northwest Regional Development Commission's (NWRDC) Transportation Advisory committee will be holding public meetings to gather local input on State Trunk Highway, transit, air, rail, bridge and other needs throughout the region.

As the need for transportation dollars continues to outpace revenues available, it becomes increasingly important to target the limited funding to transportation projects which will best serve the region's needs. The meetings are scheduled as follows: Wednesday, October 25 at the Polk county courthouse in Crookston at 7 p.m.; and, Wednesday, November 1, in the Greenbush community center, 244 Main Street North, Greenbush at 7 p.m.

The NWRDC Transportation Advisory committee will review the input provided at the meetings and make recommendations to the Minnesota Department of Transportation regarding improvement priorities in the region. Considering the time required to process a project, it is important that local concerns on particular transportation projects be presented as early as possible.

MNDOT District 2 officials will also be on hand at these meetings to discuss the Area Transportation Partnerships which have been created statewide in order to make transportation funding decisions at the local level. This is part of the implementation of the Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act of 1991 (ISTEA). ISTEA emphasizes cooperation between all modes and all state and local transportation interests.

If you cannot attend either of the meetings but would like to provide input, or if you have any questions concerning the public meetings please contact Steve Lorch at the NWRDC office in Warren (218) 745-6733.

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere

How about some tasty casseroles to make this week? At least one of these should tempt those taste buds.

Make this dish the night before you want to serve it:

CHICKEN TORTILLA CASSEROLE

1 package corn tortillas
8 whole chicken breasts
Juice of one chicken
1 can chicken soup
1 can cream of mushroom soup
1 can mild salsa
1/2 pound mild Cheddar cheese
1/2 pound Swiss cheese

Bake chicken breasts in foil for 1 1/2 hours at 350 degrees. Skin chicken and cut into small pieces.

Mix together the juice from the cooked chicken, soups and salsa.

Layer the following in a pan: half of the chicken, half of the tortillas, half of soup mixture, half of the cheeses. Repeat layers. (The dish can now sit overnight to blend flavors.)

Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes.

Here is another simple dish that can be prepared in a hurry — this one uses rice:

YUM YUM HOT DISH

1 pound hamburger
1 medium onion, chopped
1 can cream of mushroom soup
1 can cream of chicken soup
1/2 cup raw rice
1 cup chopped celery
1 1/2 cups water
4 tablespoons soy sauce
Chinese noodles

Brown hamburger and onion and drain. Add soups.

Combine rice with celery and water and add to hamburger mixture. Place in buttered casserole and bake 1 hour at 350 degrees.

Top with Chinese noodles and bake another 20 minutes.

The kids will love this for dinner, and so will you — it's easy to make:

PIZZA HOT DISH

1 1/2 pounds hamburger
15 ounce can herb seasoned tomato sauce
2 ounce can undrained mushroom stems and pieces
1 1/2 teaspoons oregano
1 1/4 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 1/2 to 2 cans refrigerated biscuits
2 cups mozzarella cheese
1/2 cup onion

Brown hamburger with onion. Drain.

Stir in tomato sauce, mushrooms and liquid, oregano, salt and pepper. Simmer.

Press biscuits into greased 9x13 inch pan to form crust. Spoon meat mixture onto crust and bake 20 minutes.

Top with mozzarella and return to oven for 5 minutes, until cheese is melted. Let stand a few minutes before serving.

Stock your cupboards with ingredients for this dish because it is great for unexpected dinner guests:

TUNA CASSEROLE

2 cups uncooked ring macaroni
1 1/2 cups grated cheddar cheese
2 cans tuna
1 teaspoon grated onion or pinch dry minced onion
1 cup sliced olives
2 cans cream of mushroom soup
2 1/2 cups milk
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup slivered almonds

Mix all ingredients except almonds together and place in greased casserole. Top with butter and slivered almonds. Bake 1 hour at 350 degrees.

To The Editor:

October is National Disability Employment Awareness Month.

This year's theme is "Profit From Our Experience." Today more than ever, American business and industry need to take advantage of every resource and identify every opportunity to employ qualified and motivated individuals. If American business is to compete successfully and meet the demands of the emerging global economy, the talents and creativity of all Americans will need to be identified and put to work. America will not work if Americans cannot work. There is a huge untapped personnel resource in this country which offers employers the potential for increased productivity, greater market share and improved community relations. The smart money is on the businesses that recognize and hire that resource — Americans with disabilities.

The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), other legislation and the efforts of many disability organizations have begun to improve accessibility in buildings, increase access to education, open employment opportunities and develop realistic portrayals of persons with disabilities in television programming and motion pictures. However, more progress needs to be made. Many people still view persons with disabilities as individuals to be pitied, feared or ignored. These attitudes may arise from discomfort with individuals who are perceived to be different or simply from a lack of information. We must look beyond the disability and look at the individual's ability and capability—the things that make each of us unique and worthwhile.

Positive language empowers. When writing or speaking about people with disabilities, it is important to put the person first. Group designations such as "the blind," "the deaf" or "the disabled" are inappropriate because they do not reflect the individuality, equality or dignity of people with disabilities. Instead use affirmative phrases such as a person who is visually impaired, a person who is hard of hearing or a person with a disability. Note that the positive phrases put the person first.

We need the talents, skills and abilities of every one of our citizens with disabilities. People with disabilities reflect the diversity of our country. They are members of every race, color, creed and national origin and offer varied and multiple proficiencies and competencies.

We cannot afford, either morally or fiscally, to lose the contributions that people with disabilities bring, not only to the workplace but also to mainstream community life. They are an irreplaceable resource for our nation.

The Occupational Development Center provides vocational rehabilitative services for individuals with disabilities. This past year, the ODC provided services to 85 individuals with a variety of disabilities in the Thief River Falls area.

Sincerely,
Jeanie O'Neill

To The Editor:

In the Saturday, October 14 issue of the Northern Watch, a letter from Euneese Wages of Warren shows that there is yet another person who cannot read nor understand the complexity of the Wetland Conservation Act. This law and its regulations are so complex that even the best of lawyers have a difficult time deciphering them.

In the permanent rules of 1994 in the Wetland Conservation At (WCA), the Board of Water and Soil Resources (BWSR) may award compensation to a landowner up to 50 per cent of his assessed land value. Along with the compensation comes a perpetual easement to the landowner. A perpetual easement means that anyone may enter the compensated private land and the landowner pays taxes on the land forever and can never use the land as he or she sees fit.

In BWSR's proposed draft bill there is nothing to increase the 50 per cent compensation. This is nothing more than a theft of private property!

While Minnesotans were sleeping, BWSR, the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) and environmental extremist groups like Audubon and Sierra have devised a wetland plan that is the most restrictive in the nation to steal the equity from private property owners, bankrupt road projects, stop the enhancement of wildlife ponds, delete monies to school systems by devaluing land, etc. In 1994 northern Minnesota saw a decrease in land value of 20.6 per cent—a direct result of the Wetland Conservation Act.

The Fifth Amendment to the Constitution says, "Nor shall private property be taken for public use without just compensation." Is 50 per cent just compensation? If these wetlands are so valuable, then let all of the residents of Minnesota participate equally in the cost and not strip the burden on individual landowners. With all this government over regulation of private land, we must take a stand and stop it here!

Ms. Wages, I wonder if you would sell me half of your house at 50 per cent of market value of that half. I would then close off half of the house and you could live in the other half. You couldn't use the half that is closed off, but anyone else who wanted to could use it and you would be required to pay the full amount of taxes on the whole house forever. Does that sound like a good deal to you, or do you find it lacking in common sense?

You will find the proposal for compensation at 50 per cent on page 35 in the proposed wetland bill from BWSR and the Governor's bill. Your "correction" is incorrect. I was not wrong!

Respectfully,
Dave Zavoral
Grygla, Minnesota

To The Editor:

I noticed in the October 14 edition of the Northern Watch you ran an excerpt from the Warren Sheaf about new fertilizer application technology at Harvest States in Warren.

You may be interested to know that the computer fertilizer "maps" which drive the application in this machine, and several others like it, are produced right here at our company near Thief River Falls.

Additionally, the satellite navigation that this machine uses was "pioneered" in the Red River Valley by myself, in conjunction with CENEX in Oslo, MN, which had the first fertilizer machine of this type.

Sincerely,
David Willis, President
Agassiz Crop Management, Inc.

Zehlians discuss

At the October 4 meeting of the Zehlians, a member of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, Jean Heinrichs led a discussion of the book "Embraced by the Light" by Betty S. Eadie. The meeting was held at the Annette Bergan home with Ruth Nepper as co-hostess.

Next meeting was scheduled for October 18 at the home of Bunny Dondelinger with Jim Hoks of Hall's Floral to present the program on flower arranging.

It's Time For Discussion Of The School District Levy Referendum

Fast approaching is the general election on Tuesday, November 7, when one of the main items of interest on the local ballot will be the School District 564 levy referendum. The voters of the Thief River Falls-St. Hilaire district will be asked to approve a supplemental tax levy of $701,714 annually for up to 10 years to support educational expenditures exclusive of building construction.

There is not a great deal of time between now and November 7 for an enlightened discussion of the question which will be on the ballot. For that matter, there may not be a whole lot to discuss. But if there are opinions to be expressed, views to be given or questions to be asked, the time to do so is now.

"Citizens for Quality Education," a group formed to promote passage of the special levy, has provided information used in a story in today's issue of the Northern Watch. Kim Quade, who is promotion committee chair for the Citizens group, will address the question in her "On My Mind" column in next Wednesday's edition of The Times.

The way it appears to us right now, there are two probable positions to be taken by the voters. One is that of the school district and the citizens group—that the district is short of funds to provide its students with a proper education and will have to cut further unless the special levy is approved. The other is that of taxpayers who believe there has to be a stop to ever-increasing property taxes somewhere and the special levy is as good a place as any to put on the brakes.

The problem is that both viewpoints are not without merit. It is true that the school district has been a victim of inflation while state basic aids have not increased in four years. It is also true that individual taxpayers have faced similar inflation during that time, most without compensating increases in earnings. They are no better prepared to meet increasing education costs than the school district itself.

Who, then, should be expected to sacrifice? The school district, which is without the money to do all the things for children and staff it would like to do? Or the individuals and families, who are without the money to do all the things for themselves and their children that seem necessary?

In her column next Wednesday, Quade will give her personal views on the levy as it directly relates to her and to her son. We suggest that Times readers watch for it and read it.

The citizens committee notes that of the $701,714 to be raised by the levy, $137,596 will come directly from property taxpayers in the district and the remaining $564,118 (80 per cent) from "the state." And since "the state" has no money that it does not first take from the people, that $564,118 comes from us and others, just as we share to various extent in the other 286 school districts having special levies in Minnesota.

While there may well be justification for a stand on holding the line on property taxes, we can't abide shorting our district's children in funds for their education. They will need all the preparation they can get to compete or even to cope in the future. Nor do we feel especially guilty about having others share in the increased cost, because our district's children will probably be using their knowledge while living and working outside our district in their adult lives.

Our country has chosen to make public education a priority in the belief that an educated populace can best govern and provide for itself. That is a philosophy which has proven true in the relatively short history of our nation. This means that our obligation goes beyond ourselves and our individual families as we look to the common good.

That is the way we feel we must look at support for this special levy—as an obligation to society and an investment in our future as well as our youth. We would invite letters with similar or other viewpoints regarding the levy referendum prior to the November 7 election.

Provide Solutions Before Problems

"Every 75 minutes a child in our country is starved, beaten, shot or killed in some violent way. If they are not victims, chances are children have witnessed some form of real-life violence."

Thus begins a letter from Daniel D. Broughton, MD, president of the Minnesota chapter of the American Academy of Pediatrics. He says the academy has designated violence prevention as the theme for National Child Health Month in October.

"During Child Health Month, I urge everyone to join our effort to reduce violence in our children's lives by providing 'Solutions Before Problems,'" he writes. "We can start by raising children in safe and loving homes. Children learn by example. Non-physical methods of discipline, such as timeouts, help children deal with their emotions and teach them non-violent ways to solve problems. For older children and teens, some examples of non-physical discipline are canceling a social activity or assigning extra chores around the house.

"Families should watch television together and talk about what they see. By age 18, young people will have viewed an estimated 200,000 acts of violence on television alone. Television glamorizes guns and wrongly teaches youngsters that it is O.K. to use violence to resolve problems. Numerous studies have found the more violence children watch, the more aggressive they may become," Dr. Broughton writes.

"We can make our streets safer by building a sense of community. Get to know your neighbors and organize activities such as block parties or neighborhood cleanups. Hold a neighborhood meeting and invite a police officer to speak about safety issues. Ask your police department for "Neighborhood Watch" materials you can distribute.

"Our children deserve a lot less violence in the world around them. By working together, we can provide solutions before problems."

Dr. Broughton is right to be concerned about violent behavior in adults which translates to violence in our young people. Since the powers that be in the "entertainment" field have refused to use anything resembling discretion or recognize the need for responsibility in their productions, and because too many parents are too self-centered to be sharing and caring with each other and their children, violence can only be expected to fester and grow in our society.

ECFE event welcomes families

Games, creative crafts, costumes, snacks, and face painting will be the order of the evening when The Early Childhood Resource Center at Challenger Elementary school in Thief River Falls welcomes pre-schoolers and their families to Halloween Family Night, from 6 to 7:30 p.m. Thursday, October 26, in the pre-school wing.

There is no charge for the evening, co-sponsored by the new Launch Program, (formerly Nursery school) Early Childhood Family Education, Early Childhood Special Education, and Head Start. ECFE Coordinator Joyce Froschheiser says all pre-schoolers and their families are welcome. "The pre-school wing is the perfect place for a Halloween Party, and there may be many parents looking for a way to have fun with Halloween in a manner that is also safe and appropriate."

Although costumes are being encouraged, Froschheiser asks no masks please. All children must be accompanied by an adult. No pre-registration is required. For more information contact the Early Childhood Resource Center at 681-8670.

GIVE EDUCATION THE GREEN LIGHT

On Tuesday, November 7, you'll be asked to vote for a levy to increase general education revenue.

The money will be used to reduce average class sizes, increase one-on-one contact between students and teachers, and improve services for at-risk students (those with problems).

As indicated in the sample ballot you recently received, the general revenue increase will be $281.24 per actual pupil unit.

But, the state of Minnesota will pay 80 percent, $226.09, of this increase and local taxpayers are asked to contribute only 20 percent.

The following table shows approximate costs per household based on market value.

TAX IMPACT

Property Market Value	Proposed Increase
$10,000	$6
$30,000	$16
$50,000	$27
$70,000	$38
$125,000	$68

Central Boiler is the #1 manufacturer of outdoor wood furnaces. Our reputation has been built on quality product and customer satisfaction. Central Boiler is the first outdoor wood furnace to complete EPA testing and has always been in the forefront of providing consumers with the most accurate and up to date information available. Recently a competitor has been claiming that we are misleading the public by advertising a 92.5% combustion efficiency. This number is a result of testing that was performed by a nationally recognized independent test lab (Warnock Hersey) that specializes in wood and gas burning appliances. Our competitor says that this number means that only 92.5% of the wood burns up. Their statement only proves how little they know about testing and combustion principles. The 92.5% combustion efficiency rating is important because in order to have a high delivered (thermal) efficiency you must have a high combustion efficiency. Central Boiler has watched many competitors make claims in brochures and public ads that are not only misleading but absolutely false. These claims prompted us to have Warnock Hersey test a Central Boiler furnace and four of our competitors units. One competitor claims 200,000 BTU with a 12 hour burn time, in actual tests this unit could only produce 122,525 BTU's for 5 hours and 26 min. Another competitor claims 81% thermal efficiency while testing their unit shows a 35% delivered efficiency in their best test. Claims of BTU and efficiency ratings not verified by an accredited labratory are many times false and as we have shown, often deliberate lies. If you have purchased a furnace based on any false claims you may be entitled to a full refund. Now competitors are claiming the results of Warnock Herseys testing have been slanted or are not true. The truth is Warnock Hersey would not jeopardize their solid reputation by reporting false information. These tests prove without a doubt that Central Boiler's furnace is the most efficient. The EPA has recognized Central Boiler's expertise and involvement in efficiency and air quality concerns. Thus prompting an invitation for Central Boiler to present a paper at the upcoming Air & Waste Management Association's annual meeting in Nashville. Quite an Honor!

USDA sports new look

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is leading the charge for the Clinton Administration in creating a government that works better and costs less. The USDA agency, rural economic and community development has introduced a new field structure to administer and service housing and community infrastructure programs.

Janice Daley, state director of RECD in Minnesota, said that USDA reorganization is not just about saving money. "Improved service to rural residents has been and continues to be a top priority," said Daley. "An extraordinary amount of analysis was put into our reorganization plans to create USDA Service Centers offering one-stop service."

The counties of jurisdiction for administering and servicing RECD's housing and community infrastructure have been realigned. These programs, previously under the auspices of the former Farmers Home Administration were delivered from 52 field offices. According to Daley, the same programs will be available through 20 field offices serving the state.

As of October 1, 1995 residents of Northwest Beltrami, Red Lake, Pennington, Kittson, Roseau, Marshall, and Polk counties with RECD (formerly FmHA) home loans or grants will be served by the area office located in Thief River Falls. The USDA Service office is located at 1305 North Dale Street and the phone number is 218-681-2843.

"A more streamlined agency will improve customer service and save money," said Daley. "Through our increased emphasis in creating partnerships with local, state, and other federal agencies to build on the capacity of rural communities, RECD will continue to assist rural America to enhance housing stocks, create jobs, and maintain core services," said Daley.

USDA's overall streamlining goal will reduce the size of the department by more than 13,000 people over the next five years. Reorganization efforts will ultimately save $4.1 billion of taxpayer money.

"Failure is Impossible: Women Win the Vote" is the title of a touring exhibition from the Minnesota Historical Society which documents the American women's struggle for the right to vote. The exhibition opens October 23 at the Northland Community and Technical College art gallery and continues until December 18. The gallery is open Monday though Friday from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. and there is no admission charge. The graphics, documents, full-scale reproductions of early suffragist banners and photographs such as this one of the Susan B. Anthony button all shout Anthony's 1906 proclamation "Failure is Impossible!"

Roseau library sets Book and Author Dinner October 23

Roseau Area Library Friends have scheduled the annual Book and Author Dinner featuring Mark Vinz on Monday, October 23, at the Four Seasons Senior Center.

The turkey dinner will be served at 6 p.m. and the free program will begin at 7 p.m. Tickets for the dinner at $8 for adults and $6 for students will be available at the Roseau library until noon today (Saturday, October 21).

The Library Friends have also planned other fall and winter events. Dates and titles for the twice monthly "Let's Talk About Books" series are listed in a brochure available at the library. Theme of "Sampling the Decades" was chosen to help participants review the styles of writing from seven of the 10 decades in the 100 years since the county and city of Roseau were organized.

Book discussions are scheduled from 12:30 to 1:30 and 7 to 8 p.m. each month through April of 1996 with the exception of December.

The library's 57th anniversary will be recognized at 2 p.m. Sunday, December 3, when the traditional "Christmas Treasures" read aloud program will focus on early Christmases. As this will be one of the last Centennial events, it will be held at the new Roseau school auditorium which seats about five times more people than the library-museum meeting room.

Roseau Area Writers' Workshop will return to its regular schedule in November, meeting on the second Thursday evening from 7 to 9 p.m. There will be no meeting in December but the workshops will continue from January through April.

Roseau Area Writers Workshop and the Library Friends will combine in sponsoring a public program in March featuring Dr. Roland Dille, Moorhead area historian. Final arrangements for a meeting date have not been made.

Agassiz Environmental Education Committee will co-sponsor a "Dad and Me" event November 16 when young children will have an opportunity to build their own bird feeders during two sessions.

Roseau Area Library Friends now has 181 members, including active and associate, and is hoping to exceed the previous record of 186 during this centennial year in Roseau county.

The library continues to have copies of the centennial book Up Home—The Land And The People available for $18 (tax included). The book has received many compliments from area people and readers in distant states. The book includes regional writing, music and drawings by people with Roseau county roots.

Scout puts up trail signs

said on an average night of work on the trail there were 10 to 20 people helping him. Chris connected the trail to a trail created by Steve Lyman, and now the entire loop system is 1.5 kilometers long.

Chris got the idea for the trail from his Scout Master Art Heinze, and very enthusiastic support from members of a local cross-country ski club — the Gnordic Gnomes.

According to Sylvia Grindley, president of the Gnordic Gnomes, and Dee Larson, one of the club founders, there are about 34 members in the club. They are very excited about the trail. Larson said it's not real long but it's sheltered.

Grindley said Efta is "One enthusiastic kid!" He put it all together, and organized his help. She said, "He certainly deserves to be an Eagle Scout." She was very impressed.

The trail can be used by members of the Sportsman's Club and the Gnordic Gnomes. Grindley encourages anyone interested in cross-country skiing to join the club. Family memberships cost $10, and single memberships cost only $5.

The club plans a number of activities during the winter including a Candlelight Ski, which is held in conjunction with a cross-country ski clinic sponsored by Dakota Clinic in Thief River Falls. Anyone interested in becoming a member of the club should contact Darlene Kelley, club secretary, at 681-4657.

Arctco Inc. and Northwest Technical College team up on employee training program

Governor Arne Carlson has announced that the Minnesota Job Skills Partnership Board has awarded a grant of $170,000 to Northwest Technical College in Bemidji to develop technical training for employees of Arctco, Inc., in the manufacture of recreational and utility vehicles.

Arctco Inc., based in Thief River Falls, designs, engineers, manufactures and markets under the Arctic Cat and Tigershark brand names. The company's products are sold through a network of independent dealers located throughout the U.S. Alaskan and International sales and marketing are handled through distributors. In August of 1994, Arctco announced plans to enter the all-terrain vehicle (ATV) market. The company expects to start marketing the ATV's in 1995 and to begin production in late 1995. The training is expected to assist the company in meeting production demands. The Company trades on the NASDAQ market under the ACAT symbol.

Northwest Technical College will develop and deliver a custom curriculum addressing training needs associated with ATV production through its Custom Training Services Division (CTS). CTS extends the college resources beyond their traditional scope through the provision of client-sensitive, quality-focused consulting, training and economic development services throughout the northern region of Minnesota. The Arctco training, which is expected to impact nearly 200 workers and enable many to make the transition from part to full time work will enable the Technical college to add new industry developed course work to its offerings.

Pioneers shut out Cards 34-0

Runningback Brent Miller and linebacker Brandon Baker came up with some impressive numbers Thursday in leading Northland to a 34-0 Minnesota Community College Conference football win over Hibbing.

Miller, a 5-11, 210 pound product of Mahnomen's championship high school football program, rushed for 185 yards, and Baker, a 6-0, 225 pounder from Miami, had three fumble recoveries, including one that went for a 56-yard touchdown as the Pioneers closed out their 1995 home schedule.

It was Northland's second straight win after an 0-5 start, and kept the Pioneers' faint MCCC playoff hopes alive heading into the regular season finale Saturday, Oct. 28 vs. Central Lakes at Staples.

Northland pulled a major surprise in win No. 1 the previous week – a 28-12 upset over previously unbeaten Vermilion. Win No. 2 ranked considerable lower on the excitement level since it came against a struggling Hibbing team that hasn't beaten anybody since 1992.

It didn't take the Cardinals long to show why they're having trouble winning as Baker recovered a first-snap fumble at the Hibbing 29. Six plays later the Pioneers' Mason Thompson scored on a 3-yard run.

Northland also scored on possession No. 2 following an 11-yard Hibbing punt to the Pioneers' 43. The drive took eight plays, ending on a 20-yard Eddie Fluerant touchdown pass to Eric Hamre in the end zone when the Cardinals' defensive back who was standing alongside the receiver badly mis-timed his jump, leaving Hamre with an easy catch. Miller's conversion run made it 14-0.

It was 20-0 at halftime when Laurence Reid supplanted Miller as the Pioneers' feature back on an 11-play, 73-yard second quarter drive with runs of 17, 11 and 8 yards. Two 15-yard penalties assessed the Cardinals on the same play took the ball to the 11. Miller carried to the 10, and Thompson got another call for a short touchdown run with 5:15 remaining.

Miller did a bulk of the work on a 10-play, 62-yard third quarter touchdown drive, getting 57 of those yards on 7 carries, including a 2-yard touchdown run with 2:22 on the clock for a 26-0 spread.

Baker scored the final touchdown when he picked up a Hibbing fumble at the Northland 42 and had clear sailing, plus an escort, into the end zone.

The conversion produced smiles and congratulations on the Northland bench when 30-year-old tight end Kevin Stuckey pulled in Fluerant's pass in the back of the end zone. Stuckey, director of the law enforcement program at Northland, went out for organized football for the first time in his life this fall. It was his first reception.

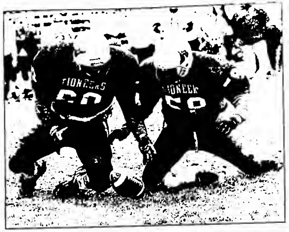
The game was played in a cold, driving afternoon rain that reduced the middle of Prowler Field to a sea of mud. It was the fourth time in their last five games the Pioneers have found themselves playing in wet weather.

"This is awful," offered chilly Northland coach Gene Klinke on his way off the field. "How do you get good at playing in this stuff. Our primary concern in the second half was making sure everybody got a chance to play. If you're going to make kids stand out in this stuff, you better get them all in the game."

Most offensive starters left the game after a couple of series in the second half, but Miller stayed in, and using short, choppy steps on the slippery field, added to his 78 first half yards.

"We wanted to get Brent some yards and help build up his stats," admitted Klinke, who watched Miller struggle through an injury-plagued freshman season in 1994. "He had a heckuva game."

Meanwhile, the Baker-led Northland defense held Hibbing to just 32 yards worth on offense on 47 plays. Paul Barringer also had a fumble recovery for the winners.



It looked like a sure fumble recovery for either John Davis (60) or Brent Eaton (58), but neither of the Northland linebackers were able to come up with the ball as Hibbing maintained possession on this play in Thursday's Minnesota Community College Conference football game at muddy Prowler Field. The Pioneers won 34-0

Beduhn and Kleinschmidt-Colt were part of the Tech line-up that beat Detroit Lakes 6-1 in the Section 8AA team finals.

TRF win at EGF ends 7-1 regular season

Thief River Falls put the finishing touches on a 7-1 regular season Wednesday – the team's best showing since an 8-1 campaign in 1972 – with a 22-12 high school football decision at East Grand Forks. It was the seventh straight win for the Prowlers, who lost their 1995 opener to Detroit Lakes 34-15 before rattling off victories over Fergus Falls, Wadena-Deer Creek, Staples-Motley, Park Rapids Area, Crookston, Woodbury, and East Grand Forks.

Five days after beating Woodbury in the comfortable climate-controlled Fargodome, the Prowlers found themselves playing the rival Green Wave in rain, cool temperatures and mud. The conditions, plus the fact that starting quarterback Keith Anderson was sidelined by injuries, turned the normally versatile Thief River Falls offense into a one-dimension attack. It was an equalizing factor, helping to keep the 1-5 Green Wave in the game.

Junior Jon Blomker, who came in relief of Anderson in the second half against Woodbury, was 2-for-12 passing for 34 yards and 2 interceptions in his first varsity start.

"Jon did a good job," said Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm. "He did more good than bad. But the weather conditions were tough, and when you're not a threat to throw, they can stack their defense against the run. We weren't able to keep them honest. We had people open, but we couldn't get the ball to them."

Despite a nine-man defensive front and slanting attacks that kept Thief River Falls from racking up big yards, East Grand Forks did surrender 240 yards on the ground and faced a 22-0 deficit midway through the third quarter.

"Their quickness caused us a lot of problems, but we were able to break a couple (of runs)," said Mumm.

Thief River Falls came up with a first-possession touchdown when Nick Chiodo went through the left side, picked up a key block from fullback Aaron Ehrenstrom, and went 35 yards to finish a six-play, 57-yard march with 7:45 remaining in the opening quarter.

The Prowlers had a chance to come out of the first quarter with a two-touchdown lead, but they failed to reach the end zone after picking up a first down inside the the Green Wave 1-yard line in the final moments of the opening period.

A second quarter turnaround did result in a 14-0 Thief River Falls halftime advantage when a Phil Millette interception and a 12-yard Tyler Palmiscno pass to Mark Hurley gave the Green Wave a first down at the Thief River Falls 5-yard line, only to have the Prowlers' Lance Cota recover a next-play fumble at the 9.

Just three plays later Thief River Falls was in the end zone as Ehrenstrom burst into the open on 56 and 38-yard runs. He was caught from behind on the first one, but not the second time. Chiodo squirted through the East Grand Forks defense along the sidelines for the conversion points and the 14-0 game with 2:49 remaining.

East Grand Forks' failure to pick up a first down on a fourth-and-one call from the Green Wave 42 early in the third quarter provided Thief River Falls with field position, and the Prowlers scored in five plays, reaching the end zone on a 13-yard run by Paul Kopari. Blomker and Steve Rambeck hooked up on the conversion pass for a 22-0 cushion with 6:47 to play.

It didn't take the Green Wave long to respond – a one-play strike on a 60-yard hook-and-lateral as Tyler Palmiscno hit Mark Perkins with a short pass that turned into a long touchdown when Perkins quickly tossed the ball to Jeff King, who went 58 yards for the score.

It was one of several pass/lateral calls for the Green Wave, who have made a name for themselves with some off-beat plays over the years. "We used to call it grab-bag," said Mumm, "but they do it well. It's a regular part of their offense, and you have to be ready for it."

East Grand Forks came back with a 30-yard Palmiscno touchdown pass to Perkins, who won a battle for position with Thief River Falls defender Jason Breiland and caught the ball in stride with 8:15 to play. But the two-point conversion pass, which would have made it a one-score difference on the scoreboard, was not completed in the end zone.

Ehrenstrom's two long second quarter runs led to a game-high 144 yards rushing for the 6-4, 190 pound Ehrenstrom.

Blue Devils, Nordics lose Tuesday games

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke and Marshall County Central completed their 1995 Nine-Man high school football seasons Tuesday with Top of the State Conference losses to Stephen and Kittson Central.

The Blue Devils fell to the Tigers 19-16 and the Nordics absorbed a 52-14 drubbing at the hands of the Wolfpack.

It was the final game of the year for 0-7 Marshall County Central, but 6-2 Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke will take its game into the playoffs – at the Class C level since the combined enrollment figure for the cooperative program is over the limit set for Nine-Man by the Minnesota State High School League.

Stephen	19
Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke	16

Three Alex Salazar touchdown runs carried Stephen to a conference-winning 19-16 decision over visiting Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke.

The Blue Devils would have gained a title tie with a win over the Tigers.

Jamie Lunsetter scored twice for Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke – on a 1-yard run to begin the scoring and on a 78-yard interception return that, combined with a Trevor Kiesow conversion run, gave the Blue Devils a short-lived 14-13 third quarter lead.

Salazar, who scored on runs of 12 and 15 yards in the first half, added a 2-yard fourth quarter touchdown run to put his team back on top, 19-14. Final points came on an intentional safety when the Tigers elected to give up two points instead of punting out of their own end zone with five minutes remaining.

"It was a pretty good football game – back and forth," said Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke coach Darwin Hagen. "We played well enough to beat a tough team, it just didn't happen."

The Blue Devils thought they had a shot at a win when Kiesow broke away on a 35-yard touchdown run late in the fourth quarter. But a penalty called the play back – a call that was understandably upsetting on the Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke sidelines.

Kiesow finished the game with 195 yards on 34 carries as the Blue Devils netted 237 yards on 55 running plays. They were 3-for-6 in the air for 34 yards.

Defensively, Kiesow and Lunsetter were the Blue Devils' leaders with 13 and 10 tackles, respectively.

Marshall Co. Central	14

Marshall County Central continues to find wins hard to come by on the football field. A 52-14 loss to Kittson Central tagged the Nordics with their second winless season in three years. They are 1-22 during that span.

The Wolfpack led 31-0 at the end of the first quarter.

Gators end regular season with a 12-6 setback at Fosston

Host Fosston controlled play and beat Badger/Greenbush-Middle River 12-6 in the rain Wednesday in regular season-ending Valley Plains Conference high school football.

"They had some long sustained drives," pointed out Gators coach Steve Willman. "We had sparks of brilliance, but we couldn't sustain anything."

Forced into passing situation under poor weather conditions made the task even more difficult, noted Willman, whose team will take a 3-5 record into post-season play.

Joel Howard, Matt Kujava and freshman Richard Wockenfuss all turned in strong efforts, according to Willman.

Pioneers beat Itasca

Bouncing back from a first game loss, Northland beat Itasca 12-15, 15-6, 15-12, 15-7 Tuesday in a Minnesota Community College Conference volleyball match at Grand Rapids.

"We were pretty flat in the first game," admitted Northland coach Shari Olson.

But the Pioneers played well after that in improving their season record to 6-11 and their MCCC Northern Division mark to 4-8.

Key to the win, explained Olson, was a season-high 92 percent serve reception figure for the Pioneers. "We've been having trouble receiving serves, but we made some adjustments, and the girls did a wonderful job with it," she said.

Tari Sugden came off the bench and supplied key service points in three of the four games.

Jenny Smith had 12 kills and 2 kill blocks to lead the Pioneers' net play, while Carrie Lawrence finished with 8 kills and Jenny Stern and Stacy Stanwick both had 5. Steen finished with 3 kill blocks.

Stanwick wound up with 17 assists and Ali Hietala had 13, giving up some of her assists as she turned into a passer on serve receptions, explained Olson. LaVonne Nelson and Stern, a pair of hitters, even got into the revised passing/setting employment with 4 and 3 assists, respectively.

Northland will close out the season at home with matches Tuesday vs. Fergus Falls at 6:30 p.m. and Thursday vs. Central Lakes at 3 p.m.

TRF volleyball squad sweeps Fergus Falls

It wasn't the easiest sweep in the world, but it was nevertheless a 3-0 Thief River Falls win Tuesday when the Prowlers closed out their 1995 regular season high school volleyball schedule with a 15-11, 15-9, 15-8 victory at Fergus Falls.

North Sub-Section 8AA tournament will start Friday, Oct. 27, with the No. 5 seed at No. 4 and the No. 3 seed at No. 6. Top two seeds receive first round byes and will host semifinal matches Tuesday, Oct. 31. Alexandria and Moorhead are expected to be the seeded 1-2, respectively, but the official seeding positions won't be announced until later.

Thief River Falls struggled early against Fergus Falls, but did take charge in the latter stages of Game 2 and finished strong to cap a 15-10 campaign.

"It was great to finish the regular season with a win, especially a sub-section match," noted Thief River Falls coach Helen Anderson. "It was slow at times, but we pulled together and played well enough to win. Everyone played, and everyone contributed to the win."

Thief River Falls junior varsity wrapped up a 17-3 regular season with a 15-3, 15-13 sweep, while Fergus Falls won the C squad match 15-12, 15-7.

Mustangs win 3-0 match from Bears

Red Lake County Central closed out a 15-10-1 regular season Tuesday with a 15-13, 15-11, 15-11 high school volleyball win over Clearbrook-Gonvick-Trail.

"They played better as a team," reported Mustangs coach Nancy Bray, whose team was on the other end of 3-0 matches in their previous two starts.

A 94 percent figure at the service line also helped, Bray said.

TRF sophomore, JV football teams wrap up 1995 schedules

Thief River Falls' 1995 sophomore/junior varsity high school football season was completed with a pair of outings earlier this week.

Detroit Lakes edged Thief River Falls 18-16 in a Monday sophomore match-up, with Thief River Falls beating Roseau 30-6 in a Tuesday junior varsity encounter.

Anthony Hendricks scored on a 12-yard run and Trevor Lee scored from 5 yards out against Detroit Lakes. Kyle Anderson added a conversion run, and Andy Harbott caught a two-point pass from Chris Mumm.

Five different players scored touchdowns against Roseau, including runs of 55 yards by Hendricks and 12 yards by Lee. There was also a fumble recovery in the end zone by Adam Kuck, plus runs of 15 yards by Rick Donarski and 25 by Bryan Cleven.

Thief River Falls junior varsity was 3-0 this fall, while the sophomore squad finished 4-3.

TRF freshmen beat Detroit Lakes 30-12

A 30-12 win over Detroit Lakes Monday closed out an 8-1 season for the 1995 Thief River Falls freshman high school football team.

Quarterback Treavor Peterson hooked up with Wade Haviland on a 50-yard touchdown pass and scored twice himself on runs of 2 and 3 yards. The winners also scored on a 25-yard run by Jason Hanson, a safety and 3 pair of two-point conversions by Wade Chiodo.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear husband, father, and brother, Mayer Holen, who passed away Oct. 8, 1994.

Deep in our hearts you are today remembered,
Sweet happy memories cling 'round your name,
True hearts that loved you with deepest affection
Always will love you in death just the same
We often sit and think of you, when we are alone,
For memory is the only friend, that grief can call its own.
Sadly missed by wife, children, and grandchildren

THANK YOU

I would like to thank everyone who remembered me on my 85th birthday. Special thanks to everyone in attendance, the Heritage Center for their beautiful songs, Pastor Kerr for devotions, my family, Janice, Donnie, Thomas, Ethel, James and friend, and grandchildren.

God bless you all
Alice Brubakken

a touch of hypothermia.

Corey said that the adventure for Chris began when he believes he fell and passed out. When he awoke it was rainy and foggy. when it all started he was about one-quarter mile from his pickup, and when he was found, he was three miles away from his pickup. She added that a deputy had to run after him as he was still going in the wrong direction.

Lester Larson, Chris' father, said that if Chris hadn't used his head he would not have survived. Though he was lost, he had constructed a shelter.

"It was quite wonderful the way people pitched in," said Lester. He explained that the search began when Amy Christianson, Chris' fiance learned that Chris had not reported for work at CarQuest Auto Parts. Lester credits success of the search and rescue to the coordination provided by Russel Christianson, Amy's father. He added that many people came from all over to offer their help and it was really wonderful.

Marshall county authorities, and Chris' parents Lester and Gloria, expressed their thanks to the number of family and friends who assisted in the search.

Preston Johnson of St. Hilaire (left), receives the "Driver's Choice School Bus Conduct Award" from his school bus driver, Peggy Sead. Preston is a fifth grader at Challenger Elementary school. He was chosen for the honor by Sead who says his helpful, friendly attitude is very much appreciated.

School bus conduct award is presented

Preston Johnson of St. Hilaire, a fifth grader at Challenger Elementary school in Thief River Falls, has received the School District 564 "Driver's Choice School Bus Conduct Award." The award was presented to Preston this week by his driver, Peggy Sead, and Transportation Superintendent Fred Mykleby.

Mykleby says Preston, who rides Route 5, was selected for the honor by his driver, Peggy Sead. "Preston is a fun kid, and he's been very supportive. This is Peggy's first year as a driver and I know she appreciates the help."

The "Driver's Choice School Bus Conduct Award" was implemented this year to promote safe ridership and recognize student attitudes that make transportation to and from school a friendly, fun experience. One award will be made this school year on each of the 26 transportation routes in the Thief River Falls/St. Hilaire School District.

Two men are charged in Marshall county burglaries

Matthew Maurstad, 18, Newfolden, and Daniel Nygord, 18, Grand Forks, are in custody in Marshall county and face charges of burglary following investigations into the Hobo Haus burglary on October 13, and the LaVoune's Hartz burglary in Viking on September 25.

A spokesperson for the Marshall County Sheriff's department said the two were taken into custody early this week. He also indicated that the investigation is continuing into the burglaries and more individuals will probably be charged.

On October 13, the Hobo Haus, a bar in Newfolden, reported that a number of televisions were taken along with cigarettes, candy and some other items. On September 25, some cash, cigarettes and food were taken in a burglary at LaVonne's Hartz in Viking.

The investigation into the case led to charges being filed in Pennington county. Five individuals currently face charges following the burglary of Carpenter's Corner, a convenience store in Pennington county.

The spokesperson cited cooperation between both departments as a reason for the successful conclusion of the investigations.

Tech prep readies students for work nical reports.

Arnston also says there is a stigma attached to technical colleges. Some people think that a technical degree is somehow less significant than a Bachelors degree. Again, this is not true. Today technical college graduates are in high demand, are paid well and have high-skill jobs.

The solutions

Tech Prep tries to address these issues in a variety of ways. First, schools participating in the program include applied curriculum. Arnston explains that students don't just learn the theory. They "do things" in order to learn the theory. Most people don't learn concepts, they learn by doing and seeing and how it effects them. That's really the idea behind Tech Prep, explains Arnston. Examples of these course are Principles of Technology and Chemistry in the Community, two of the applied course taught at Greenbush/Middle River. Karlstad also has added courses in applied math, applied communications and applied biology/chemistry.

Another goal of the program is to change the way people think about technical college and those who attend technical college. Counselors talk to students and parents about the successful future students can achieve if they have a strong technical background. The fact is that 37 percent of the fastest growing job fields are related to technology and require a tech college education, not a four-year college degree.

The results

The pilot site met with a great deal of success, according to Arnston. The increased awareness of occupations and preparation are the first step towards changing people's perception of technical schools.

High schools are including applied courses in their curriculum, so students are learning how to use in a practical way what they know. Schools also have articulate agreements with colleges so students can earn college credits for high school courses.

According to Melanie Nateboom of the North Border Tech Prep Consortium, "All of the North Border schools have made progress in their curriculum. They've taken Tech Prep seriously and the changes are going to benefit our students and eventually the quality of the students in new, technical careers."

Land posting is underway here

ballooned over 10 times and the state now controls 7.5 million acres of wetland!"

Zavoral contended those additional millions of acres came off the backs of ordinary land owners in rural Minnesota, and said, they represent "a silent trail of tears, "we hope to expose and rectify.

He indicated he has already approached some northern counties about the possibility of enacting an ordinance that will require a firearms discharge permit for those coming into the county to hunt.

"We want hunters to know this effort is not designed to keep them off our lands, but that we feel strongly about this issue and we need their assistance in making reasonable changes in the nation's most restrictive wetland law," Zavoral said.

In explaining the firearm discharge permit proposal, he said that non-residents of a county would be charged $20, as an example, to discharge a firearm in the county. It's not a totally new idea, Zavoral said Hennepin county has such an ordinance.

The no trespassing sign and the firearms discharge permit proposal, are clearly designed to send a message. Zavoral hopes that message is received and understood.

Anyone interested in obtaining some of the signs should contact Leonard Furuseth in Thief River Falls at 681-1171; or, Mildred Klamar of Gatzke at 459-3436.

Gazebo in place for city's Centennial

Yoder Gazebos of Arthur, IL, erects structure Tuesday and Wednesday in Floyd B. Olson Park

by Marvin Lundin
Northern Watch Editor

When someone knows what he or she is doing, difficult tasks can be made to look easy. Paul Yoder and his brothers of Arthur, IL, made erection of the gazebo in Floyd B. Olson park look easier than it really was on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

The gazebo is expected to be a downtown focal point during the 100th anniversary celebration of the City of Thief River Falls during 1996. It is constructed of western red cedar, is 28 feet in diameter, nine feet high to the ceiling and 23 feet to the ornate top.

Base for the gazebo is made of concrete and a concrete ramp slopes away from the gazebo toward the parking lot to the east. Concrete work was done by city parks and recreation personnel in preparation for arrival of the gazebo.

The building itself was built by Yoder Gazebos, which started the project on September 18 near Arthur. It was formed and assembled in Illinois, then marked, disassembled and loaded on a fifth-wheel flatbed trailer for the 910-mile trip to Thief River Falls.

For the five-year-old Yoder company, this was the largest gazebo it has built to date and the greatest distance one has been transported after being sold. Most of the Yoder gazebos are smaller in size and the sales area has been within about a 300-mile radius of Arthur.

Paul, 27, and his brothers Edwin, 18 and Cephas, 16, are old order Amish. They don't own or drive motor vehicles, so transport of the gazebo to Thief River Falls could have been a problem. But they enlisted the help of Mike Helmuth, a Mennonite friend who has the extended cab pickup and flatbed trailer, to be their driver.

Joining Paul, Edwin, Cephas and Mike for the trip were Paul's wife Mary Louise and their four-month-old daughter Dorothy Marie. Paul and Mary Louise also have four other children through age six who were at home with their grandparents during their parents' trip to Minnesota.

The Yoders and Helmuth were delayed enroute by snow, wind and icy highways but began the local construction about 11 a.m. Tuesday and finished the project around dark on Wednesday.

The octagonal gazebo arrived on the truck with roof sections already shingled and the ceiling sections, railings and trim sections assembled. The wood had all been given one coat of finish.

While the supports for the gazebo are square tubular steel posts and there are four-inch steel "I" beams (10 feet, 3 1/2 inches in length) bolted from post to post, the metal is covered by cedar throughout the project. There are four electrical outlets and the gazebo also has recessed lighting.

Yoder's shop is a converted chicken house on his father-in-law's farm. The Amish have no commercial electricity, so equipment is powered with stationary gas engines. For on-site work here, battery-powered cordless equipment and air-powered tools were used. A forklift from the City of Thief River Falls was also used to raise the roof sections into place.

Yoder said there is a large amount of woodworking done in his community which extends about Yoder Gazebos of Arthur, IL, completed construction of the gazebo at Floyd B. Olson Park in downtown Thief River Falls Wednesday evening. Paul Yoder, 27, and his brothers Edwin, 18 and Cephas, 16, began erecting the structure about 11 a.m. Tuesday and completed the project by dark on Wednesday. First official event in the gazebo will be the Christmas lighting ceremony on Sunday, November 26, at 5 p.m.

Kittson Central teacher is now a published author

Kimberley K Nelson of rural Kennedy is the author of a children's book called "I Will Remember — Inga-minjimendam." The bi-lingual book is the first of Nelson's to be published. The text is in both English and Ojibwe.

by Elizabeth Ott
Northern Watch Reporter

It is a long way from being a teacher in rural Kennedy to being a best selling author, but Kimberley K Nelson has taken the first few steps. This weekend she will participate in a reading and reception to celebrate the first publication of her children's book "I Will Remember — Inga-minjimendam." The book is bi-lingual, printed in both English and Ojibwe. It is the story of a young Ojibwe boy, Vernon, and is told from his perspective.

It is not difficult for Kim to write from a child's perspective. She has worked with children for many years and says she has a sense of what kids like. She worked for 10 years at the Red Lake and Ponemah Head Start and school. She has been in education for a total of 20 years.

She says the length and text of the book make it suitable for ages four to eight, but she points out that because the Ojibwe translation is included, the book would be suitable for older students as well. Kim hopes area schools will use the book in their cultural diversity curriculum.

Kim first wrote the book five or six years ago, she said, but finding an illustrator and getting the book published took a few years. Clem May is the young artist who drew the book's illustrations. He based the drawings on his experiences on the shores of Red Lake.

Finding a publisher was another task. Her friend, author Susan Hauser, suggested that Kim send her story to Loonfeather Press of Bemidji, as they are interested in publishing works with a regional interest. Loonfeather was very interested in the project. After a couple of meetings between Kim and the publisher, they decided that the book should include the Ojibwe translation of the text. The publisher hired Earl Nyholm, a professor at Bemidji State University and one of the country's leading experts on the Ojibwe language, to translate the text.

Pulling everything together was the next step. Some words and phrases in English don't translate into Ojibwe, so parts of the text had to be rewritten. After the artist produced some original drawings, the illustrator, the publisher and Kimberley met to discuss what pictures would work best and where they would be placed in the book.

Kim received financial support for the book through foundations that support the arts. She received grants from George W. Neilson Foundation, Region 2 Arts Council through funding from the Minnesota State Legislature, and the Native American Arts Initiative through the McKnight Foundation.

Time change this Sunday... "Fall Back"

Change from Central Daylight to Central Standard Time will take place at 2 a.m. on Sunday, October 29. Area residents are reminded to set their clocks and watches BACK one hour before retiring tonight (Saturday, October 28) in order to be on schedule with everyone else on Sunday.

Daylight Saving Time is in effect from the first Sunday in April to the last Sunday in October each year. Tonight we theoretically regain the hour of sleep we lost when setting clocks ahead last spring.

Take the confusion out of clock setting: Just remember, "Spring Ahead and Fall Back."

Hospice Month is proclaimed

Declaration of the month of November as Hospice Month in the city of Thief River Falls has been proclaimed by Mayor Bob Reese.

"By this means," he said, "we as a community can pay tribute to the physicians, nurses, social workers, therapists, clergy and especially to the hospice volunteers who do so much to serve patients and their families."

Keeping America beautiful

Warren — A local business has taken another step towards keeping the Earth clean. Vern's Standard and Muffler Shop of Warren recently acquired an oil filter crushing machine. The crusher fits in nicely with Marshall county's efforts to aid citizens in disposing of items that should not be thrown away and are not easy to recycle.

Vern can now take banned waste and turn it into recyclable metal and oil. The charge for disposal is reasonable, 50 cents for a regular car or truck filter, and the service is available for both private individuals and businesses.

Four charged in Roseau county drug bust

Roseau — Four men are being charged in connection with the sale and distribution of a controlled substance.

The alleged violations occurred on September 26 and 27. All sales were also alleged to have been monitored by investigators.

Charged with sale of a controlled substance in the fifth degree are James Allan Odegard of Badger, Corey John Monsrud and Chad Allen Monsrud, both of Roseau. Charged with conspiracy to commit a controlled substance crime in the fifth degree is Brady Lee Muirhead of Salol.

All four individuals are expected to appear in District Court in Roseau in the near future.

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere

A lady called me with a request for a recipe. She bought a delicious loaf of bread or cake at the Farmers' Market and wants to know how to make it. She said she has tried to find out what stand sold the bread or cake and has had no luck at all in her searches.

The bread was a sponge type loaf with a streusel filling and sugar on the top. The stand was manned by older ladies and was located near Pond's. If anyone knows the recipe for the bread or even who had the stand, contact me at The Times, P.O. Box 100, or call 681-4450. The loaf sounds so good that I would like the recipe too.

Today we'll have some hearty fall dishes that you can make for the family or serve your guests.

This is a hearty dish that will fill everyone up:

SAUERKRAUT CASSEROLE

1 pound mild Italian sausage links, cut into 1 inch slices
1 large onion, chopped
2 apples, peeled and quartered
1 (27 ounce) can sauerkraut, undrained
1 cup water
1/2 cup brown sugar, packed
2 teaspoons caraway seed
Parsley

Cook sausage and onion in skillet until sausage is brown and onion is tender. Drain.

Stir in apples, sauerkraut, water, brown sugar and caraway seed. Transfer to 2 1/2 quart baking dish.

Cover and bake at 350 degrees for one hour. Garnish with parsley, if desired.

This soup makes a good meal all by itself:

HEARTY POTATO SOUP

6 medium potatoes, peeled and sliced
2 carrots, diced
6 celery stalks, diced
2 quarts water
1 onion, chopped
6 tablespoons butter or margarine
6 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 1/2 cup milk

In large kettle, cook potatoes, carrots and celery in water until tender, about 20 minutes. Drain, reserving liquid. Set aside.

In the same kettle, saute onion in butter until soft. Stir in flour, salt and pepper and gradually add milk, stirring constantly until thickened.

Gently stir in cooked vegetables and add 1 cup or more of reserved vegetable liquid until soup is desired consistency.

Use beef in this spicy, nutritious stew, or try it with that venison you will have after hubby goes ahunting.

HERBED BEEF STEW

2 pounds beef stew meat, cut into 1-inch chunks
2 tablespoons oil
3 cups water
1 large onion, chopped
2 teaspoons pepper
1-2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
1 teaspoon rosemary, crushed
1 teaspoon dried oregano
1 teaspoon dried basil
1 teaspoon ground marjoram
2 bay leaves
1 (6 ounce) can tomato paste
2 cups cubed peeled potatoes
2 cups sliced carrots
1 large green pepper, chopped
1 (10 ounce) package frozen green beans
1 (10 ounce) package frozen whole kernel corn
1/4 pound mushrooms, sliced
3 medium tomatoes, chopped

Brown meat in oil in Dutch oven. Add water, onion, seasonings and tomato paste.

Cover and simmer 1/2 hour until meat is tender.

Stir in potatoes, carrots and green pepper and simmer another 30 minutes, adding additional water, if necessary.

Stir in remaining ingredients, cover and simmer 20 minutes more. (Serves 10-12.)

These wonderfully light biscuits would taste great with any of today's dishes, and won't they be appreciated:

ANGEL BISCUITS

2 packages (1/4 ounce each) active dry yeast
1/4 cup warm water (110 to 115 degrees)
2 cups warm buttermilk (same temp as above)
5 cups flour
1/3 cup sugar
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 teaspoon soda
1 tablespoon salt
1 cup shortening
Melted butter or margarine

Dissolve yeast in warm water and let stand 5 minutes. Stir in buttermilk and set aside.

In large bowl, combine flour, sugar, baking powder, soda and salt.

Cut in shortening with a pastry blender until mixture resembles coarse meal. Stir in yeast/buttermilk mixture and mix well.

Turn out on lightly floured board and knead lightly 3 or 4 times. Roll into a 1/2 inch thickness and cut with 2 1/2 inch biscuit cutter. Place on lightly greased baking sheet.

Cover and let rise in warm place for 1/2 hour. Bake at 450 degrees for 8-10 minutes. Brush tops with melted butter.

Youth take part in today's Make a Difference Day

Youth from Redeemer and Black River Lutheran churches have challenged all Thief River Falls church youth to participate with them by collecting as much nonperishable food as possible today, Saturday, October 28. Food collected is being donated to the Thief River Falls Area Food Shelf.

October 28 has been designated as Make a Difference Day and participants arrange to do something good for their community and the people in it.

Area people can participate by bringing food to their church (or to Redeemer Lutheran if they do not have a church of their own) and by donating food if young people come knocking on the door.

USA Weekend magazine will provide $2,000 in charitable donations to 60 winning charitable efforts and Campbell Soup company will donate food to a hunger project in the area.

Grief support group will not meet on Tuesday

The Grief Support Group that meets on Tuesdays at the United Methodist Church will not meet Tuesday, October 31. The group will resume meeting November 7 at 7:30 p.m.

Senior meal at the Heritage Center on Monday evening

The senior meal at the Heritage Center on Monday will be a roast beef dinner at 5:30 p.m. Call 681-2793 for reservations.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

I wanted to thank the sports staff for the information we've received on Tim Bergland. While talking with Tim this week, I found some general information I would like to pass along.

Timmy is one of two assistant captains on the International Hockey League's Chicago Wolves. In eight games played thus far this year he has three assists. He has had a lot of playing time so far this year, much of its short-handed. With the new rule of the neutral zone clutching and grabbing being a two-minute minor penalty, there have been a lot of penalties this year. The last game had 19 infractions called.

"Bergie" is also busy with his two-month-old son, Isaac Olaf. It's not easy finding skates for a kid two months old.

For all you fans who would like to see Tim play some time, he was scheduled to play in Minneapolis on October 27, then one time in November and again sometime after Christmas.

As the great Ron Novak would say, "It's time, so let's play hockey."

Sincerely,
Jeff Storhaug
Thief River Falls

To The Editor:

In the October 21 issue of the Northern Watch Mr. Zavoral's letter touches my heart and I do hope justice comes to you.

While you are understandably dwelling upon yourself and 1994 Wetland law and backward to the Constitution, I am writing about an August, 1995, six-page draft proposal. Again, there is no page 35.

Allow me to speak on the BWSR proposal and then a little on your accusations and questions.

The soil hydrology of BWSR would replace aerial photography in determining wetlands. It is my belief that this is fairer and kinder to the farmers and they can trust their soil content.

This proposed draft bill—while addressing counties with 80 per cent wetlands—can bring relief beyond existing law to the entire state. The big shift comes in a change from focusing on acres of wetlands drained or filled in a given situation to proposed change for replacing wetlands focused upon the benefits they provide.

Also, local government and citizens are given opportunity to be included in wetland protection as a part of water management in the area; not solely farmers, but state and agency representation. My comment is even the farming industry needs checks and balances.

Also, it advocates an enhanced tax exemption program; landowners who maintain wetlands will have access to some financial compensation for the value of their land. There are also replacement credits.

Also it reduces public road ratio from two-to-one to one to one. These are a few proposed examples.

Mr Zavoral, I ask you: Do you want to share in carrying the burden? Such things do shift, you know. Perhaps in past decades farmers in the Valley west of you have carried the heavier burden. If things do shift, will you become bitter, or better?

I do not believe there is a scheme to steal your property as you describe. I do believe that if we want to save the Minnesota farmland, the Minnesota farm economy, we need to grow in understanding the important role your East has in maintaining the topography and how it works upon the West and South of Minnesota.

Acquired knowledge and specialized knowledge have accumulated a wisdom of how intertwined our environment works. Whereas common sense reigned when there was little education, it no longer knows best in every case.

Before closing, I answer: Yes, I have lost more than one-half of my house. Finally, I and many give BIG thanks to our DNR, our BWSR, our Sierra and Audubon people. Your dedication, acquired knowledge, specialized knowledge and volunteerism daily salvage our earth and give renewal, refreshment, understanding of nature and joy in nature to me and many.

Sincerely,
Eunice Wages
Warren, MN

To The Editor:

Well, I for one learned a lot at the meeting concerning the upcoming tax levy vote. First, I must say that I was quite disappointed with the turnout. I may not be in favor of the tax levy, but I at least went to hear the "facts."

As I understand, the money raised from the tax increase would be used primarily to hire more teachers. This would supposedly increase the level of education that local students are getting.

This is a very debatable idea. I have always felt that students will learn at the pace that they individually want to regardless of whether they have one teacher for a hundred students, two teachers for every one student, or no teacher at all.

Another point hammered on at the meeting was how Thief River Falls pays less per pupil unit than other schools in the area with referendums. The problem with the math in this case is that the towns that pay more in their illustration have to because they have fewer taxpayers to draw from. Also the towns they mentioned (such as Goodridge, Newfolden and Plummer) pay far less in taxes already than Thief River Falls residents.

But, the clincher for me is the idea of "educating our kids for 20 cents on the collar." One person had the idea that if "something was on sale for 80 per cent off everybody would buy it—whether they needed it or not."

Well, I don't know about everybody else, but I would encourage everyone to make sure that $800,000 is really needed before we decide to exact it from our unwilling neighbors. Just because something is cheap doesn't mean that it is necessary.

Finally, they claim that the cost of this levy will equal approximately the cost of a can of pop per week to the average taxpayer. Now here is a definite fact: Save that 50 cents per week and take your kids out for a pop and talk with them—every week. It will do them more good than all the schools, levies or teachers will ever do.

Sincerely,
John L. Bouchard

To The Editor:

I'm confused. Mr. Zavoral (Northern Watch, October 21) is apparently very concerned about "government over-regulation," yet he is proposing a firearms discharge permit. Another government regulation forced on the backs of ordinary people? Gun control?

Wait; maybe I do understand. Government regulations are acceptable when they advance your personal agenda.

Sincerely,
Craig Buhlitz

Criminals Should Pay For Losses By Victims

According to the Minnesota Department of Public Safety, victims of violent crime and their families received $2.4 million in assistance from the Minnesota Crime Victims Reparations Program from July 1, 1994 through June 30, 1995.

Among the costs covered by the program are medical care, mental health and counseling, funeral expenses and economic support for lost work time.

More than 1,000 claims a year are received by the board from victims of assault, murder, drunk driving, child abuse, robbery, rape and domestic abuse. In Fiscal Year 1995, 44 per cent of the claims were made for medical expenses, 31 per cent for economic support, 17 per cent for funeral expenses, seven per cent for mental health and one per cent for other victim needs. Most of the referrals are made by victim assistance programs and law enforcement officers.

Payment of the claims is made with funds which come from legislative appropriations, civil awards, restitution by offenders and refunds. According to a department spokesperson, the resources of the board have increased recently because of new initiatives by the reparations board and the Minnesota Attorney General's office to collect restitution payments from offenders.

Attorney General Skip Humphrey's office is planning to use court orders to locate and access offenders' funds and is looking at those contributing to crimes, such as bar owners who serve already drunk patrons, as possible sources of other reparations funds.

These efforts have been stimulated and reinforced by legislative changes made during the 1995 session. Formerly, all funds recovered from offenders went back into the state's general fund. In 1995 lawmakers decided that these payments should go back into the reparations fund to reimburse crime victims. This year, the fund will also receive a small portion of inmate wages, allowing for even more crime victims to receive reparation payments.

Given the many millions of dollars of losses which crime causes in Minnesota each year, the attempt to provide some financial assistance to victims is laudable. We also commend Attorney General Humphrey and his staff for the effort to further enforce collection of restitution. We feel that too frequently judges feel their responsibility ends with ordering restitution and that court and law enforcement personnel feel they don't represent a collection agency. As a result, people who have been ordered to make restitution are not compelled to do so and payments are not made.

Persons who commit crimes and thereby cause losses through deaths, injuries, property damage or loss should bear the financial consequences of their acts as well as the criminal consequences. It is little enough for innocent victims to expect.

Keep Kids Safe For The Most Halloween Fun

Fun and excitement of Halloween can turn to disappointment and sadness if the exuberance results in an injury or even an unduly frightening experience.

Children's Health Care suggests that parents be sensitive to the fact that young children can be genuinely frightened by some of the decorations and activities associated with Halloween, including grotesque masks and startling or threatening movements.

"Parents with young children should take the cue from their child's response," suggests Dr. Michael Troy, a child psychologist at Children's Health Care. "If your child seems frightened by certain decorations or costumes, your best bet may be to skip the explanations and remove the child from the situation. The child may be able to handle the situation better next year."

Commissioner Michael Jordan of the Minnesota Department of Public Safety also has several suggestions that parents and children should bear in mind for Halloween activities.

"Once again this year," Commissioner Jordan said, "Halloween is several day AFTER we switch from Daylight Savings Time to Standard Time. "That means it will be dark earlier on halloween evening. Parents and other adults should make a special effort to ensure safe trick-or-treating for youngsters."

Commissioner Jordan offers the following safety tips:

- Children should trick-or-treat in the afternoon or early in the evening, accompanied by at least one adult. Take a flashlight to help light the way and keep track of children.
- Trick-or-treating should be confined to children's own neighborhood.
- Drivers should watch closely for children crossing the street.
- Children should cross streets only at corners and should walk, not run, on sidewalks.
- Costumes should permit adequate peripheral vision and should be light colored. Reflective tape or other materials should be used to increase visibility of children.
- Costumes should be tried on before halloween to ensure proper fit and make sure vision is not obscured.
- Once trick-or-treating is done, adults should inspect treats before giving them to children.

Regarding treats themselves, Children's Health Care has some additional suggestions for what can be given to trick-or-treaters:

- Trinkets such as pens, pencils, erasers or stickers;
- Individual packets of low-fat cookies, animal crackers, goldfish crackers or fruit roll-ups;
- Low-fat or no-fat candy such as licorice, hard candy or gum (as a rule of thumb, candy that's creamy and chewy usually has more calories and fat);
- Cold cash. Figure out what you would spend on candy and then pick up a few rolls of nickels, dimes or quarters to hand out instead.

Have a happier Halloween by making it a safe Halloween.

Central Boiler is the #1 manufacturer of outdoor wood furnaces. Our reputation has been built on quality product and customer satisfaction. Central Boiler is the first outdoor wood furnace to complete EPA testing and has always been in the forefront of providing consumers with the most accurate and up to date information available. Recently a competitor has been claiming that we are misleading the public by advertising a 92.5% combustion efficiency. This number is a result of testing that was performed by a nationally recognized independent test lab (Warnock Hersey) that specializes in wood and gas burning appliances. Our competitor says that this number means that only 92.5% of the wood burns up. Their statement only proves how little they know about testing and combustion principles. The 92.5% combustion efficiency rating is important because in order to have a high delivered (thermal) efficiency you must have a high combustion efficiency. Central Boiler has watched many competitors make claims in brochures and public ads that are not only misleading but absolutely false. These claims prompted us to have Warnock Hersey test a Central Boiler furnace and four of our competitors units One competitor claims 200,000 BTU with a 12 hour burn time, in actual tests this unit could only produce 122,525 BTU's for 5 hours and 26 min. Another competitor claims 81% thermal efficiency while testing their unit shows a 35% delivered efficiency in their best test. Claims of BTU and efficiency ratings not verified by an accredited labratory are many times false and as we have shown, often deliberate lies. If you have purchased a furnace based on any false claims you may be entitled to a full refund. Now competitors are claiming the results of Warnock Herseys testing have been slanted or are not true. The truth is Warnock Hersey would not jeopardize their solid reputation by reporting false information. These tests prove without a doubt that Central Boiler's furnace is the most efficient. The EPA has recognized Central Boiler's expertise and involvement in efficiency and air quality concerns. Thus prompting an invitation for Central Boiler to present a paper at the upcoming Air & Waste Management Association's annual meeting in Nashville. Quite an Honor!

Steve Rambeck (88) made an over-the-shoulder catch on a 24-yard touchdown pass from Thief River Falls quarterback Keith Anderson in the second quarter of Tuesday's Section 8A high school football playoff game against Long Prairie-Grey Eagle. Defensive back Harrison Hanson trailed the play. The Prowlers won 41-0 to move into the semifinals tonight (Saturday) vs. Park Rapids Area. Game time at Prowler Field is 7 p.m.

B/G-MR, G/G-G lose first round Class C games

First round losses in the Section 8C playoffs Tuesday ended the 1995 high school football season for Badger/Greenbush-Middle River and Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke.

The No. 6-seeded Gators fell to No. 3 Clearbrook-Gonvick-Trail 36-6, while the No. 5-seeded Blue Devils dropped a 26-12 decision to No. 4 Fosston.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River finished the year 3-6. Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke wound up 6-3.

Clearbrook-Gonvick-Trail..36 B/G-Middle River..6

Down just 14-6 at halftime, Badger/Greenbush-Middle River was out-scored 22-0 in the second half in a 36-6 defeat at the hands of a speedy Clearbrook-Gonvick-Trail squad.

The unbeaten Bears play Nine-Man football during the regular season but are bumped into Class C for the playoffs because of Minnesota State High School League enrollment guidelines.

Like Clearbrook-Gonvick-Trail, Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke is a Nine-Man regular season football team, but an 11-man Class C post-season entry because of enrollment figures.

But unlike the Bears, the Blue Devils weren't able to make a successful adjustment, losing to Fosston 26-12.

Nick Chiodo had his feet taken out from underneath him by a Long Prairie-Grey Eagle tackler after the Thief River Falls runningback caught a 13-yard first down pass from quarterback Keith Anderson in the first quarter of Tuesday's Section 8A high school football playoff game. The Prowlers won 41-0.

Football playoff win over Long Prairie-Grey Eagle...

Prowlers post 41-0 shutout

As the favorite, the last thing you want to do is to give the underdog a taste of success. The longer the game stays close, the tougher it becomes to secure a win over a suddenly confident foe.

Second-seeded Thief River Falls made sure that wouldn't happen Tuesday by striking early and often en route to a 41-0 Section 8A high school football playoff quarterfinal win over No. 7-seeded Long Prairie-Grey Eagle at Prowler Field.

First Thief River Falls snap from scrimmage produced a touchdown, igniting a NASA-like take-off that saw the Prowlers score on their first five possessions – 34 points on just 20 plays.

"We started strong," acknowledged Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm. "You can't ask for anything better than that. We pretty much took the wind out of their sails. It was two vs. seven, and their first playoff game in three years. You don't want to give them anything to get excited about."

It was the eighth straight win for the 8-1 Prowlers, moving them into the Section 8A semifinals against Park Rapids Area. It was the sixth straight loss for the 2-7 Thunder, who were out-scored 101-0 in their final three starts.

A three-down-and-out game-opening Long Prairie-Grey Eagle offensive series and punt to the Thunder 48 was promptly followed by a first-carry touchdown run by the Prowlers' Paul Kopari. Thief River Falls blockers wiped out the left side of the Long Prairie-Grey Eagle defensive line and Kopari raced untouched to the 15, where he managed to ward off a tackle by defensive back Harrison Hanson and tight-roped his way down the sideline to complete the play. The kick by Chance Keefe made it 7-0 with only 2:03 elapsed.

Defensive end Rob Stock had a hand – literally – in the next two Thief River Falls scores. He knocked down an option pitch and recovered the fumble at the Long Prairie-Grey Eagle 12 on the first play following the kickoff, setting up a 3-yard touchdown run by Nick Chiodo. Four plays later Stock got a hand on a Chris Determan punt, with the partially-blocked kick rolling to the 29. Moments later Chiodo was in the end zone on a 5-yard run for a 21-0 gap with 8:05 gone.

"Rob had a nice game," noted Mumm. "Our defense has been playing well all year, but they've been overlooked because we're doing so many good things offensively."

Thief River Falls' longest first half possession was an 8-play, 53-yard touchdown drive that ended on a 24-yard Keith Anderson pass to Steve Rambeck in the left corner of the end zone. After a 3-for-3 showing by Keefe, Lance Cota was given a shot at the conversion kick, and made good, for a 28-0 gap three plays into the second quarter.

A short punt put Thief River Falls right back at the Long Prairie-Grey Eagle 35, and Kopari scored from the 25 with a tackle-breaking run through the middle with 7:36 remaining in the first half.

The Prowlers' 5-for-5 scoring ended on the horn at the Thunder 37.

Reserves played extensively in the second half. There was no change in the score until a fourth down sack – the Prowlers' eighth of the game – at the Long Prairie-Grey Eagle 24 led to a 10-yard touchdown by Bryan Cleven, who twisted through the middle with just 2:01 remaining in the game.

Kopari, a 5-9, 163-pound senior, finished with 85 yards rushing and two touchdowns on just three carries. Anderson was 3-for-3 passing for 50 yards and a touchdown before leaving the game midway through the second quarter.

The Prowlers out-gained the Thunder 286-24. Long Prairie-Grey Eagle picked up only two first downs – both coming in the fourth quarter.

TRF hosts Panthers in semifinal contest

Park Rapids Area and Thief River Falls meet for the second time this fall tonight (Saturday) in a 7 p.m. Section 8A high school football playoff semifinal game at Prowler Field.

The Panthers were in town a month ago when they lost a 34-14 encounter that snapped a season-opening four-game winning streak. They also fell the following week to Detroit Lakes, 28-13. But the setbacks to the 8-1 Prowlers and 9-0 Lakers – the top two seeds in Section 8A – are the only losses for the 7-2 Panthers, the No. 3 seed in the playoffs.

Park Rapids Area began the year with wins over Cass Lake-Bena 40-16, Crookston 10-6, Staples-Motley 21-13, and Wadena-Deer Creek 28-6. The Panthers bounced back from the losses to Thief River Falls and Detroit Lakes with wins over East Grand Forks 15-9 and Sauk Centre 22-13. They beat No. 6-seeded Perham 29-19 in Tuesday's playoff quarterfinals.

Thief River Falls is unbeaten since losing to Detroit Lakes 34-15 in the 1995 opener. The Prowlers rattled off regular season wins over Fergus Falls 12-7, Wadena-Deer Creek 19-6, Staples-Motley 44-13, Park Rapids Area 34-14, Crookston 28-6, Woodbury 34-18, and East Grand Forks 22-12. They handled Long Prairie-Grey Eagle 41-0 in their playoff opener.

Fergus Falls will be at Detroit Lakes today in the other Section 8A semifinal. The No. 4-seeded Otters lost the home field edge because of a heavy snowfall in the area the day before, but nevertheless picked up a 21-2 winner over No. 5-seeded Crookston Tuesday. The five-time defending Section 8A champion Lakers eliminated No. 8-seeded East Grand Forks 41-14.

Winners will meet in the title game Thursday at 8 p.m. at the Fargodome.

Thief River Falls' post-season efforts are being promoted community-wide as the Prowlers' Drive for the Dome.

Prowler Field, a sea of mud following a Northland vs. Hibbing college football game in the rain the previous Thursday, received a great deal of attention by the buildings and grounds crew before the Section 8A contest, and was in good shape – considering the way it was when the Pioneers and Cardinals were done – for the Prowlers and Thunder.

Section 8A Football

■ Quarterfinals Tuesday, Oct. 24 - Detroit Lakes 41, East Grand Forks 14; Fergus Falls 21, Crookston 2; Park Rapids Area 29, Perham 19; Thief River Falls 41, Long Prairie-Grey Eagle 0

■ Semifinals Saturday, Oct. 28 - Fergus Falls at Detroit Lakes; Park Rapids Area at Thief River Falls

Pioneers lose to Spartans

Unable to slow down a hard-hitting Fergus Falls attack, Northland lost a 3-0 Minnesota Community College Conference volleyball match Tuesday in Thief River Falls.

The Spartans won 15-9, 15-5, 15-10.

"They (Spartans) have two of the top hitters in the region statistics," pointed out Northland coach Shari Olson, "and we didn't do a very good job against them. We weren't blocking, and our coverage wasn't very good. It was not our best effort."

A roster of seven sophomores gave Fergus Falls an edge over an all-freshman Northland line-up, noted Olson.

Jenny Smith led the Pioneers with 8 kills, while Stacy Stanwick came up with a solid all-around effort that included 5 kills, 10 assists and 100 percent figures in both serve and serve receive categories.

The loss sent Northland into a season-ending Thursday match at home against Central Lakes with a 6-12 overall record and a 4-9 mark in the MCCC Northern Division.

Agassiz Refuge open to 1995 deer hunters

The 1995 deer hunting season at Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge will be held Nov. 4-12 in accordance with Minnesota Department of Natural Resources and federal regulations.

Fall population is estimated to be between 2,500 to 3,000 deer, compared to the 1994 population of over 3,000 deer within the 131 square miles of Area 203.

Area 203 in Zone 2 consisting of Agassiz and the Elm Lake, Eckvoll and Mudlac wildlife management areas will be open to bucks and antlerless deer by state permit. Antlerless permits have already been mailed to all who submitted a valid application. There were 602 valid applicants accepted for the 650 antlerless permits available. An additional 72 deer management permits were issued to applicants who checked the bonus box on their application, producing a total of 674 antlerless permits issued for Area 203.

Except for two closed areas around the headquarters and maintenance center, the entire refuge will be open to deer hunting. The closed areas are posted with signs and are clearly marked on refuge hunting leaflets. Entrance into these areas is not permitted.

Deer hunting regulation signs with a map of antlerless Area 203 are placed at six locations on the refuge showing open roads and listing refuge regulations. Any hunter that is permanently or temporarily physically disabled and wants to use the deer hunting platform needs to contact refuge personnel at the headquarters.

Within Agassiz, pre-season scouting will be allowed Friday, Nov. 3, from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. Gates will be closed at 3:30 p.m. Hunters are reminded that construction of, or hunting from, permanently constructed tree stands is illegal. Portable stands are legal and can be placed at any height, but cannot be left overnight to pre-empt a hunting area. Spotlighting – casting spotlights or vehicle lights from a public road onto the refuge – is illegal on the refuge all year. Camping is not permitted on the refuge, but camping is available on adjacent state wildlife management areas where camping permitted signs are located.

Access onto the refuge by foot or vehicle is permitted after 6 a.m. and hunters must leave the refuge as soon as possible after sunset. Gates on roads that will be open to vehicle travel will be opened at 6 a.m. All other refuge roads, trails and dikes will be restricted to foot traffic, bicycles and non-motorized carrying devices for transporting deer. Non-motorized watercraft may be used on ditches and pools. The use of snowmobiles and 3 and 4-wheelers, trail bikes and other off-road motorized vehicles is prohibited on the refuge. For information on the use of off-road motorized vehicles on state wildlife management areas during the firearms deer hunting season, see the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources 1995 hunting regulations.

Deer taken in Permit Area 203 must be registered in Zone 2. There is no check station at refuge headquarters, but there is at least one in most nearby towns. A total of 547 deer were harvested in Area 203 in 1994, including 233 adult bucks. Deer harvest average for the past ten years is 548.

Hunter safety is always of special concern. Hunters need to be aware of other hunters in the area to prevent shooting accidents. With hunting time being extended to one-half hour after sunset, seeing and distinguishing objects will be more difficult.

A safety belt is recommended when in a tree stand. The potential for hypothermia and heart attack also exists. Because of wet conditions, access will be limited to the drier areas until safe ice is formed. Check ice conditions before attempting to cross. Most ditches on the area have five to eight feet of water. Hunter caution and awareness is advised.

All hunting accidents on Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge must be reported immediately at headquarters.

Lost Bay Drive at refuge will close

Lost Bay Auto Drive and Maakstad Hiking Trail at Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge will close Wednesday, Nov. 1, and will remain closed until spring.

Visitors may continue to observe wildlife along Marshall County Road 7, which bisects the southern portion of the refuge. Some of the species observed during the winter months are moose, deer, ravens, magpies, northern shrikes and several other species of birds.

The refuge staff hopes that everyone who visited the refuge during this past year have enjoyed the wildlife and scenery along the drive.

GIVE EDUCATION THE GREEN LIGHT
On Tuesday, November 7, you will be asked to approve an education referendum.
HERE ARE SOME COMMONLY ASKED QUESTIONS:
Q. How do voters of our school district know that the district is spending money wisely?
A. The Thief River Falls School District is spending less than the statewide average per student. Thief River Falls spends $459 less per student unit or $1,225,530 per school year than other school districts in the state. Since our school district is already spending less than the state average, there is little left to trim from the budget.
Q. Has the Thief River Falls School District done anything to control spending?
A. Yes. Over the last three years the district has cut $220,000 from the school's budget. This year (1995-96) the district was forced to cut another $417,800. A total of $637,800 has already been cut from the school's budget in just the last four years.
Q. How much will the proposed referendum cost and how much will it raise?
A. This referendum will cost local taxpayers $137,596, or 20 percent of the total. The state will pay $564,118 or 80 percent. Combined, a total of $701,714 will be raised, about $281.24 per pupil.
Q. How much will the referendum cost each household?
A. The funds for the local portion of the referendum are obtained through property taxes. For instance, the cost on a home with a market value of $50,000 would be $27. The cost on a home with a market value of $100,000 would be $55.

Clinics are open to the public and anyone who needs immunizations is encouraged to attend. The vaccine used is provided free of charge by the Minnesota Department of Health for use in community-based clinics.

There will be a $5 fee for administering the vaccine, but no one will be refused because of inability to pay.

Vaccines provided are: DTP, DTAP, HTPHib, Td, DT, Hep B infant, Hep B qualifying adult or adolescent, OPV, MMR, Hib.

The clinic also wants to state that immunization services given at the public clinics should not be substituted for the child's usual well-child visit with his or her physician. Storytelling of ethnic groups presented Nov. 2

"Minnesota's Roots in Tale: Bridging the Distance Between Cultures" is the topic of a Minnesota Community Conversations program to be presented Thursday, November 2, at 7 p.m. in the Thief River Falls public library.

The program will feature storytelling of various Minnesota ethnic groups by Dr. Mary Helen Pelton. It is co-sponsored by the Thief River Falls Friends of the Library with funding provided by a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities through the Minnesota Center for the Book.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

Under Minn. Statutes 609.748, Subdivision 1, harassment is considered as repeated, intrusive or unwanted acts, words or gestures that are intended to adversely affect the safety, security or privacy of another, regardless of the relationship between the actor and the intended target, targeted residential picketing; and a pattern of attending public events after being notified that the actor's presence at the event is harassing to another.

In a recent incident that was brought to the court's attention, a couple of citizens videotaped (this was a one-time thing) another citizen breaking the law by driving a vehicle by himself, with no other passenger in the vehicle, and without a valid driver's license, permit or work permit.

Since this individual has been driving illegally like this for many years, I thought the local law enforcement should have been able to catch him by now, with all the reports received on him by many concerned citizens. Still this individual is allowed to drive illegally, even though he has been repeatedly reported.

What is wrong with the system today? Does it matter what your name is? What your race is? What type of income you have? What your standing in the community is? Are the roads safe any more for anyone in the world? Who will be liable for any damages that may be caused by an unlicensed driver, the wife, the owner of the vehicle, even if she wasn't driving or in the vehicle at the time?

This evidence was offered to the court system to view as proof that the individual had been lying under oath (perjury) to the court system and law officials. The court system would not accept the tape or even view it to see that this was actually not a harassment case.

In other words, is the court system saying that individuals can break the law and another individual can not tape this act because it will not be able to be used in a court of law as evidence, because it will be considered harassment and invasion of privacy on another's human rights.

If someone tapes examples of robbery, any type of abuse, murder, driving illegally or any other illegal action that might be happening in everyday life situations, the court system should be able to make the decision—if it is a fine line—on what should be or not be considered illegal actions by law (if they are all considered illegal acts).

Why is it then, that any business establishment is allowed to tape the public without the permission of the people entering, or not have it posted that the establishment is taping the public, and not be considered harassment, invasion of privacy? This evidence can be used in a court of law as evidence, especially when the law is broken in their establishments frequently.

Does this same statute include all law enforcement officials not to be able to tape without a citizen's permission? Will this also fall under the harassment order? If law officials are allowed to tape for the same reasons of recording people breaking the law, wouldn't concerned citizens have that same right to protect the rest of the citizens of the world?

So this could mean that any lawbreaking citizen, if videotaped, could go into a court of law and yell harassment, invasion of privacy, etc., and be able to get off on a technicality—lack of evidence—even though the evidence is available to the system. I am wondering if it would be wise if the statute would be looked at a little closer and defined a little better to help out in fairness to the people.

I am the one who recently went through this situation, and the other individual was granted a harassment order for a two-year period. I felt this could be considered as a type of discrimination against me by the justice system.

I would appreciate any responses from citizens either for or against the harassment order being dropped. I want to thank you all for taking the time to read this letter and the time you will be taking to reply on this subject.

I also feel it should not make a difference on a decision made if there are any other court cases pending on this individual; that has nothing to do with the harassment order, especially since he was breaking the law in this case. This also shouldn't make a difference if it would be a felony and/or any type of misdemeanor on the decision made.

Sincerely,
Henry A. Christianson

Legal session on choices at RLF Nov. 2

Attorney William D. Muldoon will discuss advance directions—including living wills and the new health care power of attorney—at a public meeting Thursday, November 2, at 5:45 p.m. at the Red Lake Falls senior citizen center.

Advances in medical care have caused many Americans to think about how health care decisions are made—how to preserve the rights of individuals to make choices about their health care when they are no longer capable of making decisions.

The free informational session November 2 will provide ideas on how to preserve independence, privacy and free choice in the area of individual health care.

The session is sponsored by Legal Services of Northwest Minnesota, the Northwest Area Agency on Aging and the Red Lake Falls Senior Citizen Center. For further information contact Legal Service of Northwest Minnesota toll-free at 1-800-450-8585.

Badger school starts 9-week art adventure

At Badger elementary school in mid-September, 125 elementary students began a nine-week art adventure which will introduce them to a new art form each week.

Each Tuesday, one of three volunteers—Mary Dostal, Sylvia Kukowski or Annette Hermansen—introduces the art form for the week. Each Wednesday and Thursday, visiting artist Jean Honl from Roseau helps students in kindergarten through grade six create their own art.

Student art work is displayed in the Border State Bank at Badger and Roseau locations.

Auther Kimberley Neleen peses with her husband Elmer their deughters. Amelie is in the eighth grede et Lancester, and Kete is in the fifth grede et Lancester. Kim says thet her family hes been very suppertive ef her end her beek.

Kittson Central teacher is author

She has also displayed her art at the Lynch Gallery in Minneapolis and has participated in several Art in the Park shows. Her handmade paper is sold at stores in Roseau, Stephen and Thief River Falls.

For now the paper art has taken a back seat to the new book. On Sunday, October 29, there will be a book reading from 2:20-4:30 p.m. at the Bemidji Public Library. Several of Clem May's illustrations will be on display. After the reading there will be a book signing.

Kim is talking with the regional libraries about doing readings. She has also contacted some bookstores about promoting the book.

"Basically, I'm very proud of this book," said Kim, "and I think everyone involved is."

After all the waiting and work, Kim said she almost felt like she was dreaming when the finished product was finally in her hands.

So far, reactions to the book have been positive. She is very please by the support she has received from the Native American community. Members of the Native American community have said the book is ideal for children who are staying in the hospital or other unfamiliar surrounding. The book is a source of comfort because it gives children a sense of self and a sense of security.

Others have praised the book because it illustrates both the similarities and differences between children of different cultures. For instance, caucasian children probably never watched their grandmother make fried bread like Vernon has, but most have listened to adults tell stories, which is something Vernon likes to do.

Kim's husband Elmer describes the book as "positive cultural [illegible]. It is a wonderful con[illegible] the [illegible] between races [illegible] the hearts of people's [illegible]."

Kim is a part-time writer. Her full-time job is as a speech/language pathologist in Kittson Central Schools in Hallock and Kennedy. She works with children from early childhood through grade 12.

Aside from being a teacher and a writer, Kim is also an artist. She works with paper. She started many years ago making Japanese-style paper art. After a while, the cost of the paper was getting a little too high for Kim. She decided she could save some money if she learned to make the paper herself. She studied under master papermaker Emaline Cook and since has made all kinds of paper.

She makes the paper out of different plants, from cattails to wild rice to flower petals. She dries the papers on different surfaces to give the papers unusual textures. Kim's daughters Kate and Amelia even let their mother use the flowers in their garden, as long as they get credit for growing them.

A different piece of her artwork has been featured on the cover of the Journal of Speech/Language Pathology for the last four years.

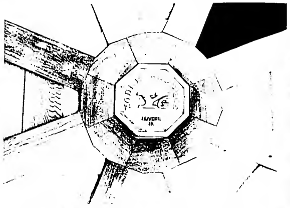
AL FINNEY



Central point on the ceiling in the gazebo built in Floyd B. Olson Park in Thief River Falls this week contains a brass plaque bearing the name of the builder. The opening at upper right was being used for access when this photo was taken as the gazebo was under construction. It was later filled in. The material used in construction is clear western red cedar.

Centennial gazebo is ready for public use

15 miles in each direction from Arthur, but most is hardwood furniture. He was the first to work almost exclusively in western red cedar which he purchases from Canada. He also purchases the turned posts used in the railings and trims, and the cedar shingles. He cuts and staples the shingles used for ridge caps.

In the increasingly rare times when he is caught up to demand in gazebo production, Yoder builds wishing wells, miniature gazebo bird feeders, lawn gliders and mailboxes.

Upon his return home his next project was to be a screened-in, 14-foot diameter gazebo which will be delivered to St. Louis, MO. He has also been contacted about building a 40-foot diameter gazebo but is unsure if he will take on that large a project.

Madelyn Vigen, director of parks and recreation for the city, said that the contract with Yoder Gazebos to build, transport and erect the structure was $24,750. In addition city parks and recreation and utilities department crews used about $3,500 in materials for the concrete base, ramp and walkway and electrical wiring and fixtures, bringing total cost for the project to $28,500.

About $15,000 has been raised to date and donations toward the project continue to be accepted at the city parks and recreation department.

First official event in the new gazebo will be the Christmas lighting ceremony on Sunday, November 26, at 5 p.m. During the centennial year the gazebo is expected to be used on Thursday evenings at least bi-monthly for religious, musical or other public entertainment programs. A calendar is being arranged for those events. The facility will also be available for other public use.

As for Yoder and his trucker, the return trip to Illinois was not an empty run. Paul has also been a dealer of outdoor wood stoves built by Central Boiler of Greenbush. Four of those units were picked up Thursday morning for the return haul.

Re-employment claim forms now offered

Some out-of-work seasonal employees in Minnesota will soon have the ability to file a back-to-back re-employment insurance claim by simply placing a stamp on an envelope rather than going into their local re-employment insurance office. A back-to-back claim occurs when the claim year for benefits ends and the claimant files a new claim.

Developed by a team of seven re-employment specialists with the Minnesota Department of Economic Security (MDES), this new service will affect about 26,000 workers, most of whom are seasonal. More than 130,000 unemployed workers filed re-employment insurance initial claims in Minnesota in 1994.

"This service is a great convenience for primarily seasonal claimants," said MDES Assistant Commissioner Gary Sorensen, Job Service/Re-employment Insurance. "In the past, many seasonal claimants had to drive a hundred miles to their area office and appear in person to file a new claim after having just made the trip to reopen their existing claim," he said.

Eligible claimants who want to continue to claim re-employment insurance benefits need only complete a new claim form, and mail it with their certification for the final weeks of benefits on the prior claim, according to Sorensen. Claimants will then be sent an estimate of their benefit entitlement. In addition, claimants also have the option of having their benefits deposited directly into their checking or savings accounts.

Economic Security has program offices in more than 70 communities throughout the state, annually helping 1.2 million Minnesotans help themselves achieve economic security.

Nicole Thompson on staff of BSU Northern Student

Nicole Thompson of Red Lake Falls has been selected as a 1995-96 staff member of the Northern Student, the student-run weekly newspaper at Bemidji State University.

Thompson is a junior business administration major and will be the business manager of the publication. Her duties will include payroll and budget.

Rapacz, Lee named to Brain Science Foundation board

Mrs. Ray (Leona) Rapacz of Argyle and Vernon Lee of Thief River Falls have been appointed to the American Legion Brain Science Foundation board.

A past department president of the American Legion Auxiliary (1987-1988), Mrs. Rapacz was appointed by Ardis Stone of Glenwood, current department president. A past Ninth District commander, Lee was appointed by this year's Minnesota department commander.

Preliminary work for the Brain Science Research Professorship Chair at the University of Minnesota began in July of 1985 with Mrs. Rapacz serving as department chairman for the auxiliary and Dan Ludwig of Red Wing serving as chairman for the Legion. Ludwig is currently National Commander of the American Legion.

In May of 1987 a joint American Legion and Auxiliary million dollar fund raiser began with Past Department Commander Bob Reeve and his wife JoAnn of Thief River Falls heading the campaign in the Ninth District.

In her administrative year, Mrs. Rapacz traveled 70,000 miles to over 300 auxiliary units in Minnesota speaking for the project. The million dollar goal was reached in 16 months.

Purpose of the Chair was to fund research in Parkinson's disease, epilepsy, schizophrenia, dementia, Alzheimer's disease and aging and affected disorders, all brain related diseases. Following an international search and interviews, Dr. Apostolos Georgopoulos was awarded the Professorship Chair. There are currently 19 doctors, including post-doctoral fellows, graduate students, technicians, a computer engineer and administrator making promising strides in research of brain disorders and presenting lectures and seminars.

A Brain Science Foundation panel session will be held at the fall conference of the American Legion and Auxiliary Thursday, November 2, from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m. at the Sheraton Park Hotel in St. Louis Park. All members of the American Legion and Auxiliary who will be at the conference and wish to be informed on the foundation are invited to attend. Brochures will be available.

Benefit for Elaine Eggerud

Pie and ice cream fund-raiser will be held from 1 to 4 p.m. Sunday, November 5, at the Heritage Community Center to assist the Elaine Eggerud family.

Mrs. Eggerud, whose husband died of cancer seven years ago, will be having surgery for a malignant tumor in her eye. Since her husband's death, she has supported herself and two children, now of high school age, by having a daycare program in her home.

Aid Association for Lutherans Branch 6195 is sponsoring the event and other AAL branches will be providing matching funds. Various musical groups will be performing throughout the afternoon.

ticipatory format. They will help shape the future of early childhood inclusion practices through active participation in challenging debate and dialogue and will explore issues, concerns and potential solutions affecting the inclusion of young children with disabilities in Minnesota communities.

"Inclusion is not something new to our cooperative," Davidson said about NWRIC. "We have been striving to provide inclusive experiences for young children for the past several years. I have always taken an active interest in improving the services we provide to young children and their families.

"I am looking forward to the opportunity to share inclusive experiences with other academy participants, so that I may continue to provide the best educational experiences for children with disabilities in our area of the state," she added.

New pastor at the Gospel Tabernacle

Karlstad — Pastor Gordon Fox and his wife Johnel recently moved from New York to Karlstad. Gordon Fox is the new pastor at the Karlstad Gospel Tabernacle.

The couple is not totally new to northern Minnesota. Their very first pastorate was in Grygla in 1963. After working in Grygla, the Fox family, sponsored by the Karlstad church, moved to Liberia to do mission field work.

They returned to the U.S. in 1971, but later returned to Liberia. They spent a total of ten years there.

Gordon and Johnel have two sons, who are both married, and eight grandchildren.

New senior meal site

Newfolden — Senior citizen have a new place to eat in Newfolden. The site of the senior meals program has been changed. After 20 years of using the old depot building, the senior meals will now be served at the Newfolden Community Center.

One thing that won't change is the tradition of donuts. On the last Friday of every month, the seniors have an evening meal and the ladies of the Newfolden Senior Center make donuts.

On a typical day, the seniors will work from 8 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. making 150 to 180 donuts. They sell for two dollars a dozen. They used to sell crafts to raise money, but they found making donuts was easier and more profitable.

Library open house

Warren — A skit entitled "A Mother's Dream" tells the story of how library services started in Warren in the 1920's. The skit will be performed at 2:30 and 3:15 in conjunction with the library's open house on Sunday from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.

In 1920, the ladies of the Warren Mothers Club decided that the town needed a lending library service. Since then, the idea has evolved into the Godel Memorial Library and serves about 150 people each week.

The library has about 6,000 hard cover books, 5,000 paperbacks and many non-book materials. Such materials include videotapes, audio recordings of tapes, access to computers, and slide projectors. The library also has meeting space available.

New business opens

Red Lake Falls — This weekend a new business is opening in Red Lake Falls. Crafts in the Hollow will have its grand opening on November 4 and 5.

According to Yvonne Sadergaski, "The shop was Deb's idea." Deb is Sadergaski's sister Deb Sander. The shop is located at Sander's home at 114 Bottineau Avenue North. The crafts are being made by Sadergaski and Darlene Rundall, mother of the sister entrepreneurs.

The wide range of items are products of the women's imagination and ideas they have collected over the years. They plan to have crafts that coordinate with the seasons.

Arctco plans to start building ATV models in mid-December

Production of the Arctic Cat all-terrain vehicle (ATV) is expected to begin on schedule in mid-December, according to Chris Twomey, president and chief executive officer of Arctco, Inc., in Thief River Falls.

Twomey made the announcement in conjunction with the company's second quarter financial results, which showed an 11 per cent increase in sales over the second quarter of fiscal 1994.

"Dealer reception of our Arctic Cat all-terrain vehicle continues to be encouraging," Twomey said. "We started appointing dealers and taking orders during September, and anticipate production to begin on schedule in mid-December. Our entry into this $1.2 billion market and our continued penetration in the watercraft and snowmobile markets positions the company for excellent future sales growth."

Net sales for the second quarter ending September 30 increased 11 per cent to $166,059,000 from $149,204,000 for the same period last year. Net earnings were $17,888,000 or 60 cents per share, compared with net earnings of $18,959,000 or 64 cents per share for the second quarter of fiscal 1994.

For the six-month period ending September 30, net sales increased 11 per cent to $227,818,000 from $205,211,000 for the same period last year. Net earnings were $13,620,000 or 46 cents per share for the first half of fiscal 1995, compared with net earnings of $22,542,000 or 77 cents per share for the first six months of fiscal 1994.

"We are pleased with Arctco's second quarter sales increases and results, which are in line with expectations," Twomey said.

BWSR responds to posting campaign

Recent attempts by the Minnesota Landowners Rights Association (MLRA) to protest the Minnesota Wetland Conservation Act (WCA) by urging landowners to post signs that say "No trespassing without permission due to land use over regulation" and encouraging northern counties to charge a gun discharge permit fee are misguided, Ron Harnack, executive director of the Minnesota Board of Water and Soil Resources (BWSR), said recently.

"I understand that the MLRA wants to protest the Wetland Conservation Act and other land use regulation," Harnack said. "But using hunting as a way to protest wetlands regulation hurts hunters, can adversely affect the recreational economies of these areas, and misleads the public," he said.

Group hopes message heard

With only a few days remaining until the November 7 election, the citizen group promoting a special levy referendum in School District 564 says it is hopeful its message is being heard.

Darryl Breitenfeldt of Citizens for Quality Education says the group has developed a direct mailing for district residents, hosted three community sessions, appeared on radio and television, had articles published in the newspaper and implemented the "Give the Green Light to Education" campaign.

"It's clear that parents and the community have a great regard and a great deal of concern for education," Breitenfeldt said. "In everything from textbooks to class sizes and school operations, the community is very much a part of this district. The people are proud of their schools, they have high standards, and they want to see those standards maintained."

Breitenfeldt said issues on the referendum have caused a great deal of discussion within the citizen group.

"We wanted an honest, specific campaign and I'm very pleased with the way we've stuck to the facts and presented them as openly as we knew how," he said. "Our only strategy at this point is to encourage everyone to get to the polls Tuesday and vote."

Work of the committee received praise from the school district's board of education. Board member Jean Larson said it was important for "the issues to be embraced by a group outside the school. It's not easy to take a stand and then publicly promote something, even when you believe in it so strongly. They've done a wonderful job and others in the community have done a great job of supporting them."

Breitenfeldt reminds voters that money raised through the special levy would be used to maintain services to students, purchase textbooks and learning materials, reopen classrooms and reduce class sizes.

Lancaster lady is self-taught artist

In October, Beverly Hewitt, Lancaster, was Artist of the Month at the Roseau Public Library. Beverly works in oils and favors outdoor scenes. She is also a Kittson county commissioner, an avid deer hunter, a retired customs inspector, and a grandmother of 18.

by Elizabeth Ott
Northern Watch Reporter

She has more energy than most people half her age, and she does more in one week than some people do all month. She's Beverly Hewitt and she's something else.

Beverly is a wife, mother, county commissioner, farmer, artist and retired customs inspector. She also serves on a number of area and regional boards.

Her artwork was displayed at the Roseau Public Library during the month of October and is now on display for the months of November and December at the Prairie Hills Gallery in Cavalier, ND. Beverly has sold about 40 paintings and she has only been painting since 1989. She has had no formal training. She has learned to paint by reading books and practicing.

Thought she had it in her

Painting is a relatively new pastime of Beverly's, but it was always something she wanted to try.

"I always thought I could (paint)," says Beverly.

However, as a young girl she was never encouraged to develop her talents and was actually discouraged. When Beverly was in ninth grade, a teacher accused her of copying a picture out of a book. Beverly was so hurt by the accusation, that she didn't attempt to improve her skills. Around the time that Beverly graduated from high school, she entered a drawing contest and was awarded a scholarship to an art school in Minneapolis. Beverly's father told her to turn down the scholarship because she couldn't make a living as an artist. Beverly went to business college instead.

She later married and was too busy with raising a family to think about being an artist. One day, she explains, she just decided try painting. Then again, there are a lot of things Beverly has "just decided to try."

Raising a family

Beverly and her husband Floyd have been married for 44 years. They moved to the Lancaster area in 1964 to begin farming and raise their three children.

Their children are now grown with children of their own. Floyd and Beverly have 18 grandchildren and one more on the way! Cindy lives in International Falls. Karen lives in Dalton, GA. Jim, who also

Church construction set to begin in May

Hallock — After their church was destroyed by a tornado in July, members of the Hallock Assembly of God Church have been meeting in some unusual places. They have had services in City Hall and the Hallock Covenant Church. Now they look forward to once again having a church of their own.

The church recently revealed plans for a new building and construction should begin in May. Mission America Placement Service (MAPS) RV volunteers will assist in the project. The volunteers are retired skilled and unskilled workers who work for free and ask only that the church provide sewer, electrical and water hook-ups for their recreational vehicles for the duration of their work on the project.

The crew will work on the church for over two months and save the church approximately $100,000 in labor costs.

$8,300 donated to pay for judge's bench and back wall

Roseau — The Roseau County Board of Commissioners passed a resolution to accept a gift from the Rudy Rice Family. The family donated $8,300 dollars to the county to pay for the judge's bench and the wall behind it.

The gift is given in memory of Ole A. Rice, the first sheriff of Roseau county, and his son Rudy S. Rice, who died this summer and served for a time as a Roseau county deputy sheriff under his father.

An 8x14-inch plaque, which was also purchased by the Rice family, will be hung on the wall in the new courtroom to commemorate the gift.

Elseth performs in Nashville

Ben Elseth of Newfolden is in a nationwide cable television talent competition called Nashville Star Seek following a taping session in Nashville, TN, on October 7.

Elseth was contacted by talent scouts who heard him performing in Grand Forks, ND, and encouraged to enter the contest. He made the trip to Nashville where he was involved in a rehearsal and video-taping session from 5 to 10 p.m. October 7, performing with a five-piece back-up band of professional Nashville musicians.

The tape, along with tapes by other entries in the contest, are being played on the Nashville Star Seek program on nationwide cable through November and winners are selected by viewer call-in votes. The winner will be offered a recording contract.

Elseth rehearsed and taped two country western songs for the contest and says he was impressed by the professional quality of the band and the quality of the video.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

This letter is directed to all who will be affected by the School District 564 levy referendum.

I feel several items should be brought to the public attention—items that were addressed at the open meetings held by the referendum committee which were not well attended.

(1) Why more money? This levy will be used to pay for operating expenses, not the buildings and ground. This money will pay for teachers, aides, books and supplies.

(2) But aren't we already paying enough? No! The levy the school is presently operating under was cut to 1/3 of its value by the legislature two years ago. Instead of paying $400,000 we only pay $140,000. To get down to this budgeted level the school board has reduced expenditures in all schools in the district. The state average from referendum per pupil is $321. Thief River Falls is presently receiving $44 from the current operating levy.

(3) But what about the news article that stated Thief River Falls was the fourth highest taxed district in the state? That article was comparing taxes in communities our size throughout the state. It failed to break down the taxes to city and county. The school district was intended only to identify an area. Our city is the hub of a much larger region and taxes are used to support the amenities of a larger area.

(4) Then how does the school district compare? A similar study showed Thief River Falls to be in the lower 19 per cent of all school districts. Looking at other schools' present levies: Thief River Falls, $44; Goodridge, $315; Red Lake Falls, $329; Newfolden, $435; Plummer, $508; Greenbush/Middle River, $613; Badger, $1,067; Roseville, $1,364; Climax, $1,125; Hopkins, $1,386; and Edina, $1,503.

(5) WOW! And the referendum would be for how much? The levy referendum you are being asked to vote yes on would increase our funding to $325 per pupil. However, through state equalization, we would end up paying only $55.15! The total referendum is for $701,714.23; the local share is only 20 per cent of that or $137,596.17. In a previous tax impact statement published by the school, the owner of a house with a market value of $60,000 would pay $33.

(6) But it's still more taxes! Yes, unfortunately we seem to be taxed higher and higher. The only tax increase we have a chance to vote on is the school. But just because you have a chance to vote shouldn't mean a negative vote. It means you have a chance to make an impact on the education of your local population. Should the children of the community suffer to make a point?

(7) Well, what if it doesn't pass? The school board will be forced to make even more cuts. No school board member will venture a guess on what will be cut, but in light of what has already been cut, what's left? Extracurricular activities (football, basketball, art, speech, music, etc.), utilities, staff, transportation. Face it, the school board and superintendent have had to cut to $44 per pupil unit when most schools are using $321; what else can be cut? The school is already using books that are 10 years old! The material may not be outdated, but have you ever seen a book that has been used daily and is 10 years old?

(8) Looks like we should vote yes! Yes, the school district needs the levy to pass to adequately serve the needs of the community. Vote yes and give the green light to local education.

Sincerely,
Warren Worker
Thief River Falls

To The Editor:

There is a statement that is often quoted to the effect that for evil to take over all that is needed is for good people to do nothing—then those of us who are older may have heard children and young people bemoan the opinion that there is nothing to do. There is also a quote by a teenager who said, "I'd be better if I could, but it's so lonesome being good."

The experiences of these past few weeks have prompted me to do some thinking as to the validity of these expressions. If the first statement is true, then there is reason for greatly appreciating the many good people in this community who are doing a great deal to keep evil from taking over.

As a senior citizen with waning energies, coping with yardwork becomes a problem. I noted an item in the local paper stating that it was possible to "hire a choir" at a reasonable fee for these necessary tasks, as these young people are trying to raise money for their trip to sing in Carnegie Hall.

What a worthwhile enterprise! In addition to being motivated to enjoy music that enriches lives so much, these young people have a goal and "something to do."

A young girl came to take my leaves and did it so quickly and efficiently that it was a very rewarding experience just to be a part of their great enterprise.

The next Sunday afternoon there was a rap at the door and when I opened it there were four fine young men standing on the steps asking if they could sing a number for me. What a beautiful surprise! They sang a clever number about their venture to sing in Carnegie Hall. How they did harmonize! It was a preview of echoes that will resound in days ahead as they experience their great adventure.

Leaves continued to fall and last week the yard was well covered again. What a pleasant surprise to receive a phone call that there were helpers available. I was told that members of a Key Club were doing community service and were available for this activity. Again that was music to my ears. Thursday afternoon four fine young men arrived with rakes, eager for instruction as to what needed to be done and so anxious to please. They completed the task to perfection by asking for a broom to sweep the sidewalk. What an inspiration and lift to the spirits!

I believe these experiences are a good reply to the complaint that there is nothing to do. It was Robert Louis Stevenson who said something to the effect that the world is so full of a number of things that we should all be as happy as kings.

However, our youth often need to be reminded of this fact and helped to realize that the whole world is out there with a great deal that needs to be done. That is why all the "good" people in our community need our encouragement and support.

The faithful school personnel need the time and tools in order to be effective. Encouragement should be given to all leaders in church and community organizations that are the good people endeavoring to do something to prevent evil from taking over.

Chuck Colson, the great leader in prison reform, was visiting with Prince Philip in England. The Prince was concerned about the increase in the crime rate in his country and asked Mr. Colson's advice. His answer was to increase efforts in the Sunday Schools as records show a significantly small number of young people involved in crime who have had the privilege of intensive Sunday School training.

It always makes me a little sad when I occasionally hear someone decline the opportunity to teach a class because in my experience it has been one of the greatest joys of my life. When the time comes and we are no longer able to be active in all these worthwhile activities, all we can do is try to be like faithful Aaron, holding up the hands of Moses so the battle can be won. Peer pressure is great—if the efforts of all these so-called "good" people can influence the majority of our young people that this is the better way they in turn can lead those who are wavering in their choices that it is not so "lonesome being good."

Sincerely,
Estelle Grinde

To The Editor:

Once again I must address Eunice Wages of Warren. It is obvious she has not read the August 7, 1995, draft wetland bill from the Board of Water and Soil Resources (BWSR). The draft bill which I requested and received is 39 pages long. Ms. Wages must be reading a six-page biased summary from some environmental group. She draws her conclusions that the draft bill is good without reading it in its entirety!

In order for us to have an intelligent conversation on this bill, Ms. Wages, you must first read the entire draft bill and then take your ideas and questions to your local Soil and Water Conservation District for the answers.

You asked me if I am willing to do my part for nature and the answer is "yes." Of all wildlife food, 70 per cent comes directly from farming. The farmer is the first and ultimate environmentalist. Not one farmer receives compensation for the loss of crops to wildlife.

Preservationists want to see all development stop, roads and ditches deteriorate and farmers go broke so that pre-settlement wilderness can return to this area and they can dance with the butterflies and swim with the loons.

Well, we are heading into the 21st Century and not the 1700s. We need to protect our environment responsibly but include people in the equation, which BWSR has forgotten. We cannot legislate common sense into the laws that are written and the Wetland Conservation Act has none.

Twenty counties have now rescinded their signing of the Wetland Conservation Act and 20 more are coming. If all of these counties are dropping out after only one year of the act going into effect, what's the problem? People are not considered in the law and it doesn't allow for common sense.

Since we have been corresponding through the newspaper these past several weeks, membership in the Minnesota Landowners Rights Association has risen by 21 new members, including 14 from western Marshall county. Thank-you, Eunice. I am going to make a copy of the full 39-page draft bill and send it to you so that you can read all of it. I think you will see first hand that the draft bill is not good for Minnesota.

Sincerely,
Dave Zavoral
Grygla, Minnesota

To The Editor:

Recently racial tension and controversy have reached heightened levels in our country. The public's interest in the O.J. Simpson trial and reactions to the verdict, along with the Kabob House incident in Fargo, ND, are only two examples of the problems racism can cause. Racism is not just a black and white issue; it affects everyone in some form. My concern is if racism doesn't stop, what kind of world will this be for our children?

My goal as a parent is to make this world a better place for my children. Racism occurs because of ignorance and breeds hatred. We, as parents and mentors, must teach our children to put prejudices aside and understand that we are all created equal. Children must be taught that just because someone is different, that person is no better or worse than someone else.

In North Dakota, we are not exposed to many different races. This is no excuse. It is our responsibility to find books and other resources to expose our children to racial differences and teach them being different is okay.

We need to teach our children, love, not hatred. We can stop racism by believing in our hearts and minds that everyone is created equal. Today the world is full of hatred among races, but if we can teach our children that we are all equal then their generation will have a chance to live in peace with one another.

Sincerely,
Andrea Ramstad
Grand Forks, ND

To The Editor:

You know I care about children because I have been a school volunteer the past 15 years. For the same reason my husband, Gene, and I plan to vote yes for the school district special levy issue November 7.

Few districts in the state have the opportunity to pay only 20 per cent of foundation aid with Minnesota paying the other 80 per cent. Districts with more taxed property than TRF's are required to pay much more themselves. Some smaller districts get funding because of sparsity of population.

Districts are treated differently because, Sen. LeRoy Stumpf explained, the state decided to give every pupil in the state, no matter where he or she lives, equal opportunity for an education.

Will we get another chance like this?

Vote yes.
Sincerely,
Gretchen Beito
Thief River Falls

To The Editor:

Why should the voters in Thief River Falls School District 564 pass a tax increase on November 7 when the national mood is against all taxes? Although our school district has excellent facilities, the fact is that the general education revenue available per pupil in our district is far below the state average.

According to the State of Minnesota General Education Revenue Report released October 2, 1995, our district ranks in the bottom 19 per cent of all Minnesota school districts in education revenue per pupil. Even if the levy referendum passes on November 7 our district's general education revenue per pupil will still be below state average.

Our school district has already made substantial budget cuts for this school year. A total of $417,800 has been cut or achieved in savings by building Challenger. Failure to pass the levy will necessitate additional cuts. By passing the levy referendum we have an opportunity for our schools to receive $701,714 in operational funds at a cost to local taxpayers of only $137,596. This is possible through state money given to districts such as ours which lack a strong property tax base but pass a levy referendum. We cannot receive this money if we do not pass the levy referendum; it will go to other districts that do pass levy referendums.

This levy referendum is a good deal for both our taxpayers and our children. Vote yes on November 7.

Sincerely,
Tom and Linda Ronchetti
Thief River Falls

Posting Campaign Is Landowners ' 2x4

We suspect that most of our readers have heard one version or another of the story about a farmer and his mule. It involves the admonition that patience and kindness get the best response, but it is first necessary to belt the beast between the ears with a 2x4 board to get its attention.

The land posting campaign promoted by the Minnesota Landowners Rights Association is one of those attention-getting 2x4s. It involves posting private land in prime hunting territory against trespassing in an effort to get visitors from other parts of the state to contact their legislators and make them aware that there are problems that need to be addressed in rural Minnesota.

"POSTED: PRIVATE PROPERTY. No Trespassing Without Permission Due to Government Land Use Over-Regulation" the brightly-colored signs proclaim. Deer hunters scouting territory the past week or two or taking to the woods this weekend are being exposed to an abundance of the signs.

Posting private land for deer hunting is nothing new, of course. It is almost a tradition for many landowners, and they are certainly well within their rights to do so. One of the rights that is at issue with members of the Landowners Rights Association and their supporters is the right to control who uses the land and how it is used.

The willingness of so many to purchase and erect the association's signs, however, is a good indication of how deep the property rights feeling is running. Dave Zavoral of Grygla, legislative director of the association, said that more than 200,000 acres have been posted with the signs and that the supply ran out, despite a second printing of double the initial order.

To those who might object to the land posting effort, Zavoral has a ready reply.

"These are privately owned lands being posted," he says. "The owners bought them and pay taxes on them. Public lands were purchased with public money and are supposedly owned by all the people. Yet if you look at many public lands in this area you will see they are posted with brown, permanent metal signs that say you can't camp without a permit, you can't operate an ATV, you can't snowmobile, you can't use a licensed motor vehicle, you can't ride horses, you can't do any target shooting, you can't leave boats, decoys or tree stands or other equipment overnight. Isn't that posting your land?"

This writer happens to be one who believes in the value of public lands. I am grateful for having state Wildlife Management Areas and a federal wildlife refuge in this area. For those of us who do not own private lands capable of supporting wildlife—and we are many—they are places where we can go without asking permission or feeling our presence there is only to be tolerated.

On the other hand, I have many times enjoyed the opportunity granted by private landowners to hunt upland game or waterfowl on their property, and I readily admit that the success of those hunts has generally exceeded the success achieved on public sites. Intensive farming is not beneficial to game species of wildlife, because cover is also a necessity of survival, but the food source which agriculture provides to wildlife can not be overlooked.

We hope the message to sportsmen which the posting effort provides will be understood and legislators from all areas of Minnesota will feel an obligation to face the reality that extensive changes need to be made in bad law. And when those realities are faced and the necessary legislative changes are made, wouldn't it be great to see the signs replaced with ones reading:

LETTERS

To The Editor:

Nothing in life is perfect! We elect citizens from our community to political positions to try and get the local government to run things as close to perfect as they can. When we have an election it's the citizens' opportunity to let the officials know how they're doing.

I used to complain to my dad when I came of voting age about how things were being done in the political arena. He would ask, "Did you vote?" As usual, my response would be that my vote wouldn't make a difference, so I didn't vote. His usual comment was, "Then I don't want to hear you complaining."

After a few years of having this drilled into me, I finally got the message. Now, at every election, I recognize my right to vote. This gives me the right to criticize, complain or say, "I voted for that."

If you are a citizen of this community and you don't like the way things are going, you can vote, run for office or be involved, but please don't say, "I can't make a difference."

Sincerely,
Alan Johnson

To The Editor:

Where is justice? There isn't any for an innocent man, Eugene Kleinwachter, who was sentenced to prison on false charges.

During the trial in Marshall county, the defense witness on DNA was not allowed to testify before the jury. The jury would have learned that the DNA (material presented by the prosecution) was inconclusive. It did not prove Eugene was the father of his daughter's baby; it only proved he was related to both of them. How can DNA be so exact if even O. J. Simpson was not convicted on DNA evidence. This was Marshall county's first case using DNA and they wanted a conviction.

During the trial it was proved the girl lied under oath, but it was NEVER proved that she was ever sexually abused.

As a member of Victims of Child Abuse Laws (VOCAL), I am aware of the lives and families that are ruined because of girls' lies. There is an epidemic of false charges going on. Taxpayers' dollars pay for them. Will you be the next victim?

Sincerely,
Mrs. Eugene Kleinwachter

Roseau library extends photo contest deadline

In order to encourage more families to share their "read-aloud" experiences through photos, Roseau Area Library Friends have extended the deadline for their Share A Book Photo Contest to November 10. November 1 is Family Literary Day in Minnesota.

Judging will be during Children's Book Week in mid-November. Prizes will be presented at the annual library anniversary event, "Christmas Treasures" on Sunday afternoon, December 3.

Brochures with contest rules were sent home from school with elementary students last spring. For those who have misplaced theirs, a few are available at the library.

Each photo should show two or more people sharing a book. Three categories are suggested: Any adult reading to one or more children of any age; A young reader reading to any adult; A young reader reading to another young person.

Contest, clarity and quality of the photo will be considered. A person may enter as many photos (colored or black and white) as he or she wishes, but photos entered in previous years may not be entered again.

Each photo should be mounted on a separate sheet of paper with specified information printed neatly beneath the photo. All photos entered will be displayed at the library until January 1, 1996. After that time, they may be reclaimed.

Photos should be brought or mailed to Roseau Public Library as soon as possible, no later than November 10. Even busy people still have time to take pictures quickly and get them developed before the deadline.

Senior Meal at Heritage Center

The senior meal at the Heritage Center on Monday, November 6 will be a roast pork dinner served at 5:30 p.m. Call 681-2793 for reservations.

SOUPÇON

Sherry Latoursiere

The cold is coming and here are some hearty soups to warm up your innards.

This soup would taste good on one of these cold days and it sounds simple to make:

SPLIT PEA SOUP

2 packages split peas, soaked overnight
1 small picnic ham
3 large carrots
2 large onions
1 bay leaf
1 bunch parsley
Water to cover

Cook all ingredients about 2 hours on low. Let cook and then remove meat from bone and cube, discarding all fat.

Strain rest of ingredients with food mill or strainer and then simmer another hour before serving.

I have no recipe for my vegetable beef soup, but this one is mighty close to mine -- you can also toss in 1/4 to 1/2 cup of peas or beans when you cook the meat:

OLD-FASHIONED
VEGETABLE BEEF SOUP

Brown 1 1/2 pounds of beef stew meat (beef shank or short ribs are good, too) in large, heavy skillet with 2 tablespoons butter. Season with salt and pepper.

Add 6 cups water and 2 beef bouillon cubes and simmer on low for 3-4 hours. Place in refrigerator over night to harden fat which will accumulate on top.

Return to stove and add:
1 cup chopped celery and leaves
3/4 cup chopped onion
5 peeled sliced carrots
1/4 cup barley
1 can stewed tomatoes
1 diced parsnip
1/4 to 1/2 small rutabaga, diced
1 or 2 small potatoes

Cook, covered, slowly until vegetables are tender, about an hour. Salt and pepper to taste. Add dumplings, if desired.

One cup of this delicious soup has 191 calories, 293 mg sodium and 0 cholesterol:

FIVE BEAN SOUP

16 ounces each of the following dried beans:
lima great northern kidney pinto
split peas

(Mix beans together and divide into four parts -- use one part for this soup and refrigerate the others until you make soup again.)

3 beef bouillon cubes
3 tablespoons dried chives
1 teaspoon dried savory
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cumin
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 bay leaf
2 1/2 quarts water
1 (14 1/2 ounce) can stewed tomatoes

Wash beans and place in large kettle. Add enough water to cover and bring to a boil. Cook 3-4 minutes, then remove from heat and let stand 1 hour.

Tie spices into cheesecloth bag.

Drain and rinse beans and return to kettle. Add spices and water and bring to boil. Reduce heat, cover and simmer 1 1/2 hours or until beans are tender, stirring occasionally.

Remove spices. Add tomatoes and heat through.

(Serves 14.)

Here is a good, old-fashioned oyster soup:

CHRISTMAS EVE
OYSTER STEW

2 cups milk
1/2 cup cream
1/4 pound butter, cut into chunks
1 pint fresh oysters
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
1 tablespoon chopped parsley

Pour milk and cream into heavy kettle and heat over low heat, stirring with wooden spoon.

Add oysters and their liquor at the same time while milk and cream are still moving. Do not allow broth to boil.

When oysters are done they will rise to the top and curl around the edges (about 15 minutes).

Add butter, salt, pepper and parsley last. Stir until butter is melted and soup is steaming.

(Serves 4.)

Abandoned pets found Tuesday need new homes

Four dogs abandoned near a North township residence need homes.

Tuesday, Law enforcement officials received a report of a female lab and her three puppies having been abandoned at the end of a driveway near a North township residence. The dogs are being held at the animal control pound in Thief River Falls. SAFEHOME PROVIDER TRAINING
Wednesday, November 8, 1995
7:00 -9:00 P.M.

Volunteer [illegible] Program is in need of safehome providers in Pennington County for battered women and their children who need temporary emergency housing. Stays are usually one to three nights. Stipend paid per person. If you would like to learn about becoming a safehome provider, please plan to attend the training session listed above.

You Must Register by Calling 681-5557.

USDA has emergency loans available for area counties

Because of damages and losses caused by severe storms, straight line winds and tornadoes, which occurred on July 9-14, 1995, President Clinton declared as primary disaster areas 12 Minnesota counties on August 18, and an additional three counties on August 23.

As a result, farmers in these counties and in the 18 Minnesota counties contiguous to the primary disaster areas are eligible to apply for Consolidated Farm Service Agency emergency loans (formerly known as Farmers Home Administration emergency loans) to help cover their physical and production losses but need to apply for these loans no later than the dates listed below.

April 18 - Aitkin, Becker, Beltrami, Carlton, Cass, Clay, Clearwater, Crow Wing, Douglas, Grant, Hubbard, Itasca, Kittson, Koochiching, Lake of the Woods, Mahnomen, Marshall, Mille Lacs, Morrison, Norman, Otter Tail, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake, Roseau, St. Louis, Todd, Wadena and Wilkin.

April 23 - Kanabec, Pine and Traverse.

The current interest rate is 3.75 per cent. To be eligible, farm operators must have suffered a 30 per cent loss of normal production in any major crop or have suffered physical damages, be able to repay the loan and any other loans, be unable to secure credit elsewhere, have adequate security, and have multi-peril crop insurance, if available.

For further information, contact your local Rural Economic and Community Development office (formerly Farmers Home Administration), which will be administering these loans up until September 30. After that date, contact your local Consolidated Farm Service Agency (formerly ASCS).

The pair, showing in classes designated for three-year-old horses, placed in the top 10 in the following classes: fourth place in Grand National Western Pleasure, third place in Grand National Hunter Pleasure, ninth place in World Championship Western Pleasure, sixth place in World Championship Hunter Pleasure.

The equine students are coached by Tami Lewis. Lewis recently won a first place award in the World Championship Show in Topeka, KS.

Detroit Lakes wins sixth straight 8A football crown...

TRF loses 21-20 title game

A blocked extra-point kick provided the winning margin Thursday as Detroit Lakes edged Thief River Falls 21-20 in the 1995 Section 8A high school football playoff championship game at the Fargodome.

But joining the missed conversion on the key factor list were 189 yards passing by Detroit Lakes quarterback Todd Steinmetz, 115 yards and two touchdown receptions by Steve Skane, and a killer penalty that put a stop to a late-game Thief River Falls comeback bid.

The win gave the 11-0 Lakers their sixth straight Section 8A title. The Prowlers, who have been in the finals three of the last four years, finished 9-2 – losing only to Detroit Lakes.

It was a heartbreaking defeat for the Prowlers, who racked up 458 yards of offense and had twice as many first downs (18-9) against the No. 2-ranked team in Class A football.

"This one hurts," said Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm. "You can't ask for anything more out of the kids. I don't care what anybody says, this one was ours."

Thief River Falls did the job in containing an explosive Detroit Lakes running game (181 yards), but Steinmetz put the ball on target with a 10-for-13 passing performance that included 45 and 64-yard touchdown passes to Skane.

"They have good speed in the skill positions, but I didn't think we would have that much trouble against the pass," offered Mumm.

The drive to the Fargodome through an early-season winter storm was a time-consuming white-knuckler for the fans, and the game itself was no less exciting. The tone was set for an entertaining night of football when the Lakers' Josh Keyes went untouched off left tackle for a 58-yard touchdown run on the first snap of scrimmage, only to have Nick Chiodo match that with a 74-yard scoring sprint down the left side on the Prowlers' first play.

Add conversion kicks by Nick Hagedorn and Chanc Keele and you had a 7-7 game with just 51 seconds elapsed.

Thief River Falls went ahead early in the second quarter on a 9-play, 57-yard scoring drive that included a 38-yard run by Chiodo and a picture-perfect 16-yard Keith Anderson touchdown pass to Kyle Nelson in the left corner of the end zone. Keele's kick made it 14-7 with 9:54 left in the first half.

Following a head-shaking pattern that has developed in the series, Detroit Lakes scored a touchdown late in the first half – this one a 45-yard Steinmetz-Skane hook-up down the left side with 1:10 left. The kick tied it at 14-14.

But unlike the past three Thief River Falls-Detroit Lakes encounters, the Prowlers didn't let the late score get them down. Instead, they came out and pushed the Lakers down the field on an impressive 10-play, 75-yard third quarter scoring drive. A 17-yard run to midfield by Chiodo was the biggest gainer on a smash-mouth kind of football Mumm revels in. The touchdown came on a 14-yard run by Josh Harris, who made the most of his limited ball-carrying opportunities by bouncing outside to the left and going in untouched with 1:37 left.

However, on what proved to be the game-deciding play, Wade Lewandowski, who had come close earlier, flew in from the side to bat down the conversion kick. The Prowlers still led 20-14 at the time, but the block proved costly as the game wore on.

An Aaron Ehrenstrom punt that was downed at the Detroit Lakes 8-yard line with 6:57 left in the game put the Lakers in a hole, but they responded in championship fashion with a pair of first downs and then the Steinmetz 64-yarder to Skane, who, after getting behind the secondary, reached back, caught the ball on his hip at the Thief River Falls 35 and raced the rest of the way into the end zone.

It was a stunning play that was followed by Hagedorn's kick for a 21-20 Detroit Lakes lead with 3:58 to play.

Thief River Falls came right back, however, and sparked by an outstanding 13-yard run by Paul Kopari and a tackle-breaking rush by Ehrenstrom, reached the Detroit Lakes 27.

Then came the back-breaker. A screen pass from Anderson to Ehrenstrom carried all the way to the Lakers' 13, but a flag thrown behind the play wiped out the gain, leaving the Prowlers with a third-and-25 from the 37.

It wasn't a very popular call on the Thief River Falls sidelines. "The game shouldn't be decided like that," said Mumm. "I can't understand how they can call that so late when the play was that far down field. That took us out of it."

An interception ended that threat with 1:31 remaining, but Jared Brandt's second fumble recovery of the game moments later at the Thief River Falls 36 gave the never-say-die Prowlers one last shot. Anderson passes of 12 yards to Ryan Bendickson and 14 yards to Ehrenstrom brought them to the Detroit Lakes 38 with 38 seconds showing.

It ended, however, on a penalty and then an interception at the 40 by Kenny Blattenhauer with 25 seconds left.

"The big plays on their part hurt, again," noted Mumm. "But the kids played a tremendous football game. It was a great game."

It was a championship game.

Detroit Lakes' Wade Lewandowski (14) sailed through the air in an attempt to block this extra-point kick by Thief River Falls' Chanc Keele in the first quarter of Thursday's Section 8A high school football playoff game at the Fargodome. The holder was Keith Anderson. The Lakers' Matt Hovdenes (87) was also in on the play. Lewandowski didn't get a hand on this kick, which produced an early 7-7 tie, but he did block a third quarter conversion attempt, which proved to be the winning margin in a 21-20 Detroit Lakes win. It was the Lakers' sixth straight title and the Prowlers' third title game loss in four years.

Deer hide donations aid habitat program

Successful hunters are once again being asked to contribute to the sport through the state wide Hides for Habitat program promoted by various chapters of the Minnesota Deer Hunters Association.

Area drop-off locations for hides include Erl's Market, Petro Pumper and Ed's Radiator Service in Thief River Falls; Bob's Car Wash, Newfolden; Dave's Service Center, Red Lake Falls; Oklee Elevator; Kruse In, St. Hilaire; Plummer Co-op Creamery; Cenex Station, Goodridge; John's Service Center, Alvarado; and Coast to Coast, Warren.

Those donating hides will be eligible to participate in a drawing for a deer rifle and $300 in Federal rifle shells.

A spokesman for the Thief River Falls Chapter of the Minnesota Deer Hunters Association said the group has averaged close to 1,000 hides per season in the 11 years of the program. Local contributions are combined with hides from across the state and sold on bids that last year hit $10.88 per pelt.

Funds received from the sale of the hides are used by local chapters to improve deer habitat.

For additional information about the program in the Thief River Falls area, contact Conrad Gonsorowski at 681-2277.

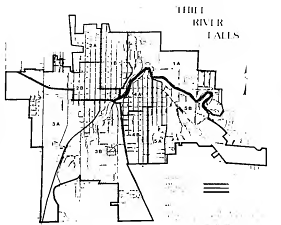
Polling places for TRF race

Prior to voting on Tuesday, November 7, residents not familiar with what ward they live in should look at the map above. Each ward is clearly marked. Polling places, which are open from noon to 8 p.m., can be found at the following locations: Ward 1 - Heritage Community Center, 301 Fourth Street East; Ward 2 - Zion Lutheran Church, 505 Main Avenue North; Ward 3 - Skylite Apartments, 415 Arnold Avenue South; Ward 4 - Seventh Day Adventist school, 1024 Tindolph Avenue South; and Ward 5 - Redeemer Lutheran Church - 1300 East Nora Street. Absentee ballots will be accepted at the city clerk's office, located in the basement of the city auditorium, during regular business hours as well as Saturday from 1 to 3 p.m., and Monday from 5 to 7 p.m.



Bernstrom coordinates program

For Medicare patients and their spouses, it looks like a frustrating stack of paper forms and bills. To Kathy Bernstrom it's just another opportunity to help.

Bernstrom, formerly with Lutheran Social Services and a Tri-Valley Opportunity Council Senior Companion Coordinator, recently began coordinating Tri-Valley's Medical Forms Assistance program.

The program uses volunteers in seven Minnesota counties to help Medicare patients fill out and file forms related to Medicare and supplemental insurance. There is no charge for the service.

"Many families do very well with insurance forms until the spouse who's been taking care of the paper work dies, or is unable to carry on. It's a terrible time to try to take on the burden of medical form management. It can be very difficult to understand even where to begin. People either pay bills they would not have to, or put off payment until they're so worried they can hardly sleep at night." Bernstrom says help is a simple phone call away. "We have trained volunteers who can come to the home, sort through the paper, and get the process back on track."

Bernstrom says volunteers, many of them seniors themselves, are recruited from civic groups and organizations in Kittson, Polk, Norman, Roseau, Marshall, Pennington, and Red Lake counties. "We provide training and reimburse mileage, but the real compensation for volunteers is knowing they have been of real assistance to someone who really needed them."

Bernstrom says anyone is eligible to take advantage of Medical Forms Assistance Program. There are no age or income guidelines. For more information, contact Bernstrom through Tri-Valley, 1-800-584-7020, or at home in Lancaster, 762-4385.

FORD MERCURY

As a Kittson county commissioner, Beverly Hewitt is very busy. She has several file cabinets full in her office to help keep her organized. Beverly says she works hard to keep her appointment book up to date so she knows when and where she's supposed to be. When she has a free minute, she likes to steal away to her studio and paint for a while.

Lancaster lady teaches herself

farms, lives next door to Beverly and Floyd.

As a result of Beverly's love of a challenge and her desire to be a "doer" not a "watcher," she has many diversified hobbies. She did not start many of these hobbies until she was an adult. Some are result of trying to keep up with her active kids.

For example, Beverly had never skied when she was a girl, but when her children started skiing, she went with them. Now skiing is one of her favorite things to do, with or without the kids.

Another skill she developed as a result of being a mother to active kids is hunting. When her children were at home, Floyd and Beverly had a foster child who was about the same age as their son Jim. The boys decided that they wanted to hunt, and they took gun safety training courses. Once they complete gun training, they still needed an adult to accompany them. Beverly was the adult, but she didn't just accompany them. She jumped right in and learned to hunt.

When Jim was older, he invited his mother to deer hunt with him. At first she said no. Shooting birds was one thing, but she couldn't shoot a deer. After a while, she changed her mind. Beverly loves to be outdoors and loves being in the woods, so she decided try deer hunting with Jim. Now hunting is something she looks forward to each year. She also enjoys moose hunting, and she even has a moose rack mounted in her home office.

Beverly's love of a challenge has not only led to exciting pastimes, but interesting jobs.

A working mom

Shortly after the Hewitts moved to the Lancaster area, their barn burned down. They had no insurance and had lost most of their hay. Beverly decided she should work off the farm to help make ends meet.

She started working in Lancaster as a teacher's aide. The husband of one of the teachers at the school worked for U.S. customs in Pembina. This teacher told Beverly that the administrator at Pembina was retiring and suggested that she apply for the position. Beverly wasn't so sure. Working in Pembina meant a 40-mile drive to work each day.

"Beverly, after school I'm going to take you to Pembina because I want you to get that job," her friend told her one day.

Beverly agreed to at least apply for the job. The job had a lot of responsibilities, so during the interview, Beverly was asked, "Do you think you can handle it?"

Beverly replied, "I can handle it."

She got the job. For the next twelve years Beverly was in charge of the budget, expenditures, maintenance, service, and personnel in customs offices from Baudette to Winnipeg, Manitoba. She also traveled frequently, visiting schools on career day, doing border visits, and doing other administrative business.

When she walked into work the first day, there was no one to train her. She just had to figure it out on her own. It wasn't long, she says, before she knew where the books were to look up the information she needed. She became very good at her job and she enjoyed it, but after a while, Beverly decided there was no chance for advancement without a change.

At the age of 47, Beverly decided to take courses in law enforcement and become a customs inspector. She took classes in martial arts training, fire arms training, and studied the laws of the 40 different agencies that customs agents enforce. Customs inspectors must be able to read, understand, interpret and enforce regulations of everything from the Food and Drug Administration to the Environmental Protection Agency.

Over the years, Beverly was involved in a lot of big drug busts and has received many awards for seizures.

She also established herself as an expert markswoman. Beverly was one of the first female customs inspectors in the Lancaster area. She often felt she had to prove herself just because she was a woman.

When she and her fellow inspectors had to be tested for their firearms skills, one of the men remarked, "Bev will just shoot her toes off."

Beverly proceeded to get the highest score in the group.

In 1992, after 14 years as a customs inspector, Beverly retired, at least from customs.

Never really retired

The same year she retired from customs, Beverly ran for county commissioner and has been serving ever since then. She enjoys her new challenge as a commissioner, but her husband is beginning to wonder when she will finally retire. Between her job and the other panels, boards and committees upon which she serves, she has only a one or two days each month to spend at home.

Beverly says she's not sure if she'll seek re-election. She also wants to finish the work she has started as a commissioner, but she would also like more time to spend painting.

Beverly has arthritis which makes writing difficult, but she says, she can still paint. Determined to keep them strong, she continues to work with her hands. She has at least one more painting goal to achieve. She wants to win the painting contest held by the Minnesota Deer Hunters Association.

"If I can live long enough," she says with a smile.

Based on all Beverly has accomplished, there is little doubt she'll achieve this goal too.

Arctco reports second quarter sales increase

"Earnings were affected by currency fluctuations with the Japanese yen and development costs for the company's personal watercraft and all-terrain vehicle product lines.

"The incentives for personal watercraft instituted during the first quarter were successful in stimulating retail sales and are expected to result in increased dealer orders for our exciting 1996 personal watercraft line. Dealer and distributor reports indicate encouraging early season retail sales and consumer interest for our 1996 model line of Arctic Cat snowmobiles."

Arctco's board of directors also declared a regular quarterly cash dividend of six cents per share, payable on Dec. 1, 1995 to shareholders of record on Nov. 17, 1995.

BWSR gives view on land posting effort

Harnack pointed out that current trespass law prohibits hunting on any land posted "No hunting without permission"; therefore, the MLRA is proposing nothing new relating to hunter access. Landowners should also be aware that limiting deer hunter access may lead to increased crop depredation problems, Harnack said.

Harnack added that hunters could be affected a great deal more if the MLRA convinces the Legislature to approve sweeping changes to the Minnesota Wetland Conservation Act, such as removing all type 1, 2 and 6 wetlands from the Act's protection or revoking the Act completely. Minnesota's hunters rely on the state's 7.5 million acres of wetlands for hunting and breeding grounds, and those changes could severely damage hunting opportunities, he said.

Instead of following the MLRA's advice, Harnack suggested that concerned landowners contact their legislators and support the changes BWSR has proposed to the Wetland Conservation Act. Those changes include:

- giving local governments more flexibility and authority to regulate wetlands locally;
- lowering the replacement requirements for counties with many wetlands remaining;
- exempting projects affecting less than 10,000 square feet of wetland from the WCA in counties with many wetlands remaining;
- reducing the replacement ratio for wetlands drained or filled for road work.

"These changes would go a long way toward making the law easier to implement while still protecting the resource," Harnack said. "If the MLRA is truly interested in change, they should be working to pass these amendments or coming up with specific suggestions of their own," he said.

Governor Carlson has also said he supports the BWSR proposed changes.

The Legislature approved the WCA in 1991. The Act requires landowners to try to avoid wetlands when possible and to replace lost wetland area.

Dahl brothers named Outstanding Conservationists

Middle River — Two brothers who have been farming in Rollis township all their lives have been named "Outstanding Conservationists" for 1995 by the Marshall-Beltrami Soil and Water Conservation District.

Orlan and Arvin Dahl farm 1,040 acres, 80 of which are rented. They practice conservation by rotating crops. This summer they also kept about 200 acres fallow. The Dahls have also planted rows of trees to the existing wind break.

Orlan Dahl and his wife Eleanor have five children and 11 grandchildren. Arvin and his wife Marvel have four children and nine grand children.

Water tower and sewer projects on hold for the winter

McIntosh — The city's water tower project and sewer and water project are on hold until spring arrives.

All of the sewer and water lines that were installed by Zimple Construction of Plummer are hooked up to the main and to individual services. Concrete reconstruction will start in the spring.

The water tower was completed by Maguire Iron of Sioux Falls, SD, on Saturday, November 4. The tower will be painted and filled in the spring. The city council is set to discuss the color and design of the tower at the November meeting.

Dennis Rossell remembers the Forgotten War

Fosston — Dennis Rossell remembers that day in the fall of 1950 when he received the registered letter with his orders. He was in the Army Reserves when the Korean conflict occurred.

The weather in Korea, believe it or not, is similar to that in northern Minnesota.

"It looked a lot like it does here," he noted. "There was a lot of snow. And the further up north you got, the colder it was."

According to Rossell, there were seven men ordered to Korea in 1950 from Fosston, Clearbrook, Gonvick and Trail. Three returned. Rossell received a Bronze Metal and V Bar, but like many heroes, he doesn't talk about them.

After returning to Fosston, Rossell worked for 25 years as a fire fighter and 15 years at the elevator.

S.D. 564 Referendum Fails

Tuesday, School District 564 residents voted down a referendum that proposed to raise additional funds for education. The final tally was 1,371 against and 1,263 for the proposal.

"Last night I was angry. I guess I'm getting over that. What can I say, losing the levy referendum hurts," said Board Chairman Dennis Kiesow.

Kiesow said the work of the district and the effort to pass adequate funding will continue. "This was a critical vote. Parents have let us know how unhappy they were with the cuts made last spring. We knew we had to try a referendum even after the loss last fall, and we know we will have to try again next year."

Kiesow says the Board of Education and the District Finance committee will be meeting to look at an agenda of program and co-curricular cuts to keep the school district out of the red. "One of the things we'll have to look at is whether to maintain a small reserve, or take our budget and projected revenues right down to zero. I've heard a lot of talk about co-curricular cuts — it's only three per cent of our budget but — I don't know." Kiesow says it's possible that maintaining funding for sports and activities also leaves the impression that the district is not at a 'bare bones' budget.

Kiesow says he is proud of how well the staff has dealt with educational cuts this fall, and wants the community to know that the bitterness that follows a levy failure is 'non-productive'. "We're already seeing our community polarize on this issue — but we will need a strong base of support as we continue to educate these kids and recreate the best school district in the state."

Of the 12 precincts in the district, voters in six voted against the proposal. The margin between for and against was much closer in urban districts. The most negative response came from rural precincts. At the Franklin Middle school precinct, 286 votes were cast for the proposal, but 375 against the proposal. Votes cast in the St. Hilaire precinct show that 74 votes were cast for the proposal, but 198 against the proposal.

Kiesow said he had been receiving some heat about the polling times. School District 564 established polling times to coincide with Thief River Falls and St. Hilaire polling times to save money.

Thief River Falls polling places were open from noon until 8 p.m. City Administrator Roger DeLap said it didn't make sense to have the polling places open longer when all of the candidates were incumbents.

St. Hilaire polling places were open from 5 until 8 p.m. Kiesow said he didn't pay it much attention until the school district had posted the polling times, which made it too late to change.

Kiesow said some people were upset that they had to wait in long lines. Others thought the polling times were a blatant attempt to

The City of Thief River Falls donated $20,000 to the cost of the project, while the Chamber of Commerce is in the process of raising $5,000 for the project. So far, they have raised $2,000. "Flowers for Algernon" opens at Tri-County

Tri-County high school's drama department will open its fall production of Flowers for Algernon by David Rogers, Thursday evening, November 16, with an 8 p.m. curtain. Two additional performances are planned for the evenings of November 17 and 18 with 8 p.m. curtains as well. All performances will be held in the Tri-County high school auditorium, and admissions will be $3 for students and $4 for adults.

Based on the novel by Daniel Keyes, the play has been extremely popular with high school drama groups since it first appeared in print. Algernon, a white mouse upon which an experimental operation has been performed, has grown remarkably in intelligence with no visible side effects. Dr. Strauss and Dr. Nemur, two scientists who have pioneered this new surgery, decide it is time to try the procedure on a human. After due consideration, Charlie Gordon, who is mentally retarded, is chosen, and soon after the operation he changes from a moron to a genius, becoming even far more brilliant than his teacher, Alice Kinnian, and even the two doctors who developed the surgical technique. As Charlie's intelligence reaches its peak, a change is noted in Algernon — he begins a regression. Thus, for Charlie, a race against time begins. Can he utilize his vast intelligence to perfect a cure or will he follow Algernon's regression, losing his intelligence and his new relationship for Alice only to become the moron he once was?

It is a play that will perhaps put its viewers more in touch with their capacities for compassion and their understanding of man's endeavor to hurdle the barriers and mysteries of mental illness. The critic for the Baltimore Sun wrote: "Ingeniously touching and intensely real." "Convincing, suspenseful, touching, . . . affecting, too. How otherwise explain the tears that come to one's eyes at the end," was the comment of the N.Y. Times.

The cast and crew for this production includes the following: Ethan Englund cast as Dr. Strauss; Steve Levenhagen as Professor Nemur; Amber Stormo as Alice Kinnian; Ben Stechmann as Burt Seldon; Anthony Schouten as Charlie Gordon; Tina Carlson as Doris; Liz Englund as the nurse; Shawn Aanenson as Frank; Andrea Johnson as Gina; Sarah Waale as Mrs. Donner; Karey Krantz as Josey; Amy Berg as the mother; Jason Wollin as Little Charlie; Benjamin Ruud as Father; Jennifer Fjosne as Child Norma; Ellie Levenhagen as Mrs. Feldman; Kendrah Lyon as Ellen; Karissa Blomquist as Ber-

Oklee voters approve S.D. 627 referendum

Oklee School District 627 voters approved a levy referendum Tuesday. The referendum is projected to raise about $93,000, about $64,000 of which will come from the state.

School District Superintendent Galen Clow said the vote results, 162 yes and 108 no, was a message from voters to keep the school going. At the same time, however, it is a message to be more prudent.

Money raised from the levy will continue to finance school district costs into the future, Clow said.

Red Lake Falls couple receives foster parent award

by Elizabeth Ott
Northern Watch Reporter

Kids' needs are simple, really. They need a place where they feel safe, loved and worthwhile. Most people are able to provide that environment for their children, but some are not. So some kids need a place to stay while their parents learn how to provide those elements, or until other arrangements can be made. Darlene and Clyde Ellefson of Red Lake Falls provide foster children with a warm, safe home during such times of transition. They were recently awarded for their contribution to the community as foster parents. The Minnesota Social Services Association named the Ellefsons outstanding citizens for Region I, which includes Kittson, Red Lake, Polk, Pennington, Roseau, Beltrami and Marshall counties. Darlene notes that there are many families from the region who are deserving of the award.

"We worked with kids all our life," says Clyde, who worked as a deputy sheriff for 13 years during the 1960's and 70's. Darlene used to teach school and is a licensed day care provider. The couple has been married 40 years and has five of their own kids and six grandchildren. Kids have definitely been a big part of their lives.

The couple had their first foster child stay with them when their children were still living at home, but most of their foster children stayed with the Ellefsons after their own children were grown and out of the house. Darlene says they always wanted to adopt more children, but felt that childless couples deserved a chance to be parents, too.

Darlene ran a day care service out of her home for many years, so becoming a licensed foster care provider seemd like a logical next step. Being licensed care providers means that the home and even the toys are inspected regularly. The Ellefsons have a big country home with a nice play area on the lower level and a huge yard for kids to enjoy.

The have taken in kids from a variety of situations and who have varying needs. Some kids only stay overnight or for the weekend; others stay for a couple of weeks. Sometimes they would have not just one child, but a whole family of children.

"You never get old when you have little kids around," says Clyde with a smile.

One particularly special child arrived at the Ellefsons' home at the age of 17 months. The child was only supposed to stay for a few weeks. However, the custody case got caught in the court system and the child was with the Ellefsons for two years. The child came to them a shy and scared little toddler and left a confident outgoing child. Clyde says, the child was his shadow. He went everywhere with the Ellefsons. Even the folks in town got to know the youngster, and most miss him now that he's gone. Darlene says that what bothers her most about losing him after two years was the fact that he dropped out of their lives so abruptly. As

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere

What better yummy thing for breakfast or a snack than a glass of milk or cup of coffee with a steaming hot muffin! These are from my favorite little muffin shaped muffin book from Osakis called "Grandma's Favorite Muffins."

I saw cranberries in the store last week, so it is time for these:

MINNESOTA CRANBERRY MUFFINS

2 cups flour
1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon soda
1 cup sugar
2 teaspoons grated orange peel
1 teaspoon salt
1 large egg
3 tablespoons vegetable oil
3/4 cup orange juice
1 1/2 cups whole cranberries

(I would run them through the food processor a little because I don't like whole cranberries)

Grease or line a 12-muffin pan.

Preheat oven to 450 degrees.

Sift flour, baking powder and soda into large bowl. Stir in sugar, orange peel and salt.

Beat together egg, oil and orange juice. Make well in center of flour mixture and add liquid. Mix well.

Fold in cranberries and spoon into muffin tins one-half to three-quarters full.

Bake 20 minutes or until toothpick comes out clean.

Make these muffins to keep in the fridge for "muffin emergencies":

EASY KEEPER MUFFINS

4 eggs
1 cup oil
1 quart buttermilk
5 cups flour
3 cups sugar
5 teaspoons soda
2 teaspoons salt
1 (15 ounce) package raisin bran
1 cup nuts

Mix eggs, oil and butter milk. Add flour, sugar, soda and salt and then raisin bran and nuts. Place in ice cream bucket in fridge for up to six weeks.

When ready to bake some muffins, spoon into prepared tins and bake at 350 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes.

Want something really substantial — try this:

"GRAMMA MARGE" OAT AND APPLESAUCE MUFFINS

1 cup white flour
1/2 cup wheat flour
1/4 cup oat bran
1 cup quick oatmeal
1/4 cup brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon soda
3/4 cup applesauce
1/2 cup buttermilk
2 eggs
1/4 cup oil
1/2 cup raisins
Sunflower seeds, cinnamon and sugar for top

Place all dry ingredients except topping ingredients in large bowl.

Beat eggs with fork in separate bowl, then add applesauce, buttermilk, vanilla and oil, stirring well.

Add liquid mixture to flour mixture, mixing with fork only until dry is gone.

Place in 16 muffin cups and sprinkle with sunflower seeds, then cinnamon and sugar.

Bake at 375 degrees for 20 minutes.

These tasty treats taste more like a dessert than a muffin:

CHERRY NUT MUFFINS

2 sticks margarine
2 cups sugar
3 eggs
1 tablespoon vanilla
1 tablespoon almond extract
1 pint sour cream
1 tablespoon soda
1/2 tablespoon salt
3 cups flour
1 (10 ounce) jar maraschino cherries
1 1/2 cups walnuts, chopped

Cream margarine and sugar and then add eggs. Add vanilla, almond, soda and salt and mix until blended.

Add sour cream and blend, then add flour.

Pour into muffin cups, filling 2/3 full. Bake 25-35 minutes or until browned. (The recipe does not give a temperature, but I would try 375 degrees.)

Opening a new business

Roseau — Ardith "Ardy" Vatnsdal doesn't like to see empty store fronts, so she decided to do something about a particular empty space. She started a new business, Roseau Data Run, which sells trophies, plaques and other personalized gifts.

This is not the first business of Vatnsdal's. She has had a bookkeeping service for years. She was running her business out of the back of KQ-92's office. When the station closed the Roseau office, Vatnsdal decided she would rent the entire space and decide to open a second business to fill the space.

The name Roseau Data Run is a take-off on the farming venture which was a joint effort between her husband Ray and sons David and the late Rocky Vatnsdal. The men named it "RDR." Rocky was killed a couple of years ago in a plane crash, but RDR lives on.

Family ends a twenty-three year vigil for their missing son

Hallock — After 23 years of uncertainty, Ruby Knutson of Hallock finally put her son to rest. Knutson's son Richard was serving in Vietnam when the helicopter he was flying was struck by rocket fire. His body was never found and for six years he was listed as missing in action.

In 1979, the Army declared Richard dead. The Army was certain he was dead, but Ruby kept her hopes up. In October, the Army called Ruby to say that the mortuary services board made its final confirmation. His remains were found by a U.S.-Vietnamese recovery team and had been verified by dental records and DNA tests.

Richard's family last saw him alive in December of 1972. 23 years later, his body was finally brought home to Hallock to rest in peace.

RLF couple receives foster parent award

time goes on, she says, she realizes that the clean break was best for the child and his family.

Darlene said that the award is something they are both proud of, but the true reward "is the enlightenment the young children have given" them.

"I wish people would realize that their own spirit and their own children are the richest assets they have. And that should be their main concern," said Darlene.

The Ellefsons are down-to-earth people who enjoy living in a rural setting along the banks of the Red Lake River. Clyde is originally from the Highlanding area, and Darlene grew up in the Mavie-Goodridge area. They have 180 acres on which they used to raise angora goats. Darlene enjoys crafts, and Clyde's hobbies are hunting and fishing. Their country home is a safe retreat from the noise and confusion of an unstable home. Darlene says they tried to provide each child with love and security and to teach them respect.

"We hope we've given children positive values. We've striven to give them a comfortable, stable home," she says. She also adds that some of the children they will never see again. Others live in the community, and it is refreshing to see their smiles of acknowledgement.

As a gift to some of the families, the Ellefsons have given videos of children who have stayed with them. The videos are like an album of what the child did while with the Ellefsons. The videos also document the changes in the children from the beginning of their stay to the end.

Darlene and Clyde said that their own children were very supportive of their decision to become foster parents. In fact when Darlene broke her arm, one of their daughters came home to help with the children and the house.

Clyde has worked at Otter Tail Power for almost 35 years, and Darlene is currently working at their church's office. They are talking about maybe retiring, selling the house and moving closer to their kids. But they are not quite ready to slow down.

The Ellefsons say if they could have, they would have had 15 to 20 of their own kids. Although they don't currently have any children staying with them, the Ellefsons are still willing to accept foster children.

As they reflect on all the kids they have taken into their home and their hearts, Clyde summed up his thoughts in two words.

"It's fun."

Workshop at Northland on Fibromyalgia/Chronic Fatigue Syndrome

Genevieve Williams will present a lecture/workshop on Fibromyalgia/Chronic Fatigue Syndrome, also known as FM/CFS, from 1 to 5 p.m. Monday, November 13, at Northland Community and Technical College.

Williams is a 21-year sufferer of FM/CFS and president of the WeCare Support Network, a non-profit organization based in Two Harbors. She has worked in the support group area for eight years, has researched the disease in order to gain control of her health and to educate others, and lectures extensively on the disease.

Many aspects of FM/CFS will be covered in the lecture and workshop with emphasis on cause, symptoms and treatment.

Fee to attend is $10 and CEU credits will be documented on request. Everyone is welcome. To register, contact the continuing education department at the college, phone 681-0793 or 1-800-959-6282, extension 0793.

LETTERS

Dear Editor:

Am I deaf or do I not hear a cry across the land that in essence says: "The problem isn't that we don't pay enough taxes, the problem is that we are taxed too heavily now."

Could there be any truer or purer form of the phrase "No taxation without representation" (I trust we all remember that phrase) than a local vote, one vote for one person in which the decision is made democratically whether or not to be taxed? If it was possible for a more simple enactment of the original vision of our founding fathers, which they would have and in fact did die for, I would like to hear of it, but there could not be. What are we to think then, just after participating in the vision of our country, thinking that we have been partners once again in the greatest civic lesson that has ever been enacted by a free people on the face of the earth, to hear public officials say "we'll keep bringing it back 'til it passes". What reasoning is behind such a statement? Is this persistence, or is this arrogance?

There are many reasons taxes, when put to a vote don't pass, no matter how many carrots are waved in front of the people who you want to vote to increase (never, never, never to decrease) the amount of money they are forced to hand over to civil governments. It's not all that complicated. They don't "hate children", or "hate education". They don't hate giving. In fact, they are a very giving people. One thing they don't like is an escalating confiscation of what they have.

Maybe it is time to enact real changes. Maybe it's time to make it mandatory that any vote that ends up raising taxes must have a 60 per cent vote. After all, we should be moving in the direction to protect the citizen shouldn't we?

Sincerely,
Mark Kelly

Opinions

Editor

Editorial opinion published on this page, whether locally written or re-printed from other sources is intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. Opinions expressed by the editor are his own and not necessarily those of other staff members. Opinions expressed in items from other publications may be contradictory to the editor's own views but are offered for their general interest.

Some Questions About School Referendums

Having just gone through a campaign for a special levy referendum in School District 564, it is of interest to note that a host of other school districts have resorted to similar attempts to provide funds for educating their children. Fund shortages for schools are common throughout the state.

According to an editorial in the Minneapolis Star Tribune, at least 13 suburban school districts held levy referendums on Tuesday. "Minneapolis would also have had its hand out if only it had been better organized," the editorial stated, "and St. Paul too if it thought it had a chance to succeed. Meanwhile, parents in the White Bear Lake district, unable to pass a referendum at all, are fund-raising privately to help retain 25 teachers."

The editorial asks several questions which voters in any school district in the state have good reason to consider. We quote from the editorial as follows:

"Why in the name of state law is it that school districts must go to voters for operating revenue when no other unit of local government is required to do the same? Cities don't need voter permission to increase the number of police officers or garbage haulers.

"When will the governor and legislature straighten out the state school finance system? In 25 years the state's education funding has gone from Minnesota Miracle to Minnesota Mess. Today's system scandalously rewards districts rich in high-value homes or commercial-industrial property. Whatever educational justification can there be for a school in St. Louis Park spending nearly $1,600 more per student annually than a school in Apple Valley or New Prague?

"How do the governor and legislature get away with borrowing from school districts to balance the state budget through a fiscal sleight of hand called the property tax recognition shift? Begun in 1981 during the fiscally challenged Quie administration (and continued in varying degrees thereafter), this budgetary theft balances the state budget at the cost of school district chaos—hampering financial planning and forcing boards to borrow operating money until state revenues due them are released.

"Is this any way to deliver on the state's constitutional commitment to provide a 'general and uniform, thorough and efficient' education for all children?"

The answer to that last question, of course, is that the delivery is certainly not in perfect unison with the directive set forth in the constitution. It is also certainly easier to be critical of the system than it is to devise a means to achieve uniformity in education that is closer to perfection. The legislature has tried to be a governmental Robin Hood in education, taking from the rich districts and giving to those with fewer resources, but without total success.

The Star Tribune editorial writer is correct when he or she notes that parents of school-age children usually support the schools because they see the needs every day. That makes it easier for districts with generally young populations to pass special levies, but it also puts added pressures on the schools because of large enrollment increases.

Special levies are patchwork on the educational fabric of the state. Not until a greater commitment is made to provide new cloth will there be any major improvement in the situation.

Veterans Day...And 50 Years Of Remembering

Following comments on Veterans Day are excepted from a letter written by U.S. Senator Rod Grams of Minnesota:

"Fifty years after a solemn ceremony of surrender aboard the USS Missouri brought World War II to its official close, we pause in 1995 to commemorate the service and sacrifice of the American veterans who fought on behalf of freedom a half century ago.

"It is impossible for most of us to comprehend the extent of that sacrifice. World War II raged for six years, and or each day the war dragged on, 25,000 lives were lost—6,284 Minnesota soldiers are counted among its victims. Most of the lucky ones who did return home found their lives had been changed forever.

"I have spoken with numerous veterans of World War II, including my father, many uncles, and friends. They have watched their numbers fade and some look upon this anniversary year as their day in the sun—a kind of 'last hurrah' they say will not be duplicated in their lifetime.

"And they are probably right; at least not duplicated with the global attention this fiftieth anniversary has generated. But the heroes of World War II will be remembered, and their contributions will continue to be felt, far into the future. After all, it was Calvin coolidge who said, 'the nation which forgets its defenders will be itself forgotten.'

"As a nation, we stop on Veterans Day to express our gratitude for their sacrifices. And it is worth questioning whether the freedom which we embrace in America would have spread across the world had those sacrifices not been made.

"Because of their profound love for their country, veterans understand better than many people how important it is that we face the problems plaguing this nation... So in much the same way Americans once united during wartime, we are now united in peace, working together as a nation to create a government strong enough to meet the needs of its veterans today, while it safeguards the freedom our veterans insured for us.

"....We are working in Congress to honor veterans....through an amendment to the U.S. Constitution allowing states to enact legislation protecting the American flag—the symbol of everything veterans have fought to preserve—from desecration. It is wrong that the flag which inspired Francis Scott Key to pen 'The Star Spangled Banner,' the flag our soldiers lofted into the sky over Iwo Jima and carried into battle in Korea and Vietnam, can be legally spit upon, trampled over, and burned. It makes me heartsick, and veterans can be assured of my strong support of this amendment when it is debated in the Senate later this year.

"Fifty years ago, after the end of the war, General MacArthur said that it was his 'earnest hope and indeed the hope of all mankind that from this solemn occasion a better world shall emerge out of the blood and carnage of the past.'

"Thanks to not only the veterans of World War II, but also those who fought and served in every conflict since, it is a better world. We remember their contributions daily, but on Veterans Day we make time to reflect aloud as a nation and share our heartfelt gratitude."

Don't Smoke Day will be November 16

November 16 has been declared D-Day, the Original Great American Smokeout in Minnesota by the American Cancer Society and the American Lung Association of Minnesota.

Smokers are encouraged to give up their habit for 24 hours. If you're a smoker D-Day is the day to quit. The American Cancer Society can help. Call 1-800 ACS 2345 for more information. Last year, more than eight million smokers took a breather during the American Cancer Society's and American Lung Association of Minnesota's D-Day/Great American Smokeout.

Studies show that, on an average, people who smoke live seven years less than people who don't smoke.

Cigarette smoking is responsible for 90 per cent of lung cancer cases among men and 79 per cent among women — about 87 per cent overall.

The five-year relative survival rate for lung cancer is only 13 per cent, regardless of stage at diagnosis. The rate is 46 per cent for cases detected when the disease is still localized, but only 18 per cent of lung cancers are discovered early. Rates have improved only slightly over a recent 10-year period. The five year relative survival rate for all cancers is about 51 per cent.

Sanden, Super sign tenders

Kyle Sanden made it official Wednesday when the 6-10 Thief River Falls high school senior signed a national letter of intent to play basketball at the University of Minnesota next year.

Sanden verbally committed to the Gophers last spring. Wednesday marked the start of the NCAA's early signing period, which extends through Nov. 15.

Krissi Super, a senior at Badger/Greenbush-Middle River, who had committed early to the University of North Dakota, also completed the paperwork during the early signing period.

Sanden played in the prestigious Nike Camp in Indianapolis last summer and is rated as the 50th best senior in the country by Bluechip Illustrated, a California-based recruiting publication.

Kevin Loge, a 6-9 senior from Morris who joined Sanden in the Nike Camp and other summer programs, also signed with the Gophers.

Minnesota begins the 1995-96 season with freshmen Courtney James and Miles Tarver vying for front court playing time, along with veterans Sam Jacobson, John Thomas and David Grim, the lone senior in the group.

"They (Sanden and Loge) are different type of players than we have right now," University of Minnesota coach Clem Haskins told Jerry Zgoda of the Star Tribune. "They'll bring us size and a lot of offensive skills. They're both 4-5 (power forward/center) guys. Put them with Miles and Courtney and we'll have a lot of depth at those two spots."

Minnesota high school girls basketball teams start practice Monday. Boys teams begin drills the following week, Nov. 20.

A Nov. 8 outing produced a memorable deer hunt resulting in the taking of a 10-point buck by Sean Oscarson (left) and a 9-pointer for Tom Oscarson. Tom downed his prize about 9 a.m. using a 270, only to have Sean top it with his trophy at 4:30 p.m. using a 7mm magnum. The Red Lake Falls pair wouldn't reveal their hot spot, saying only that they were hunting in Zone 2 – which encompasses a large portion of central Minnesota. When pressed, they admitted they were hunting "in a swamp, north of Thief River Falls."

Winter sports openers just around the corner

Practice has already started for the Northland Community and Technical College men's and women's basketball teams, and the start of drills for the high school winter sports seasons are just around the corner.

Minnesota State High School League starting dates for the 1995-96 programs include Nov. 13 - hockey and girls basketball; Nov. 20 - wrestling and boys basketball; Nov. 27 - boys swimming.

Lincoln High School winter sports season will start Tuesday, Nov. 28, with a girls basketball game at Warren-Alvarado-Oslo.

Northland will open its basketball season at home Wednesday, Nov. 29, with a men's and women's doubleheader vs. NDSU-Bottineau.

Lincoln openers Saturday, Dec. 2, will include a home hockey game vs. Grand Forks Central and an appearance at the Hillsboro Invitational wrestling tournament.

The Prowlers will start their boys basketball season Friday, Dec. 8, at home vs. Crookston and will kick off the boys swimming schedule Saturday, Dec. 9, with the Prowler Relays.

Mark Dannhoff (men) and Rick Nikunen (women) return as Northland basketball coaches.

John Belyea has been announced as the new Lincoln wrestling coach. A head coach has yet to be named for the boys swimming program.

Lincoln head coaches returning this winter include Sally Wiltse, girls basketball; Pat Cullen, hockey, and Scott Brekke, boys basketball.

Bantam, Pee-Wee jamborees scheduled Nov. 18...

TRFAHA duties are being shared

Minnesota Amateur Hockey Association Ron Novak Memorial District 16 Bantam A and Pee-Wee A Jamborees will be played in Thief River Falls Saturday, Nov. 18 – kicking off the 1995-96 season for the Thief River Falls Amateur Hockey Association.

Red Lake Falls, Crookston, Roseau, Bemidji, Baudette, East Grand Forks, and Warroad will join host Thief River Falls for the scrimmage sessions. The Bantam matchups will take place in the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center, while the Pee-Wees skate in the Old Arena.

Each scrimmage will last approximately 45 minutes. A day-long admission pass will be $3.50 for adults and $1.50 for students.

The annual event was renamed in honor of Ron Novak, the long-time Thief River Falls youth hockey director who died earlier this year.

TRFAHA, the governing body of youth hockey in Thief River Falls, faced a reorganization of sorts following Novak's death.

While he worked with the TRFAHA board of directors in policy matters, Novak was, in effect, the person who most affected the program operation. With his years of experience and his vast contacts with hockey people across Minnesota, North Dakota and Canada, he was the most visible individual in TRFAHA.

The program survives, of course, but with the many duties that Novak would handle himself being distributed throughout the organization.

Lincoln High School head hockey coach Pat Cullen has filled some of the void, serving as head of the TRFAHA Coaches Curriculum Committee. Jeff Tunberg, for years the Thief River Falls Bantam A coach under Novak, is handing many of the scheduling duties.

Al Gustafson is president of the TRFAHA Board of Directors. Rory Harger is vice-president, Harriet Worker is secretary and Barb Trickle is treasurer. Other board members include Cullen, Scott Berglend, Bruce Williams, Tony Dorn Jr., and Carl Peterson, along with service club representatives Monte Markstrom from the VFW and Tom Puppe from the Eagles.

TRFAHA traveling team coaches, selected by Cullen, include Richard Holmes and Scott Novak, Bantam A; Al Erickson and Bob Gealz, Bantam B; Todd O'Connell, Pee-Wee A; Jeff Vacura and Art Cloutier, Pee-Wee B1; and Clayton Molstad, Pee-Wee B2.

Randy Harger heads the coaches in the Tiny Mites for ages 6-under, while Emery Wicklander holds the position for the 7-8-year-old Tiny Mites.

A number of coaches will be utilized in the revised Squirts program this year following a TRFAHA

Two NCTC players named all-division in MCCC volleyball

Two members of the Northland Community and Technical College volleyball team have been named to the 1995 Minnesota Community College Conference All-Northern Division volleyball squad.

Pioneers earning post-season honors were Stacy Stanwick, a 5-9 hitter from Nevis, and Ali Hietala, a 5-5 setter from Badger. Both are freshmen.

The MCCC Northern Division volleyball line-up includes Northland, Itasca, Vermilion, Mesabi, Hibbing, Rainy River, Central Lakes, and Fergus Falls.

Northland finished 6-13 this fall under first-year head coach Shari Olson.

Classical music program for youth at Fosston

The November edition of the Classical Music Showcase for and by area young people will be held on Sunday, November 12 at the Embassy Community Center at Third and North Eaton Avenue in Fosston.

Adult guests for the day are members of a clarinet group from Bemidji, including Kathy Simmons of Lengby Baptist church. Cash gifts will be awarded to participants and an attendance gift will be given to audience members. The day will also include a biography of a classical composer.

The program is an excellent opportunity for students to perform in a non-threatening environment and increases the awareness of classical music in the area. Any teacher, student or parents are invited to participate. Show up early on the day of the showcase to register.

Registration stations report a good deer harvest

Grygla — The deer registration stations of the Grygla area reported a record-breaking deer harvest this year. During the nine-day firearms season all reporting stations reported an increase over last year. The average increase was 17 per cent.

The total count for Fourtown, Gatzke, Wannaska, Skime, Pencer, Grygla and Goodridge is 2,849. The Skime Store, which registered 541 deer, reported 301 adult bucks, 30 buck fawns, 174 adult does and 36 doe fawns.

The overall deer harvest in Minnesota is expected to break records this year.

Generous gift will benefit many

Warroad — Steve Roisland died in an automobile accident two years ago. Even now he is making a difference in the lives of others.

A few weeks ago The Senior Meals Program in Warroad was notified that Roisland had left the program over $32,000. Roisland's family said that he always had a soft spot for senior citizens.

Bill Landby, of the Senior Meals Program, said that Roisland and his family should be memorialized for the donation, explaining that the family could have contested the donation.

The Senior Meals Program serves an average of 20 meals daily, plus 10 delivered meals. On Wednesdays, they serve about 60 meals each evening.

"Joseph" promises to be amazing

Warren — Students at Warren/Alvarado/Oslo high school are performing "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat" this weekend.

The musical was written by Tim Rice and Andrew Lloyd Webber. The musical tells the Biblical story of Joseph who is sold to Egypt by his brothers and later rises to power as an advisory to the Pharaoh.

The play opened Friday night and will show Saturday at 7:30 p.m. Band Boosters will be serving dinner before the show from 5:30 to 7:00 p.m. Tickets for the dinner are $7. Play tickets are $5. Call 218-745-4636 for play reservations.

Dog saves man

Lengby — Bob Ball was trying to move his Holstein bull from a corralled pasture into an open pasture when the trouble started. Ball was in the middle of the corral when the bull turned on him.

The 1,000 pound bull charged Ball and threw him across the corral. Ball was tossed several times before he had a chance to catch his breath and call for the dog, Knute.

Knute quickly responded by moving the bull. Ball then crawled to the house, cleaned himself off and drove to the hospital. Ball's injuries were so severe that a cast could not be placed over his swollen leg. His family is helping with the farm work and Ball hopes for a full recovery by Christmas.

Council considers water rate increase

Thief River Falls city council is considering a water rate increase, which will affect the service charge and per gallon rate. The increase could be approved at the next council meeting or the first meeting in November.

Arlo Rude, superintendent of utilities, explained that the usage rate increase would amount to about a 5 to 6 per cent increase for residential customers, and about an 8 per cent increase for commercial customers. In terms of dollars and cents, the usage fee would increase from $1.83 to $2.00 for usage below 10,000 gallons, and from $1.93 to $2.10 for usage above 10,000 gallons.

Rude prepared several examples. A resident using 4,000 gallons per month currently pays $16.42 per month, but would see their rate fee increase by $.93 to $17.35. A residential average use per month of 12,000 gallons currently pays $31.26, but would pay an extra $2.29 per month or $33.55 per month.

Service charge rates will also increase. A customer with a five-eighths-inch to three-quarters-inch meter currently pays $9.10, but would pay an additional $2.5 per month or $9.35. A customer with a two-inch meter currently pays $118.50 per month, but would pay an extra $8.50 or $127.00 under the new rate being proposed.

Rude anticipates that the rate increase will raise an additional $75,000.

Thief River Falls city council approved a recommendation from the Community Development Advisory Board to loan $125,000 to the Occupational Development Center, Inc. The loan would have an annual rate of interest at 6 per cent, amortized over 15 years with a balloon payment at the end of 10 years. Collateral would be provided in the form of a second subordinated position to Norwest Bank on the property owned by the ODC and located on Highway 32 South. The loan was further conditioned that wage level and job creation goals for the project shall include the creation of 10 full-time equivalent positions at an average annual salary of $15,000. The ODC is proposing to purchase the former Home Lumber company property located at 901 Dewey Avenue North. The ODC will move its crate manufacturing operations to the new location. The total estimated project cost, including purchase and remodeling, is $196,000.

Rural housing changes will help home buyers

Changes in the Rural Economic and Community Development (RECD) housing financing program for rural Americans should reduce costs so it can reach more rural families and give borrowers greater choice in selecting a home that fits their needs.

Earlier regulations forced borrowers to purchase homes with certain characteristics, even if they didn't fit the borrowers' specific needs. New regulations eliminate square footage and design requirements and replace them with a locally-adjusted dollar cap on homes purchased under the "502" financing program.

In addition, families will be expected to contribute a higher proportion of income toward their mortgage payment, according to Robert Kleven, community development manager in the Thief River Falls RECD (formerly known as the Farmers Home Administration) office.

"By instituting a sliding scale arrangement, where higher income families pay a larger mortgage, we're able to cut the cost of the program dramatically," stated Maureen Kennedy, Rural Housing Service Administrator.

"When combined with other creative financing initiatives, the RECD rural housing program will help more families move into their own homes while cutting the subsidy cost to the taxpayer by 41 per cent in fiscal year 1996."

The program is administered out of 16 area offices in Minnesota, including the Thief River Falls office at 1305 Dale Street North. Phone number is 681-2843.

"This program is designed to provide financing for those families living in rural communities who need permanent housing and can not qualify for a home loan through a conventional lending source," Kleven said.

"The Section 502 home ownership program provides below-market financing to rural families with incomes up to 80 per cent of median income."

Farm mishap takes life of Brian Geske Tuesday

Brian Leonard Geske, 27, Thief River Falls, was killed Tuesday when he fell into a grain bin.

According to the Pennington County Sheriff's Department, Geske was a farm hand at a farm in Sanders township in Pennington county and was putting grain into a grain bin when he apparently fell in. Emergency personnel were notified of the accident at 11:36 a.m. St. Hilaire Fire department, First Responders, Thief River Falls EMS, and a deputy with the Pennington county sheriff's department responded and pulled Geske from the bin. He was immediately taken by ambulance to Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls where he was pronounced dead upon arrival.

District Court jury awards damages totaling $6,310,528.72 Thursday

Independent School District 441 at Newfolden and Viking was awarded $6,310,528.72 by a Marshall county jury Thursday in its suit against Bunn-O-Matic Corporation as a result of a fire which destroyed the Marshall County Central high school on Nov. 7, 1991.

The jury of five women and one man was involved in 12 days of trial—including jury selection, testimony and final arguments—in the case at Ninth District Court in Warren. The jury began its deliberation on Wednesday at 4:30 p.m. and continued until 11 p.m., then met from 9 to 10:30 a.m. Thursday before returning its verdict.

The jury was presented with three questions to be answered in the case:

(1) Was the defendant's coffee maker in a defective condition unreasonably dangerous because of the manufacture, assembly, inspection, and/or testing of the coffee maker? (The jury answered "Yes.")

(2) If your answer to Question No. 1 was "Yes," then answer this question: Was the defective condition a direct cause of the damage? (The jury answered "Yes.")

(3) You must answer the following question no matter what your answers have been to all of the previous questions: What amount of money will fairly and reasonably compensate plaintiff for the property damage to Marshall County Central High School from the fire of November 7, 1991?

Answers provided by the jury were:

Building: $5,240,123.17
Contents: $1,011,914.00
Loss of Use: $32,398.49
Extra Expenses: $26,093.06

A note added to the instructions stated: "If, after deliberating six hours or more, you are unable to arrive at a unanimous verdict, five of you may return a verdict. The same five jurors must answer all of the questions. Those five must sign below."

The decision returned by the jury was signed by five members rather than being unanimous.

Ron Paggen, superintendent of schools at Newfolden, said the suit was brought jointly with its insurance carrier and that he was generally pleased with the result, although it was about $300,000 short of the approximately $6.6 million asked in the suit.

"I think this is a load off the mind of everyone in the school system," Supt. Paggen said. "There has been a long period of uncertainty leading up to this decision."

Paggen said that replacement of some equipment and contents of the school had been deferred pending the results of the court case. He said he expected the award granted by the jury would allow for much of that replacement.

Determination of the fire cause as the coffee maker in the faculty area of the school was made by the deputy state fire marshall who investigated the blaze and publicly revealed his findings several days after the fire.

Following a period of uncertainty at that time regarding permission from the Minnesota Department of Education to rebuild, approval was received and the structure was rebuilt. Classes were held in facilities throughout the community and graduation ceremonies were held in the new gymnasium in the spring of 1992.

Hospitals receive grants

Kittson Memorial Hospital in Hallock was one of nine rural hospitals awarded state grants, and Northwest Medical Center of Thief River Falls was one of two rural Minnesota hospitals to receive federal grants.

Minnesota Commissioner of Health Anne Barry recently announced that nine rural Minnesota hospitals will receive grants from the state's Rural Hospital Planning and Transition Grant program. The program is designed to preserve access to health services in rural areas.

Commissioner Barry said the grants will enable the hospitals to better serve their communities. "Maintaining quality health care in rural Minnesota is an important priority, especially in light of the rapidly changing health care marketplace. These grants will help local hospitals continue to offer the health care services their communities need."

The grants program, enacted by the Minnesota Legislature in 1990, is designed to help hospitals explore ways to: improve community access to health care; recruit and retain health professionals; meet the demand for ambulatory and emergency services; provide care for a changing population.

Applicants were encouraged to address these areas with innovative approaches, including eliminating unnecessary hospital beds, developing networks of shared services, and creating alternative ways to deliver health services to underserved areas.

Kittson Memorial Hospital and Home in Hallock received $20,000 to develop a comprehensive strategic plan that will provide direction for the continuation of acute, outpatient and emergency services.

Retreat center is a place for spiritual growth

All the comforts of home, none of the interruptions. Chris Kiewei, executive director of Farm by the Lake, took a break from working to pose for a picture in the cabin at the retreat center. The cabin is available as daytime meeting space or for overnight stays. The cabin has two bookshelves full of books, a piano, and commodations for eight.

by Elizabeth Ott
Northern Watch Reporter

Life today is hectic. Sometimes people need a place where they can get away from the noise and clutter of day-to-day life and get in touch with their inner spirit and their higher power. The Farm by the Lake provides people with such an opportunity and much more.

Farm by the Lake Environmental Education and Spiritual Retreat Center is the dream of the late Richard C. Davis. Davis grew up in the Bagley area. The Farm was originally his family's farm. Davis was a writer, editor and naturalist. He wrote for periodicals such as Better Homes and Gardens and Farm Journal. Before the Farm was a public retreat, it was Davis' private retreat. When Davis needed to get away from the hustle and bustle of Washington, DC and Philadelphia he would return to his childhood home to relax in peace and quiet.

Davis decided he wanted the farm to continue to be a place of comfort and quiet, even after he had passed away. In 1982, he asked his friends to help him create a non-profit corporation dedicated to providing a place where people can learn and grow. The retreat was dedicated on September 2, 1983. In 1984 Davis died of cancer, but his dream lives on in the Farm by the Lake.

In Davis' words, he wanted the Farm to be "a community center for any group that wants God's help in their deliberations. A place where we listen more than we talk — we listen for the sound of God, for the assurance that he cares and is guiding us — we listen for the voice of God in our friends."

The Farm has a governing board consisting of nine members. Many of the original members are people that Davis met through outdoor ministry. Many past and present board members are people from in and around Bagley who share Davis' vision for the Farm and his interest in nature and spiritual growth.

The Farm has been without an executive director since 1993. As a result, the retreat has not been used as much in the last few years as it had been in the past. The new executive director, Chris Kiewel, hopes to turn things around. Kiewel says his first priority is to get more users and supporters of the center.

Mourning the loss of a special man

Detroit Lakes — Students, faculty and staff at Roosevelt Elementary School are mourning the death of principal Chuck Edwards, a man who had won the admiration and support of many in the community. Edwards died of a heart attack Sunday.

The teachers, administration and support staff gathered Sunday night with a two fold purpose. The gathering was a grieving session and planning session. They discussed how to help the kids deal with the loss of their principal.

Students left posters and notes with "I'll miss you forever," on Edward's desk. Former students from the junior high also brought over cards. Students and teachers were encouraged to be in touch with their feelings and to talk about them.

City puts away animal trap

Fertile — After complaints from a woman that her cat had been baited, trapped and dumped north of town, the city of Fertile has decided to put away the trap and only use it in specific cases, such as trapping rabid animals.

Fran Gigler, of Fertile, said that trapping animals and leaving them in a pits north of town violates the city's rules for the impoundment of animals. She also pointed out that there is no shelter for animal impoundment.

Chief Tuseth stated,"I'm not trapping any cats." He did confirm that he had taken Gigler's cat to the pits north of Fertile. He told the council he had personally apologized to the Giglers and that animals have rights too.

Anybody want a bridge?

Baudette — The city of Baudette may soon give away the bridge that links the U.S. to Canada at Baudette and Rainy River.

City officials have been trying to give away the structure since the last of the bonds that financed its constructions were paid off in the the late 1980's. Much of the debate over the last seven years has been on the Canadian side of the bridge. No one could decide who should take over the northern half of the bridge.

When the bridge was built in 1960, it was agreed that once the bonds were paid the title of the structure would revert to higher governments, half to Minnesota, the other half to Canada. The agreement did state if the bridge would go to the Ontario or the federal government.

This summer it was agreed that Ontario would get the bridge. Now the Minnesota DOT and Ontario must work out a maintenance agreement. The title won't be transferred until an agreement is reached.

The Baudette city clerk/treasurer Peter Robinson says he hopes the matter is settled by the end of the year.

Goodridge observes American Education Week

Goodridge School is celebrating American Education Week November 20-22. Themes for the week include: "It Takes a Whole Village to Educate a Child", and "Invest In Your Child's Education."

Monday, November 20, is Blue Ribbon Day and Staff Appreciation Day. Staff members will receive apples and blue ribbon name tags, advertising the fact that our school is a "Blue Ribbon School". Pencils and coloring books, provided by the Dairy Association, will be distributed to elementary students by the PTST. Murals or posters from the elementary mural and poster contest will be displayed.

Tuesday, November 21, is Visitation Day. Parents are invited to visit their child's classrooms. Because of the number of visitors and the variation of times, lunch will not be available to parents in the school lunchroom.

Wednesday, November 22, elementary students will travel to Crookston for the play, "Sleeping Beauty". Posters and murals will be judged, and a popcorn party will be awarded the winning class.

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere

Try one of these hearty main dish meals this weekend.

Serve with a loaf of French bread and a salad and this is all you will need:

BEAN-BEAN BAKED BEANS

1/2 pound bacon
1/2 cup vinegar
3/4 cup brown sugar
1 onion, chopped
1/4 teaspoon mustard
1 large can pork and beans
1 can butter beans, drained
1 can lima beans
1 can kidney beans

Fry bacon until crisp. Drain. Add vinegar, brown sugar, onion and mustard and bring to a boil. Simmer over low heat for 20 minutes.

Combine all beans and place in pot. Pour bacon mixture over beans and bake one hour at 350 degrees.

Try this simple dish — it is a lot like stuffed cabbage, only easier:

SAUERKRAUT CASSEROLE

2 pounds hamburger
2 cups sauerkraut
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 cup rice, cooked
1 teaspoon salt
1 pint tomato juice

Brown hamburger. Mix rice, hamburger and sauerkraut and add tomato juice.

Bake in covered casserole for 30 minutes at 375 degrees.

Here's an easy way to have a spaghetti casserole:

CHILIGETTI CASSEROLE

1 pound hamburger
1 onion, chopped
2 teaspoons chili powder
1 1/2 cups uncooked spaghetti
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups kidney beans
3 cups tomato juice
1/2 teaspoon pepper

Brown hamburger. Add onion, salt and chili powder and cook until onion is tender. Place in casserole with beans and spaghetti.

Combine tomato juice, Worcestershire, 2 teaspoons salt and pepper and pour over ingredients in casserole.

Cover and bake at 400 degrees for 1/2 hour and then stir and finish baking at 350 degrees.

This simple casserole will be a hit, and it's quick to make:

EASY CASSEROLE

1 pound hamburger
3/4 cup milk
4 cups cooked noodles
1 can cream of mushroom soup
Dash of pepper
1/2 cup chopped onions
1 (8 ounce) package cream cheese, cubed
1 1/2 cups whole kernel corn, drained
1 1/2 teaspoons salt

Brown hamburger. Add onion and cook until tender. Stir in milk and cheese until well blended.

Add remaining ingredients and pour into 2 quart casserole. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

'Jubilation' at Ev. Covenant Harvest Fest

"Jubilation," a musical group comprised of four women from East Grand Forks, will sing at the Harvest Festival of the Evangelical Covenant Church in Thief River Falls Sunday, November 19, at 4 p.m.

Vocalists Dana Johnson, Sherrie Sanders and Darlene Hanson are joined by Ellen Parker on the keyboard to form "Jubilation." The group has been performing in this area for five years and has a wide repertoire of music, with the favorite being Gospel music.

"We enjoy many different styles of music and have fun doing our own arranging," Parker said. "We hope our songs bring a smile to your face and a joy to your heart."

The presentation Sunday afternoon is open to the public.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

On Oct. 30, 1995, Minnesota Board of Water and Soil Resources (BWSR) Director Ron Harnack issued a press release saying that the Minnesota Landowner's Rights Association (MLRA) was misguided in its group effort to post private land. Nearly all of the points made in that BWSR release were misleading, inaccurate, incomplete or untrue.

The purpose of the "No Trespassing Without Permission Due to Government Land Use Over-Regulation" signs was to make all hunters aware of the fact that many of the state and federal environmental and land use regulations are seriously hurting private property owners.

Private property means much more than just hunting land, it includes your whole farm, even your front yard and your garden. The Wetland Conservation Act has reduced or nearly stolen all the equity out of hundreds of thousands of acres from private property owners in every county in Minnesota. Many people are just now waking up to the fact that they cannot sell their land because nobody can build a house, cabin or driveway without spending thousands of dollars for wetland mitigation plans, wetland restoration, wetland monitoring, etc., etc. This damages our year-around hometown economy much more than a small decrease in our short hunting season economy.

The BWSR release says that changing the WCA to exclude all type 1, 2 and 6 wetlands will severely damage hunting opportunities because the state's 7.5 million acres of wetland hunting and breeding grounds may be depleted. Even Ron Harnack knows that this statement is misleading, inaccurate, incomplete and untrue.

The WCA is based on an unpublished college term paper which indicates Minnesota has 8,823,000 acres of wetlands that are suitable for growing cattails commercially. Cattails grow in types 3, 4 and 5 wetlands. The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers reports that Minnesota has 14 million acres of wetlands and 2.9 million acres of lakes and rivers.

Most upland game is hunted on uplands and most waterfowl is hunted on lakes, rivers and types 3, 4 and 5 wetlands where water is six inches deep or deeper most of the year and cattails grow also.

Land that is classified as types 1, 2, 6, 7 and 8 is not generally good for wildlife habitat and would be good for human habitat. Elimination of these from protection under the WCA certainly will not cause all to be drained as BWSR implies.

The WCA revisions that BWSR and Governor Carlson support will provide virtually no improvement to the existing law. Local flexibility is only allowed if it is more restrictive than the current law. The reduced replacement requirements and the 10,000 square foot minimums of BWSR's proposal are irrelevant in all counties.

The MLRA has submitted numerous specific and very clear suggestions for improving the WCA to many House and Senate members and committees. When Mr. Harnack says MLRA has not come up with specific suggestions he is not being honest. We have worked hard on getting property rights issues addressed in the WCA and will continue to be the 35th state to have a property rights bill to stop "regulatory takings" without just compensation.

Mr. Harnack and BWSR have not been willing to hear any suggestions that do not increase the bureaucracy and their control over private property. Since when should bureaucrats write legislation for themselves? I thought the residents of Minnesota write legislation "by the people" and "for the people."

I urge each and every person to write and call their legislators and the Governor to encourage them toward real and meaningful changes in the WCA. The BWSR proposal is not acceptable.

Sincerely,
Dave Zavoral

Scandals Show Leadership Crisis

"So far this year, five current House and Senate leaders have been convicted or charged with serious crimes," writes Darrell McKigney, editor-in-chief of Pro-Family News, a publication of the Minnesota Family Council. The council terms itself Minnesota's largest non-profit, non-partisan, pro-family organization....dedicated to strengthening families and advocating traditional family values.

There are those among the liberal establishment in the state who would consider McKigney the perfect prude in an organization of the same. The council is never reluctant to take on issues of the day which it considers to be harmful to family values, including abortion, gay and lesbian rights, graphic sex and violence in movies and on television, suppression of religious expression, and others.

Whatever the criticism, and however justified or unjustified it might be, McKigney is right on track in his editorial on what he calls a leadership crisis in Minnesota government.

"Most of the lawmakers at the Minnesota Legislature are among the most decent, concerned, respected leaders you could ever want in public office, regardless of political party or ideology," he hastens to point out.

"But at this time in our state's history, the number of crimes is so great, the offices held so powerful, the nature of the crimes so abusive, and the excuses are so lame, that it's time for the public to take this seriously and voice its outrage."

McKigney provides "a brief rap sheet" on the legislators as follows:

- Sen. Joe Bertram, chairman of the Senate Ag Committee, pleaded guilty to shoplifting from a merchant in his district. The merchant says Bertram offered him a $1,000 bribe to keep the matter quiet—the first known incident of a legislator being charged with offering a bribe instead of taking one.
- Sen. Kevin Chandler, Senate Majority Whip, pleaded guilty go punching his estranged wife while she held their three-year-old son during an argument outside a St. Paul bar.
- Sen. Skip Finn, the only native American in the Senate, has been charged with stealing $1 million from...the Leech Lake Band of Chippewa and is scheduled to go on trial next year.
- Sen. Don Samuelson, a powerful committee chairman, pleaded guilty earlier this summer to drunken driving.
- State Rep. Bob Johnson, the Assistant Majority Leader, admitted threatening Commissioner Michael Jordan after Jordan's agency refused to give Johnson a plane ride to Rudy Perpich's funeral. Later we learned that Johnson couldn't drive himself because he had received three DWI's in less than two months and had his license taken away.

McKigney then continues to make the following points:

"While legislators, like all of us as human beings, make mistakes and commit sins, three things make these offenses particularly egregious:

"First, these are serious crimes committed by numerous people in high offices. In just the past two legislatures, we have seen a House Majority Leader, a Senate Majority Whip and a number of powerful committee chairmen charged with crimes. In addition, the last House Speaker resigned over 'phonegate.' These can no longer be passed off as 'unfortunate' isolated incidents; there is a widespread problem.

"Second, the nature of this conduct is more brazen than ever before. This is much more than a free dinner from a lobbyist or a personal phone call on the public dime. In these cases, you have powerful leaders doing serious, tangible harm to the very people they are responsible for. In these cases they are charged with abusing their families, their constituents, the agencies they oversee and the business clients they serve.

"Third, they refuse to take real responsibility for their actions. While the four convicted legislators have resigned their leadership posts, none has resigned from office; amazingly, all plan to seek reelection. In fact, Johnson still chairs a committee. And the excuses being made either by them or by others on their behalf range from absurd to downright arrogant."

McKigney is right in all three contentions. People who are elevated to leadership roles and accept them also assume an obligation to lead by example. They must accept the responsibility to be responsible people, which means resisting the baser instincts with which human beings are endowed. They must make the conscientious effort to be exceptionally honest and fair and law-abiding and understanding. It goes with the territory.

All of which brings us to McKigney's final point:

"How we react to these events will say much to our lawmakers, our children, and ourselves. This is no longer about individual districts of individual legislators. It's about all of us."

Referendum Is Over: It's Time To Face Facts

School District 564's special levy referendum seems to have generated more public discussion following its defeat than before it was held. It's too bad that some more of the opinions, both pro and con, didn't surface for consideration before the vote was held. The outcome might not have changed, but some of the second-guessing and recrimination could have been avoided.

It should be to no one's surprise that the school district will attempt a special levy referendum again next year. If there was a need for it this year, it is unlikely there will be intervening circumstances that will make the need any less a year from now. On the contrary, the need can be expected to be even more acute.

But it is one thing to hold another special levy referendum and another thing to pass it. To expect to achieve the latter objective, school officials and private citizens supporting the special levy must use the coming year to better prepare their case and to convince the electorate, which has already shown itself to be reluctant if not hostile, that specific needs exist.

It isn't that property taxpayers in the district haven't made an increasing contribution. In tax payable year 1991, after a Homestead and Ag Credit Aid (HACA) deduction of $520,349, School District 564 taxpayers paid a net $2,489,884 to the district, according to records kept by Kenneth Olson, Pennington County Auditor. This net declined to $2,467,424 in 1992, then rose to $2,625,220 in 1993, $3,187,248 in 1994, and $3,247,783 in 1995. It is projected to drop to $3,205,588 in 1996—but remain three-quarters of a million dollars more than in 1992.

The mere fact that classes will continue to be conducted in the coming year—and they will—will provide cause for opponents of the issue to assert that the special levy dollars were not really needed after all. These people must be shown where and how actual specific cuts were made, that total expenditures were actually reduced, what specific needs continue to exist and where the supplemental levy dollars will be applied to alleviate the situation. Not all skeptics are willing to change their minds, of course, but given adequate information and rationale, enough doubters could be swayed to achieve passage.

Nothing is to be accomplished by either lamenting or gloating over the special levy defeat November 7. It's too late to change that. Now it's time to move ahead and do the best that can be done for students with the resources that are available....and plan for more specifics in presenting the case for another referendum in 1996.

Challenger Fifth grader, Ashley Stenseth (right), receives the "School Bus Conduct Award" from her driver, Kurt Philipp. One award is being made on each of the district's 26 school bus routes this year to recognize student attitudes that make transportation to and from school a safe, friendly, and fun experience.

Ashley Stenseth receives school district bus award

Ashley Stenseth, a fifth grade student at Challenger Elementary school in Thief River Falls, has received the District 564 "Driver's Choice School Bus Conduct Award." The award was presented to Ashley by her driver, Kurt Philipp, and Transportation Superintendent Fred Mykleby.

Mykleby says Ashley "is really a pleasure to have on the school bus. She is kind and well behaved - really a worry free, safe passenger." Ashley rides Route 31, driven by Kurt Philipp, who has nine years experience as a driver for District 564.

The "Driver's Choice School Bus Conduct Award" was implemented this year to promote safe ridership and recognize student attitudes that make transportation to and from school a friendly, fun experience. One award will be made this school year on each of the 26 transportation routes in the Thief River Falls/St. Hilaire School district.

Federal grant money was awarded to Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls and Winona Community Memorial Hospital in Winona.

Two rural Minnesota hospitals recently received grants from the Federal Health Care Financing Administration through the federal Rural Health Care Transition Grant Program. The program is designed to help small (fewer than 100 beds) rural non-profit hospitals and their communities plan and/or implement projects to modify the type and extent of the services they provide. Eligible rural hospitals may request up to $50,000 per year for up to three years.

Applications for grant funding may include two general types of activities: 1) planning to determine activities the hospital should undertake to improve the quality of care to Medicare beneficiaries; and/or 2) implementation of programs or activities — such as enhancing ambulatory and emergency care — designed to permit the hospital to respond to changes in population, practice patterns and health care utilization.

Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls received $50,000 for enhancing emergency and outpatient services and making management improvements.

Winona Community Memorial Hospital in Winona received $50,000 for enhancing emergency and outpatient services.

This year, the Health Care Financing Administration awarded 53 grants to hospitals in 41 states.

MN/DOT seeks motorists help in snowplow safety

The season's first winter storm signals the need for Minnesota motorists to adjust their driving skills to prepare for slippery roads and bridges.

According to the Minnesota Department of Transportation (MnDOT), even with a relatively mild winter last year, there were 62 snowplow accidents of which 14 involved motorists driving into the rear of snowplow trucks. Virtually all of the accidents were preventable.

This winter, MnDOT continues its efforts to increase safety for both its operators and motorists. Rod Pletan, MnDOT State Maintenance Engineer, advises motorists to:

- Reduce your speed. Plows drive slower than other vehicles, weighing approximately 30,000 pounds compared to a 3,000 pound car.
- Avoid driving into a snowcloud. Large vehicles, such as snowplows and semi-trailer trucks can produce dense clouds of blowing snow that make it difficult for drivers to see. If you're approaching a snowcloud, slow down!
- Be certain which lane a snowplow and its blade are in before trying to pass. Snowplow trucks can have a blade on either side. On multi-lane highways, drivers must be sure which side of the plow its blade is on before attempting to pass.

Each year, MnDOT snowplow drivers start honing their skills in the fall in preparation of winter. In addition, various combinations of lights are being tried to make snowplows more visible and some plows will have new equipment installed. This equipment is designed to reduce snowclouds and increase the capability for applying sand, salt and de-icing chemicals, allowing the trucks to travel at an increased speed to about 35-miles per hour.

Transportation Commissioner James Denn reminds motorists, "Snowplow drivers are highly skilled and motivated. To support them we need your help. Drive safe and smart and do your part, share the road and share the responsibility."

Trees on CRP acres topic of meetings

Four meetings will be held in northwestern Minnesota through the Minnesota Extension Service, looking at the potential for seeding and harvesting trees from CRP acres as well as stands of native trees. Under the current farm bill, CRP contract holders can get a five year extension to their existing contracts if they plant trees on all or some of their contract acres. Interest has increased in recent months as prices for pulp wood have increased dramatically.

Significant amounts of native aspen are already being cut in the area and hauled to mills further east. Opportunities and difficulties in marketing local stands will also be discussed at the meeting series. Meetings are scheduled for: 9:30 a.m. November 20 at the Federal building in Baudette; 1:30 p.m. November 20 at the Community room at the library in Roseau; 9:30 a.m. November 21 at the county courthouse meeting room in Thief River Falls; 1:30 p.m. November 21 at Whit's Cafe in Lancaster.

Speakers include Wendell Johnson and Ed Wene from the University of Minnesota at Crookston and the Ag Utilization and Research Institute. They will discuss the cost of establishing trees on CRP acres, terms under the current farm bill and the market outlook once the trees are grown.

Scott Burns from Potlatch corporation in Bemidji will discuss land management programs and marketing opportunities through Potlatch.

Craig Schmidt and Steve Johnson from the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources will be talking about assistance available through the DNR as well as some of the common practices and problems with contracting stumpage with area loggers.

Bob Wennerstand is the president of the Northern Woodland Owners Association and will discuss what this group of private woodland owners can offer people looking to better manage and market their wooded acres.

The meetings are sponsored through the Minnesota Extension Service, the Pembina Trails RC & D and the Minnesota Department of Agriculture. All interested persons are encouraged to attend.

Twomey voted MVP on TRF tennis team

Kamie Twomey was named the most valuable player on the 1995 Thief River Falls girls high school tennis team during the Prowlers' annual awards banquet Tuesday.

Stephanie Leach was selected as the most improved player and Anne Padilla was named hardest worker.

Twomey, Padilla and Shari Evenson were presented with captains plaques for the 1995 season, while Tiffany Brouse, Kate Ihle and Elizabeth Odette were announced as captains for 1996.

Athletic letters went to seniors Vicki Bitzegaio, Bobbi Dahlstrom, Kiki Goddard, Angie Gunstad, Leah Helgenset, Becky Phillips, Andrea Vigen, Evenson, Padilla, and Twomey, juniors Heidi Johnson, Kelly Natvik, Kyla Skiple, Ihle, Odette, and student manager Jeremy Treitline; sophomores Beth Goddard and Leach; freshmen Katie Harbott and Lesley Ihle; plus eighth grader Rebecca Leach.

The Prowlers were 8-7 in dual meet competition this fall, losing to eventual champion Detroit Lakes 4-3 in the first round of the North Sub-Section 8AA tournament.

Twomey (singles) and Padilla-Evenson (doubles) were Section 8AA qualifiers in individual play.

"It was a fun year," said Thief River Falls coach Sylvia Sjoberg, who took over the program this fall. "I'm looking forward to next season."

Sjoberg said the Prowlers made season-long improvements in their game in 1995. "As the year went along, I found myself wishing we were starting over again at that point," she said.

Consistency carries Olin into state meet

Consistency produced a Section 8 title for Jennifer Olin. The same trait could help her make a splash at the 1995 Minnesota girls high school state swimming and diving championships, scheduled to be held Tuesday and Wednesday at the University of Minnesota Aquatics Center in Minneapolis.

Olin will be competing in the 1-meter diving portion of the meet. The prelims will be held Tuesday at 10:30 a.m. Top 10 divers will advance to the finals Wednesday at 1 p.m.

Thea Hoeg of Prior Lake is back to defend her state diving title, but the 415.30 points she scored at the sectional level ranks was only the fourth highest state meet-qualifying figure.

Olin's name doesn't appear among the top five sectional scorers – a list headed by Jamie Sanger of Wayzata with 442.55 points – even though she broke a long-standing Section 8 meet record with a 408.70 effort at Alexandria last weekend.

However, Olin's name did top the state honor role in diving based on an 11-dive effort for a part of the 1995 season. Most high school meets have a six-dive segment. Olin's state rankings were based on an 11-dive mid-season outing at Fergus Falls.

The state meet features 11 dives in both the prelims and finals.

A spot in the finals is a legitimate goal for his diver, according to Thief River Falls head coach Scott Hetherington. "She's a very, very consistent diver," he said. "If Jenny continues to dive the way she has been diving, she will do well. She's so consistent, and she dives extremely well under pressure."

Volunteer coach Shon Thompson, a former Thief River Falls state meet diver, has worked with Olin throughout the season.

Olin is making her third state appearance, but the first as a sectional champion. She wound up 21st at the 1994 state meet.

Newcomers add scoring punch to NCTC men's team...

Freshmen to provide offense

Five returning sophomores and a talented group of nine freshmen make up the preseason roster for the 1995-96 Northland Community and Technical College men's basketball team.

Four of those sophomores are area high school products – 6-2 Preston Treat, Thief River Falls; 6-2 Jake Rantanen, Marshall County Central; 5-10 Matt Gustafson, Kittson Central; and 6-3 Jeremy Anderson, Tri-County. The fifth veteran is 6-8 John Brown, a Minneapolis Henry graduate.

They provide the nucleus for coach Mark Dannhoff's fourth Northland squad. But the sophomores' leadership skills aren't tied to scoring. A year ago Treat averaged 6.4 points per game, Brown 4.0, Rantanen 2.3, Gustafson 1.2, and Anderson .4.

Additional playing time could help build those numbers, but the Pioneers, who averaged a modest 77 points per game last winter, could gain a significant boost offensively from the wide-ranging crop of freshmen who hail from Colorado, Michigan, Missouri, and Maryland, as well as Minnesota.

"We brought those kids (sophomores) in last year to play around the kids we had coming back," explained Dannhoff. "They were role players, and they filled those roles very well. They have spent some quality time over the summer to improve their game, and people like Preston and Jake are very capable of putting some points on the board. But they all understand that they are still role players. Most of our scoring will come from the freshmen. It's a talented group – good athletes with basketball skills."

The newcomers include 5-9 Luke Anderson, Minnewaska Area; 6-1 Macy Ford and 6-4 Hassan Jihad, Detroit, MI; 6-3 Kenta McGoughy, Denver, CO; 6-2 Nathan Anderson, Thief River Falls; 6-5 Joey Wilebski, Kittson County North; 6-4 Reggie Parker, Bladensberg, MO; 6-4 Don Beverly, Temple Hills, MD; and 6-6 Keith Parris, Largo, MD.

Beverly, who comes in at 225 pounds, and Jihad, a 220-pounder, appear to be the best of the newcomers. Both combine strength with eye-catching athleticism.

"We don't have the really big, dominant player inside," noted Dannhoff, "but there are not many of those kids in our league. We should be able to hold our own. We're strong, and we've got good quickness. We'll push the ball up the floor and we'll use presses and traps on defense."

Northland lost eight sophomores from last year's team, including Minnesota Community College Conference All-Northern Division selections Chad Kujava (17.5 points per game) and Demond Watson (10.3).

"Our sophomores are showing great leadership, and our freshmen have shown they can play," said Dannhoff. "We're deep. This should be our most talented team we've ever had. We'll be competitive. We've had good basketball teams in the past, but we've gotten beat by teams with the athlete who was a step quicker, a little stronger and a letter better jumper than what we had. This year I think we have those athletes."

NCTC women hope to have strong bench

Northland Community and Technical College women's basketball coach Rick Nikunen is hoping improved outside shooting, more quickness and added depth will compensate for the loss of inside power as the Pioneers head into the 1995-96 season.

Kelli Kronschnabel, a six-foot sophomore center from Fertile-Beltrami was the Pioneers' leader in 1994-95 when she averaged 16.5 points per game and earned Minnesota Community College Conference all-state honors. Northland went 8-15, ending with a state tournament-qualifying playoff game loss to Vermilion.

"We won't have that inside game like we had with Kelli," admitted Nikunen. "Size will be a weakness. But we have better shooters, and we've got some good athletes who will give us more team speed."

Returning sophomores include 5-5 Marcy and 5-4 Carrie Olsen (Minnewaska Area), 5-7 Gina Salverson (Fosston), and 5-10 Angel Mickelson (Red Lake County Central). Mickelson (8.6 points and a team-leading rebounds per game) and Salverson (8.6 ppg) were Second Team MCCC All-Northern Division picks as freshmen. Marcy Olsen scored 5.7 points per game; Carrie Olson 3.6.

Six freshmen on hand include 5-3 Tara Sugden (Kittson Central), 5-3 Eriko Spilde (Tri-County), 5-6 Ali Hietala (Badger/Greenbush-Middle River), 5-7 Stacy Stanwick (Nevis), 5-9 Lavonne Nelson (Kittson County North), and 5-10 Jenny Smith (Stephen).

Smith, Sugden and Spilde figure to give the Pioneers' outside game – a glaring weakness last winter – a major boost.

"Smith and Sugden can hit the threes consistently, and Spilde is a streak shooter who can get hot," pointed out Nikunen.

Depth will be a plus, too, allowing the Pioneers to use their speed on the fast-break and press. "All of our kids can play," noted Nikunen. "The level of our play won't fluctuate much, no matter who we have in there."

Nikunen is keeping his fingers crossed that the Pioneers can maintain the numbers, which already fell from 15 to 10 in early-season drills.

"We have a history of injuries and drop-outs for various reasons," noted Nikunen. "If we stay healthy, we should be competitive."

Prowler volleyball coaching tandem is stepping down

They started together, and they're finishing together. Helen Anderson and Jodi Bendickson announced plans to step down as Thief River Falls volleyball coaches following the recently-completed 1995 high school season.

Anderson took over as the Prowlers' head coach in 1982 – the same year Bendickson joined the staff as her assistant coach.

In their final season, Anderson's varsity went 15-11, while Bendickson's junior varsity team finished 17-3.

It was also announced this week that the 1995-96 Thief River Falls winter sports coaching assignments have been completed with the naming of Ryan Rued as seventh grade boys basketball coach.

All moves involving the coaches are pending board approval.

Executive director Chris Kiewel is sending out letters to regional schools, telling the staff about the environmental programs that the Farm by the Lake has to offer students.

Retreat center is developed for relaxation and meditation

Retreats at the Farm are usually self run, but Kiewel says he may start planning retreats. He would like to design retreats that are "closer to the mission of helping people resolve conflict" in their lives. He also wants to start more environmental education programs at the farm. Kiewel's credentials as an environmental educator and retreat director include working at a Bible camp in Spring Valley and a degree in biology with a minor in park and land management from University of Wisconsin-River Falls.

Davis wanted to make people "disciples of nature," to understand God by getting closer to nature. Kiewel shares Davis' views on spirituality and nature.

"Being surrounded by the beauty of creation gives a sense of awe," explains Kiewel. It helps people believe in the power of God.

The Farm is open to anyone needing a quiet place. Located just outside of Bagley, the Farm contains over 100 acres of land. Located on the land are gardens, woodlands, marshland, lake front lily ponds and even a prairie patch. People can canoe the lake, cross country ski, or go for hikes. They can enjoy watching a variety of wild life, including deer that feed in a near-by yard.

The Farm by the Lake has a cabin for day or overnight use. The modern cabin has heat, electricity and running water. It has a full kitchen and bathroom and enough beds to sleep eight. It is available to groups or individuals.

Kiewel is looking for volunteers who are interested in helping maintain the gardens or do presentations. Presentations can be on environmental topics, art or travel. Davis, Kiewel explained, was a well traveled man who liked to share with others. In that spirit, people are invited to present slide shows of their vacations and talk about what they learned about other lands and cultures while on vacation. Davis also appreciated art so the board and Kiewel would like to incorporate more programs about the arts at the Farm by the Lake.

Kiewel and the board hope that others share Davis' vision and become disciples of nature and that many will enjoy the serenity of the Farm by the Lake.

Why did the chicken cross the road?

Warroad — Bob Quinn's family has a lot of pets: a deaf pug, several geese, rabbits, a Siamese cat, and a dog Snowball whose best friend is a chicken.

When Snowball wandered off a few years ago, he surprised everyone by bringing home a live chicken. Chickie Dog and Snowball soon became friends and even shared a dog house.

When the chicken ran away from home, Quinn put a missing chicken bulletin on the radio. Luckily the chicken was soon found at St. Mary's Catholic Church and, much to Snowball's relief, was returned to his home.

Landowner has two choices: Build on it, or fill it

Red Lake Falls — An agreement signed by Augusta Housing owner Glenn Solsrud, the city of Red Lake Falls and Red Lake county says that construction on the new apartment complex will start by June 15, 1996 or the hole in the ground will be filled. Solsrud said that the company began filling the hole in mid-November and is continuing to work on financing the apartment complex.

Representatives from Augusta Housing, the city, county and state decided that something had to be done with the hole before winter. The hole was filled with 1,500 yards of fill and have a slope to fit OSHA specifications. Fill was banked outside the hole so the sidewalk and street won't cave in.

Local woman writes articles for antique magazines

Hallock — Deloris Long is an antique collector who says collecting is a disease. She should know. She has been collecting snack sets for years. Snack sets consist of a plate, or tray, and cup. The tray has a circular groove or ridge where the cup is placed. They were popular in the 1940's and 50's.

In May of 1995 she was published in "Antique Week." It was the first article she ever wrote. Her most recent article was published in the November 1995 issue of "Antiques and Collecting." In February of 1996 she will have another article published.

Winnipeg to Duluth Truck Toll Highway Proposal

Duluth to Winnipeg toll road proposed

Five potential toll road projects have been submitted by private developers for further consideration under the Minnesota Department of Transportation's "Transmart" toll financing initiative. Identification of the proposed toll projects launches the second phase of the Transmart initiative, whereby private developers will seek public and local government input and support for their proposals.

One of the projects is described as the Winnipeg to Duluth Truck Toll Highway Proposal. The Duluth to Winnipeg Truck Toll Highway project proposes to construct 322 miles of truck lanes along Highway 2 from Duluth to Crookston, and a new route from Crookston north to Winnipeg. Communities physically affected by the project include communities along Highway 2 from Duluth to Crookston, and communities north of Crookston to Winnipeg. The project is expected to cost $1.323 billion and will be financed through equity shares, revenue bonds,and federal and state loans. Proposed toll charges are expected to be 1.2 cents per ton-mile.

The proposal team consists of Transportation Industries International, Washington, D.C. Other members include Sterzer Gross [illegible] ciates, Salt Lake City, Utah, and, A/E Group, Baltimore, MD. The proposal team contact person is James Ball, P.E., president, Transportation Industries International, 10518 Edgefield, Adelphi, MD. 20783; or call (202) 986-5063.

The Transmart initiative was announced in July 1995. Technical aspects of proposed projects were due to Mn/DOT by November 22, with community support aspects due by February 29, 1996. The completed proposals will be reviewed by a Transmart evaluation committee, and their findings and project rankings will be forwarded to Mn/DOT Commissioner James Denn. Commissioner Denn will then select proposals for final development agreement negotiation. The commissioner's selections are expected to be made sometime in May 1996. Development agreements are expected to be finalized in early October 1996, at which time, under state law, affected local communities will have 30 days to review the final agreements and veto the projects if they choose.

"I am very excited about the response and support Minnesota has received from the private sector to the Transmart initiative, as demonstrated by the number and quality of the projects proposed," said Commissioner Denn. "Governor Carlson, Mn/DOT and the state legislature strongly believe that toll financing is an option the state must closely examine and consider."

Toll financing is seen as a viable option in funding major transportation capital projects throughout the state that likely could not be funded with existing state transportation revenue streams. Toll financing also offers greater financial flexibility and the opportunity to establish and expand public-private partnerships for the purpose of providing government service.

"We know today's announcement will create a great deal of discussion about the merit of tolls and

Kamie Twomey on state Youth Advisory Council

by Marvin Lundin
Northern Watch Editor

"There are a lot of people who make decisions involving young people without consulting the young people who are affected by those decisions," notes Kamie Twomey of Thief River Falls. "We hope to provide input from our standpoint and make a difference in our state."

A senior at Lincoln high school and the daughter of Chris and Darla Twomey, Kamie was recently appointed by Susan Carlson, wife of Gov. Arne Carlson, to the 36-member Action for Children Youth Advisory Council. She attended the first meeting of the council November 6 at the Judicial Center in St. Paul.

"I think it is a great opportunity to represent people my age and this part of Minnesota," Kamie said. "At our first meeting we talked about organizing and setting goals. A couple of our areas of emphasis are dealing with the media, challenges in education and the problem of crime and violence.

"Our purpose is to create a vision and adopt strategies. Next May we will have a statewide youth conference and out of that we will prepare our 'Kids Can't Wait' report. I would really like to get ideas and hear the concerns of other students in Thief River and from around the area that would be relevant to our work on the council."

Kamie said she learned about the council through materials given to her by Whitey Olson, guidance director at Lincoln high school. It sounded interesting, she said, so she completed an application to be considered for appointment.

The council included young people from throughout the state who are 12 to 18 years of age. A dozen have served on the council previously but 24 new council members and five alternates were selected this year. Because of her age, Kamie will be able to serve only this year, so she plans to make the most of her opportunity.

The Youth Advisory Council has existed since 1991 to give youth a

Compassionate Friends group to organize

Williams — A special support group is being formed in Williams. Everyone hopes it doesn't get very big. It's a support group for those who have lost a child.

Nancy Craig, Sharon Moen and Ruby Fish drove to International Falls and received information for starting their own group of Compassionate Friends.

The group is a place where grieving parents and grandparents help one another through the difficult grieving process and begin to heal their wounds.

Eleven-point buck poached

Vergas — A poaching suspect confessed to illegally shooting an eleven-point buck. DNR officer Norm Floden plans to charge the suspect with "discharging a firearm at a big game animal from a roadway."

The incident occurred November 12 near land owned by Kelly Shannon. Shannon's friend was headed to Shannon's home and witnessed the incident. When the friend arrived and told him what happened, Shannon called Floden.

Floden stressed that shooting from the roadside is not only illegal, but dangerous, because hunters don't know who is in the woods. Floden reports there was a case where someone shooting from the road side just missed shooting a hunter in his deer stand.

Family decides to pull the plug on TV

Brandon — The Mark Weise family is trying something new, actually lots of new things. They gave up watching television and have found many different ways to fill their days and nights.

Mark and Peggy got sick of violence and vulgarity on television. They tried monitoring what their children watched, but they said, even the commercials were becoming trashier.

Since turning off the television the family finds they are all more relaxed, the kids grades are better and they spend more time on hobbies and other interest. They also spend more time doing things as a family.

SEASONS GREETINGS

SOUPÇON

Since I forgot to give you any Thanksgiving recipes this year, here are some interesting ways to use up that leftover turkey.

Give your turkey a little zip with this recipe:

BARBECUED TURKEY

1 onion, chopped
1/2 cup celery
1 tablespoon oil
2 tablespoons vinegar
1/4 cup lemon juice
3 tablespoons Worcestershire
1/2 tablespoon mustard
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1 cup ketchup
Salt
1 cup water
3 cups or more leftover turkey, chopped

Brown onion and celery in fat. Add remaining ingredients and simmer for 1 hour. Serve on buns or over rice or noodles.

This dish is quick to fix and makes a simple lunch special:

HOT TURKEY SALAD

2 cups cut up turkey
2 cups diced celery
1/2 cup toasted almonds
1 cup mayonnaise
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons grated onion
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/2 cup grated American cheese
1 cup crushed potato chips

Mix turkey, celery, almonds, mayonnaise, salt, onion and lemon juice. Place on half of a hamburger bun.

Top with cheese and chips and broil until cheese melts.

Something simple and simply delicious:

TURKEY-BROCCOLI SUPREME

1 pound frozen broccoli
2 tablespoons margarine
2 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
Dash of pepper
1 cup American or Cheddar cheese, shredded
2 1/4 cups egg noodles, cooked
2 cups cup up turkey

Cook broccoli according to package. Drain.

Melt margarine in saucepan and blend in flour. Gradually stir in milk and cook, stirring constantly, until sauce is smooth and thickened. Add cheese and stir until melted.

Arrange broccoli in greased baking dish and cover with noodles, then turkey. Pour cheese sauce over all. Bake at 350 degrees for 15 minutes or until bubbly.

Wild rice and turkey make a delicious casserole:

TURKEY WILD RICE

1 cup wild rice
3 cups boiling water
1 teaspoon salt
2 (4 ounce) cans mushrooms
1 onion, diced
1 tablespoon parsley
1/2 cup butter
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
3 cups diced turkey
1 can chicken rice soup
1 can mushroom soup
1/2 cup cream
1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
1 cup toasted slivered almonds

Wash rice and soak 2-3 hours.

Pour boiling water over rice and cook, covered, for 40-60 minutes.

Cook mushrooms, onions and parsley in butter and mix with rice.

Add remaining ingredients except cheese and almonds (some almonds may be mixed into rice).

Sprinkle cheese and almonds on top and bake 1 1/2 to 2 hours at 350 degrees. (Serves 8.)

Something hearty and flavorful:

TURKEY PIE

2 cups cooked turkey, cut up
1 (10 ounce) package frozen peas and carrots (or canned)
1 small onion
1/2 cup diced celery
2 ounce can whole mushrooms
1/4 cup butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup turkey or chicken broth
1/3 cup cream
1/8 teaspoon marjoram
Salt and pepper

Place turkey in deep dish. Add peas and carrots that have been cooked and drained.

Saute onions, celery and mushrooms in butter until golden. Spread over turkey.

Blend flour with butter in pan and stir smooth, gradually adding cold broth and cream. Cook thick, stirring constantly. Add remaining ingredients and pour over turkey mixture.

Top with refrigerated biscuits. Sprinkle with poppy seeds, if desired, and bake at 425 degrees for 20 minutes or until turkey is bubbly and biscuits are browned.

A Farmer's Creed

Our appreciation to the Dairymen's Digest published by Associated Milk Producers, Inc., which published the following "A Farmer's Creed" in its November edition. We think it is appropriate and timely for this area of Minnesota at this time:

I believe a man's greatest possession is his dignity and that no calling bestows this more abundantly than farming.

I believe hard work and honest sweat are the building blocks of a person's character.

I believe that farming, despite its hardships and disappointments, is the most honest and honorable way a man can spend his days on earth.

I believe farming nurtures the close family ties that make life rich in ways money can't buy.

I believe my children are learning values that will last a lifetime and can be learned in no other way.

I believe farming provides education for life and that no other occupation teaches so much about birth, growth and maturity in such a variety of way.

I believe many of the best things in life are indeed free; the splendor of a sunrise, the rapture of the wide open spaces, the exhilarating sight of your land greening each spring.

I believe true happiness comes from watching your crops ripen in the fields, your children grow tall in the sun, your whole family feel the pride that springs from their shared experience.

I believe that by my toil I am giving more to the world than I am taking from it, an honor that does not come to all men.

I believe my life will be measured ultimately by what I have done for my fellow man, and by this standard I fear no judgment.

I believe when a man grows old and sums up his days, he should be able to stand tall and feel pride in the life he's lived.

I believe in farming because it makes all this possible.

Not All Life's Lessons Are Learned By Young

As one who has put in a few decades on this good earth, this editor is one who can tell you from experience that not all of life's lessons are learned when we are young. And the older we get, it seems, the harder the lessons are and the more difficult it is to learn from them.

Having been in this business of writing for all to see for more than 40 years, we well realize how easy it is to offend people—even though the thought that what you write may be offensive is the furthest thing from your mind when you write it. Usually it is simply a case of being misunderstood—which also usually means the writing itself was not clear enough or the point attempted to be made was too vague.

Most of the time we try to pay careful attention to what we write, either editorially or in our straight news stories. In fact, we might say that we try to pay careful attention all of the time. It's just that sometimes we may be too hurried or pressured to re-read what we have written to double check what we wrote. And more than once we have made errors in judgment that have come back to haunt us.

Therefore it is not difficult for us to empathize with Supt. Mark Hinckley of School District 564, whose letter of public apology appears on this page today. That he made an error in judgment is without question. He permitted his passion for what he believes to be a just and necessary cause—additional funding for better local education through a special levy—to temporarily cloud his common sense at an inappropriate time and place. Who among us can say that in one way or another it has not happened to us?

Pundits call the affliction "foot in mouth disease." It is endemic among politicians of all levels and occasionally infects others in public life or with public exposure. Fortunately, it is curable through forethought and restraint, but always subject to recurrence without constant vigilance. The cure is simply termed "learning your lesson."

We give credit to Supt. Hinckley for writing and submitting the letter published today. It isn't easy to apologize under any circumstance, and probably more difficult when way down deep you think you may have been right in the first place. We believe Supt. Hinckley had the welfare of the district's students at heart when he made his unfortunate comments, and it would be hard to fault him for that. It was the forum more than the message that was inappropriate.

At any rate, we thank him for his letter and we are certainly willing to give him the benefit of the doubt and accept his apology as sincere. If it is not, we will know about it soon enough. There is one thing about us northwest Minnesota dwellers—we forgive as quick as a sneeze but we remember as long as a Minnesota winter.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

Dear parents, staff, students, senior citizens and community members of School District 564:

Please accept my apology for speaking at the Franklin band concert on November 14, 1995. This was not the appropriate time to do so. I interrupted the flow of the performance, spoke out of turn and was not on the program.

Mr. Lehrer, each of the bands, and all of the students performed superbly.

I will adjust and accept the community. Please do the same for me. We have an excellent community, schools and students. We can move forward and I will change.

Sincerely,
Mark W. Hinckley
Superintendent of Schools
School District 564

Hospice offerings for the Holiday Season available

The holiday season should be a time of celebration and joy, but for many who have had a death of a loved one, a deep sadness may remain. To assist those who are mourning, Northland Community Hospice will be offering a series of programs designed to educate and support people during their grieving process.

On November 10 at 7 p.m. Martha Wissmann will be presenting an educational program on "The Grieving Process" at St. Bernards. A series of presentations will be held at the Northwest Regional Library from 6 to 8 p.m. The first one on November 14 is entitled "Coping with the Holidays" and is specifically designed to assist grieving families through the holiday seasons. The November 20 presentation "What is Hospice Care" is an educational forum designed to inform the community about the unique philosophy and approach to compassionate care of the dying. All three presentations are free and open to the public.

Our "Light up a Life Tree" celebration will be held on November 28 at 7 p.m. in the lobby of the Northwest Medical Center. The suggested donation is $5 to place a name of a loved one in the Hospice Book of Memories located in the lobby throughout the holiday season. Visitors may enjoy looking up familiar names as far back as 1986 when the tree lighting ceremony first started. An advertisement has been placed in The Times, which can be brought along with a donation, to the office. A traditional candle-lighting, carols, and social gathering will also be sponsored by Hospice Volunteers.

The "Hospice Flower of Hope, which was a big hit last year, is again available for sale. The beautiful amaryllis comes in a variety of colors and makes a thoughtful holiday gift at a reasonable price. All donations to a non-profit hospice are tax deductible and helps the organization fund a variety of important programs in the community.

Further inquiries about these events or other questions about hospice care can be answered by Martha Wissmann at 681-6189.

Grants from Operation Round Up total $11,000

Operation Round Up grants totaling $11,000 were made to 15 recipients by the board of directors of Red Lake Electric Trust on November 1. More than 80 per cent of Red Lake Electric customers voluntarily round up their monthly electric bills to the next highest dollar with the difference going into the trust fund.

Recipients of the November 1 distribution include:

Christmas for Pennington County—$1,000 for Christmas toys and clothing for children of families in need;

Red Lake County Good Neighbor Fund—$600 for clothing and toys for needy families;

Goodridge Lions—$800 for remodeling at the Goodridge town hall;

Keen Age Club of Red Lake Falls—$500 for a television set and VCR for training sessions;

CPR Classes—$1,400 to train 48 Red Lake Electric customers in cardiopulmonary resuscitation at Red Lake Falls, Thief River Falls, Goodridge and Oklee;

Falls DAC and Occupational Development Center in Thief River Falls were awarded $500 each to provide special training for clients;

Heritage Community Center—$700 for its kitchen remodeling project at the center in Thief River Falls;

Pennington County Historical Society—$1,000 for walkway improvements at Peder Engelstad Pioneer Village;

Marshall County Historical Society—$500 for equipment in the museum in Warren;

Thief River Falls Chapter of Special Olympics—$500 to send the bowling team to state competition;

Oklee Volunteer Ambulance Service—$1,000 for EMT training of volunteers;

Brooks First Responders—$1,000 for defibrilator equipment and training;

Thief River Falls/Pennington County Safety Camp—$500 for the 1996 camp;

Crossroads Displaced Homemaker Program—$500 to conduct winter driving and car care seminars for its clients.

Operation Round Up has now provided $43,075 to area nonprofit organizations since formed in 1993. Funds are distributed twice a year.

Unemployment in seven-county region declines

Unemployment in the seven counties of Region 1 in September declined to 2.9 per cent—exactly the same as the state average—with decreases from August noted in all but Roseau and Pennington counties and decreases from September of 1994 noted in all seven counties.

Roseau county had the lowest rate in the region at 2.3 per cent, down from 2.8 per cent a year ago but up from 1.9 per cent in August. Polk county was a close second at 2.4 per cent, down from 3.2 last September and 3.6 in August.

Other counties with unemployment declines from August were Kittson, 3.0 (4.0); Marshall, 4.8 (5.4); Norman, 3.2 (4.4) and Red Lake, 4.5 (6.4). Pennington county showed an increase to 3.2 from 3.1 in August.

Compared with September of 1994, all counties had lower jobless rates. In addition to Roseau and Polk, Kittson was down from 4.4, Marshall from 7.1, Norman from 4.8, Pennington from 4.7 and Red Lake from 7.2.

In Region 2, which includes the counties of Beltrami, Clearwater, Hubbard, Lake of the Woods and Mahnomen, the unemployment rate in September was 4.4, down from 6.1 per cent a year ago but up from 4.2 per cent in August.

Clearwater at 7.0 per cent was down from 9.7 a year ago and 7.7 in August but still the highest rate in the state, followed by Itasca at 6.1, Koochiching at 5.5 and Cass at 5.4. These were the only counties with unemployment higher than five per cent in Minnesota.

In September, Region 1 had a labor force of 52,286 with 50,779 employed and 1,507 unemployed.

Fire destroys machine quonset

Fire destroyed a machine quonset at the Gary Purath residence in Red Lake Falls township Thursday, November 23.

Red Lake County Sheriff's department reported receiving a call at 7:37 a.m. from the Willard Purath residence reporting a fire at the Gary Purath residence. The fire department responded, but a machine quonset and all the equipment inside were destroyed. The cause of the fire is unknown and still under investigation.

Snowmobilers reminded to stick to designated trails

A warning for snowmobilers to stay on the designated trail when traveling from Thief River Falls to the Fourtown area or using any part of the trail systems was issued this week by officers of area snowmobile clubs.

The warning came following an incident recently east of Goodridge where snowmobilers left the trail and rode their machines in an alfalfa field, much to the concern of the owner of the field.

Goodridge Trailblazers and Thief River Falls Sno-Drifters clubs requested riders to confine their riding to the trail which is expected to officially open December 1, snow conditions permitting.

The trail was established through the cooperation of many private landowners who permitted it to cross their land as part of the total trail system. Abuse of the privilege of trail use could well result in relocating or closing the trail, making it necessary for snowmobilers to ride ditches or trailer their sleds to the Fourtown area to ride the trails there.

The rule is simple: Stay on the trail and respect adjacent private property.

TRF Schools participate in SCANS program

The Secretary's Commission for Achieving Necessary Skills (SCANS), has a goal to improve the workplace savvy of high school graduates nationwide and throughout Minnesota. The Thief River Falls School District recently became involved in that effort with the award of a federal grant to implement a model that would meet the goals of the commission.

Thirty Lincoln high school students volunteered for the program which is aimed at creating high school graduates with highly developed skills, carrying American business to new heights in a changing workplace of technology, science, and communication.

Curriculum Coordinator Bev Arnston, says parents of Thief River Falls SCANS students were recently invited to an informational session to find out how the model will work at Lincoln High school.

"The federal commission identified 37 skills that are important to the workplace - leadership, responsibility, information management - and basic skills like math, reading, writing and listening. Our model will use a system of student self-evaluation with designed learning activities and teacher/facilitators to oversee the results," Arnston said.

Arnston said the SCANS research was initiated because employers were identifying many "gaps" in basic high schools skills critical to success in the workplace. What followed was a detailed review of graduation requirements, and many different plans to rethink the skills students need in today's world. "We think the best plan is the one students commit themselves to. Students can think about a career field, assess the skills they'll need, and develop a way to learn and test those skills with the help of a SCANS teacher."

If the model is successful, it could be used to meet new Minnesota graduation requirements, and could be duplicated throughout the state and nation as a method of linking high school skills to the performance expectations of employers.

TRF boys hope to challenge in North Sub-Section 8AA...

Sanden will lead Prowlers

University of Minnesota-bound Kyle Sanden will lead the way but a solid support staff will help take some of the burden off the 6-10 Thief River Falls senior as the Prowlers head into the 1995-96 boys high school basketball season.

Sanden, who played in national camps and tournaments over the summer and earlier this month signed a national letter of intent to play for the Gophers next year, is coming off a junior season in which he averaged 23.6 points and 10.8 rebounds per game, became the Prowlers' career scoring leader with 1,226 points, set a single-game scoring record with a 43 against Crookston, and wound up with 543 points – No. 2 on the school single-season scoring list.

"It's no secret, Kyle's our bread-and-butter," said Thief River Falls coach Scott Brekke. "How well Kyle plays will be how well we play."

But that doesn't mean he has to do it alone, explained Brekke, who is expecting strong contributions from seniors Ryan Swanson and Robby Farbo, and juniors Jared Brandt and Courtney Skjerven. Brandt is 6-5; Farbo and Skjerven are both listed at 6-4. Combined with Sanden, they provide the Prowlers with the kind of size most coaches only dream about.

"We've got some big bodies," acknowledged Brekke. "We're going to be big and physical this year. Obviously we're looking to get the ball inside, but we'll push the ball down the court at times, too. Our big people run the floor fairly well."

Swanson adds some quickness and strong leaping ability to the mix.

"Ryan is explosive," said Brekke. "He worked extremely hard at the game in the off-season, and it's showing on the court."

Juniors Jon Blomker and Stefan Ronchetti will be given the opportunity to play the point guard.

"Teams will no doubt try to press us," explained Brekke, "but with 6-10, 6-5 and 6-4 kids, all we have to do is throw the ball over the top. If we can do that, we'll be all right."

Other lettermen on hand include senior Tom Koelmstedt and juniors Paul Kopari and Karl Anderson.

"The kids are pretty excited about the season," said Brekke. "If we can stay injury-free, we could be tough."

The Prowlers, who hope to be a contender in North Sub-Section 8AA, were 13-10 last year, but only 2-7 against Class AA competition – both wins coming against Detroit Lakes.

"I feel we can beat anybody on the schedule," said Brekke. "We played a lot of those AA schools tough last year. We proved we could play with those teams last year. This year we have to prove we can beat them."

Thief River Falls will start the season Friday, Dec. 8, at home against Crookston.

Sharing the Evening Collector Plate
Terry Redlin
Holiday memories by America's most popular artist
On fine porcelain
"Sharing The Evening"
In this nostalgic scene Terry Redlin transports us to a time when families made every holiday moment special. As the sunset fades into evening, children's voices magically mix with the crackle of a glowing bonfire. Just across the wooden bridge, the warm lights of the farmhouse beckon the children home.
"Sharing the Evening" collector plate is crafted on fine porcelain and banded in 22-kt gold. Limited to just 45 firing days, it is hand-numbered and accompanied by a Certificate of Authenticity. Only $29.95. Discover this and many more Redlin collector plates and prints now in our gallery for holiday giving.

Dave Roever to speak at Big Valley Rally

Dave Roever will be the guest speaker at The Big Valley Rally at [illegible] High school gym, Wednesday, December 6 at 7:30 p.m.

Dave Roever was burned beyond recognition in the Vietnam War. While serving in the river-patrol division of the United States Navy, a phosphorous grenade he was poised to throw exploded in his hand. The explosion sank his boat, and Roever, still burning, was pinned beneath it. His survival and life are miraculous, although the ordeal left him hospitalized for 14 months, and he underwent 15 major surgeries.

Today, Roever is one of the nation's most sought-after public speakers. His services are in [illegible] in a variety of settings including public schools at the secondary level and beyond, and military installations at home and abroad. Roever's message is one of hope. Using his war experiences of loneliness, peer pressure, disfigurement and pain, and his experiences in wholesome relationships with his parents, wife and children, Roever talks about solutions to problems such as drug and alcohol abuse, drinking and driving, premarital sex, suicide and low self-esteem. Since 1976, Roever has spoken face-to-face with almost five million students in public schools.

He is founder and president of Roever Educational Assistance Programs (REAP), a non-profit, public service corporation.

Swis Corp. of Thief River Falls has agreed to pay a premium price for the cans and will present a check to PTSP at the end of the school year.

Melissa Parker

Guest skater at ice show here makes progress

About a year and a half ago, Melissa Parker skated as a guest performer at the Fantasy on Ice show presented by the Thief River Falls Recreational Skating Association and the Thief River Falls Skating Club. She continues to make great strides in competitive skating.

Melissa is the daughter of Mel and Lois Parker and a niece of Vern and Linda Schommer of Thief River Falls. Lois is Vern's sister.

Now 14 years old and a Novice level skater, Melissa recently placed third at the regional championships in Dallas, TX, October 30-November 4 and qualified to compete in the sectional championships to be held at the Ice Garden in Bloomington December 5-9.

At the regional competition she won the initial round, placed first in the short program in the final round and placed third in the long program. She has developed her skills to the point where she can now land a double axel and a triple toe-loop and is working on a triple flip and triple salchow.

Previously this year Melissa won first places at the Skate Dallas final round in April, Vail Invitational final round in July and Rim of the World Championships at Blue Jay, CA, in July. The accompanying photo was taken following the Rim of the World Championships.

Vern Schommer said that his niece skates six hours a day in Denver, CO, after attending school until noon. At the sectional championships in Bloomington, a dozen of the top skaters from several regional championships will be in competition. Schommer said that he hopes to go to the Twin Cities to watch his niece compete in the sectional championship.

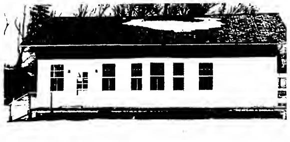
Jazz Ensemble I from the University of Wisconsin—Eau Claire will present a free concert for the public Tuesday, November 28, at 7 p.m. in the Lincoln high school auditorium in Thief River Falls. Invitations have been sent to music departments in many area schools but people of all ages who enjoy jazz music are encouraged to attend. The band is directed by Robert Baca and has toured in Europe, the Pacific Rim and was the first jazz band to visit the People's Republic of China since it reopened to the Western world. It is recognized as one of the best college jazz bands in the United States.



The Depot will be decorated for Christmas on the Prairie next weekend. It will have a Christmas tree trimmed in Victorian style and will be open for viewing. On December 7 the Depot will be the sight of story telling and it will be the starting point for historic tours.

Twomey on state council

voice in state government and is assured attention through its work with the Governor's Youth Cabinet. It was created to ensure that children and youth would become active partners in community decision-making because the most successful and effective policies are designed with input from the people that they will affect.

Composition of the council is four members from each of the state's eight U.S. Congressional Districts and four appointed at large. They advise and work with Action for Children, the Governor's Children's Cabinet, Legislative Commission on Children, Youth and Their Families and other state initiatives on a variety of issues and policies.

Role of the council is defined in Action for Children Executive Order 91-F which states:

- Create a vision for Minnesota's children and families;
- Develop and recommend strategies to improve opportunities for all children to reach their full potential;
- Develop and recommend measurements by which to assess yearly progress toward the vision;
- Recommend changes in the service delivery system that coordinate and concentrate resources on effective, high quality, "user friendly" services to those who need them;
- Create and monitor a public dialogue in the state to highlight children's needs and the importance of meeting those needs.

"Our next contact will be a conference call in December," Kamie added. "We will plan for the district survey distribution and sign up for conference planning committees. In January we meet on the subject of education, and may attend a meeting of the legislature's Education Committee. Our discussion session will take place at the Governor's Residence."

Kamie ranks at the top of her class at Lincoln with a 4.0 scholastic average. She was one of 54 young people in the state to be named a Governor's Scholar and spent a week in leadership training as part of that program this summer. Another phase of that activity will be to start a service project within the school at Lincoln.

She also serves as a student representative on the Minnesota Academic Excellence Foundation and is on the board of the Thief River Falls Centennial Committee.

Declining to list a favorite among her many activities at Lincoln, she said her idea is to "give a fair shot to everything."

A member of the choir for four years, she has been in the Swingsations jazz choir two years, sang in the Northwest Honors Choir as a junior and has taken private voice lessons for three years.

She has been a member of the National Honor Society at Lincoln, participated in drama and speech for two years and Project-4-Teens for four years. Kamie has also been a peer tutor for three years and Franklin middle school tutor for two years.

Last year she was treasurer of the junior class and as a freshman she served on the student senate. As a sophomore she was in the Key Club sponsored by the Kiwanis, and this year she is a member of the Investment Club and will take part in the Washington Close-Up program.

A varsity tennis player for five years, she was captain as a senior and named to the Academic All-State Tennis Team. She is also captain of the track team where she has been a varsity competitor for four years.

Kamie has been a participant in the city's recreational skating program and figure skating club, skated on the club's precision line as a freshman and is involved in reactivating a group of older girls to form a precision line again this year. She also serves on the junior skating board.

Through St. Bernard's Catholic church she has played piano, sung in the choir and been a member of the church youth group for four years. For the past two years she has served on the Diocesan Youth Board and participated in Youth Works, a project for habitat building for the needy in Mexico.

Undecided where she will attend post high school education next year, she has made applications to a number of large colleges and universities. In her applications, she states the following:

"Achieving is very important to me. I have always been a goal-oriented person and continually set high standards for myself. Throughout high school, I have worked to improve myself academically as well as socially. I help others through my active involvement in various school activities and I help to better myself by taking advantage of the opportunities available to me."

Service on the Youth Advisory Council will fit well with her several goals of service to others and self improvement.

their applicability in Minnesota," said Adeel Lari, director of Mn/DOT's Office of Alternative Transportation Financing. "We encourage communities to view tolls objectively and think about the options and benefits toll financing can provide."

The state legislature has strongly encouraged the consideration of tolls through legislation approved in 1993, 1994 and 1995. The Transmart initiative is in response to the legislature's policy direction and Mn/DOT's belief that the potential benefits of toll financing should be fully explored.

Interest in the Internet

Warren — Many citizens attended a recent Chamber of Commerce meeting which addressed the issue of local access to the Internet. Business people, doctors, and educators in Warren all said they use the Internet in their jobs.

The phone company does not provide local access, but a group of private citizens is trying to provide the service. Local access would eliminate expensive long distance bills, but requires expensive equipment. The group needs to raise about $100,000 and have applied for a grant. The Internet is currently on display at the Marshall County Extension Educator and the public is welcome to use it.

What do we do now?

Bagley — The Clearwater county commissioners and First National Bank are trying to decide what to do with a half-built house.

The house was mortgaged through the bank and built by Curtis Pouliot who left Bagley and the unfinished house in 1994. His whereabouts are unknown. The county is involved because part of the house was built on land controlled by the DNR. The property line extends through a large living room and an enclosed porch with a hot tub.

The house cannot be sold as it is. Options include: buying the state owned land that the house is on, or tearing down the part of the house that crosses the property line.

7th and 8th grade students study county issue

Roseau —Seventh and eighth grade students are teaming up to study the county landfill, recycling and solid waste issues. The students are in Aida McCabe's math class and Lawrence McCabe's earth science class.

The project began last year when (last year's) eighth grade class went to the landfill and developed graphs on Roseau County recycling numbers from 1991 through 1994. Photographs and graphs were entered into the Internet so students can exchange information with mathematics and science education experts, researchers and other students.

The McCabes hope that the statistics the students compile will have an impact on government decisions on waste and recycling.

He's not walking on thin ice

Williams — Resort operator John Cook wanted a way to transport guests from the resort to the best ice fishing spots without having to worry about falling through thin ice. He decided what he needed was a hovercraft.

However, a new hovercraft costs about $60,000. So he built one. He ordered plans and parts for about $4,000 and has spent about 200 hours building the craft.

The craft is safer than a Bombardier on early ice. The craft will float on its hull if the ice cracks while the craft is parked, and if the hull is damaged 130 milk jugs secured under the floor will keep the craft afloat.

Polk Co. rescinds action adopting MN Wetlands Act

By unanimous action of its board of commissioners Tuesday, November 28, Polk county joined a growing list of Minnesota counties which have withdrawn from participation in the Minnesota Wetlands Conservation Act of 1991.

Pennington, Marshall and Beltrami counties in this area of the state were among five counties which originally refused to sign the documents adopting the permanent rules for the state wetlands act. Now 17 counties have joined these five by rescinded their signing and others are considering similar action.

John P. (Jack) Schmalenberg, county coordinator to and clerk of the Polk county board of commissioners, told the Northern Watch that the action was taken following discussions and deliberation over approximately the past year. He said the board had sought changes in the law through legislation carried by Sen. LeRoy Stumpf in the last legislative session, but when that bill was substantially altered and eventually failed on a procedural maneuver, the board felt compelled to remove the county from terms of the Act.

Commissioner Eugene Mattson of East Grand Forks offered the resolution to rescind and it was seconded by Don Bakken of Fertile. Also voting in favor were Warren Strandell of East Grand Forks and Lyle Eisert of Crookston. Rupert Syverson of McIntosh, chairman of the board, presided at the meeting but the chairman usually does not vote except to break a tie vote, Schmalenberg said.

The full resolution adopted by the Polk county board reads as follows:

"WHEREAS, the Minnesota Legislature did adopt in 1991, and amend in 1993, Laws known as the Wetland Conservation Act of 1991, and

"WHEREAS, the Board of County Commissioners of Polk County supports conservation of, and protection of, Polk County's and State of Minnesota's ecological systems, and

"WHEREAS, in the spirit of the State and Local Partnership, Polk County adopted a resolution to implement the permanent rules for wetlands conservation; and

"WHEREAS, after two years of working with these rules, the Polk County Board of Commissioners does not believe that Minnesota Code of Agency Rules 8420.0100 through 8420.0760 and 8420.1010 through 8420.1060 (known as the permanent rules for the implementation of the Wetlands Conservation Act of 1991) and promulgated by the Board of Water and Soil Resources, correctly interprets the meaning, purpose and spirit of the Wetlands Conservation Act of 1991.

"NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of County Commissioners of Polk County that the Resolution No. 93-12-93 dated December 20, 1993 adopting the implementation of the permanent rules for the operation of the Wetlands Conservation Act be and the same hereby is rescinded effective April 1, 1996."

The April 1, 1996, effective date leaves time for the 1996 Legislature and the Board of Water and Soil Resources to make acceptable changes in the law and rules so that the rescinding action can be withdrawn.

Organizers of Christmas for Pennington County are seeking names for Angel Trees in Pennington county. The purpose is to help make sure children who would not otherwise receive Christmas gifts, receive something. In order to protect the identity of the children and their families, the names are not put on gift tags placed on the Christmas trees. Individuals interested in buying a gift can take a name tag off the trees, purchase the gift and return it to event organizers. Last year, over 85 families received gifts. One of the Angel Trees is located at Lori's Hallmark in downtown Thief River Falls. Another is located at Kmart. Pictured from left are Lori Carpenter, of Lori's Hallmark, Wendy Mattson, event organizers, and Melinda Treitline, event organizer.

Immunization clinics set in several area communities

North Valley Home Health has scheduled a number of public immunization clinics in area communities where anyone who needs immunizations is encouraged to attend.

Vaccine provided free of charge by the Minnesota Department of Health is available for DTP, DTAP, HTPHib, Td, DT, Hep B infant, Hep B qualifying adult or adolescent, OPV, MMR and Hib, according to Nancy Maurstad, RN, at North Valley Home Health. She can be contacted for more information at 745-5154 or 1-800-950-6986.

The clinics are not intended as substitution for the child's usual well-child visit with his or her physician. A child's immunization record should be brought to the clinic since immunizations will not be provided without it.

Clinics are scheduled as follows:

Dec. 4—9 to 11 a.m. at the Stephen Clinic building;

Dec. 5—9 to 11 a.m. at the Newfolden Community Center;

Dec. 9—8:30 to 9:30 a.m. at North Valley Home Health office in Warren and 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. at the Living At Home/Block Nurse Program office in Argyle;

Dec. 14—9 to 11 a.m. at the Grygla Civic Center;

Dec. 18—9 to 11 a.m. at the Evangelical Covenant Church in Warren.

There will be a $5 fee for administering the vaccine but no one will be refused immunization because of inability to pay.

Rural cities lead way in spending funds per capita

An analysis of the latest available financial data for Minnesota's cities and counties from the State Auditor's office shows that cities outside the seven county metropolitan area led the way in per capita spending increases for operating expenses from 1989 to 1993.

Thief River Falls was ranked fourth in 1993 among 23 cities with a population 5,000 to 10,000 in per capita expenditures (excluding capital outlays). The average per capita expenditure in 1993 was $108.89. That however, is less than $114.54 spent per capita in 1989. Comments.

Thief River Falls City Administrator Roger DeLap explained that several factors contribute to the city's high ranking. DeLap noted that Thief River Falls is a small county and has a relatively small tax base. The city has undertaken major school renovation projects and improvements to the water treatment plant as well. DeLap said he likes to think that the city has made a lot of infrastructure improvements, which many other cities haven't yet made. DeLap also noted that as a regional center, the city also absorbs some costs.

Several categories were examined in the study including general government spending, health and public safety spending, street and maintenance spending, culture and recreation spending, housing and economic development spending, and a miscellaneous category. Figures were taken from 1993 reports on per capita expenditures (excluding capital outlays). An average was established for each category from among the cities studied.

Among the 23 cities compared with Thief River Falls, the average general government spending was $68.59 per capita. Thief River Falls spent $68.37 per capita. For health and public safety, the average was $120.06 per capita. Thief

TRF Truth in Taxation public hearing Tuesday

Thief River Falls Truth in Taxation hearing will be held 5 p.m. Tuesday, December 5, at Northwest Regional Library in Thief River Falls.

The public hearing provides citizens an opportunity to express their opinions on the budget and proposed amount of property taxes. These taxes are used to pay for the costs and services the city will provide in 1996.

Thief River Falls levy increase is 7.3 per cent, which will raise an additional $70,000 to address ADA requirements. The total raised by the levy has been estimated at $1,025,800.

Entrepreneurs build bird feed business

by Elizabeth Ott
Northern Watch Reporter

Several women from the region were recently recognized for their achievements in business. Among the women recognized by WIND (Women In New Development) was Doris Mortenson who was named Entrepreneur of the Year.

Doris is the co-founder of D&D Commodities Ltd. of Stephen. She and Dick Herbert started processing bird food in June of 1989. They had been working for Minn-Dak Seeds, Inc. of Grand Forks and suggested that the company not only ship bird food, but package it as well. Minn-Dak was not interested in the idea.

Doris and Dick decided to branch out on their own. In 1987 they started their own bird food importing and exporting business. With help from the MIF (Minnesota Initiative Fund) and the local bank, D&D Commodities built an addition to the original building and added equipment for cleaning, processing and blending. By 1989 they were shipping in bulk, uncleaned seeds and shipping out packaged blended bird food.

In 1990 the company began to package food for different retail levels. The expansion of the product line was accomplished with several loans including a second loan from MIF and the Northwest Regional Development Center.

The business has two product lines. L'Avian Plus is a line of professional products that are sold to distributors who sell to pet food stores. 3-D Pet Products are sold to mass merchandisers such as Wal-Mart and hardware stores. In addition to the product lines, the company also does some custom packaging for stores. The company produces feed for caged birds such as parakeets, finches and other pet birds. They also package food for small pets such as gerbils and hamsters and they produce some food for wild birds.

As the next phase of development, the company hired a national marketing director. D&D now has four other sales representatives working in the northeastern region of the U.S., Texas, Chicago and Florida. With the continuing expansion of the company, D&D is currently in the process of hiring a sales person to work in house and help with trade shows. The company now has 40 distributors selling L'Avian Pet Products throughout the U.S. and Canada and three of their products are sold to Wal-Mart stores nationwide.

When the company started it had two full-time employees, Doris and Dick. Dick's sons, who were in high school and college at the time, also helped. By September of that first year, they hired a secretary. Now the company employs 25 people.

"One of the more challenging and rewarding parts of being an entrepreneur is employing people," said Doris.

The company benefits the area not just by creating jobs and employing people, but by buying locally. Although some of the products used in bird seed simply are not grown in the area, some are. D&D buys sunflowers, millet, corn, buckwheat and flax from local farmers and elevators. A total of 10 to 15 semi loads of raw materials are received by the company each day. Likewise, 10 to 15 semi loads

Fire destroys mechine quonset

Red Lake Falls — Gary Purath is just grateful no one was hurt after a fire broke out at 7:30 a.m. on Thanksgiving Day. Purath's machine quonset and the machinery inside were destroyed.

He said that the fire intensified quickly. "What looked like a manageable fire was out of control in minutes,' explained Purath.

The fire department was able to save a drying bin containing 2,000 to 3,000 bushels of corn. The cause of the fire is under investigation.

Femily's home destroyed in fire

Donaldson — A house fire on November 22 destroyed most of the home of Wayne and Kely Hanson of rural Donaldson.

No one was home when the fire started. Fire fighters aren't sure what caused the fire, but faulty wiring is suspected.

The fire did not spread through the entire house, but enough damage was done to make the house unlivable. The community responded by throwing a fire shower for the family on Friday, December 1.

Red Lake county accidents reported

Red Lake county sheriff's department responded to two multiple car accidents during the past week.

According to a sheriff's department spokesperson, at 3:40 p.m. November 29 the sheriff's department received a report of an accident in Oklee. Samuel Rustan, Oklee, was driving a pickup west on Second Avenue and attempted a u-turn and collided with a 1979 Chevrolet Corsica driven by Kent Bergerson, Oklee. Bergerson was going east on Second Avenue. The Bergerson vehicle then slid into a parked 1986 Mercury owned by Melvin Johnson of Brooks. There were no injuries, but damage was considerable.

On November 29 at 5:55 p.m. the Red Lake county sheriff's department received a report of an accident in Red Lake Falls on North Broadway Avenue. A 1995 Plymouth stationwagon driven by Christopher Dean Olson of Red Lake Falls was going north on Broadway and a vehicle driven Donald Raimn, Grand Forks, was going south on Broadway. The Raimn vehicle made a left turn into a private driveway. Olson hit the brakes which caused the vehicle to slide and he could not correct the slide and hit a southbound vehicle driven by James Tveit, Red Lake Falls. Tveit and his daughter were taken by ambulance to Riverview hospital. Occupants of the Olson vehicle went by private vehicle to the hospital to be checked.

All were wearing seat belts. There was extensive damage to both vehicles.

SOUPÇON

If you are into making quick breads for the holiday season, make these ahead of time and pop them into the freezer for quick holiday treats.

Here's something a little different — serve with jelly for a special treat:

PEANUT BUTTER BREAD

1/2 cup creamy peanut butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 cup sugar
1 3/4 cups milk
2 1/4 cups flour
1 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt

Place sugar, peanut butter and vanilla in large mixing bowl and beat fluffy. Gradually blend in milk.

In another bowl, stir together flour, baking powder and salt. Add 1/3 of this mixture at a time to peanut butter mixture, mixing at low speed and then beating smooth.

Spread batter into greased 9x5 inch loaf pan and bake at 350 degrees for 45-50 minutes.

Pull this Scandinavian "cake" out of your freezer for a real treat for Christmas dinner:

YULEKAGE

1/4 cup shortening
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg, well beaten
1 teaspoon salt
1 pint whole milk, scalded
2 cakes yeast
1/2 cup lukewarm water
3 cardamon seeds, crushed
1/2 cup mixed fruit peels
1 cup white raisins
8 candied cherries
About 7 cups flour

Dissolve yeast in lukewarm water.

To hot milk, add sugar, shortening, salt and egg. Let mixture become lukewarm.

Add yeast mixture and cardamon, then half of the flour, mixing well. Add fruit peel and rest of flour, then knead well.

Let dough rise, punch down and let rise again.

Shape into 3 round loaves on cookie sheet. Let rise until double, then bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour. Frost with powdered sugar and hot water mixture and decorate with candied cherry quarters.

What a festive bread, just right for the holidays.

ORANGE CRANBERRY BREAD

2 cups flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon soda
1 cup sugar
1 egg, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 cup orange juice
2 tablespoons hot water
3/4 cup chopped nuts
1 cup cranberries, chopped coarsely
Grated rind of 1 orange.

Sift dry ingredients together.

Melt butter and add to dry ingredients, along with egg, orange juice and water. Mix just until dry ingredients are moistened.

Fold in nuts, cranberries and orange rind. Pour into greased 9x5 loaf pan and allow to stand 20 minutes.

Bake at 350 degrees for about 1 hour. Let stand 24 hours before cutting.

Try this yummy Swedish bread for a special Yuletide treat:

SWEDISH APRICOT NUT BREAD

1 cup dried apricots
1/2 to 1 cup brandy
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons softened butter
1 egg, slightly beaten
Grated rind of 1 lemon
1/2 cup orange juice
2 cups flour
2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup chopped nuts

Soak apricots in brandy at least 3 hours. Drain, reserving 1/4 cup brandy, and cut each apricot into 6 pieces.

Cream sugar and butter until fluffy. Add egg and lemon rind and beat smooth. Add reserved 1/4 cup of brandy and orange juice.

Sift dry ingredients together and then sift gradually into batter, stirring well. Fold in nuts and apricots.

Grease an 8 inch pan well, line with brown paper and grease again. Let stand 20 minutes before baking.

Bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour. Turn out of pan while hot and peel off paper. Let cook on rack.

Let stand 24 hours before cutting.

Courses offered by custom training and continuing education

Courses in Fire Extinguisher Training and CPR & First Aid Training for Employees are being offered in December by the custom training and continuing education department at Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls.

Fire Extinguisher Training will be offered Tuesday, December 12, from 1 to 4 p.m. in Room 131 at Northland with Mrff Siderberg instructing. Cost will be $30 and registration deadline is December 8. Pre-registration and pre-payment is required.

Topics to be covered include when to fight a fire and when not to fight a fire, how to properly handle a fire extinguisher, types of fire extinguishers and classes of fires.

Participants should bring a fire extinguisher to class as they will participate in a live burn where they will receive actual experience in putting out a fire.

Fire Protection Standard of the Occupation Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) states: "Where an employer has provided portable fire extinguishers for employee use in the workplace, the employer shall also provide an educational program to familiarize employees with the general principles of fire extinguisher use and the hazards involved with incipient stage fire fighting."

CPR & First Aid Training for Employees will take place Wednesday, December 13, from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. in Room 131 at Northland. Mrff Siderberg will instruct and cost is $80. Pre-registration and pre-payment is required by December 8.

OSHA requires that a person trained in first aid be available on the worksite whenever professional medical attention is more than four to eight minutes away from any point on the site. Travel time of four minutes or less is required when employees are working with materials that could adversely affect their breathing or if they are subject to electrical shock. Irreversible brain damage can result in four minutes due to lack of oxygen.

The course will provide information on recognizing and caring for breathing and cardiac emergencies in adults, identifying and caring for life-threatening bleeding, sudden illness and injuries (trauma), choking, shock, burns and healthy lifestyles and prevention.

Both courses are considered appropriate for employers who have fewer than five employees needing the training. If more than five need the training, it may be more economical to hold the training session at the worksite. Special sessions can be arranged at the company's convenience.

For more information call 681-0793 or 1-800-959-6282.

Opinions

Marvin Lundin
Editor

Editorial opinion published on this page, whether locally written or re-printed from other sources is intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. Opinions expressed by the editor are his own and not necessarily those of other staff members. Opinions expressed in items from other publications may be contradictory to the editor's own views but are offered for their general interest.

There Will Be Peace.... Or Else!

"I've told you at least a million times not to exaggerate!" That obviously contradictory admonition seems comparable to some of the statements made in President Clinton's address to the nation seeking public and Congressional support for sending 20,000 United States troops to Bosnia.

"In the choice between peace and war, America must choose peace," the President said. Good thought. Peace is nice. Peace is comfortable. Peace is tranquil. Peace is desirable. Peace is what everyone should want.

But everyone doesn't want to keep the peace, and a whole lot of Bosnians don't want the United States and other nations to come in and try to keep theirs. So here comes the catch:

"Anyone—anyone who takes on our troops will suffer the consequences," the President said. "We will fight fire with fire, and then some."

Uh huh. Choose peace, make war.

The truth is, threats and resolve break down in the face of reality. Exactly what forceful military response alternatives are there when a random suicidal sniper sprays a squad of soldiers with bullets or an isolated resistance fighter lobs a mortar shell into a military compound from a residential area or blows up a convoy vehicle?

Yes, we sympathize with the thousands of innocent victims of Bosnian warfare and we agree that peace would be preferable. But we sincerely doubt that a 60,000 member UN military force which includes 20,000 U.S. troops will be able to effectively maintain that peace for any significant period of time. Perhaps that view is the essence of pessimism, but we doubt it.

Tell Us Something We Don't Already Know....

It was only a college graduate student's research project, but the findings of a study made by Pamela Weir Love were featured in a news release sent out by the Minnesota Extension Service through its "Minnesota's Future" forum. The release almost made it sound as though Love's findings were either previously unknown or had been unexpected.

The student's study was on how changes in dairy farming had affected the economy of Green Isle, a small community in Sibley county, 50 miles from downtown Minneapolis. The study showed that consolidation of numerous small dairy farms into large dairy operations or conversion of dairy operations to cash crop farming adversely affected the business community.

Tell us something we don't already know.

In brief, Love's research showed that "small" dairy farmers don't have time to travel hours for feed, equipment and parts and spend most of their money locally on those and other items. Larger dairy operations by-pass local suppliers and buy in volume direct from manufacturers or jobbers in distant places.

Conversion of year-around labor-intensive dairy farms to seasonal cash crop operations had an even greater adverse community impact. At Green Isle, retail sales dropped by 81 per cent between 1979 and 1989. Former dairy farmers still live in the area but rent out their land to cash crop farmers. In the future, the heirs of these current residents—who already have left the area—will collect those rent checks elsewhere.

Remaining farmers in the area have done what they felt they had to do to make a living—expand or sell their cattle and raise cash crops or rent out the land. It was the best thing for them but a disaster for the community.

Love's findings are not surprising; they are common knowledge in rural Minnesota. What is surprising is that they were received by her faculty advisor and others as some sort of revelation.

Go Slow On Increasing The Speed Limits

Another question for the 1996 session of the Minnesota Legislature to consider will be what to do, if anything, about speed limits on highways in the state. President Clinton signed legislation at the federal level Tuesday that repeals the national limits which had been imposed since 1974.

The federal limits set 21 years ago were instituted as an energy-saving measure when oil prices skyrocketed and there were shortages of gasoline. Crude oil prices have moderated and there seems to be an ample existing supply of motor fuels at the present time. The tendency of the federal administration seems to be to live for the moment, economically speaking.

Speed limit reduction may or may not have accomplished its goal of significantly reducing energy consumption, but we have no doubt there was a very beneficial side effect that is infinitely more important—saving lives. Highway fatalities have declined nationally, partially as a result of better roads and safer vehicles but also because of reduced highway speeds.

There is no question that speed limits are routinely exceeded, probably by a majority of drivers. Many law enforcement personnel will tell you, however, that the "normal fudge factor" for highway driving speed is 10 miles per hour above the posted limit. That means that despite the present limits, many drivers consider 65 to be their personal speed limit on regular highways and 75 to be the upper boundary on rural Interstate routes where the posted limit is now 65. Raising the posted limits could be expected to increase the average top speeds accordingly.

In daylight on long stretches of rural roadway where traffic is extremely light, it is difficult to rationalize a 55-mile-per-hour limit. This becomes even more difficult after driving on crowded metro area freeways where vehicles traveling at 55 miles per hour are an impediment to normal traffic flow. Trying to effectively enforce a modest speed limit in that volume of vehicles would be like trying to empty Red Lake with a tin cup.

There is a legitimate reason to question the need for speed. How fast do people have to expect to travel on the highways to reach their destinations in a reasonable amount of time? It strikes us that the mile a minute standard is about right—allowing an hour or so to travel 60 miles on unrestricted roadway.

There is a case to be made for increases on divided highways where one-way traffic reduces collision risk. Most of these highways could handle an increase in the speed limit to 65 miles per hour, matching the rural Interstate limit.

We can well remember the pre-1974 years when the calls we received from area law enforcement to photograph serious traffic accidents were all too frequent. We dreaded nights following celebrations and events such as proms and graduations which almost always seemed to produce highway accidents with fatalities or serious injuries.

There have been fewer of those calls and those accidents in recent years and we credit reduced speeds for much of the improvement. Drivers have become accustomed to the present limits as a new generation and more has grown up with it. Energy conservation is still a worthy objective. Eliminating the federal mandate on highway speed is O.K., but why tamper too much with what has proved to be a good thing for Minnesotans?

River Falls spent $140.83 per capita. The average for street maintenance was $75.79 per capita. Thief River Falls spent $60.76. The average per capita expenditure on culture and recreation was $55.40. Thief River Falls spent $155.81 per capita, according to the report. The per capita spent on housing and economic development was $22.01. Thief River Falls spent $12.60 per capita. The per capita figure for miscellaneous spending was $90.51. Thief River Falls spent $103.37.

Thief River Falls received 46.7 per cent of its revenue in 1989 from state aid. In 1993, it received 41.1 per cent of its revenue from state aid. In 1989 it received 21.7 per cent of its revenue from property taxes, but 17.5 per cent of its revenues from property taxes in 1993.

The top five cities ranked in the study, listed in order, were: Virginia, East Grand Forks, International Falls, Thief River Falls, and Crookston.

According to the study, total operating expenditures per capita (with no capital outlay expenses included) for the 718 non-metropolitan cities increased on average from $277.48 in 1989 to $337.63 in 1993, or nearly 22 per cent. The 137 cities in the seven county metropolitan area increased about 13.5 per cent from $303.53 to $344.31. (The price index of state and local government purchases for the country as a whole increased about 14.5 per cent from 1989 to 1993.) In the same time period, the seven counties in the metropolitan area showed the lowest percentage increase in per capita operating expenditures from $45.51 in 1989 to $540.95 in 1993, or almost 18 per cent. The 71 non-metropolitan counties still have the highest per capita spending, though, with $660.29 in 1993.

Pennington county was ranked 37th out of 71 non-metropolitan counties. In 1989 it spent $520.96 per capita. In 1993 it spent $609.23 per capita, a 16.9 per cent change. Of the total spent in 1993, $94.11 was spent on general government, $112.16 on health and public safety, $102.15 on highways, $255.40 on public welfare, $30.57 on culture and recreation, and $14.83 on miscellaneous expenditures. The average for the 71 non-metropolitan counties was $105.85 per capita on general government, $117.63 on health and public safety, $118.24 on highways, $255.11 on public welfare, $40.30 on culture and recreation, and $23.27 on miscellaneous expenditures.

Revenue to Pennington County in the form of property tax during 1993 was $189.69 per capita. In 1989 the amount of property tax per capita was $157.38. The per cent of revenue coming from state aid and all taxes increased between 1989 and 1993. In 1989, the county received 40.2 per cent of its revenue from state aid. In 1993 it received 43 per cent of its revenue from state aid. In 1989, it received 23.4 per cent of revenue from all taxes, but 26.5 per cent in 1993.

Of area counties in the same designation, Mahnomen was ranked fifth, Kittson 11th, Red Lake 15th, Polk 35th and Roseau 67th.

Revenue sources

Comments by the Minnesota Taxpayers Association state that an analysis of major revenue sources for cities and counties shows different patterns by regions of the state. Both non-metropolitan and metropolitan cities showed increases in the portion of their revenues on average coming from property taxes, but the metropolitan cities relied much more heavily on property taxes in both years than cities outside the seven county metropolitan area. The metropolitan cities also showed a larger increase in the property tax portion of their revenues over four years. In 1989, metropolitan cities on average raised 37.3 per cent of their revenues from property taxes, while non-metropolitan cities raised only 21.8 per cent from that source. In 1993, that portion had jumped to 41.7 per cent for the seven county area cities, but only 22 per cent for the other cities.

The report states, "In a period of fiscal restraint, one would expect that the portion of cities' revenues coming from state aids, their other major revenue source, would show a decline, too. All cities did see a decline in the share of their revenues from state aids. Metropolitan cities' revenue from state aid dropped from 24.3 per cent of total revenue in 1989 to only 18.6 per cent in 1993. The decline in the non-metropolitan cities' portion of revenues from state aids was not as dramatic — from 43.4 per cent in 1989 to 41 per cent in 1993.

"For counties, the seven county metro area was the only region showing a decreased reliance on taxes as a source of revenue. In 1989, 41.8 per cent of the seven metro counties' revenues on average came from taxes, almost all of which are property taxes. (Actual property tax collections are not readily available from the state auditor's financial data.) That percentage declined to 40.7 per cent in 1993. The nine other metropolitan counties showed an increased reliance on taxes, up from 34.3 per cent in 1989 to 37.1 per cent in 1993. The 71 non-metropolitan counties' share of revenues from taxes increased from an average of 26.1 per cent to 30.4 per cent in the same time period.

"Two groups of counties actually saw an increase in the portion of their revenues from state aids. The seven metropolitan counties' share of revenues from state aids increased slightly from 25.5 per cent in 1989 to 25.7 per cent in 1993, while the nine other metropolitan counties' share from state aids increased from 31.7 per cent to 33 per cent. The non-metropolitan counties' share of revenue from state aids dropped from 43.4 per cent to 40 per cent, but was significantly higher than the other two groups."

Local youth enters plea to assault charge

Seventeen-year-old Kenneth David Schwartz pled guilty Wednesday, November 29, to assaulting a local man with a baseball bat.

Though Schwartz is a minor, he was referred to adult court after a hearing. He was then charged with attempted murder in the first degree, assault in the first degree and second degree.

The charges against Schwartz stem from an incident on September 21. Schwartz and Kelly Stepp went to the victim's house to confront him about telephone calls he allegedly made to a local woman. The victim allowed them into his house where an argument ensued and Stepp and Schwartz hit the victim with baseball bats so hard that he suffered a fractured skull and broken arm. During the beating, one of the bats broke.

In a plea agreement announced Wednesday, Schwartz pled guilty to one count of assault in the first degree. Pennington County Assistant Attorney Alan Rogalla recommended that Schwartz serve 86 months in prison.

Schwartz, who was represented by Assistant Public Attorney, Pam Aanenson, told Ninth District Judge Dennis Murphy that he had been drinking at the time of the incident, but understood it was wrong. He asked to be free for Christmas as his father had died recently.

Judge Murphy accepted the plea and ordered a pre-sentence investigation. Schwartz was out on $10,000 bond and that was vacated by the judge. Sentencing will be scheduled for a later date.

Senator Rod Grams calls for significant BWCA change

Following a meeting Monday with U. S. Forest Service Chief Jack Ward Thomas, U. S. Senator Rod Grams of Minnesota called for significant changes in the management of the Boundary Waters Canoe Area Wilderness.

Sen. Grams said that burdensome rules restricting access and usage of the BWCA must be lifted and warned the Forest Service against using day use permits as an excuse for imposing future quotas on visitors.

The senator said he informed Thomas of concerns raised at two recent field hearings in Minnesota regarding Forest Service management policy, including the reduction of motorized usage of portages in northern Minnesota, the problems facing older and disabled visitors to the BWCA, and the possibility of future restrictions on access based on newly created day-use permits.

"It was clear from the field hearings that Minnesotans, especially those who live, work and enjoy recreation in northern Minnesota, are troubled by the actions and attitudes of the Forest Service and the Park Service," Sen. Grams said.

"As a representative of the people of Minnesota, I decided to meet with Mr. Thomas and express their frustrations with federal land management policies. I hope the Forest Service got the message."

Sen. Grams invited Thomas to join him in northern Minnesota to hear the concerns first hand. A member of the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee, the senator pledged to continue his efforts in the senate to lift unnecessary restrictions on visitors and to make the federal government more accountable to the people of Minnesota.

"We cannot tolerate policies which restrict access to our public lands from the Minnesotans who want to use them, especially the elderly and the disabled," he said.

"Nor can we allow the imposition of quotas or other bureaucratic activities to interfere with the public enjoyment of our natural resources. The people of northern Minnesota have been ignored for too long; it's time for their voices to be heard in Washington."

Huskies featuring new cast

Goodridge boys will start the 1995-96 high school basketball season tonight (Saturday) at Northome with an entirely different cast than the team that went 16-7 a year ago since all five starters graduated, and head coach John Rahn left for a position in Iowa.

Eric Mickelson has succeeded Rahn, moving up from the assistant position he held the past three years. Before arriving in Goodridge, Mickelson was a teacher/coach at Marshall County Central.

The Huskies' lack of varsity experience is a concern, admitted Mickelson, but he has been impressed with the off-season development with the younger players, and is confident the program will remain competitive. "We're real excited," he said. "We're going to need a lot of people to step up and fill some holes, but these kids have really come along. We're optimistic. I think we're going to surprise some people."

Only varsity experience on hand rests with 6-2 senior John Gallagher, 5-11 junior Benji Marquis and 5-10 senior Trevor Kiesow. Gallagher, however, is among a number of Huskies hit by preseason injuries, and an ankle sprain will likely sideline him for two weeks.

Chris Grabowski, a strong 6-1 junior, is expected to add rebound strength to the Huskies' inside game. Junior Brent Philipp was MVP on the Huskies' junior varsity last year, while sophomores Jared Eidelbes, Jim Scheef and Ben Hanson also figure to see playing time.

"I think we'll be a well-balanced team," offered Mickelson. "We have two-three kids who can do a job inside, and we've got a few who can shoot the threes."

New RLCC coach is familiar

Red Lake County Central opened the 1995-96 boys high school basketball season Friday with a new head coach. But Brad Borene is hardly a newcomer to the program, having served the past 16 years as the assistant to Todd Fore, who left for an administrative position at Bagley, where he also assumed the boys basketball coaching position.

Borene also worked with the volleyball program for 14 years, as both an assistant and head coach.

His current basketball roster features 6-2 Aaron Chaput and 6-1 Bryce Huotari, returning starters off last years 17-8 team that finished third in Section 8A Sub-Section 3. Both are seniors.

Chaput began the year with 1,477 career points after averaging 24 points per game as a junior.

Seniors Shawn Hince and Paul Peterson saw limited playing time at the varsity level in 1994-95, but will be looking to join Chaput and Huotari in the starting line-up this season.

A wide-open battle for the fifth spot features seniors Dusty Paquin, Nick Olson, Jacob Anderson, and Sam Lerohl, along with freshman Mark Lorenson.

"We've got average size, and we're fairly quick," noted Borene. "We have pretty good balance with our inside and outside game. We're hoping to be able to push the ball up the floor on the fast break."

NCTC women open with comeback win

A strong finish took care of a slow start as the Northland Community and Technical College women's basketball team opened its 1995-96 season Wednesday with a come-from-behind 54-43 home court win over NDSU-Bottineau.

The visitors, who arrived in Thief River Falls with a 5-2 record, led 26-19 at halftime, but were outscored 35-17 in the second half.

"First game jitters showed up in the first half," explained Northland coach Rick Nikunen. "That affects you offensively more than anything. It took us a half to settle down and get going. We picked up the tempo in the second half and a did a pretty nice job."

Gina Salverson scored 16 points and pulled down 11 rebounds for the Pioneers, while Angel Mickelson had a 12-point, 9-rebound game and Jenny Smith contributed 12 points. Evonne Hoffman led NDSU-Bottineau with 14 points.

Northland was 22-for-56 from the field (39 percent) and 10-for-21 at the free throw line. NDSU-Bottineau struggled through a 17-for-63 night from the floor (27 percent) while going 4-for-4 at the line. The visitors finished with a 41-40 rebound edge, but also had more turnovers, 26-15.

"I thought we did a great job defensively," noted Nikunen. "When we were having trouble offensively in the first half, our defense kept us in the game."

Ponies' fourth quarter press beats Prowlers

Warren-Alvarado-Oslo broke open a close game with a 22-6 fourth quarter scoring run Tuesday for a 62-44 girls high school basketball win over visiting Thief River Falls. It was the 1995-96 season opener for both teams.

The Ponies led 11-7 at the end of the first quarter, trailed 21-20 at halftime and had a 40-38 edge through three quarters.

A fourth quarter switch to a pressing defense fueled the Ponies' game-ending surge.

"It was a great game until the fourth quarter," said Thief River Falls coach Sally Wiltse. "The turning point was obviously the fourth quarter. They threw a press at us and we didn't handle it very well. We had prepared for it, but we weren't disciplined enough in attacking it."

A good portion of the Prowlers' 32 turnovers came in the face of the final period press. "We have to do a better job taking care of the basketball," acknowledged Wiltse.

Jami Copp of the Ponies led all scorers with 21 points. Kim Stenseth netted 17 for the Prowlers.

Thief River Falls was 14-for-42 from the field (33 percent) and 16-for-23 at the free throw line, where Warren-Alvarado-Oslo made 18 of 24. The Ponies finished with a 24-22 rebound edge. They wound up with 26 turnovers.

"We did some things well, but you could tell it was our first game," said Wiltse.

Wolverines lose three-pointer in debut at Argyle

Poor shooting and a rash of fouls cost the Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke girls Tuesday in a season-opening 42-39 high school basketball loss at Argyle.

The Wolverines shot only 27 percent from the field (15/55) and had a 7-for-22 free throw night. They also watched the Eagles make 16 of 38 free throws.

"We were a little rough around the edges," admitted Wolverines coach Mike Gast. "We got high percentage shots. We just didn't drain them."

The back-and-forth contest featured an 11-8 Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke first quarter lead, a 24-20 Argyle halftime advantage and a 32-31 third quarter edge for the Wolverines, whose final chance ended on a turnover with six seconds remaining.

Jenny Nelson and Jenny Johnson of the Wolverines led all scorers with 15 and 13 points, respectively. "The two Jennys played well," noted Gast. "They got their points, and they played good defense."

Argyle was limited to a 12-for-29 night from the field (41 percent) and topped the turnover charts 34-20.

Nordics' press, break top Wolverines 61-50

Effective use of a pressing defense and fast break offense sparked Marshall County Central to a season-opening 61-50 girls high school basketball win over Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke Thursday.

It was the second start of the year for the Wolverines, and their second loss.

The Nordics won behind a strong 1-2 scoring/rebounding punch from Tricia Pederson (24 points, 14 rebounds) and Darlene Nelson (15 points, 15 rebounds).

"I thought we did a really good job on the boards," said Marshall County Central coach Tom Mjelde, whose team finished with a 43-33 advantage, getting 21 of them on the offensive end. "Trisha and Darlene did a tremendous job."

The press helped produce a 14-7 first quarter lead for the Nordics, who were up 30-18 at halftime and maintained a 40-32 third quarter spread.

Miki Waterworth added 10 points to the Nordics' offense. Melissa Bernstein led the Wolverines with 13 points, while Jenny Nelson netted 10.

Marshall County Central was 24-for-65 from the field (37 percent) and 13-for-24 at the free throw line. Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke had a tougher time shooting with a 17-for-61 showing from the field (27 percent). The Wolverines made 15 of 21 free throw attempts.

"Overall, for the first game, I was pleased," noted Mjelde. "We did some positive things. We did a pretty nice job pushing the ball up the floor, and with our press."

It was the Grygla home opener for the Wolverines, who also struggled with their shooting in a first-game loss at Argyle earlier in the week. "We played pretty well, but we're having trouble hitting the hole right now," said Goodridge/Grygla-Coach Mike Gast.

Northland men fall 88-84 in '95 opener

Final 90 seconds of play belonged to NDSU-Bottineau Wednesday, securing an 88-84 men's basketball win over Northland Community and Technical College.

It was the season opener for the Pioneers, while the winners were playing their ninth game and improving their record to 6-3.

Northland, down 40-39 at halftime, was still within 81-80 with 1 1/2 minutes remaining before losing ground.

"We didn't necessarily play a poor basketball game, but our inexperience showed up at the end," explained Northland coach Mark Dandhulf. "We shot poorly, and we did a poor job defensively on the boards in the last five minutes. Our decision-making process by our younger players has to be better in situations like that."

Four Pioneers hit double figures as Don Beverly scored 19 points, Hassan Jihad 18, Joey Wilebski 17, and Duane Parris 16. However, three NDSU-Bottineau players had 20 or more points as Greg Hammond and Jeff Poppe both netted 21 and Denver Allard had 20.

"We didn't shoot very well either from the field or at the free throw line, but we were still pleased with a lot of things we did," noted Dandhulf.

The Mustangs were 26-for-54 from the field (48 percent) and 13-for-25 at the free throw line, where Mahnomen was 17-for-38. The winners had a 41-34 rebound edge to compensate for 27 turnovers.

Blood drive set in Grygla Dec. 11th

During the holiday season, 150 donors are needed every day to meet the needs of area patients. The community blood drive in the Grygla-Gatzke-Skime area is scheduled for Monday, December 11 from 11:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. at the Grygla school old gym. The drive is sponsored by the Grygla Lion and Lioness.

Blood donors are often in short supply this time of year for two reasons: people who might volunteer to give blood become busy with family activities, traveling and shopping forget to donate; and businesses are reluctant to sponsor blood drives at this time because their employees are busier than usual.

Organizers hope to sign up 75 donors for this blood drive. Those wishing to donate may sign up by calling one of the following people: Ralph Rundell at 294-6177, Ione Aune at 294-6323, Hazel Aune 459-3315 or Loren Lusignan at 294-6155. Scheduling appointments assures a constant and efficient flow of donors with little or no waiting.

Donating blood is a safe and simple procedure that takes less than one hour. First, the donor will be asked some medical history questions to help assure patient and donor safety. Next, the pulse, temperature, blood pressure and blood iron level will be checked. The actual donation takes only about 10 minutes. Finally, the donor will be treated to refreshments.

Peterson sets town meeting on farm bill

Congressman Collin Peterson will be conducting an agriculture town meeting on the 1995 farm bill today (Saturday, December 2) from 2 to 4 p.m. in the conference room of the Wheat Growers building in Red Lake Falls.

"Farmers and producers are concerned about what the farm bill—or the lack of a farm bill—might mean for their future," Congressman Peterson said. "This meeting will give us a chance to sit down and talk about the farm bill debate and what kind of agriculture policy to expect from this Congress."

Peterson said that many farm policy issues are being debated now in connection with the budget bill and other agriculture-related bills. "It's imperative that I hear from people in the Seventh District who care about the future of the industry," he said.

Students to write for the Herald

Middle River — Students from Middle River's eighth grade journalism class will have a story printed in the Grand Forks Herald.

The students toured the Herald offices on November 15. It was during the tour that education editor Steve Schmidt suggested the students write a feature for the Herald.

The class decided to write a feature on Young's Store in Middle River. The story should appear in a Sunday edition of the Grand Forks Herald Youth Pages sometime in December.

County may increase snowmobile speed limit

Red Lake Falls — Red Lake County Sheriff Al Morken says that Pathfinders have requested the speed limit for snowmobiles in town be raised from 10 to 20 miles per hour.

Morken does not object to the request. The council will revise the ordinance and have a discussion on December 11. The council also discussed problems with snowmobiles residents' new sod.

The sheriff said he has contacted Arctco and Polaris and asked for a snowmobile to help patrol the area.

Craftsman hopes to sell in Canada

Swift — John Harren and his family are hoping to break into the Canadian toboggan market. They have started the Northern Toboggan and Sled manufacturing company.

The idea came from Harren's uncle, a priest who has worked in the Northwest Territories and northern Manitoba. In those northern regions of Canada toboggans are used by trappers and fishermen, but making wooden toboggans is a dying craft.

Harren learned the craft of making toboggans from an old toboggan maker named Milton Chaboyer. By the beginning of December, Harren had sold almost all of the first 80 sleds he made this year.

Students help students in Fosston program

The following students were chosen by their teachers as leaders and were named to the student board for the peer tutoring program at Fosston: Nick Sather, Eric Olson, Leah Havens, Jessica Stonberg, Adam Nelson, Cathy Illies, Karisa Stranda, Jamie Rendahl, Leah Savaloja. Yolanda Ebacher is the program supervisor.

Most school have special classes for honor students and special classes for kids who don't learn well in a standard classroom. What about the student who is average, but falls behind in class or needs help in just one particular subject. Where can he or she go for help? Fosston High School is working on a solution to this problem. It is starting a program which matches students with peer tutors. The program, which is still in the trial stage, is the dream of Dean of Students Barb Carlin. Carlin admits the program is not an original. She "stole" the idea from Bagley school where the program is about ten years old. The program is designed to help students who are scoring below average in a class, but are not classified as students with "special needs."

Carlin worked for nine years as a tutor for the Fosston school district. During that time she saw how complicated it is to get a student special help. Last year she started a volunteer tutor program. Students would tutor other students during study halls. However, Carlin ran into scheduling conflicts and other problems. By the end of the year, she was disappointed that she had not been able to help all the students who had requested tutors.

Her goal this year was to get a program that would work and was student run. Bernadette Simenson went to Bagley to research their program. She and Carlin then put together a plan. The school board found the plan to be worthwhile and directed Carlin to implement the program.

The program requires that students must have a referral from a parent or teacher. Students who are referred by teachers must also have permission from a parent. Tutors are also recommended by teachers and must have a grade of B or better in the class they are to tutor. Tutors are paid minimum wage for their work.

Both students and tutors gain skills from the program. Students improve their grades and gain study skills and tutors gain job skills by learning about things like time cards and deadlines. Both students and tutors learn responsibility. The students meet after school from

Seek nominees for recognition at TRF Centennial

Nominations of Thief River Falls community groups, organizations, individuals or businesses for recognition during the city's 1996 centennial year are being sought by the centennial recognition committee, co-chaired by Mayor Bob Reeve and Pennington county extension director Deb Zak.

Each month of the centennial year has been given a theme or topic to celebrate, and nominations are wanted to coincide with the various themes.

"The centennial committee plans to recognize these deserving businesses, groups, organizations or individuals for their contributions to the community," Zak said. "An appropriate public recognition will be made during each month at a centennial event and the recipient will 'reign' over that month's activities."

Nomination forms are available now and are due in the Pennington county extension office by the 15th of each month preceding the recognition. Nominations for January are due by December 15.

Nomination forms are available from the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce office, city auditorium, Northwest Medical Center, Pennington county extension office and members of the centennial recognition committee.

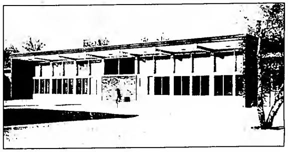
In addition to co-chairs Reeve and Zak, committee members include Dave Strong, Holly Haugen, Karen Kirkeby, Gail Holland, Collette Kujava, Marilyn Wigness, Shannon Olson, Evvie Womack, Terry Soine, Kamie Twomey and Rev. Joe DeCrans.

Themes selected for each month include the following: January—Celebrate Snow; February—Celebrate Health; March—Celebrate Agriculture; April—Celebrate Progress; May—Celebrate Environment; June—Celebrate Heritage; July—Celebrate Freedom; August—Celebrate Rivers; September—Celebrate 100th Birthday; October—Celebrate Homecoming; November—Celebrate Education; and December—Celebrate the Future.

"We encourage anyone in the community to send in nominations so that potential deserving recipients are not overlooked," Reeve said. Zak added that the more nominations are received, the better the selection committee will be able to give proper consideration to nominees on a comparative basis.

On the nomination forms, persons nominating potential recipients are asked to designate the month for which the nomination is made; the name of the business, group, individual or organization nominated; the address and phone number of that nominee; a brief explanation of why the nominee should be recognized; and the name, address and telephone number of the person making the nomination.

Those mailing the nomination forms should send them to Deb Zak, Pennington County Extension Office, P.O. Box 616, Thief River Falls, MN 56701. The phone number is 218-681-2116 and the FAX number is 218-681-0907.



This area on the south side of Valley Home in Thief River Falls is the planned location of a sunroom to be built when the approximately $50,000 needed for the project can be raised. A fund for the sunroom has been started and $5,750 has been donated so far.

Valley Home starts fund to build Sunroom addition to south side

With $5,750 presently in the fund, Valley Home in Thief River Falls has made a start in its efforts to raise funds for the addition of a sunroom to the south side of its building.

Administrator Elaine Anderson said that the home hopes to add the sunroom along the entire south wall of the dining room area when sufficient money has been raised to pay for the project. Cost is estimated to be $50,000.

Valley Home is located at the southwest edge of the city on highway 32 and is licensed by the Minnesota Department of Health as a board and care facility. It presently serves about 110 residents and provides housekeeping, laundry services, meals and snacks, recreational and social events and outings, assistance in arranging transportation, storage and administration of medications and 24-hour supervision with daily assessments by professional staff.

Valley Home is a not-for-profit operation and contributions to the home for the sunroom project are tax deductible as charitable donations. Those interested in donating may send checks to Valley Home, 523 Arnold Avenue South, Thief River Falls, MN 56701. Designate donations to the Sunroom Project.

Landowners Rights Ass'n plans meeting

Update meeting for members of the Minnesota Landowners Rights Association and others interested in landowner and property rights issues has been scheduled for Thursday, December 14, at 1:30 p.m. in the meeting rooms of the Best Western Inn of Thief River Falls.

Dave Zavoral of Grygla, legislative director of the association, will review past activities of the organization in attempting to modify state wetlands laws and rules and tell of developments since the legislative session ended last spring. There are now 23 counties in Minnesota which have not signed or have rescinded their signing of the Minnesota Wetlands Conservation Act agreement.

Sen. LeRoy Stumpf of Thief River Falls, who carried the wetlands act modification legislation in the Minnesota Senate last session, will be the main speaker. Others who were involved with legislative activity at the 1995 session are also expected to speak at the meeting.

Also on the program will be Don Parmeter, executive director of the Greater Northland Coalition at International Falls, who has been working on property rights issues for the past several years.

"Many of our members and others have asked about what is going on in the association at the present time and what plans we have for the coming legislative session," stated Leonard Furuseth of Thief River Falls, president of the MLRA.

"This meeting will present information and provide a forum for them to ask questions and receive answers on those and other issues. We will also have membership forms available for those who would like to join the association."

Don't shovel snow on roads

Property owners are reminded by the Minnesota Department of Transportation (Mn/DOT) that it is illegal to shovel snow from sidewalks and driveways into state highways or public streets.

Rod Pielan, state maintenance engineer, said shoveling snow onto streets and highways creates unsafe driving conditions and increases the cost of snow removal.

Mn/DOT maintenance workers have reported an increase in this type of activity this winter.

Trying her hand at welding during the Welding Day program attended by nearly 400 people on Wednesday, December 6, at Northland Community and Technical College is Heather Helsler of Ogema. Steve Magee, district manager of domestic sales for Miller Electric Manufacturing Company of Lakeville and one of a number of representatives assisting with demonstrations, is providing the instruction. Students from many area high schools were among the participants in the event. More photos and story in the December 13 Times.

Investigation yields study of intersections

Thief River Falls public safety committee has recommended to the city of Thief River Falls that yield signs be placed on Sixth Street at LaBree and Horace Avenues.

Police Chief Ken Froschheiser recently had an investigation of accidents at those intersections completed. The investigation shows that there have been a total of six accidents at each intersection since 1994. Almost in response, an accident was reported at Sixth and Horace, on Wednesday.

Chief Froschheiser said the yields would be placed on Sixth Street because Horace and LaBree are both collector streets.

The matter will be put on an agenda for the Thief River Falls City Council.

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere

It is time to do some Christmas baking so here are some recipes for you to try.

These treats not only look good, but taste good, too:

CANDY-COATED PRETZELS

8 ounces chocolate or vanilla flavored candy coating, cut into pieces
1/4 teaspoon peppermint or mint flavoring, if desired
4 ounces mini pretzels
1/2 cup crushed hard candy

Line cookie sheet with waxed paper.

Melt candy coating over low heat, stirring constantly (or microwave about 2 minutes, stirring once halfway through time). Stir in peppermint flavoring. Keep mixture warm.

Dip pretzels into coating, allowing excess to drip off. Place on waxed paper and sprinkle with crushed candy.

How about some really easy nut brittle you can make in the microwave:

MICROWAVE MIXED NUT BRITTLE

1 cup sugar
1/2 cup light corn syrup
1 cup mixed nuts
1 teaspoon butter or margarine
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon soda

Line cookie sheet with foil and butter lightly.

In micro-safe bowl, combine sugar and syrup and microwave on high for 4 minutes. Stir and then add nuts, blending well.

Microwave on high for 3 1/2 to 4 1/2 minutes, until mixture is very light brown. Stir in butter and vanilla and microwave on high for 1 minute.

Add soda and stir quickly to blend. Immediately pour onto buttered sheet, spreading quickly with a wooden spoon.

Cool 30 minutes and then break into pieces.

Shortbread cookies have been around for years -- If you wish, decorate these for the holidays, but they are also good just dusted with white or colored sugar:

DECORATED SHORTBREAD

1/4 cup packed brown sugar
2 tablespoons sugar
1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened
1 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon salt

In large bowl, beat sugars and butter until light and fluffy.

Spoon flour into measuring cup and level off. Add flour and salt to butter mixture, mixing well.

Roll out dough to 1/4 inch thick. Cut with 1 to 1 1/2 inch cutters.

Place on ungreased cookie sheets and bake at 300 degrees for 10 to 20 minutes, until very light golden. Cool completely on racks and then frost.

Frosting

1 cup powdered sugar
3 tablespoons butter or margarine, softened
1/4 teaspoon vanilla
2 to 3 teaspoons half and half or milk
Red and green food coloring

Combine all ingredients in small bowl, adding enough half and half for piping consistency. Blend until smooth.

Divide frosting in half and then place in small cups. Color each half.

Decorate cookies with frosting decorator.

These are almost like Mexican wedding cakes but have almonds in them -- won't they look scrumptious on your cookie plate this year:

ALMOND BUTTER BALLS

1 cup butter, room temperature
1/2 cup sifted powdered sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon almond extract
2 1/4 cups sifted flour
1 cup (4 ounces) finely chopped blanched almonds
Powdered sugar

Beat butter, sugar, salt and almond until light and fluffy.

Gradually blend in the flour. Stir in almonds.

Drop by rounded teaspoonfuls and shape into balls by rolling lightly between palms of hands.

Place on ungreased cookie sheets and bake at 350 degrees for 8-10 minutes, until firm but not browned.

Roll warm cookies in powdered sugar and cool thoroughly. Roll again after completely cool.

LETTERS

(Editor's Note: The following response to a Northern Watch editorial was published in the November 2[illegible] issue of The Times as the first available publication after receipt. It is being reprinted for all Northern Watch readers at the request of state and regional representatives of the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources.)

To The Editor:

You posed two important questions in your Saturday, October 14, editorial ("First the Action Then the Study[illegible]"). These questions have been asked and discussed frequently during the first two years of the wetlands planning project while the project coordinator has met with citizens throughout the state.

You asked: "Why was a state law passed before the results of such a study could be made available?" First, the development of a state wetlands conservation plan is not a study. It is a voluntary planning initiative sponsored by several state agencies, including the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources, Board of Water & Soil Resources, Pollution Control Agency and Department of Transportation. Grant funding for state wetlands planning has only been available in recent years and the agencies took advantage of this funding opportunity to develop a state wetlands conservation plan now.

Second, the Wetland Conservation Act (WCA) of 1991 was passed to stop the continual loss of ecologically and economically valuable wetlands, many of which were previously unprotected under state law. One result for northern Minnesotans is protection for wetlands that play a critical role in assuring clean water and wildlife habitat for recreation and the resort industry.

Which brings us to your second question. "What purpose does the study have now that the law is in existence and being enforced?" One reason that existing wetlands protection has been controversial is that it doesn't take into account regional differences, the permitting system is confusing and there are no clear, long-term goals for wetland conservation in Minnesota. Challenging issues like these will be addressed through the wetlands planning project.

The wetlands planning project is designed to look at the whole wetlands picture and make suggestions on how the management of wetlands can be made simpler and more effective. The plan is being developed with broad-based participation by citizens and local and state officials. State legislators will be able to use its conclusions to improve wetlands-related laws and state agencies can use it to adjust various regulations and direct program dollars to improve wetland conservation without creating undue hardship for landowners. The result will be resource management that is more fair, more efficient and more cost effective.

I have proposed amendments to the WCA that will address many immediate concerns that cannot wait for the state wetlands conservation plan to be finished. In the meantime, however, I do not support repeal or any significant weakening of our wetland protection laws.

Yours Truly,
Rodney W. Sando
Commissioner
Minnesota Department of Natural Resources

Is Anyone Involved With Pro Sports Sane?

Folks troubled by the severity of winters in this part of the country used to maintain that you didn't have to be crazy to live here, but it helped. We wonder if the same malady might not afflict people involved in all aspects of professional sports. There has been so much non-game activity and talk in the professional sports world recently that the daily newspapers' sports pages scarcely have room to report the game scores.

Most recently in the news was the Twins' signing of Paul Molitor, a Twin Cities area native who has said he wants to close out his career in Minnesota. He will be one of several once good players with Minnesota "roots" who the Twins will have befriended (and enriched) in recent years. Jack Morris came "home" at age 35, pitched his team to a world title, and later was traded to Toronto. Dave Winfield came "home" at 42, collected his 3,000th hit and later was traded to Cleveland.

Molitor has been an impact player for much of his career—when he wasn't out of the lineup due to various injuries. Now 39 years old, he is also within range of collecting his 3,000th hit and will join Morris, Winfield and Vikings quarterback Warren Moon as another reason to wonder if the Metrodome is being converted to a sports home for the aged.

Every day brings word of another sports team bailing out of its present town to splash down in another where the grass (read "money") is greener. So common was the willingness to pull up roots and transplant in another city that even Congress considered trying to do something about it. More mental instability on all sides.

Congress has no business in pro sports. Let the team owners and those who woo them make their own mistakes. Let the owners turn their tails on loyal fans who have been supportive for generations and haul their teams off to cities who offer everything but their first-born child to attract a major professional sports team. In time, they will all get what they deserve without any help from Congress.

In a metropolitan area which has a history of screwing up on its sports facilities construction and operations, there is a push being made to build an outdoor baseball stadium to replace the indoor stadium which replaced the previous outdoor stadium which was torn down. It is needed, it is said by its Twin Cities proponents, because the Metrodome was not built for baseball and is ill suited for that sport. This despite two world championships won in its friendly confines and a team which needs all the home field advantage it can get.

We might as well face it—professional sports in virtually all areas has lost any semblance of reality. Team owners who have no idea of self-imposed restraint in giving multi-million dollar contracts to mediocre athletes cry poverty—and cities which have huge social problems requiring mountainous funding commit $200 million to building and providing free of charge a place for grown men to play games.

We enjoy sports and believe young people can learn a great deal and benefit physically and mentally by participating in them. We think high school and college athletic rivalries—in proper perspective and good taste—provide a focus for students that nothing else could. These activities should be encouraged and youthful energies channeled into them.

The pro game, however, is out of control, from the pampered players to the onerous owners to the intimidated and intensely competitive city officials who worship at the altar of the professional sports teams and make their offerings of the public's hard-earned money.

Forget the Timberwolves and Vikings. Go watch the Prowlers, Nordics, Gators, Huskies, Eagles, Mustangs, Ponies, Tigers, Pioneers or whatever your favorite local team is called and find out what pride and effort are all about.

Help Valley Home Folks Have A Sunny Future

There is never any shortage of charitable causes to support, but one being promoted at Valley Home in Thief River Falls has the potential for providing a lot of people with a lot of enjoyment for a long, long time.

According to administrator Elaine Anderson, a sunroom addition along the south side of the building adjacent to the dining room area would provide the more than 100 residents of the home with additional space for year-around mobility and visiting.

The idea has a lot of merit. Winters in northern Minnesota are long enough when a person is able to get out and about, but they seem a lot longer when the snow and cold further restrict activity for older people. Despite its cold and snow, however, Minnesota winter usually has its share of sunny days when the warmth of a few rays can be especially appreciated from an indoor vantage point.

A fund toward construction of the sunroom has been established and is open for donations and memorials. Donations to date total $5,750. The home is a not-for-profit operation and donations are deductible as charitable contributions on federal income taxes. If someone is looking to make a year-end donation to a charitable project, the sunroom fund would fit the bill.

If you want to find out more about what is being planned and how to be a part of this project, call Elaine Anderson at 681-3286 or stop by the home to see for yourself what the sunroom addition would do.

Challenger schedules its holiday programs

Students at Challenger Elementary and Preschool will "sing in the season" with a series of seven holiday programs beginning Wednesday, December 13.

All programs will be presented in the school gymnasium and direction is provided by music instructors Pat Bramchaw, David Morken and Marcia Knutula.

Principal Glenn Espe said special events parking will make use of parking lots both north and south of the school building. Those attending the programs are invited to use the north entrance off Evergreen Street as well as the south entrance off County Road 61.

Each grade level will be featured in its own musical tribute to the season, followed by community receptions hosted by students and organized by the School District 564 volunteer program, according to Espe.

"This is the season for gathering and our holiday programs are very popular," Espe said. "The boys and girls in all the grades and our staff members have spent weeks preparing for these programs and we are looking forward to welcoming the community to Challenger."

Schedule of programs includes the following:

Third Grade—Wednesday, December 13, 1 p.m.;

Fourth Grade—Thursday, December 14, 1 p.m.;

Fifth Grade—Friday, December 15, 1 p.m.;

Morning Kindergarten—Wednesday, December 20, 9:30 a.m.;

First Grade—Wednesday, December 20, 10:15 a.m.;

Afternoon Kindergarten—Wednesday, December 20, 1:15 p.m.; and Second Grade, Wednesday, December 20, 2 p.m.

"We want everyone to come and celebrate with our staff and students," Espe added, "and we wish everyone the very best of holidays and a Happy New Year."

Legal Services rep visits HCC

Mary Schneider, executive director of Legal Services of Northwest Minnesota in Moorhead, will be at the Heritage Community Center in Thief River Falls on Friday, December 15, at 1:30 p.m. to speak on "Doing It Your Way: Putting Power into Your Power of Attorney and Life into Your Living Will."

This legal seminar is sponsored by Legal Services of Northwest Minnesota, the Northwest Area Agency on Aging and the Heritage Community Center. There is no charge to attend.

Legal Services of Northwest Minnesota (LSNM) is a federally funded, non-profit organization established to provide free legal services to low-income people and senior citizens. Services are provided by legal staff and private attorneys in the local area who are reimbursed by LSNM.

Many volunteer to donate blood at drive in TRF

A total of 171 people volunteered to donate blood and 136 were able to give during Thief River Falls two-day blood drive on November 21 and 22. Four of the donors gave blood for the first time. Sponsoring a Thanksgiving blood drive is a very important responsibility. Because many donors are busy with holiday activities, they sometimes forget to allow time for donating blood.

Lorraine Minber coordinated the drive sponsored by the VFW Post 2793 and the VFW Auxiliary, which assisted with recruiting donors, publicity, providing refreshments and registering donors. Others who assisted were Marlys Molstad, Peggy Reierson, Lois Burstad, Sylvia Wiseth, Tracy Spry and the maintenance staff at Northwest Medical Center, Mary Ann Mylner, Helen Wysoski, Louise Breznay, Lois Hook, Joan Schob, Donna Olson, Ken Dunrud, Ann Breiger and Margaret Severson. Dick Spyhalski, chief executive officer at Northwest Medical Center, provided space to hold the drive in the CNC chapel and boardroom at Northwest Medical Center.

Donations will help meet the blood needs of many patients in 46 area hospitals served by United Blood Services.

Northland women beaten by NDSCS basketball squad

Offense was a missing ingredient for the Northland Community and Technical College women's basketball team Wednesday in a 66-41 loss to North Dakota State College of Science in Wahpeton.

"It was a bad day," acknowledged Northland coach Rick Nikunen. "It's hard to explain. It was like we were stuck in low gear all night. We just never got going."

Northland, down 30-21 at halftime, shot just 20 percent from the field for the night (14/69) while going 13-for-22 at the free throw line, where NDSCS was 24-for-31.

The Pioneers are 2-2.

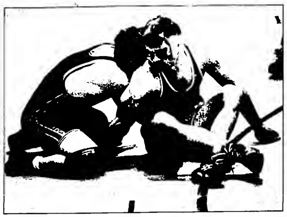
TRF outdoor skating rinks are now ready

Thief River Falls Parks and Recreation Department announced that Engelstad Park and Northrop outdoor skating rinks are now open for the 1995-96 season.



Nick Dee of Thief River Falls (right) tried to switch on Jacob Fillipi of Warren-Alvarado-Oslo during their 189-pound match in Tuesday's high school wrestling dual at the Lincoln gym. Dee came up with a second period pin to break a 30-30 scoreboard tie in the second-to-the-last match of the night, helping to lead the Prowlers past the Ponies 42-30.

Final pins lift TRF over Ponies

Pins by Nick Dee and Matt Lawrence in the final two matches lifted Thief River Falls to a 42-30 high school wrestling win over Warren-Alvarado-Oslo Tuesday.

Dee, trailing the Ponies' Jacob Fillipi 7-3 in the second period at 189, came up with a take-down that was converted directly into a pin to shatter a 30-30 scoreboard tie.

That took the final-match pressure off the shoulders of the heavyweights, although a pin by Jesse Olson of Warren-Alvarado-Oslo could still produce a tie. The dramatics were short-lived, however, as Lawrence recorded a 29-second fall.

It was the home opener for the Prowlers and the first win for rookie head coach John Belyea.

"It feels great," said Belyea, who commutes between Grand Forks and Thief River Falls to run the Prowlers' program. "It's exciting. The kids did a good job. Everything they did on the mat was stuff we worked on in practice – that's encouraging."

Thief River Falls, 0-4-1 in a season-opening appearance at the Hillsboro Invitational, also received pins from Josh Mattison at 125 and Luke Davis at 160, decisions from Brent Nelson at 112 and Bill Fogarty at 135; plus forfeits for Justin Anderson at 119 and Jeremy Houske at 152 – points that were offset when the Prowlers failed to fill 103 and 140.

"We got a couple of wins from kids that we hadn't expected," acknowledged Belyea, "but we also gave up some points we didn't figure on."

TRF 42, W-A-O 30

103 - Greg Rivard (W-A-O) by forfeit. 112 - Brent Nelson (TRF) def. Mason Olson 6-3. 119 - Justin Anderson (TRF) by forfeit. 125 - Josh Mattison (TRF) pinned Finnegis Olumb 1:00. 130 - Jacob Anderson (W-A-O) pinned Jesse Lowell :57. 135 - Bill Fogarty (TRF) def. Pioneers' comeback bid falls short, 91-88

Second half rally from a 15-point deficit came up one basket short Wednesday as the Northland Community and Technical College men's basketball team lost a 91-88 game to the North Dakota State College of Science in Wahpeton.

The Pioneers, after leading for much of the first half, watched a four-minute Wildcat run open up a 50-35 gap at intermission.

But an effective press, and four 3-point second half baskets by Preston Treat drew Northland within 91-88. Gaining mid-court possession with 11 seconds left, they had a chance at a tie, but a 3-point attempt by Jake Rantanen missed the mark with four seconds on the clock.

"The kids came out and played hard in the second half," pointed out Northland coach Mark Dannhoff. "Even though we lost, I feel good about what they did. We're making progress; we're improving."

Treat, a sophomore from Thief River Falls, finished with a game-high 22 points. Ty Sims led the Wildcats with 16.

Northland's 54 percent 29-for-54 shooting included an impressive 10-for-16 from 3-point range. NDSCS also had a hot hand from the floor with a 53 percent 33-for-63 showing. Ironically, both teams struggled through identical 18-for-35 free throw nights.

It was the third loss in four starts for the Pioneers.

Scoring

Northland	35	53	88
NDSCS	50	41	91

Northland - Jake Rantanen 6, Matt Gustafson 5, Kenta McGaughy 9, Preston Treat 22, Hassan Jihad 14, Joey Wilebski 9, Don Beverly 15, Duane Parris 10.

NDSCS - Damian Traupe 14, Kevin Bakin 2, Akeem Carpenter 12, Jeff Jacobson 7, Andy Krull 13, Jesse Ouse 4, Ty Sims 16, John Grensler 8, Ryan Schultz 4, Shamair Conley 0.

Greyhounds beat TRF

Fosston beat Thief River Falls 68-59 Tuesday in a girls high school basketball game that featured 24-point scoreboard swing.

The Greyhounds found themselves trailing 18-5 at the end of the first quarter, but gained a 32-32 tie at halftime and went ahead 49-38 in the third quarter. The Prowlers battled back, pulling within 51-50 on two Erica Owen free throws midway through the fourth quarter, but lost ground again down the stretch.

"We started out strong, and I was proud of the kids for the way they battled back in the fourth quarter," said Thief River Falls coach Sally Wiltse. "But we didn't play well in the second and third quarters; we didn't work as hard as we did in the first and fourth quarters."

The smaller, but quicker Greyhounds cranked up their running game, and took advantage of the Prowlers' foul trouble to erase that early deficit. A never-ending series of fouls forced Wiltse to take off the Thief River Falls press, opening the door for the Fosston offense.

"They took advantage of our fouls," noted Wiltse.

Kim Stenseth scored a game-high 26 points for the Prowlers, with Owen contributing 12. Four Greyhounds hit double figures, led by Angie Pearson with 24 points.

The Prowlers put up 83 shots, but made only 31 of them (37 percent). They were 6-for-9 at the free throw line, finished with a 41-28 rebound advantage, and had one less turnover, 15-14. The Greyhounds shot an only slightly better 38 percent from the field (25/66), but capitalized on 14 of 27 free throw opportunities.

Falcons run past Mustangs 79-35

Red Lake County Central ran into a buzz saw Tuesday in losing a 79-35 boys high school basketball game to Fertile-Beltrami.

The Mustangs were coming off an impressive 68-50 season-opening win over Marshall County Central, but they were no match for the host Falcons, who turned a 17-12 first quarter lead into a 37-21 halftime spread and then went on a 25-3 third quarter run to open up a 62-24 gap.

"They (Falcons) looked like they were ready for the state tournament right now," said Mustangs coach Brad Borene. "They've got great speed and quickness. Their pressure defense was something else."

Four Fertile-Beltrami scorers hit double figures, led by Aaron Thompson with 20 points. Red Lake County Central did not have a double figure scorer, losing top offensive threat Aaron Chaput to a back problem in the second quarter.

The Mustangs shot only 20 percent from the field (13/65), a figure Borene attributed to the Falcons' defense. That defense also led to a fast break offense that produced 54 percent shooting for the winners (32/59). Red Lake County Central was out-rebounded 34-16 and also struggled with a 4-for-10 night at the free throw line – where Fertile-Beltrami was 11-for-14.

Kotrba leads Wolverines' win

Desiree Kotrba scored 24 points and grabbed 15 rebounds Thursday to lead Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke past Red Lake County Central 58-53 in girls high school basketball.

The Wolverines came into the game 0-2; the Mustangs were 2-0.

"Desiree really played well," noted Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke coach Mike Gast. "She really worked hard for her points."

Red Lake County Central went inside for a 19-9 first quarter lead, but Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke pulled within 26-22 at halftime and trailed only 40-39 through three quarters.

"We had a hard time stopping them on the inside at the start," explained Gast. "We made some adjustments and played them tough the rest of the way. We're really happy with the win."

Jenny Johnson added 14 points to the Wolverines' total. Angie Chervestad scored 17 points and Meckenzie Malwitz had 16 for the visiting Mustangs.

It wasn't a good shooting night for either side. The Wolverines were 23-for-64 from the field (36 percent) and 12-for-22 at the free throw line. The Mustangs went 21-for-75 from the floor (28 percent) and 9-for-18 at the line to wipe out a 39-37 rebound edge.

Prowlers loser to Warroad girls

Playing at home didn't change the fortunes of the Thief River Falls girls high school basketball team Thursday. After starting the 1995-96 season with road losses to Warren-Alvarado-Oslo, Roseau and Fosston, the Prowlers drew Warroad in their home opener – and lost 49-44.

They lost because they missed 24 free throws and turned the ball over 27 times.

"It was the worst game we've played all year," said Thief River Falls coach Sally Wiltse. "We should have won the ball game. Free throws killed us, obviously."

Thief River Falls was 9-for-33 at the free throw line (27 percent) and had just as much trouble with a 16-for-64 showing from the field (25 percent).

Statistically, Warroad fared only a little better, going 17-for-52 from the floor (33 percent) and 13-for-27 at the line (48 percent) while committing 16 turnovers.

The Prowlers started with a 7-2 first quarter lead and had a 26-15 halftime advantage when Kim Stenseth beat the buzzer with a 3-pointer.

However, Warroad scored the first eight points of the second half and trailed only 34-30 through three quarters.

Thief River Falls' task became more difficult when Nicole Kopari (thigh bruise) and Alicia Bakken (fouls) both left the game in the opening moments of the fourth quarter.

First Warroad lead of the night, 39-38, came with about five minutes left. The visitors wrapped it up when Beth Lund turned a 45-44 lead into a three-point spread on a pair of free throws with 20 seconds to play, then added two more foul shots with only five seconds on the clock.

Stenseth scored 16 points and Kopari had 11 for the Prowlers, while Lund finished with 10 to lead Warroad.

With Bakken grabbing 16, Thief River Falls pulled down 51 rebounds, including 20 on the offensive end. But few of those were converted into points. With plenty of misses to go around, the winners wound up with 48 rebounds themselves.

Scoring

Thief River Falls takes JV contest in overtime

Thief River Falls junior varsity girls high school basketball team improved to 3-1 Thursday by beating Warroad 50-44 in overtime.

Taya Hunt scored 16 points and Laura Follett had 12 for the winners, who, after an 8-8 first quarter tie, trailed 21-16 at halftime and were behind 33-26 at the end of the third quarter. Regulation time ended in a 41-41 tie.

Middle School

Eighth Grade Girls

The 1995-96 season started with three wins for the Franklin Middle School eighth grade girls basketball teams.

Saturday (Dec. 2), Thief River Falls beat the Bemidji A team 49-40 and stopped the Bemidji B team 28-18. Kim Almquist led the A team with 10 points and Raechel Hahne led the B team with 6 points.

Monday, Thief River Falls defeated Red Lake Falls 37-21 in a single game, with Almquist scoring 13 points.

Weather affects two area sporting events

Tuesday's weather conditions produced a pair of postponements in the area high school sports schedule – a Thief River Falls hockey match-up at Warroad and a Goodridge boys basketball game vs. Fisher/Climax.

Roseau's balance nets win over TRF in girls basketball

Four Roseau scorers hit double figures in a late-reported 65-55 girls high school basketball win over visiting Thief River Falls Dec. 1.

A strong defensive effort by the Prowlers' Lisa Swanson kept Roseau standout Megan Taylor in a reasonable scoring range (23 points), noted Thief River Falls coach Sally Wiltse, but the Rams received offensive support from Sarah Lundbohm with 11 points, and Paula Hovda and Kylee Johnson with 10 each.

The Prowlers got a strong all-around game from freshman Nicole Kopari, who scored 20 points, grabbed 13 rebounds, handed out 8 assists, came up with 3 steals, and blocked 2 shots. Teammate Kim Stenseth scored 18 points.

"We played better than we did in our first game, but we still couldn't shoot," explained Wiltse, looking at the Prowlers' 32 percent, 21-for-65 shooting. "We got good shots, but we just didn't connect," she said.

Both teams had trouble at the free throw line, where the Prowlers were 12-for-22 and the Rams went 15-for-29. Thief River Falls had a 49-39 rebound advantage.

Scoring

	1	2	3	4	T
Thief River Falls	12	10	14	19	55
Roseau	12	19	18	16	65

TRF - Lisa Swanson 4, Kim Hook 7, Cami Sorenson 2, Kim Stenseth 18, Nicole Kopari 20, Erica Owen 2, Stephanie Leach 2.

Roseau - Kelly Hovda 6, Sarah Lundbohm 11, Jody Lundbohm 2, Paula Hovda 10, Kylee Johnson 10, Jackie Habstritt 1, Megan Taylor 23, Cathy Gotzlaman 2.

TRF freshman boys split against Central

Thief River Falls split a pair of season-opening boys freshman high school basketball games against Grand Forks Central Tuesday, losing the A game 49-46 while winning the B game 41-40.

Jeff Beste scored a team-high 17 points in the A game where Thief River Falls trailed at the quarter stops 12-9, 29-18 and 40-34.

Joey Pribula led the Thief River Falls B team scoring with 13 points, including two free throws with no time on the clock to erase a 40-39 Central lead. Thief River Falls trailed 12-10 at the end of the first quarter, went ahead 24-23 at halftime and had a 32-27 third quarter edge.

NCTC men gain split

Four games against Minnesota Community College Conference Southern Division opponents are part of the early-season schedule for the Northland men's basketball team, a series that began with a late-reported Dec. 1-2 road split against Normandale and Rochester.

Normandale beat Northland 101-91 in a Friday match-up, but the Pioneers rebounded with a 63-62 Saturday win over Rochester.

"We were very happy to get the victory," offered Northland coach Mark Dannhoff. "Normandale has a very quick team with a lot of good athletes. We did not move very well, offensively or defensively against them. We were down against Rochester, but the kids showed a lot of character and held their composure."

Normandale 101
Northland 91

Twenty-six Northland turnovers, including nine charging calls, plus 29-for-39 free throw shooting by Normandale added up to a 101-91 victory for the host Lions.

The Pioneers finished with a sizeable 45-19 rebound advantage and had an accurate 18-for-21 night at the line, but couldn't cut into a 52-47 halftime deficit.

Scoring

	1	2	T
Northland	47	44	91
Normandale	52	49	101

Northland - Jake Rantanen 9, Marcy Ford 4, Matt Gustafson 3, Kenta McGaughy 13, Preston Treat 11, Nathan Anderson 2, Hassan Jihad 15, Joey Wilebski 13, Don Beverly 10, Duane Parris 13.

Normandale - Hal 3, Taylor 33, Wilson 3, Foster 3, Gorman 2, Hannah 5, Goldapp 19, Johnson 10, Lenway 12, Woods 7, Vanderwoude 2.

Northland 63
Rochester 62

Joey Wilebski, on a feed underneath by Preston Treat, scored from the baseline with 14 seconds remaining to give Northland a 63-62 win over Rochester.

Strong defense by the Pioneers then kept the Yellowjackets from getting a good look at the basket, forcing them to put up a long desperation shot at the buzzer.

Northland was 24-for-56 from the field (43 percent) and 11-for-13 at the free throw line. Rochester went 20-for-54 from the floor (37 percent) and 17-for-26 at the line. The Yellowjackets had a 43-31 rebound advantage, but also had more turnovers, 20-11.

Agassiz annual Christmas bird count Dec. 16

This year marks the 95th anniversary of the Christmas Bird Count in the United States. On Christmas Day in 1900, 27 conservationists decided to protest the traditional holiday "side hunt" in which teams competed to see who could shoot the most birds and animals in one day. Instead of shooting birds, the conservationists counted them on Christmas Day. Today, volunteers around the world count birds in designated 15-mile diameter count circles during the Christmas holiday season. This is the fifth year that a count is being coordinated by the Agassiz Environmental Learning Center in the Central Polk County area. Count data is sent to the National Audubon Society and published in a special book-sized edition of American Birds magazine.

Although there are fewer birds around in our northern winter season, some of the birds that are observed are rarities that are not seen at other times of the year. Recording changes in the number and variety of birds from year to year can provide valuable information about changes in our environment. Roger Tory Peterson notes that "birds are indicators of the environment - a sort of ecological litmus paper. Because of their furious pace of living and high rate of metabolism, they reflect subtle changes in the environment rather quickly; they warn us of things out of balance." Last year's Central Polk County Count resulted in identification of 19 separate species and 291 individual birds.

Some of the best places to look include areas around open water, along edges of woods and fields where there is brush and weed seeds, roadside shoulders, sunflower fields, shelter belts, large evergreens and fruiting shrubs. People can count by driving around in the count area, walking through natural areas or by watching your backyard feeders (don't count the same birds coming back to your feeder over and over throughout the day as multiple sightings through). Any birds spotted in the count area throughout the 24-hour period of the count day can be included. You can count all or any part of the day.

The Central Polk County Count Day is on Saturday, December 16th. Early morning birders are invited to meet for refreshments at 10 a.m. at the Count Day Headquarters - the Fertile Sand Hills Nature Center-located three quarters of a mile west of Fertile on Summit Avenue. Maps of the count area will be distributed and instructions for the day discussed. Those familiar with the Christmas Bird Count can start your count from home - just give us a call if you would like a map and tally sheet sent to you.

The Nature Center will be open throughout the day with a variety of activities happening including making bird feeders from recyclable materials, talks on winter birds of the Red River Valley and bird feeding, and Christmas ornament making. The Agassiz ELC will have its gift shop in place and open during the day also for those looking for a special gift for a special someone — lots of neat stocking stuffers for the kids also. The Nature Center will be open throughout the day to serve as a warming and restroom facility for skiers with the day's activities climaxed by a Christmas Bird Count Tally Rally at 4:30 p.m. where chili and refreshments will be served at the Nature Center while birding results of the day are tallied.

Anyone interested in being part of the Agassiz ELC Bird Count on December 16th but can't make it to the Nature Center can take part by counting birds in your area or at your feeders and calling in your results to the Nature Center at the end of the day. (218) 945-6503. For more information contact Wayne Goeken or Kathie Musch at the Agassiz ELC (218) 945-3129.

Holen qualifies for NALU award

Colleen Holen of Aid Association for Lutherans in Thief River Falls has qualified for the National Quality Award from the National Association of Life Underwriters for the fifth year.

Mylo Cartlson herd leads in DHIA average

With an average daily production of 66 pounds of milk and 2.35 pounds of butterfat, the Mylo Carlson dairy herd led the Pennington County Dairy Herd Improvement Association for the month of October. Eighty-eight per cent of the 65 cow herd was in production.

Mark Hanson's 55 cow herd, 84 per cent of which was in production, was in second place with an average of 64.2 pounds of milk and 2.18 pounds of butterfat.

Third place herd was that of Lyle Swanson with an average of 58.2 pounds of milk and 2.22 pounds of butterfat. Eighty-seven per cent of the 55-cow herd was in production during October.

Other herds in the top 10 in the association include the following with number of cows in the herd, percentage in milk, average pounds of milk and average pounds of butterfat listed respectively:

Steve Hamrick, 37, 97%, 54 and 1.86; Walter Bros. Farm, 149, 83%, 51.3 and 1.66; Kelly & Gary Lindeen, 40, 88%, 49 and 1.72; L&R Dairy, 170, 78%, 47.4 and 1.71; Bob Schindler, 55, 84%, 46.0 and 1.71; Ben Kleinwachter, 38, 100%, 45.9 and 1.58; and Steve Nelson, 62, 79%, 45 and 1.46.

Milk and butterfat production is averaged over all cows in the herd, including those not in production, to give the dairyman a record of the herd's earning power for the month. As a result, a substantial number of dry cows will adversely affect the average even if those in milk are good producers.

During October there were 20 herds on official test and none on owner sampler in the Pennington County DHIA.

Al-Anon and Alateen offer assistance for the holidays

Problem drinkers have big troubles and they directly affect the lives of at least four other people, including friends, family members and fellow workers. Many of those people are finding help through Al-Anon and Alateen chapters.

In Thief River Falls, Al-Anon meetings are held Sunday, Tuesday and Friday at 8 p.m. in Room 113 at Northwest Medical Center. Alateen meetings are on Sundays, also at 8 p.m. in Room 113.

Al-Anon/Alateen is a free worldwide fellowship of men, women and teenagers who have friends or family members with a drinking problem. Members meet regularly to share their experience, strength and hope in dealing with the frustrations and feelings of helplessness caused by alcoholism.

In Al-Anon and Alateen there is an air of understanding. People use first names only and are cautioned not to divulge who they see or what they hear at a meeting. Newcomers to the program are relieved to learn there is a place to go and share without fear of being judged.

Dr. William Van Ost, a physician in Englewood, NJ, who specializes in treating alcoholics and their families, says that more than one-third of the children abused in the United States are victims of someone's irresponsible drinking. Twenty per cent of the divorces and 40 per cent of the cases in family court are also the results of alcoholism.

Al-Anon and Alateen meetings are safe places for alcohol's victims to be heard and to learn what they can do to improve their circumstances. The organizations are not allied with any sect, religious denomination, political organization or institution. Members are not required to pay any dues since both contributions and attendance are voluntary.

Chapters of the organizations provide information and help for families whether or not the alcoholic seeks help or recognizes the existence of a drinking problem. Their members' primary purpose is to recover from the impact of alcoholism on their own lives.

"As we approach the busy holiday season," a spokesperson for the organizations states, "we remember there are millions of individuals concerned about the days ahead because they never know how the drinking of a loved one will affect their holidays. Also remember there are people who understand. They're in Al-Anon and Alateen and just a telephone call away."

BSU invites comments on preparation

Individuals interested in commenting on the teacher preparation program at Bemidji State University may submit their perspectives prior to a review of the BSU professional education program by the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE).

Recognizing that graduates, parents, schools and community organizations have valuable viewpoints, NCATE will start requiring the solicitation of third-party comments on the quality of professional education units as part of its examination process in 1966. BSU department of Education is scheduled for its periodic accreditation study by NCATE in the spring of 1996.

Comments must address substantive matters related to the quality of professional education programs offered at BSU and should specify the respondent's relationship, if any, to the institution. No anonymous or oral testimony will be considered.

Letters should be sent by Jan. 27, 1996 to NCATE Board of Examiners, 2010 Massachusetts Avenue NW, Washington, DC 20036-1023.

Copies of all correspondence will be sent to Bemidji State for comment prior to the review.

For more information, call the department of professional education at 218-755-3734.

3:15 to 5 p.m. which eliminates problems with class schedules. Students who are tutoring and are being tutored are in the same class. This ensures that the tutor fully understands the assignment and the subject to be studied.

Tutors will receive training on what to do and what not to do with students. They will also learn what is expected of them and the importance of protecting students' privacy.

The students have responded positively to the program already nine students in grades nine through 11 were selected to be on the student board. The student board has agreed to evaluate the program.

Eventually Carlin would like to have monthly inservices for students interested in becoming peer tutors and make the inservice a requirement. The program is available to those who need help and those who want to help in grades seven through 12.

There are other program guidelines as well. If a student misses two tutoring sessions, he or she is expelled from the program. Students who are disruptive during tutoring sessions are also dismissed. Students and tutors are to work through half of the student's homework assignment and use the rest of the time for review. Once a student's grade is raised to average, the student must leave the program to make room for other students.

Yolanda Ebacher was recently named program supervisor, her job is to "co-ordinate and run the program." She explained that students who are being tutored will sign a contract stating that they agree to the terms of the program.

She explained that one of the philosophies of the program is that "Each of us does better at different things." The program lets students share their strengths.

"It's really exciting because the whole idea (behind the program) is academic success," said Ebacher.

Carlin says what she likes most about the program is that it requires communication between teachers, parents and students.

"Parents know exactly what students need to work on," explained Carlin.

She also likes the program because it gives students options, but it puts the responsibility on the students.

She stresses that the program is still at a trial stage. She said it would be nice to have more time to "work out the bugs," but students need the program now. Any unforseen problems will have to be worked out as they arise, and everyone involved with the program will have he flexible about corrections or changes.

"I do know there is a need for this kind of thing," said Carlin. "We have to have some way to offer kids a solution when kids need help."

4-H scholarship applications due

Applications for Pennington county 4-H scholarships are available at the county extension office in Thief River Falls and are to be completed and returned to the office by December 29, according to Van Swanson, Pennington county extension educator in charge of the 4-H program.

Any high school graduate who belonged to a Pennington county 4-H club, is a freshman in a university, college or technical college and has a grade point average of 2.0 or higher may apply for the scholarships, which are usually for $150.

Students who have not received their grades by December 29 may supply them when they are received, but must have submitted the application to be considered for the scholarships.

ROTC student helps food drive

Jon Hendrickson of Thief River Falls was among the South Dakota State University Air Force ROTC cadets to set aside training to raise funds for the Brookings Food Pantry.

The cadets built and decorated the basement of a hall at the school as a haunted house. Dressed in costumes, the cadets hosted 1,200 people.

"The Haunted House has become a proud tradition at Air Force ROTC," said Lt. Col. Kevin Graber, detachment 780 commander and SDSU professor of aerospace studies. "As a result of a lot of hard work, the Air Force ROTC cadet corps was able to donate $500 to local charities this year, bringing the three-year total to over $2,000 for charities."

Tree lighting

Warren — The Remembrance Tree at North Valley Health Center will be lit at 5 p.m. on Saturday, December 16. The names of those remembered will be read at the lighting with an informal reception to follow.

Lights may be purchased in tribute to a loved one, a special event or as a "thank you" to a special person.

The tree is a fund raising project for the NVHC endowment fund. Earnings from the fund are used to purchase medical equipment for the center.

Students set up shop

Newfolden — Marshall County Central fifth grade students are learning by doing. They are operating a school store which is open 15 minutes during noon.

The students wanted a way to raise money without selling items door to door. Melanie Nelson suggested a school store. Nelson and fellow teacher Mary Anderson are advisors for the project.

Students tender receipts, but not profits earned. Anderson hopes that eventually the students can get involved with ordering the shipments. The students are hoping to raise enough money to buy classroom software.

They really dig Minnesota history

Naytahwaush — Several items found along the shores of North Twin Lake near Naytahwaush could be of historical significance to Native Americans. Archeologists have found evidence of people living in the area 1,500 to 2,000 years ago.

The survey found pottery pieces which were verified to be 800 to 1,000 years old. Other items date back before European contact. Joe Nadeau, of All Nations Cultural Resource Preservation, Inc., says they found pieces of Blackduck pottery dating between 400 and 1200 A.D.

The find may help archeologists learn more about Native American history prior to the Europeans coming to the area.

The votes are in . . .

Red Lake Falls — Residents of Red Lake county had an opportunity to vote for the winner of the county logo contest.

The winning logo was designed by Sharon Weiss. She will receive a $100 savings bond and her logo will be used to promote the county's upcoming centennial.

Sharon's logo features a picture of the county courthouse. Sharon and her sister MaryAnn Solie used a computer to design the logo.

New ownership

Warroad — Mike Pederson has waited 15 years for this. Pederson, formerly of KKXL and Magic 96 of Grand Forks, is the new owner of KQ 92 in Warroad.

He noted, "The chances of finding a 100,000 watt station are few and far between."

The station will soon begin a 24-hour format and install a radar weather computer but the staff will remain the same.

Views given on adjusting speed limits

by Elizabeth Ott
Northern Watch Reporter

How fast is too fast, or too slow? What is the ideal speed limit? What would it cost the state to change the speed limit in dollars and in lives? These questions and more are being asked by many and studied by the Joint Advisory Task Force on Speed Limits and Highway Safety. The task force was created by the Minnesota Department of Transportation and the Department of Public Safety in response to the federal repeal of the 55 miles per hour speed limit.

State representative Jim Tunheim of Kennedy has been appointed to the task force which is a bipartisan group that includes legislators, law enforcement officials, transportation experts and local officials.

Tunheim stated in a press release that "he would like the state to return to the speed limit that was in effect for two-lane rural roads before the federal speed limit was introduced in 1974." The speed was 65 during the day and 55 at night.

The Minnesota Sheriff's Association also has a representative on the task force. According to Jim Trudeau, executive director for the MN Sheriff's Association, the legislative committee of the association met on December 15 to discuss ideas.

The sheriff's association says that if the speed limit is raised to 65 it is important that it be enforced at 65. Too often people think they can drive up to nine or ten miles per hour over the speed limit and not be ticketed. According to Trudeau, consistency in speed among drivers plays a major role in roadway safety. Accidents are usually caused by drivers going much faster or much slower than the flow of traffic.

Trudeau says that based on his 29 years of experience in law enforcement, "It seems it's safer, even if you raise the speed limit, if you're all going the same speed."

"If they change the law I think it is going to have to be strictly enforced."

The sheriff's association also said that if the speed limit is raised they would also want a primary seat belt law in effect. At higher speeds, accidents can be more serious, but seat belts and air bags can help protect drivers and passengers.

"I don't know if we're going to see more accidents," said Trudeau. "If someone is going 75, 85 they're going to get hurt."

Red Lake County Sheriff Al Morken says he is waiting to hear from the task force before he makes a statement about the speed limit. He hopes once the task force has studied the issue they will come up with ideas that will work for the entire state.

Morken highlighted three of the concerns he has. First, higher speeds usually means high mortality rates.

In 1993 the Minnesota Department of Public Safety reported that in fatal crashes illegal or unsafe speed was reported most often (17 per cent of all factors) as the cause of the accident. In 1994 illegal or unsafe speed was again reported as the leading cause (14.9 per cent) of fatal accidents.

The second concern is time. Certainly a faster speed limit allows people to travel greater distance in less time. However, it also means drivers have less time to react to a situation and cars need more time and distance to slow down and stop.

The third concern Morken highlighted is safety, an issue closely related to his first two concerns.

"We want to make sure that we keep the roads as safe as possible and yet try to do it in a reasonable manner."

Morken echoed the sheriff's association's view on seat belts.

Tayler Breitenfeldt rehearses her solo in Angels Aware, a program being presented by children at St. Bernerd's school in Thief River Falls. The children will present Angels Aware after a kindergarten and pre-kindergarten concert at 7 p.m. Wednesday, December 20 at St. Bernerd's church in Thief River Falls. The concert is under the direction of Pauly Schmaitz and Leura Bricksen.

Fuel Assistance running on empty

Extremely frigid temperatures have caused concern among social service providers. Last year, $48 million was allocated to Minnesota for energy assistance. This year, along with major cuts nationwide, Minnesota received $7 million.

It's only mid-December and with several more months of winter Inter-County Community Council in Oklee has been operating on a first come, first serve basis, and is nearly out of energy assistance funds.

Wes Roland, energy program director said normally 1,500 people in the two and one-half counties (Pennington, East Polk, and Red Lake counties) are served by Inter-County Community Council (ICCC). Last year, the average low income household received $440 during the year. This year, the average will be $220 per household. In most low income households, Roland said, the average spent on energy is $600 per year.

He said his office has already received 1,000 applications for energy assistance. He anticipates that 400 households will not receive energy assistance even though they may qualify for assistance.

When the money runs out, Roland suggests the individual attempt to work out a budget with their fuel vendor, contact their social services provider to see if there is any assistance, and contact their local Salvation Army service unit.

Roland stressed the importance of attempting to work out an agreement with the fuel vendor before deciding not to pay the bill and before the fuel vendor turns off the heat. Most vendors, Roland said, are willing to help work something out and it is very important that the customer attempt to reach an agreement.

Roland said there has been a lot of press about individuals who try to scam the system. In this area, Roland said that statistically, only 16 per cent of the 1,500 people who seek energy assistance are on some form of income maintenance program, such as SSI or AFDC. The balance are working poor and senior citizens. The largest percentage, 42 per cent, are working poor.

When money runs out, and fuel assistance isn't available, individuals are more likely to begin cutting back on other things. For many elderly individuals, it may mean cutting back on food and health

Landowners Rights Ass'n. updated

Parmeter says wetland law not environmental issue but about money, power, control

"Minnesota's wetlands act is not an environmental issue," stated Don Parmeter of International Falls Thursday at an update meeting of the Minnesota Landowners Rights Association at the Best Western Inn of Thief River Falls. "This is about money, control and power."

Parmeter, who has been working on environmental and property rights issues since the 1970s, was one of several speakers at the session.

"Property rights is very simple," he said. "If the government wants to take your land, it has to pay you for it. That is very clear in the U. S. Constitution."

Parmeter said that environmental and other groups years ago had proposed a huge federal superfund to purchase private lands. This effort failed, so the groups and agencies had to figure out how to take the land without paying for it. The result was passage of a number of laws which restrict activity on private land to "protect" various things presented as having public value, including "endangered" species and types of land.

"People are now discovering that they have rights, many of which have already been taken, and that it is hard to get them back," Parmeter said. He added that alliances are being formed to provide the political pressure necessary to produce change.

"There is no doubt 1996 will be the year for land use reform," he said. "If you are wondering when to get involved, the time is now."

Sen. LeRoy Stumpf of Thief River Falls reviewed the status of the Minnesota Wetlands Conservation Act (WCA) adopted in 1991. A conference committee from the House and Senate is to work out changes in the law. Sen. Stumpf serves on that conference committee, as does Rep. Jim Tunheim of Kennedy.

Stumpf said he intends to work very hard to maintain as much as possible of the senate bill which would remove more of the objectionable parts of the law. He said the major problems have been in the rules adopted following passage of the law which "caused the flare-up because they are so complicated, so confusing and so punitive."

Sen. Stumpf said he want to have all roads exempted from the law as well as expanded agricultural exemption definition "to basically cover the whole farming operation."

He warned that opposition will be strong and has "an army of people" to attend meetings and lobby against meaningful changes. "We need to be unified and determined to be successful," he said, adding that the number of counties which have rescinded their signing of the act have given a tremendous push for change.

Rep. Tunheim said that last year was a difficult one in the legislature to accomplish change because of the committee leadership structure. He said the landowners rights group will be important in the 1996 session in bringing their message to other legislators.

"You don't need to worry about us," he said of the northwestern Minnesota legislators. "We're with you. You need to put pressure on legislators from other areas of the state."

Pennington county commissioner Don Jensen noted that a land use coordinating board involving a number of counties has been formed as a joint powers board to deal with local land issues. He expressed the need for local planning to bring control back to the people of the area.

Don Barron, a retired employee of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, paddy wild rice producer and member of the Thief River Falls city council, said people "are more willing to believe what governing agencies tell them than what they see and what they know."

Barron said that the government has "forms of manipulation" which are not commonly recognized, and he pinpointed the media for special criticism. "There always has to be a catastrophe on the horizon for control to be achieved," he said.

He also pointed to the federal Endangered Species Act as a means to control land use and cited an article which said the act has become detrimental to the species defined for protection. Because of the hassle involved when such species are determined to exist in an area, he said, many people have adopted a policy of "shoot, shovel and shut up."

Harold Kalsnes, Thief River Falls area farmer, said he and a number of neighbors have filed a petition in objection to a proposed large water impoundment project in their area about 16 miles southwest of Thief River Falls. He said 1,000 acres of what is primarily farmland had been staked out in the $2.25 million project.

The project is one of more than 20 proposed which are projected to have a cumulative effect of reducing flood level of the Red River at Emerson, Man., Canada by less than two inches.

Marshall county commissioner Ben Kleinwachter called for a number of major changes in the state WCA, including removal of types 1, 2 and 6 wetlands, better definition of wetland, exemption of all

TRF man critical after snowmobile accident Wed.

Brian Howe, 19, Thief River Falls and Warroad, is listed in critical condition at United Hospital in Grand Forks, ND, following a snowmobile accident Wednesday night on Lake of the Woods.

Larry Milbridge, Minnesota Department of Natural Resources, said he received a report of a snowmobile accident southwest of Springsteel Island on Lake of the Woods at about 10:45 p.m.

According to the accident report, Brian Howe was a passenger on a snowmobile driven by his brother Corey when it struck a stationary object, probably ice. Brian was thrown from the snowmobile and was struck by another snowmobile driven by Delroy Johnson, 28.

Milbridge didn't think speed was a factor, but visibility probably was a factor in the accident as it was snowing at the time. Milbridge said the accident is still under investigation.

Lincoln high school science teacher Patti Johnson of Grygla has been named a recipient of the state Education Award by the Minnesota Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts. She received the award at the association's state convention in St. Cloud Monday, December 11. Mrs. Johnson taught science at Goodridge high school from 1982 through 1994 and is in her second year of teaching in Thief River Falls. Watch for a feature story in the Times Wednesday, December 20.

Doctor helps the needy in Guatemala

Roseau — Dr. Michael Dieter is helping people see better, lots of people. On a recent trip to Guatemala the Roseau eye doctor and his children Ben and Hannah helped 500-600 people.

Through Advancing Ministries of the Gospel Dr Dieter supplies free eye glasses to those who need them. Many of the glasses are donated by people from Warroad and Roseau.

The trips to Guatemala also help his family to see more clearly. After visiting the Latin American country, Dieter and his family realize how good their life is in Roseau.

Boy killed in snowmobile rece

Gonvick — 16-year-old Corey Steven Branseth was killed December 9 at the snowmobile races on Pine Lake, south of Gonvick.

Corey apparently fell off his snowmobile and was hit by other racers. He was taken to Clearwater Memorial Hospital in Bagley where he was pronounced dead shortly after arrival.

The races were called off Saturday after the accident and only the pro-division of the event was held on Sunday.

To The Editor:

With the exception of four years in the Army, I have lived all of my 33 years in Thief River Falls—half of them as a licensed driver. It still amazes me—the stupidity of some drivers in our area. Consider the recent storm/blizzard we had during the eighth and ninth of December.

In spite of the hampered visibility in this, our biggest storm this winter, my wife and I encountered about 15 or 20 drivers in the space of half an hour without their lights on! You people who do it on a regular basis may or may not know who you are. Do you have such a radiant or brilliant personality that you feel it is our responsibility to make that extra effort to pick your oncoming vehicle out of a haze of blowing snow?

Most of you will agree that during these storm days it was tough enough to see the side of the road in some spots, let alone watch out for cars without lights on suddenly turning into your path. I'm not quite sure, but isn't there a law on the books that says that if your wipers are on, your lights must also be on?

Another thing that puzzles me is where I can get one of these "special parking" permits that allows people to park in the "No Parking—Fire Lane" areas. We all see these vehicles when we go into Hugo's or Super Valu. These people must have some kind of new "unlimited access/handicapped permit," although I've never seen it on their license plate or on their windshield. Either that, or we have an awful lot of unmarked fire engines in our town.

I hope my sarcasm doesn't fall on deaf ears (or blind eyes) as you read this, for I felt moved and, to a degree, outraged enough to provide some food for thought to the "you-know-who-you-are" drivers. If you are offended by this criticism, then you must be feeling guilty for not driving safely or for parking illegally. I don't want you to plow into me or vice versa, because I didn't see you. We have winter conditions now—THINK!

Maybe stupid is too harsh an adjective for Neanderthal driving techniques—maybe "ticketed" is more politically correct!

Have a SAFE Christmas and New Year.

Sincerely,
Brent T. Wade

Northwest Deer Herd In For Tough Winter

In its early stages, the winter of 1995-96 in northwest Minnesota hasn't been an enjoyable season. If present patterns of alternating snow and cold continue—and why should we expect they wouldn't?—the remaining several months could test the mettle of even the most dedicated devotee of the four seasons.

While copious amounts of snow and blasts of severe cold and strong winds are primarily inconveniences for humans who are willing to moderate their activities or dress for outdoor incursions, they can be fatal conditions for wildlife which has no such alternatives. Likely to be in particular trouble this year is the northwestern Minnesota deer herd.

Through a succession of relatively mild winters with similarly light relative snowfalls, the whitetail deer numbers have grown substantially. Deer are remarkably adaptable animals which will do well throughout even our coldest winters if they are able to move freely to abundant food supplies. When that mobility is severely hampered, as in the case of deep and/or compacted or crusted snow, deer tend to "yard" in larger numbers in small areas, rapidly depleting their natural food sources.

In agricultural areas, these "natural" sources may be non-native, such as alfalfa or other grasses planted and cut for hay or standing crops including unharvested corn or sunflowers. Many farmers plant a designated "food plot" of row crops for wildlife, but deep snow can also reduce access to these plantings. In fact, such standing crops serve as a natural snowfence, collecting drifting snow from open areas and becoming filled with deep snow.

This would appear to be a year in which supplemental feeding could help prevent some deer losses, both directly and indirectly. Deer in a weakened condition from lack of food and extreme exertion are less able to withstand bitter cold and will die as a result. Pregnant does will absorb the fawns they are carrying if nutritionally stressed for their own survival, resulting in lower reproduction in the spring.

Some biologists have contended in the past that artificial feeding was ineffective since the digestive systems of the deer were incapable of making the adjustment to a different diet. This may be true, especially in areas where deer normally feed on natural woodland growth and are offered—when already near starvation—a substitute feed that is completely different from their normal diet.

Biologists who study these situations surely must be the most knowledgeable about them. We certainly have neither the knowledge nor the experience to dispute them. Several people who routinely feed deer in the agricultural area throughout the winter, however, find that they adapt quite well to the feed they are offered. A key may be that those who feed start feeding before the deer are stressed and the animals are able to utilize what they eat.

Others will say it is unnatural to intervene in nature's cycle and deer should be left to their own resources. They reason that this will result in a healthier deer herd because the hardiest and most dominant will survive this natural winnowing process. This reasoning discounts such human intervention as hunting seasons and predation or harassment by domestic pets.

Our personal view, unscientific and biased, is that it is worth the effort to work within reason to provide available substitute food sources where known deer herds live, and that this effort should begin as soon as it becomes apparent that conditions will create a problem for deer movement and access to normal food sources. This winter, that means very soon.

And since it is unlikely that there will be state agency involvement at least until losses actually start to occur—if past performance is a predictor—it will be up to individuals or private organizations to do the job. Predictably, that means people who have a personal interest in a healthy deer herd, namely deer hunters. Preservationists have a tendency to disappear when money is needed or there is physical work to be done.

Area chapters of the Minnesota Deer Hunters Association have done yeoman duty in prior crisis years to stem the tide of deer starvation and related losses in accessible areas. We expect they will be at it again this winter and we don't think they should delay. If this isn't a disastrous winter for whitetails, we will badly miss our guess.

And for those who hunt, they can help by donating their deer hides to the association's Hides for Habitat program. Group sale of the hides provides funds for such projects as winter feeding in crisis years. We think it is a worthwhile objective.

One hunter we know had an interesting comment the other day when winter deer feeding was a coffee counter conversation topic. "I've never been able to figure out," he said, "why it is such a major crime to shoot a deer out of season for food and O.K. to just let a whole bunch of them starve to death."

We don't have an explanation for him.

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere

I knew I bought those sesame seeds for some good reason -- I'm going to make these this year:

SESAME SEED BARS

1/2 cup sesame seeds
1/2 cup butter
1 cup brown sugar, packed
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 1/2 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt

In a skillet over low heat, toast sesame seeds, stirring until light brown.

Remove from heat and add butter, stirring until melted. Place in mixing bowl and cool slightly.

Beat sugar, eggs and vanilla into the sesame butter until mixture is smooth.

Sift flour, baking powder and salt and add to the sesame mixture. Stir smooth.

Pour into greased 9x9 inch pan and bake at 375 degrees for 20-25 minutes, until the bars are firm. Do not overbake.

Today I'm going to give you recipes for some of my favorite Christmas cookies. I made every one of them this year, so I know they are good.

I tried these cookies for the first time this year and they are just what I like a rolled cookie to be — sugar them or frost them, but they are just yummy. They are from the Trinity Church cookbook:

MANY WAY BUTTER COOKIES

1 cup butter
1 1/2 cups powdered sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
(I also use a teaspoon of almond extract)
2 1/2 cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon cream of tartar
1/4 teaspoon salt

Cream butter. Add sugar and cream and then add egg and flavorings and beat fluffy.

Mix dry ingredients together and add. Chill a little (if too hard, put in microwave a second or two). Roll out as thick or thin as you like, and then bake at 350 degrees for 6-8 minutes, until lightly golden around edges.

(These cookies can also be made into balls and pressed out with a sugared glass bottom.)

Frosted with real rum these cookies taste like egg nog:

NUTMEG LOGS

2 2/3 cups flour
Nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup butter
3/4 cup sugar
1 egg
2 teaspoons vanilla

Mix flour, salt and nutmeg (1/4 teaspoon is sufficient — add more if you like) in bowl.

Cream butter. Add sugar and beat and then add egg and vanilla and beat fluffy. Stir in flour mixture.

Make long rolls of dough (about 1/2 inch thick) and then cut into 3 inch "logs."

Bake at 350 degrees for 12-15 minutes on ungreased cookie sheet. Cool and frost.

Frosting

2 tablespoons butter
1 1/4 cups powdered sugar
Rum

Mix very soft butter (can melt in microwave) and sugar and then add enough rum to make it of spreading consistency.

Frost cookies, running tines of fork lengthwise over tops to look like logs. Sprinkle with nutmeg and let set. If frosting hardens too much before you are done, place in microwave a second or two to soften again or add more rum. (Do not taste frosting while making cookies or there will not be enough frosting!)

Of course these cookies look good, but they are also some of the best-tasting I have every made:

CANDY CANES

1 cup butter
1 cup powdered sugar
1 egg
1 1/2 teaspoons almond extract
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 1/2 cups flour
3/4 teaspoon salt

Cream softened butter. Add sugar and beat and then add egg and flavorings and beat well.

Mix flour and salt and add to mixture, beating well.

Divide mixture in half and add plenty of red food coloring to one half.

Take a pinch of white dough and a pinch of red dough, press side-by-side, and then roll out into 2 1/2 to 3 inch length. Twist together as a candy cane and then roll a little more before placing on ungreased cookie sheet and shaping into a cane shape. Sprinkle with granulated sugar and bake at 375 degrees.

Gators advance to semifinals in Warren tourney

Strong games under the basket by Krissi Super and Nikki Wahl carried Badger/Greenbush-Middle River past East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 58-38 Thursday in the opening round of the Warren-Alvarado-Oslo Invitational girls high school basketball tournament.

Super scored 24 points and Wahl had 14 as the Gators posted quarter leads of 17-11, 30-21 and 46-28.

The winners were 22-for-59 from the field, a 37 percent figure that needs to improve, according to Gators coach Tom Neibauer. "We missed 11 two-footers in the first half," he said. "It's a little frustrating. We've got to get those cripples to go down."

Chrissy Benson scored 16 points to lead the Eagles.

In other quarterfinals Thursday, Kittson Central beat Crookston 50-43, Warren-Alvarado-Oslo knocked off Fosston 47-41 and East Grand Forks Sacred Heart handled Climax/Fisher 50-36.

Results set up the Friday semifinals matching Badger/Greenbush-Middle River vs. East Grand Forks and Warren-Alvarado-Oslo vs. Kittson Central in the championship round; East Grand Forks Sacred Heart vs. Climax/Fisher and Crookston vs. Fosston in the consolation round.

Finals are scheduled today (Saturday).

TRF boys win 60-47 at Warren

Thief River Falls doubled Warren-Alvarado-Oslo 22-11 in the third quarter Tuesday to erase a three-point halftime deficit, lifting the Prowlers to a 60-47 boys high school basketball win.

"We started kind of slow, but the kids picked it up in the second half," said Thief River Falls coach Scott Brekke. "Overall, we were pretty happy."

The two teams played a 10-10 first quarter tie and the Ponies went into intermission with a 23-20 edge. But the Prowlers were up 42-34 at the next stop.

"The kids worked hard, and we shot the ball well from the line," pointed out Brekke, whose team cashed in on 20 of 26 free throw opportunities. The host Ponies were 7-for-12 at the line.

Thief River Falls center Kyle Sanden, who scored a game-high 25 points, had 7 rebounds, 2 steals and 2 blocked shots, went down with an injury two minutes into the fourth quarter. It was later diagnosed as a knee sprain that is expected to sideline the University of Minnesota recruit for two games.

Jared Brandt came up big for the Prowlers with 14 points, 7 rebounds, 3 steals and 2 blocked shots. He was 8-for-10 at the free throw line.

Tim Schmiedeberg led the Ponies with 11 points.

The 2-0 Prowlers were 20-for-48 from the field (42 percent) and had a 24-23 rebound edge. The Ponies went 16-for-26 from the floor (35 percent) and 7-for-12 at the line. They topped the turnover charts 13-11.

Pirates' free throws seal win

Crookston shooters weren't great at the free throw line down the stretch, but they were good enough to secure a 60-55 girls high school basketball win over host Thief River Falls.

The Pirates went to the line 14 times in the last 1:34, making 7 of them to keep the game Prowlers at bay.

Winless in five starts, Thief River Falls played Crookston to a 25-25 halftime tie and went ahead on a drive to the basket by Kim Stenseth to start the second half.

But four straight buckets on the inside by 5-9 Crookston junior Maura Stadem provided the Pirates with a 33-27 lead they never relinquished.

The scoreboard gap reached 11 at 43-32 in the first minute of the fourth quarter before the Prowlers bounced back. An 11-2 run made it 47-46 following a Nicole Kopari field goal with 3:28 remaining.

While Thief River Falls got no closer, the outcome was still in doubt when Kopari nailed a 3-point shot to make it 56-54 with 53.5 seconds left. However, the Prowlers' must-foul situation continued to feed the Pirates a steady diet of free throws as Kelly Nelson and Leah Olson both hit the front end of two-shot opportunities, and then Nelson made a pair with 21 seconds showing for a 60-54 cushion.

Stenseth and Kopari scored 18 and 16 points, respectively, for the Prowlers. Stadem and Nelson both netted 12 for the Pirates.

Thief River Falls was 20-for-54 from the field (37 percent) and 12-for-24 at the free throw line. Crookston went 21-for-60 from the floor (35 percent) and wound up 17-for-30 at the line. The Prowlers had a 28-23 rebound edge. The turnovers were even at 24 apiece.

Kittson Central, led by Casey Langen's 17 points and 12 each from Ryan Schwenzfeier and Ben Diamond, started with a 17-12 first quarter lead. It was tied 31-31 at halftime and the Wolfpack regained a 44-43 third quarter edge.

The Nordics' 1-for-12 fourth quarter shooting helped to turn the 12-point deficit into a head-shaking 37-point gap.

The Royals led 47-27 at halftime. The Pioneers played them even in the second half, but couldn't close the gap.

"We didn't do a very good job defensively in the first half," acknowledged Northland coach Rick Nikunen. "We were a half-step slow. They (Royals) have a good ball club – very athletic and good size."

Five Royals hit double figures, including 15 points apiece by Mandy Baker, Heather Herda and Amanda Staloch. Gina Salverson scored 13 points, while LaVonne Nelson and Tara Sugden both had 12 for the Pioneers, who fell to 3-3.

Pioneers win at Bottineau

Progress of the Northland Community and Technical College men's basketball team was measured on the scoreboard Monday in a 112-99 win at NDSU-Bottineau.

The Pioneers lost an 88-83 home court decision to the Lumberjacks to start the 1995-96 season.

"We had a real good night," reported Northland coach Mark Dimmloff. "Not many teams make the five-hour bus ride to Bottineau and come away with a win. We played well, and we shot well. We put 40 good minutes together."

Northland had a 56-55 halftime edge, and spent much of the second half sitting on a double-digit lead.

Don Beverly scored 27 points, handed out 9 assists and pulled down 7 rebounds for the Pioneers, who also got big games from Jake Rantanen with 17 points, 11 assists and 6 rebounds, Joey Wilebski with 13 points and 9 rebounds, Kenta McGaughy with 11 points off the bench, and Preston Treat with 9 points and 12 assists.

Northland shot 61 percent from the field (50/82) and went 4-for-12 at the free throw line. NDSU-Bottineau shot 49 percent from the floor (33/68) and had a busy 20-for-30 free throw night. The Pioneers had a 47-31 rebound advantage.

Fuel assistance funds running low care. For the working poor it may mean going without food, or buying warm clothing and going without fuel.

Sometimes, people will revert to unsafe heating systems. Over the years a lot of the unsafe heating systems, which caused many fires, have been removed from low income homes. Roland said he has a great deal of information about installation of proper heating systems, which he is willing to share with anyone.

Roland said individuals should be concerned about paying their fuel bills. In many cases, other resources can be utilized to help them come up with such items as food and clothing.

All kinds of problems, some beyond control of the customer, can lead to a customer not being able to make a payment on the heating bill. Barry Froiland of the Thief River Falls utilities department, said it is important that the customer contact the vendor and try to work out a payment schedule. Froiland said if the customer is still unable to make payments, they encourage the customer to contact Inter-County Community Council in Oklee and their Social Service provider. As a last resort funds may be obtained from The Salvation Army.

Fuel assistance from ICCC can only be applied toward the electric heat portion of the bill. Froiland said the customer still ends up making payments on water, sewage, and garbage.

Froiland said there is a need in the community for fuel assistance. He said it also seems that more and more would like fuel assistance or a regular payment schedule.

Northern Minnesota Utilities in Thief River Falls reminds customers that they must make an effort and apply for protection under the cold weather rules. Otherwise, they stand the chance of having their heat shut off. The sooner the customer applies for protection the better. If a customer waits longer than one month, their bills may be in the hundreds of dollars by the time something can be done.

Customers who need fuel assistance should also contact ICCC and social services. As a last resort The Salvation Army HeatShare program is suggested.

Les's Sanitation agrees to violation settlement

Les's Sanitation of Thief River Falls has agreed to pay $1,720 towards settlement of violations of the Federal Motor Carrier Safety Regulations, according to a news release from the U.S. Department of Transportation in Minnesota.

The violations discovered during the investigation in September of 1995 were against its trucking operations for violations of the Federal Motor Carrier Safety regulations resulting in unsafe performance. The specific violation for which the carrier was charged was stated as follows: "The carrier failed to require a driver-applicant, whom the motor carrier intends to hire or use, to be tested for the use of controlled substances as a pre-qualification condition."

Joseph Boyd, state director of the Office of Motor Carriers in St. Paul, explained that the department generates about 10 to 20 enforcement actions each month in Minnesota. Those enforcement actions are generally carried out after there has been an educational contact, and a second contact during which it was discovered that violations noted during the first visit had not been corrected. Contact with carriers is generally a result of a number of factors which are added up, and after a certain score is attained, an education visit is conducted. Boyd said it is not unusual for carriers not to be up-to-date or informed on all of the regulations, which is why an educational visit is first conducted.

The investigation, in this instance, was conducted by James Harmon of the St. Paul office and was initiated based on the carrier's degree of compliance with the Federal Motor Carrier Safety Regulations.

Captain Tony Kojozad of the Minnesota State Highway Patrol says that he doesn't want the speed limit to change, stating that the two-lane roadways are the most dangerous in the state. Statistics from the MN Department of Public Safety show that most fatal crashes occur in rural areas.

Area people give speed limit views

"I personally would like to see everybody use a seat belt," he stated.

Captain Tony Kozojed, a 28-year veteran of the Minnesota State Highway Patrol, feels strongly that the speed limit should remain as it is.

"I don't believe in this area here with two-lane highways and the severity of accidents that we need an increase in the speed limit."

He said the two-lane system is the most dangerous in the state. In the past two years at the present rate of travel the number of accidents in the area has increased.

According to the Minnesota Department of public safety, 76 per cent of fatal crashes and 55 per cent of total crashes in 1994 occurred on trunk and "county state aid" highway systems which are usually two-lane, two-way roads. In 1993 the DPS reported 71 per cent of all fatal crashes occurred in rural areas.

"I hope that two lane roadways stay at 55," says Kozojed. "The severity of accidents will increase with speed."

He also says that the safety measures such as seat belts and air bags lose effectiveness at high speeds.

Kozojed says that the varying sizes of vehicles also poses problems for motorists in the area. Farmers and contractors by the nature of their business use vehicles that are much larger than the average car. In the northwest part of the state the chances of a mis-matched crash is much greater than in other areas.

As an organization, the Minnesota State Highway Patrol is also recommending that the speed limit remain the same as it was under federal law.

The Joint Agency Advisory Task Force is scheduled to report its findings by January 15 to MnDot and DPS, which will then develop formal recommendations to the legislature during the 1996 session.

road projects, increase in the exempt project size from 400 square feet to three acres, shift of liability from the counties to the state and credit for impoundments created in the past.

"If Marshall county was given credit for the acreage in Agassiz refuge, Thief Lake, Elm Lake, Moose River and other areas, we would have enough credits to cover mitigation for every road project from now to the end of time," he said.

Kleinwachter said the changes proposed by the Board of Water and Soil Resources (BWSR) "would do as much good as winking at a woman in the dark."

"Marshall county doesn't need this law, doesn't want this law, and until changes are made it won't sign this law," he emphasized.

County commissioner Bev Hewitt of Lancaster who represents Kittson county's fourth district, said that "people aren't out to destroy the wetlands, they are trying to provide for their own needs and make a living." She said it is necessary to look at the needs of the people, the local economy and the diversity of the state as well as the actual need for restrictive law.

She also encouraged people to join and become active in the landowners rights group. "You can make a difference," she said.

Salvation Army concerned about kettle drive results

Extremely frigid temperatures and a lack of pedestrian traffic during the recent severe storms has caused concern for The Salvation Army. One of the concerns is with a loss of potential income at kettle sites.

The weather, along with foreseen federal budget cuts affecting welfare, have caused a great deal of concern for Salvation Army officials. As a result, more people will be counting on the Army to provide them with a hand up and the Army is unsure if they will be able to fill in the entire void.

"This is our most critical Christmas fund-raising season ever," said Major Robert Thomson, divisional secretary. "At one point our campaign was going well, but now we have several factors working against us." In addition to the cold weather, limited traffic and budget cuts, Thomson said the Army will automatically miss one of its most productive days of bell ringing because December 24 falls on a Sunday and the Army does not staff its sites on Sundays. "We expect to see more people than ever before come through our doors once federal budgets are determined."

In Pennington county, except for days affected by the blizzard, donations to the kettle campaign have been good.

In the Twin Cities, The Salvation Army estimates that nearly $200,000 was lost since Friday due to lower than anticipated traffic and the inability to staff sites. "We have dropped more than 15 per cent in our kettle efforts since Friday," Thomson said. All Salvation Army units throughout Minnesota and North Dakota have seen similar affects due to the weather.

In Pennington county, donations can be made at kettle locations or by contacting the law enforcement center at 681-6161.

First Arctco ATV rolls off the line Dec. 20

Company president Chris Twomey calls the Bearcat model "best in class" in opinion of the experts

Arctco's first ATV, the Bearcat, rolled off the assembly line Wednesday afternoon. The Bearcat represents Arctco's newest product line joining Arctic Cat snowmobile and Tigershark personal watercraft.

Chris Twomey, Arctco's president and CEO, called the new product "best in class", and said "that's not only what we think but what the experts are telling us."

"Arctco decided to enter the ATV market because our dealers and customers asked us to. ATV's are a perfect fit with our existing products and a natural extension of Arctco's motorsports expertise," said Twomey.

Strong sales momentum has been building in the ATV market for the last five years. The market increased 17 per cent in 1994 and recorded sales of $1.2 billion. ATV sales are expected to hit 268,000 this year, an increase of 40 per cent over 1993 sales (192,000). A 1995 survey of motorsports dealers found that almost 25 per cent of their annual sales are ATV related. In fact, ATVs are now the number one segment in motorsports sales; ahead of both street and on-road/off-road motorcycles.

The Arctic Cat Bearcat ATV will be marketed as a utility vehicle for farmers, ranchers and outdoorsmen. The Bearcat's features include a liquid-cooled, four-stroke 454cc engine, high ground clearance and low center of gravity, long travel suspension, easy-to use reverse gear, and a unique heel-toe shifting mechanism. The manufacturer's suggested retail price is $6,349.

The Bearcat will be manufactured on one of two new state-of-the-art assembly lines at the plant in Thief River Falls. Both lines feature digital and computer-automated equipment to speed production, reduce costs and improve the quality, fit and finish of Arctco's products.

Twomey said Wednesday that the ATV had been in the works for four years now. It hasn't been easy getting to this point. He explained different groups have been working on the product. Since June, they had to reorient manufacturing, select vendors, and challenge marketing to come up with concepts to keep up interest in the product. Twomey said he would like to say it's going to get easier but it won't. It's not the time to let up, he said, but "to re-double our efforts".

During the ceremony, Bill Ness, chairman of Arctco's board of directors rode the first production Bearcat off the assembly line onto a platform and then to the plant's product display area.

The name, "Bearcat", Twomey said came from an employee Keith Myers, an employee's son, and the chairman of the board, Bill Ness. All were recognized at the ceremony.

The group divided by departments to look at the content of classes and the different textbooks used. The discussion was in preparation for possible consolidation between the two districts. There are strengths and weaknesses in both programs and consolidation would be an opportunity to improve the departments and classes.

Peterson is found guilty in jury trial

Wednesday afternoon, Susan Marie Peterson, Newfolden, was found guilty of three counts of felony theft by a jury of eight men and four women.

Peterson, a former bookkeeper at KTRF/KSNR radio station of Thief River Falls, was found guilty of three counts of felony theft with a value more than $2,500. She was accused of appropriating company funds for her own use. She claimed that she had used her personal credit cards to pay for company expenses and had advanced cash to KTRF. In court, she claimed the radio station still owed her money.

The criminal complaint alleges that Peterson took $11,919.06 between April 1, 1994 and September 1994; $9,864.98 between September 2, 1994, and February 1, 1995; $8,919.33 between February 2, 1995 and May 31, 1995. Amounts stated in court during closing arguments on Wednesday, however, varied between about $11,000, $29,000 and $50,000.

Peterson's trial began on Monday and ended Wednesday afternoon after many hours of testimony. The complicated trial included an independent audit, and other evidence of financial transactions. After nearly five hours of deliberation the jury returned its verdict at about 4:15 p.m. Wednesday.

Ninth District Judge Dennis Murphy ordered a pre-sentence investigation and tentatively scheduled sentencing for 1:30 p.m. January 29. He also allowed a request for a restitution hearing to be conducted at the same time. Bond was held and Peterson was released on the same terms and conditions.

Peterson was represented in court by Grand Forks Attorney Kevin Spaeth. The case was prosecuted by assistants to the Pennington county attorney, Alan Rogalla and Gayle Borchert.

Peterson is also a school board member in Newfolden School District 441. State law prohibits individuals convicted of felonies from serving elected government positions. It is expected that a replacement will be appointed, however, the Marshall County Central school board has not discussed the matter. Officials say there is no need to make a hurried decision.

School board and faculty agree on contract terms

School Dist. 564 board of education and faculty representatives have reached a tentative agreement on 1995-1997 contract terms, according to Carl Clark, chairman of the board's negotiating team. John Wallberg chaired the TRFEA team. Ratification by the faculty and full school board is expected in early January.

Ardia Bodard, owner of The Old Tyme Quilting Shop still does some hand quilting, but not professionally. Here she quilts around a printed picture on a baby quilt. Bodard's store carries products for machine and hand quilting. She specilizes making custom quilts of varying size and style and quilting and binding quilts that others haved pieced.

Shop owner loves the stories behind the quilts

by Elizabeth Ott
Northern Watch Reporter

When people walk into Ardie Bedard's business, they often tell her stories about their past. She's not a psychiatrist though, she's a quilter. Ardie is the owner of The Old Tyme Quilting Shop. She started a quilting business in Fosston about four years ago, but recently moved to her new location on a farm just south of Brooks. She sells wall hangings, lap quilts, larger quilts, hot food carriers and quilting supplies. She also machine quilts the quilt tops people piece themselves and bring in to be quilted and bound. Machine quilting is more durable than hand quilting and makes quilts more affordable.

"Hand quilting is still the ultimate," Ardie says.

She says her stepmother originally got her hooked on quilting. At that time Ardie was a truck driver and would bring her handwork or quilting with her on the road. Ardie quit driving truck when her husband's daughter came to live with them, so Brian, Ardie's husband, suggested they buy the quilting machine she had always wanted. He even went to Iowa with Ardie to purchase the machine.

When Ardie first tried using the machine, she was terrified.

"It went everywhere," she said, "I thought Oh, my god, what have we done. I'll never be able to run this."

The machine sews very fast and takes a lot of practice to learn to use it. Ardie started practicing machine quilting eight hours everyday. After about six months she was ready to start sewing for others.

A story in every quilt

Quilting used to be a necessity. All women quilted so the family would have blankets, Ardie explained.

"Our society now days is not geared for women to sit and do hand quilting," she says. "It used to be a necessity. It was work."

Now women work outside the home and many are the sole head of the household. They don't have time to quilt.

"That's where I come in," explains Ardie.

Many of the quilts that people bring to Ardie are family heirlooms, most have a story behind

Members of National Guard unit to train during German tour

About a dozen National Guard members who are attached to the units at Thief River Falls and Crookston will be among 125 from Army National Guard units in northwestern Minnesota to be performing their annual training in Germany.

The training is part of the Overseas Deployment Training plan developed to supplement active duty units that have been depleted because of troop draw downs.

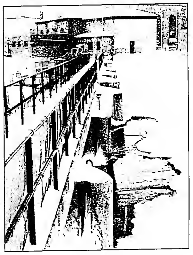
While the training being conducted will be beneficial for units going to Bosnia, the Guardsmen are not going to Bosnia nor is their participation a result of U.S. forces being sent to Bosnia, according to Capt. Tim Kojetin at the Moorhead Training and Community Center.

The Minnesota National Guard soldiers from the 2nd Battalion, 136th Infantry going to Germany will spend 22 days at Hohenfels, the location of the Combat Maneuver Training Center. There they will work as the opposition force during realistic training exercises for U.S. and NATO forces.

Soldiers going to Germany are from units located in Bemidji, Detroit Lakes, Crookston, Thief River Falls, Wadena and Moorhead.

Scheduled for the training from Company B (DET 1) in Thief River Falls are Spec. Daniel Dale, Erskine; Spec. Terrence Nefzger, Bejou; PFC Jeffrey Aakhus, Brooks; Spec. Jared Ranum, Newfolden; Sgt. Michael Finseth, Thief River Falls; Spec. Terry Moser, Crookston; PFC Christopher Hoglin, Thief River Falls; Sgt. Allen Casavan, Warroad; and Specialist Christopher Olsen, Red Lake Falls.

Area soldiers attached to Company B- at Crookston who will be heading for Germany are SSgt. William Rasmussen and Spec. Lennis Fuller, both of Red Lake Falls.



Ice chunks have been breaking away from in front of the dam in Thief River Falls. Because of the danger posed, officials have put a large sign on the dam and are asking everyone to stay well clear of the dam. The thin ice is a result of snow on top of the ice, and an increased waterflow over the dam. Officials estimate that as much as three times the normal flow is going down the river.

Roseau Christmas bird count Dec. 30

Seventh annual Christmas bird count at Roseau has been scheduled for Saturday, December 30, when birders will survey a 15 mile diameter circle centered just north of the Roseau county fairgrounds on highway 310.

According to the sponsors, the area provides habitat for a large variety of bird species because of its geographic and vegetative diversity. Persons interested in participating can observe their own neighborhood and bird feeders, drive or walk with other birders, or alert participants to local bird concentrations prior to the count.

Birders will gather at 7 a.m. for an organizational meeting at Brandi's Restaurant at the Super 8 Motel on the west edge of Roseau and will regroup there at noon for a warm up and lunch. There is a $5 participation fee, half of which will be paid by the Agassiz Audubon Society.

After sunset, participants are invited to the Bud and Betty Johnson home, two miles north of the fairgrounds, for warming Gluhwein, a potluck supper and official compilation of the bird species and numbers sighted. The participation fee assists the National Audubon Society in publication of the results of the annual hemisphere wide survey in the book American Birds.

This is the 96th anniversary of the Christmas bird count. Results of previous years' counts are available in American Birds at the Roseau museum.

Persons interested do not need to be experts on birds to participate in this part of the recording of bird populations, migratory patterns and the health of the environment, nor do they need to join the group or take part in the entire day's activities. Anyone observing birds within the count circle on December 30 may call the Johnson home (463-2181) after 5:30 p.m. or join the group there for potluck supper to report observations.

For more information, call Ceci Loch at 463-1895 or the Johnson home. Counts were previously held at Crookston and Fertile December 16 and at Grand Forks, ND, December 17 and are scheduled for Norris Camp December 28 and Warren January 1.

SOUPÇON

These buttery cookies look so pretty on a tray:

NEAPOLITAN COOKIES

1 cup butter
1 1/2 cups sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 1/2 cups flour
1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon almond flavor
1 square unsweetened chocolate

Cream butter. Add sugar and beat and then add egg and vanilla and beat fluffy.

Mix flour, baking powder and salt and then add to butter mixture, mixing well.

Divide mixture into three parts. To one part, add red food color and spread in waxed paper-lined loaf pan.

To another part, add melted chocolate and spread over red mixture.

To the last part, add green food coloring and spread over chocolate layer.

Chill well.

When ready to bake, remove from waxed paper and cut loaf in half lengthwise. Slice cookies in 1/8 to 1/4 inch slices and place on ungreased cookie sheet. Sprinkle with sugar (plain or colored) and bake at 350 degrees 10-12 minutes.

(You may add cut up cherries, nuts, coconut or other goodies to layers, if desired.)

Maybe you would like to try to make something new these last few days before Christmas. Here are some last-minute Christmas recipes for you.

These bars are one of our favorites — I double the recipe for Christmas and bake it in a 9x13 inch pan — cut it into small pieces because it is very rich:

TURTLE BARS

1 cup flour
1 cup oats
3/4 cup brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup melted butter
3/4 cup caramel ice cream topping
1 1/2 tablespoons flour
1 cup chocolate chips
1/2 cup chopped pecans

Mix 1 cup of flour, oats, brown sugar, soda and salt in large bowl. Add melted butter and mix well.

Press half of the mixture in greased 9 inch pan and bake at 350 degrees for 10 minutes.

Remove from oven and sprinkle with chips and pecans.

Mix caramel topping with 1 1/2 tablespoons flour and pour over chips and nuts. Sprinkle with remainder of crumbs and bake an additional 15-20 minutes at 350 degrees. Let stand for quite a while for neat cutting.

These would be fun to try this evening — wouldn't they?

POM POMS

2 packages caramels
14 ounces condensed milk
1/2 cup butter
Pinch of salt
About 48 frozen (regular sized) marshmallows
Chopped nuts

Melt caramels, milk, butter and salt in double boiler (or microwave), watching so it doesn't burn.

Roll frozen marshmallows in caramel mixture and then in chopped nuts. Place on buttered waxed paper and chill to set. Store in refrigerator.

This yummy brown sugar treat is one of my favorites:

MICROWAVE PECAN PENUCHE

2 cups pecans
1/2 cup butter
2/3 cup brown sugar
1 (14 ounce) can condensed milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Microwave pecans 5-6 minutes, stirring often.

In micro safe bowl, cook butter for 1 minute. Add brown sugar and milk and microwave 7-9 minutes (or more, depending on how powerful your microwave is) until mixture is brown and thickened.

Beat about 5 minutes, add vanilla and nuts, and pour into 8 inch square, buttered pan. Chill until firm and then cut.

I haven't made this for years — it is a real treat and very simple to make:

TOFFEE BUTTER CRUNCH

1 cup butter
1 1/3 cups sugar
3 tablespoons water
1 tablespoons white syrup
1/2 cup almonds (if desired)
Milk chocolate
(candy bars are good)
1 inch of wax

Foil line a 9x13 inch pan and grease the foil.

Melt butter and add sugar, water and syrup. Cook over medium heat, stirring occasionally, to 300 degrees (hard crack).

Stir in nuts and spread on prepared pan. Cool thoroughly.

Turn out on waxed paper.

Melt chocolate and wax and spread over toffee. Sprinkle with finely chopped nuts, if desired.

When chocolate is set, break into pieces. Store in airtight container.

One more quick recipe that is a magic one — Grandma might remember this one from when she was a girl:

SPONGE CANDY

1 cup sugar
1 cup dark corn syrup
2 tablespoon vinegar
1 tablespoon soda

Mix sugar, syrup and vinegar in large, heavy kettle. Cook over medium heat, stirring, until sugar melts.

Continue to cook without stirring until mixture reaches 300 degrees.

Remove from heat and quickly stir in soda. Mix well and then quickly pour into buttered 9x13 inch pan. Do not spread, as candy will spread itself. Cool and break into pieces.

Gifts for a safe and warm Christmas

The staff at the Tri-Valley Opportunity Council has teamed up with the Crookston Fire Department to provide a happier, safer holiday for families across the region.

Tri-Valley employees have decked the Christmas tree in the lobby of the headquarters building in Crookston with new children's winter hats and mittens. Stacked like Christmas packages under the tree are 30 smoke detectors donated by the Crookston Fire Department.

Julie Aanenson, with the Tri-Valley Opportunity Council, says the gifts will be matched by the Tri-Valley Employees Association, then distributed through area food shelves in Norman, western Polk, and western Marshall counties.

"We need to thank the Crookston Fire Department for their very generous donation. During their home visits our Family Service Workers found many homes without smoke detectors, we can change that this Christmas."

This is the second year the Angel Tree has adorned the Tri-Valley lobby. Aanenson says it brings them all "even closer to Christmas."

Youth from Redeemer Lutheran church in Thief River Falls were among 11 groups to help wrap presents going to local children as part of the Christmas for Pennington County program. The program gave out at least 330 presents to 138 families. Many organizations, businesses and individuals participated in the program by taking cards off trees located at Kmart, Pamida and Lori's Hallmark. This one program was created to help eliminate duplication of effort by the many organizations, and make sure that residents in Pennington county who might otherwise not receive Christmas gifts, receive gifts. Pictured from left are: Lindsay Ehrenstrom, Kristin Naplin, Kere Skiple, John Sylvester, Brandon Niemi, Joanna Peerson, and Florence Ho.

"This Is Not About The Environment...."

"This is not about the environment," was the message given by Don Parmeter to people attending the report session of the Minnesota Landowners Rights Association December 14 in Thief River Falls. "This is about money and power and control." What the International Falls property rights advocate says makes a lot of sense, because the "environment" stands to gain very little from most of the current legislation which has been plaguing local government and a number of the state's private landowners.

If the environment doesn't benefit from the increasingly restrictive legislation and regulations, what or who does? One doesn't have to look very far to come up with a fairly good idea. It is loosely called the "Green Machine" and has nothing to do with a popular brand of farm equipment. It is a compilation of agencies and organizations, most with tax-exempt status, which have specific agendas that supercede any individual property rights.

This is not to say that all objectives of the agencies or organizations are wrong nor that all are oblivious to their potential or actual intrusion into uses of private or public lands. It is to say, however, that well financed special interests can exert a great deal of influence in government and public agencies which does not always take into consideration the rights or interests of others.

A summary of the memberships and annual budgets of 27 such organizations indicates that they have a lot of members and a good deal of money at their disposal to accomplish their goals. Those kinds of resources can buy a lot of access and lobbying power across the country—and they do! Combatting that kind of influence without similar resources is difficult, as other groups and individuals have discovered.

One thing that such money buys is the time of people to monitor legislative activity in those specific interest areas and to spend that time gaining access and input to tell their stories and sell their objectives. People working for a living in other occupations have no such time to spend convincing legislators of their needs or preparing materials for the news media.

What kind of money are we talking about? The compilation we saw shows the Nature Conservancy with a budget of $156,100,000, the National Wildlife Federation with $87,200,000, Greenpeace USA with $50,200,000, World Wildlife Fund with $35,500,000,'Sierra Club with $35,200,000, National Audubon Society with $35 million, the Wilderness Society with $17,300,000....and the list goes on.

These organizations didn't start out with the budgets they now have. They built their support base by convincing more and more people over the years that there is a need for their existence. Once convinced, people do not readily change their minds.

This is the kind of opposition faced by members of the Minnesota Landowners Rights Association as it seeks significant modification in the state's wetland law. Without numbers and dollars, the MLRA must base its case on two primary factors—the U.S. Constitution and the application of common sense. Granted, that is a fairly formidable base.

It has already been indicated, however, that legislators and government agencies—state and federal—will attempt to circumvent the Constitution. They are doing it now through regulation and intimidation. Can common sense prevail? The 1996 Minnesota legislative session and what becomes of the Minnesota Wetland Conservation Act will provide an indication of that.

Meaningful changes in the law will not adversely affect Minnesota's environment. They will redistribute power and control to landowners and local government. And that's what the whole issue is really all about.

Volunteers Take Heart; Your Time Is Coming

From time to time in the editorials we have commented on the inestimable service which volunteer workers have provided for any number of worthy efforts and causes. We see these acts of kindness and selflessness on an almost daily basis, and that is why this poem in a Christmas letter we received seemed appropriate to pass on to all our readers:

VOLUNTEERS;
GOD BLESS THEM!
Many will be shocked to find,
When the day of judgment nears,
That there's a special place in heaven
Set aside for volunteers.
Furnished with big recliners,
Satin couches and footstools,
Were there's no committee chairmen,
No group leaders or car pools,
No eager team that needs a coach,
No bazaar and no bake sale.
There will be nothing to staple,
Not one thing to fold or mail.
Telephone lists will be outlawed,
But a finger snap will bring
Cool drink and gourmet dinners
And treats fit for a king.
You ask, "Who'll serve these privileged few
And work for all they're worth?"
Why, those who reaped the benefits
And not once volunteered on Earth.

Officials have put up a large sign on the dam that says "Danger Thin Ice" after a large chunk of ice broke away. Everyone is reminded to stay well clear of the dam. The thin ice is a result of a significant amount of snow on the ice, which acts as insulation, and an increase in water flow. Officials estimate that waterflow is at about three times the normal rate.

Prowlers, Nordics advance

■ Girls high school basketball tournament semifinals

Thief River Falls and Marshall County Central were semifinal winners Tuesday in the first Northland Community and Technical College/KTRF Invitational girls high school basketball tournament.

The Prowlers beat Red Lake County Central 56-44 while the Nordics got by Tri County 43-39 in overtime.

Stephen defeated Kittson County North 37-31 and Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke edged Argyle 33-32 in the consolation semifinals.

Thief River Falls........................56
Red Lake Co. Central..................44

A defense designed to take away the strong Red Lake County Central inside game was the key to a 56-44 Thief River Falls semifinal win.

Angie Chervestad and Mckenzie Malwitz, the center of the Prowlers' defensive attention, were limited to a combined 7 first half points as the Prowlers built a 26-17 lead.

"We knew those two scored about 80 percent of their points," explained Thief River Falls coach Sally Wilse, "so we sandwiched the inside. We made our guards work the whole floor while the others packed it inside."

Malwitz, a 5-9 senior, wound up with 10 points. Chervestad, a 6-0 sophomore, had 9. The Mustangs were led by 5-6 junior Catherine Rosten with 11 points.

A 28 percent 19-for-69 shooting performance made it tough for the Mustangs. "Basically it was not a good performance," said Red Lake County Central coach Rick Koivisto.

The Mustangs did pull within 31-30 with 1:46 left in the third quarter on six straight Malwitz points, only to be out-scored 15-2 over the next 3 1/2 minutes.

Thief River Falls was led by 6-6 freshman Nicole Kopari with 26 points and 5-10 junior Kim Stenseth with 14.

The Prowlers shot 39 percent from the field (21/54) and were 12-for-17 at the free throw line, where the Mustangs were a quiet 3-for-4.

Marshall Co. Central.................43
Tri County..................................39

Marshall County Central went scoreless over the final six minutes of regulation time, but managed to come out a 43-39 overtime winner over Tri County in the second half of the semifinal doubleheader.

"We were very fortunate," acknowledged Marshall County Central Coach Tom Mjelde. "We did not make very smart decisions down the stretch. But we found a way to win, and that's all that matters I guess."

With Tri-County keeping the usual Tricia Pederson-Darlene Nelson Marshall County Central scoring duo in check, the Nordics got a big offensive boost from 5-6 junior Brandi Olson, who came off the bench to score 10 second quarter points, supplying her team with a 25-22 halftime edge.

The Nordics were up 37-31 following a Lacey Hirst free throw with 6:16 remaining in the fourth quarter, but did not add to that total. Melinda Britten's short jumper with 1:47 left was the last points of regulation time.

Pederson opened overtime with a free throw and then took a nice feed from Nelson to score on the inside for a 40-37 edge.

A strong rebound basket by Britten made it 40-39, but that was the Wildcats only scoring in overtime. Nelson made one of two free throws with 35.1 seconds showing and Pederson added two more with 10.1 seconds to go.

Pederson finished with 16 points and Britten, a senior in a Tri-County line-up that also featured two eighth graders and two sophomores, netted 15.

Marshall County Central shot 42 percent from the field (16/38) and went 9-for-17 at the free throw line. Tri-County shot only 33 percent from the floor (17/51) and struggled with 5-for-13 free throw shooting.

"Defensively we played really well, but we couldn't take advantage of it offensively," reported noted Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke coach Mike Gast, who watched his team lose a 10-point third quarter lead.

Jill Schuler of the Wolverines and the Eagles' Amanda Shane shared scoring honors with 12 points each.

The Wolverines were 15-for-50 from the field (30 percent) and 3-for-5 at the free throw line. The Eagles went 13-for-44 from the floor (30 percent) and 4-for-9 at the line.

RLCC boys fall to Green Wave by 77-59 score

Fresh from a title-winning performance in the Northland Community and Technical College/ KTRF Invitational, Red Lake County Central fell short of that kind of effort Tuesday in a 77-59 boys high school basketball loss at East Grand Forks.

"We were tired, and we were flat," admitted Red Lake County Central coach Brad Borene. "We got off to a slow start and never really recovered."

Shooting at a 59 percent 33-for-56 clip, the Green Wave led at the quarter stops 17-10, 35-25 and 55-44 before breaking it wide open in the final eight minutes.

"We didn't play very good defense at all," said Borene.

Aaron Chapul scored a game-high 28 points for the Mustangs, who shot 45 percent from the floor (24/53). They were 7-for-11 at the free throw line, where the Green Wave went 5-for-10.

East Grand Forks was led by Mark Perkins' 19 points. The Green Wave had a 29-24 rebound edge. The Mustangs had more turnovers, 19-15.

Northland men's basketball team 2-5 at holiday break...

Pioneers lose to Royals 85-74

The 1995 portion of the 1995-96 season ended in disappointing fashion for the Northland Community and Technical College men's basketball team Wednesday as the Pioneers dropped an 85-74 home court decision to UND-Lake Region.

Northland lost an 86-80 overtime decision to the Royals in Devils Lake six days earlier. The Pioneers came back from an early deficit to lead the rematch 34-31 at halftime, but were out-scored 54-40 over the final 20 minutes.

"It's the same old problem," pointed out Northland coach Mark Dannhoff. "With 3-4-5 minutes left and the game on the line, nobody steps up their game. Other teams have people who step forward and take charge down the stretch. So far, nobody has done that for us."

Keith Parris and Kenta McGaughy scored 22 and 11 points respectively, off the bench to lead the Pioneers, who got only 44 points from their starters. "Our bench was outstanding," noted Dannhoff. "If it wasn't for our bench, we would have been blown out."

Byron Suttles scored a game-high 28 points to lead the Royals.

Northland is 2-5 heading into the holiday break. The Pioneers will resume play Jan. 5-6 with a Minnesota Community College Conference-opening weekend trip to Mesabi and Vermilion.

"We still think we have a lot of talent and a lot of ability, but this was a very disappointing performance," said Dannhoff.

Just two of the Pioneers' first seven games were played in Thief River Falls. Next home appearance will be a Jan. 12-13 MCCC weekend vs. Hibbing and Rainy River.

TRF freshmen boys down Roseau 47-36

Thief River Falls trailed 10-4 at the end of the first quarter, but came back for a 47-36 Dec. 15 freshman boys high school basketball win over Roseau.

Jeff Beste scored 14 points, Todd Christensen 13 and Kelly Cota 11 for the winners, who led 23-20 at halftime and had a 35-24 third quarter advantage.

Alpine Ski School features professional instructors Butch Findeisen and Kathy Wood as they introduce all the basics of proper downhill skiing-starting with clothing and ski selection. This video is endorsed by the National Ski Association, the Professional Ski Instructors of America, Ski Industries America, and the U.S. Ski Association.

Arctic Cat, Taking Charge and Polaris 1995 both showcase these snowmobiles.

IN MEMORY OF David Schwartz
December 27, 1994

Even though it is now a year since you passed away
Our wonderful memories of you are deep in our hearts and remembered from day to day.
Our children think that you were the best father and grandfather we could have ever had,
The way you were always there to teach and guide us through the good and bad.
It is hard to understand why God felt it was your time to go just then.
So we keep telling ourselves he just needed more good men.
You always said if you can't be there for your kids when they need help why bother,
So that just goes to show why we considered you such a terrific husband, father and grandfather.

We love you!
Sadly missed by
Mrs. David Schwartz and family

Shop owner Bedard loves stories behind quilts them. Ardie has a scrapbook full of photos of quilts she has made or helped make and she has letters and cards from customers.

One of the first quilts she quilted for someone else was brought in by a woman in her mid-40's. The quilt was the last one made by the woman's mother, who died when the woman was 10. As the woman opened the quilt and looked at it for the first time in 30 years, she saw the scraps of material from her brother's shirt and her mother's dress and other familiar articles. The woman began to cry as she realized her childhood memories were stitched into the quilt with the butterfly pattern.

Another memorable woman came all the way from Crookston to Fosston to see Ardie's quilt shop. When the woman arrived she and her daughter were disappointed to find that the shop was on the second floor of the building and was only accessible via a staircase. The woman used a walker to get around and wouldn't be able to take the stairs, explained her daughter. Ardie went out to the car where the frail-looking woman was seated.

After visiting a while, Ardie asked the woman, "If you took the stairs one step at a time and went very slowly and I stood in front of you and your daughter stood behind you, do you think you could make it up the stairs?"

The woman said, yes. It took nearly ten minutes, said Ardie, but the woman was able to ascend the stairs. The woman was allergic to synthetic fibers, and she wanted Ardie to make her a quilt from all-cotton materials. Ardie chose a log cabin pattern and made a beautiful blue quilt.

After the woman received the quilt, she wrote to Ardie and told her "I will have this quilt on my bed everyday just because it brightens my day."

The woman said she enjoyed the trip to the quilt shop and that due to her failing health she rarely left her house except to go to the hospital. Ardie never did know what ailment the woman had. The woman called Ardie a few more times, but Ardie never saw her again.

A story of her own

Special stories about people and quilts are Ardie's favorite part of owning a quilt shop, but Ardie has a quilt story of her own.

About eight years ago, Ardie was visiting her mother in Iowa. One day her mother said she had something to show Ardie. Her mother then opened a drawer and pulled out 15 quilt squares. She said that the quilt squares belonged to her grandmother, Ardie's great-grandmother.

Ardie's great-grandmother lived in Council Bluffs, IA. She was in her late 30's when she married. When she was 47, her husband hung himself, leaving her widowed with seven young children. Not one to give up, the Ardie's great-grandmother and her children worked their 40 acre farm, and she earned money by quilting for others. She had started making a quilt just before she died in her early 60's. The squares were given to her daughter, who passed them on to two of her daughters, Ardie's aunt and her mother. Ardie's aunt said that neither of them could do anything with only half of the squares, so she gave her squares to Ardie's mother. Ardie's mother decided Ardie would be the one to complete the quilt. Mice had damaged three of the squares, so there are only 12 squares in the quilt. Ardie will use two of the damaged squares for pillows and frame the third square. Ardie and her mother bought fabric to complete the quilt and pieced it together. Ardie then quilted it by hand.

As Ardie quilted, she started to think about her great-grandmother. She learned things about her great-grandmother by studying the quilt. She noticed the stitching and how carefully the scraps of fabric were put together. She realized what skill and precision her great-grandmother had. The more she worked on the quilt, the more questions she had for her mother about her great-grandmother.

"The quilt told me things about her I never would have known if I hadn't done it," explained Ardie.

When the quilt was finished, Ardie gave it to her mother. This summer Ardie's mother became very ill. She knew she would die soon and she wanted to pass on the quilt. She gave it to Ardie's daughter Sue. Sue knows the story of the quilt and what it means to the family. She has pledged to pass on the quilt and the story. Ardie's mother died this fall, but the quilt hangs in Sue's home in Houston, TX.

"That's what it's all about, memories," said Ardie.

Family affair

The Old Tyme Quilting Shop is not a solo effort. Ardie has help from her family and friends. Her husband Brian helped by building the shelves and installing the lighting in the former chicken house which now serves as the shop. He also helped by offering moral support. Her stepdaughter Alex helped clean up, fix up and paint the shop. She also paints signs for the shop which should be posted soon.

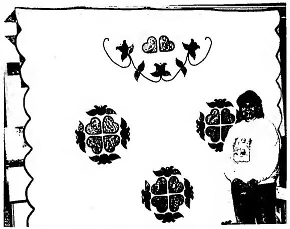
"Everybody in the family makes (the shop) possible," said Ardie.

She also has two friends, Cheryl Rue and Marge Bush who sew at the shop in exchange for quilting done by Ardie.

The shop is located southeast of Brooks. Take Highway 59 to County Road 7 and it's the first right off the county road. (The road has a dead end sign.) People can also contact Ardie at 1-800-476-3561.

Ardie says that once she opened the shop she was never sorry she did it. Most of all she loves the people she meets and the stories they tell.

"I am so lucky," says Ardie, "I get to go to work everyday and do something I love."



This wedding quilt was pieced and appliqued by Cheryl Rue and quilted by Ardia Bedard. This white quilt with pink and green applique falls all the way to the floor when placed on a large bed. Rue and Marge Bush sew at the shop in exchange for machine quilting by Ardie.

Disabled veterans will receive 2.6% increases in cost of living

Minnesota Department of Veterans Affairs has announced that disabled veterans will receive a 2.6 per cent cost of living increase in their compensation payments scheduled to be mailed later this month.

Based on the cost of living allowance (COLA) for social security recipients, the COLA was included in legislation signed by President Clinton and affects 2.2 million veterans. Monthly payments will now range from $91 for a single veteran with a 10 per cent disability rating to $1,870 for a single veteran with a 100 per cent disability rating.

The increase also applies to approximately 302,000 survivors of certain veterans—the spouses and children who receive benefits under VA's Dependency and Indemnity Compensation Program.

Veterans whose service-connected disabilities are rated 30 per cent or higher may receive additional allowances for dependents, based on their number and extent of disability.

Safety lessons

Fertile — Fifth grade students from Fertile-Beltrami elementary school learned about farm safety from Fertile-Beltrami FFA members.

The FFA members presented a video on do's and don'ts of farmyard situations and demonstrated safety precautions. A farmyard walk-about was scheduled for early December. Due to severe weather, it has been postponed until spring.

The program was developed by Farm Safety 4 Just Kids.

Roof caves in

Newfolden — Heavy snow accumulation caused a roof to collapse on Sunday afternoon, December 17. No one was injured when the roof of the former Meadowbrook Dance Hall collapsed, but there was minor damage to the three semitrucks which were stored in the building.

The building's owner Don Blazek said he was grateful damages were minimal.

The Blazeks plan to put a new roof on the building when the weather warms up this spring.

Christmas around the world

Fosston — Christmas is an international holiday, but each place that celebrates Christmas, does it a little bit different than the next. Exchange students at Fosston high school talked about Christmas at home.

Katerina Shcherbakova said that in Russia Grandpa Frost, dressed in a red suit, and his sister Snejohrochka bring candy and gifts to children.

Timo Toivonen says in Finland his family, grandparents and cousins open gifts on Christmas Eve. They eat several casseroles and vegetable dishes and a big ham.

Poetry published

Oklee — Pauline Walker had a poem published in the November/December issue of Country Woman magazine. This isn't the first time she's been published, though.

Walker has been writing poems since she was a girl. She was first published in the Minneapolis Journal when she was 17. In the 1960's she started getting more poems published and has since been published in 40 magazines. She has also published three booklets of poetry.

Newfolden post office to note centennial

Former Humboldt post office was moved and renamed New Folden post office on Jan. 6, 1896

by Marvin Lundin
Northern Watch Editor

Newfolden post office, which received its name in 1896 and had its beginning a dozen years earlier in the Ole Lee store a couple of miles to the east, will observe its 100th anniversary with an open house Saturday, January 6, from 8 to 10:30 a.m. at the post office building in Newfolden. Refreshments will be served.

As a special part of the observance, the post office will offer a special pictorial cancellation dated January 6. Collectors desiring the special cancellation may send a self-addressed card or envelope bearing the proper first class postage to Postmaster, P. O. Box 9998, Newfolden, MN 56738-9998. The cancellation will be offered to collectors for 30 days after the January 6 date.

Postmaster Patrick Passa said that approximately 150 requests for the special cancellation have been received from throughout the United States with some from former Newfolden residents and many from collectors of such items.

Tunheim Writes History

Former Newfolden resident John R. Tunheim, Deputy Attorney General for the State of Minnesota and an appointee for a federal judgeship, wrote about the early post office in his New Folden township history book entitled A Scandinavian Saga. In a brief note about the centennial, he wrote:

"Newfolden residents first received mail addressed to New Folden on Jan. 6, 1896, at the post office located in Postmaster Dyre B. Bakke's General Store in the tiny inland village located one and one-half miles southeast of today's Newfolden. The name was changed from 'Humboldt,' which had been established by first postmaster Ole Lee in 1884, shortly after the area was first homesteaded by Scandinavian immigrants.

"During the pioneer era, Marshall county was dotted with a vast network of fourth-class country post offices, meeting places which were the contact with the outside world. Other country post offices in the area at the turn of the century were called Fodvang, Rockstad, Klep, Baltic, Hellem, Ellerth, Sandridge, Opdahl and Loveid. Mail carriers brought the mail to Newfolden from Argyle by horse-drawn wagons and sleighs. A daylong journey at first, by 1900 it was shortened to four hours as roads improved.

Post Office Moved

"The Newfolden post office was moved north to the new village of Newfolden following the arrival of the Soo Line Railroad in 1904. Rural free delivery began soon after and the country post offices were closed. Today the Newfolden post office serves 560 families."

Among those families are the third, fourth and fifth generation in the Ole Lee family. Included are Thorvald Lee and Katherine (Lee) Knutson, son and daughter of Ole Lee's son George, Valborg and Rev. Raynard Huglen, daughter and son of Ole's daughter Inga (Lee) Huglen; Katherine Knutson's son Mark, and Mark's sons Mitchell, 6 and Tyler, 4.

Katherine Knutson taught elementary school in Thief River Falls for 30 years, retiring in 1991. Rev. Raynard Huglen's father was also named Raynard and was also a pastor.

Ole Lee's first son, Olaf, was the first white child born in New Folden township. Ole's family included four sons and three daughters. The Lee store building, which served as the first post office, still stands in its original location, on land now owned by Maynard Hjelle southeast of the present Newfolden.

Postmasters Listed

There have been a dozen people in charge of the post office since it was changed to Newfolden on Jan. 6, 1896, according to information supplied by the research administrator/ historian in the office of the U.S. Postmaster General. They included the following postmasters (unless otherwise noted), along with the date of their appointment:

Dyre B. Bakke, Jan. 6, 1896; Bertel J. Bakke, Feb. 7, 1902; Harry Hoberg, Dec. 22, 1903; Julius O. Strombo, Nov. 8, 1907; Ben Johnson, Nov. 28, 1914; Ole Kleppe, April 15, 1916; Miss Elizabeth Kleppe (acting), Dec. 22, 1928; Martha Kleppe (acting), Jan. 7, 1929 and postmaster Dec. 18, 1929; Clarence H. Cook (acting), May 15, 1934 and postmaster March 27, 1935; Harvey Earl Stokke (acting) March 31, 1967 and postmaster Jan. 17, 1969; Edward Furuseth (officer-in-charge) Nov. 6, 1985; and Patrick J. Passa, Feb. 16, 1986.

Interesting History

A Scandinavian Saga by John R. Tunheim provides a good deal of information about the early post office and store.

"In the spring of 1884," Tunheim writes, "K. M. Gustavson wrote to the Post Office Department to inquire about the possibility of establishing a post office in New Folden township. The application form was sent to him in

Descendants of early New Folden township postmaster Ole Lee are pictured with the building which was the Lee store and post office called Humboldt in the late 1800s. The building is in its original location, now part of the Maynard Hjelle farm southeast of the city of Newfolden. Later the post office was moved to the Dyre B. Bekke store and on Jan. 6, 1896, was officially named New Folden post office. Grandchildren of Ole Lee who still live in the Newfolden community and receive their mail from the Newfolden post office are (left to right) Rev. Raynard Huglen, Katherine Knutson, Valborg Huglen and Thorvald Lee.

Centennial proclaimed

Thief River Falls Mayor Bob Reeve has signed a Centennial proclamation. The proclamation declares that the Centennial Celebration which begins on the first day of January, shall continue throughout the entire of 1996.

"Whereas, the community of Thief River Falls has grown from humble beginnings in the early 1880s; and,

"Whereas, the young community was incorporated as a city in 1896, under the laws of the State of Minnesota; and,

"Whereas, the population of the new city was 840 in 1896, and has grown ten fold through the intervening years to well over 8,000 today, and,

"Whereas, during its first 100 years, Thief River Falls has prospered despite the extremes of weather, the economy and the world in general; and,

"Whereas, the City of Thief River Falls celebrates its 100th birthday with the knowledge that it exists today as a vibrant, dynamic city poised to continue its leadership for much of northwestern Minnesota in the areas of retail trade, manufacturing and industrial activities, as well as medical, educational and agricultural services well into the next century; now,

"Therefore, I, Bob Reeve, Mayor of the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, do hereby proclaim that on the first day of January 1996, the Centennial Celebration of our City's 100th anniversary has now begun and shall continue throughout the entire 1996 year, and,

"Further, that the spirit which motivated our city's founders be with every resident so that the pride we feel in the accomplishments of the first 100 years is known to all."

Kozojed retires from Minnesota State Patrol

by David Hill
Associate Editor

Thirty-two years ago he began his career in law enforcement with the Thief River Falls police department. In a tour of duty that took him all the way to the position of Chief of the Minnesota State Patrol, Capt. Tony Kozojed has decided to retire.

After so many years, Capt. Kozojed admitted it was a little hard to turn in his badge and check in all of his equipment.

Retirement came suddenly. He said he had originally planned to retire after serving one more year, but contractually and otherwise it became advantageous to retire a year earlier.

Tuesday, friends and acquaintances attended an open house at the Minnesota State Patrol District headquarters in Thief River Falls. It provided him with an opportunity to do a little reminiscing.

Kozojed doesn't have much to regret. There was always the satisfaction of knowing that he was a part of something great that made a difference.

It was a satisfaction that comes from helping people, he explained. While he may have delivered blood to a hospital that resulted in saving a life, for example, he was only one part of a group that saved a life. Though they can often be terrible things to witness, it was also being a part of an effort to help people who had been in traffic accidents. And, in some instances although he was dealing with people in negative situations, such as in writing traffic tickets, Kozojed looked at it as having done something to reduce the number of traffic accidents and having made Minnesota a better place to live.

At the pinnacle of his career he was Chief of the Minnesota State Patrol, but even then he believes he was just among many who desired

Fire guts Norman County East school

Twin Valley — Firefighters were called to the scene of a fire at Norman County East school shortly after 7 p.m. Tuesday, December 26. Firefighters from five departments responded to the call. By the time they arrived, flames were shooting through the roof.

"It appears it's completely gutted inside," said Principal Greg Lund.

The oldest part of the building was destroyed. Lund said that a fire door between the old and new buildings was shut before the fire could spread. No injuries were reported. A cause and the damage estimate were not immediately available.

Having guests for a New Year celebration? I went through my ever-increasing pile of recipes clipped from here and there and found these, all of which sound like interesting party food.

This recipe had no time or temp given, but it sounded so delicious that I had to give it to you — I would make the balls very tiny and try them at 350 to start, adding to the temp if they didn't get brown and crusty:

POTATO CHEESE BALLS
Mashed potatoes
Velveeta cheese
Crushed corn flakes
Melted butter

In the middle of a scoop of mashed potatoes, place a cube of Velveeta cheese. Form potatoes into a ball.

Dip in melted butter and then in crushed corn flakes. Place in baking dish.

Bake until cheese is melted.

Here is a tasty non-alcoholic alternative for your party:

ORANGE HOT TODDY
1/2 cup sugar
12 whole cloves
3 cans (6 ounces each) frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed and reconstituted
1/2 cup water
2 (2-inch) pieces of stick cinnamon
1 quart sweet apple cider

Combine sugar, water and spices in saucepan. Simmer 10 minutes and strain.

Add orange juice and cider and heat.

Serve with cinnamon stick stirrers. (Recipe makes 28 half cup servings.)

Serve these tasty morsels with your Hot Toddies:

TATER DIPPED VEGGIES
1 cup instant potato flakes
1/3 cup grated Parmesan cheese
1/2 teaspoon celery salt
1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
1/4 cup butter, melted and cooled
2 eggs
4-5 cups raw vegetables, cut into bite sized pieces

Combine potato flakes, cheese, celery salt, garlic powder and butter in a bowl.

In another bowl, beat eggs.

Dip vegetables, one at a time, into egg, then into potato mixture, coating well. Place on ungreased baking sheet and bake at 400 degrees for 20-25 minutes.

Serve with dip, if desired.

You can't get much easier than this:

BEER CHEESE SOUP
4 cans cream of celery soup
2 cans evaporated milk
2 pounds Velveeta cheese
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Dash paprika
Dash parsley flakes
1 or 2 cans of beer

Combine all ingredients and heat over low heat.

Make up a bunch of these little goodies and refrigerate to have ready to pop under the broiler for your guests:

MINI PIZZAS
1 can tomato soup
1-2 teaspoons oregano
Sprinkle of onion powder and garlic powder
4-6 hamburger buns or English muffins, split and toasted
1/2 cup shredded American or mozzarella cheese

Mix soup, oregano, onion and garlic powders and heat.

Spread over buns and top with cheese.

Broil until cheese melts.

(Can also use other ingredients to top, such as browned hamburger, pepperoni, mushrooms, pepper, black olives.)

Your guests will love this spicy coffee:

SCANDINAVIAN SPICED COFFEE
4 cups hot coffee
1 cinnamon stick
6 whole allspice
1/8 teaspoon ground cardamom
1/4 cup sugar
4 fresh orange peel strips
4 tablespoons orange liqueur
Sweetened whipped cream, if desired

Combine first 6 ingredients in medium saucepan. Heat gently, stirring to dissolve sugar.

When heated through, turn off heat, cover and let stand for 15-20 minutes. Then reheat and strain.

Pour into cups and put 1 tablespoon orange liqueur in each cup. Top with whipped cream.

Bingo fund aids agencies

Bingo operation of the Heritage Community Center in Thief River Falls provided $3,850 to local groups and organizations during the 1995 calendar year and provided the center itself with $3,250 for its operational needs, according to Harry Oen, Bingo fund manager.

According to Oen's annual report, there were 49 days on which Bingo was played at the center in 1995, with gross income of $35,746.61. Of that total, $26,287 was returned in cash prizes and $9,459.61 was deposited for payment of expenses and charitable donations.

Records for the year showed total attendance at the games of 4,280 or an average of 87 per session. The players spent an average of $83.52 per person for the year and received an average of $61.42 in prize money. Total play per date averaged $729.51 with players averaging $8.37 in game card purchases and $5.36 in prizes received.

Expenses of the operation included $908.51 to the Department of Revenue, $1,478.64 in supplies, $120 for a manager's bond and $400 to the State of Minnesota for a two-year license.

In addition to the $3,250 which went to operations of the Heritage Community Center, other donations made during the year included the following:

Friendship Club, $150, Thief River Falls Area Food Shelf, $450, Northland Area Hospice, $950, Salvation Army, $600, Special Olympics, $200, Little Brother/Little Sister, $250, Pennington County Chapter, American Cancer Society, $550, Camp Sunshine, $200, and Northwest Senior Federation $500.

The Bingo operation finished the year with $290 in cash on hand and $1,441.21 in checking, as well as $321.14 in supplies inventory. Last year the account closed with a balance of $2,278.75.

Oen pointed out that the Bingo operation is conducted entirely with volunteers, and he expressed his appreciation and that of the Heritage Center board to those who have assisted with the program as well as those who have come to play. Bingo is played at the center each Tuesday beginning at 1 p.m. and is open to anyone 19 years of age and older. Each session consists of 20 games.

Small Businesses Seek Solutions To Employee Reference Dilemma

Time was when references from previous employers were important considerations in hiring practices and workers were cognizant of the importance of present performance if they hoped to gain advancement in the future. Now America's lawsuit mentality has changed all that.

"The fear of lawsuits, among the biggest concerns small business owners face in the 1990s, has made the job reference virtually useless for Minnesota employers," states Steve Becher, president of Becher Enterprises in St. Paul.

"Once a standard of hiring, checking references has become a pointless exercise that accomplishes little and carries significant risks. In the process, business owners and hard-working employees suffer. The worker fired for cause, angered by the alleged 'defamation' and armed with a lawyer on contingency, stands to gain the most," Becher adds.

The problem is a legal system that allows individuals to sue a former employer who provides anything more substantial than dates of employment and salary history. This forces the hiring company to make a decision on incomplete data, and some employers have been sued for alleged negligence in hiring employees who may be incompetent, vicious or even dangerous to others. They are being accused of not adequately checking the records and references to job applicants, according to Becher.

One small business owner in Grand Rapids, Michigan, discharged an employee following months of chronic absenteeism and refusal to follow management instructions. When he provided that information in response to another employer's reference check, a lawyer for the former employee threatened to sue him. The business owner settled the matter by providing a glowing letter that extolled the former employee's virtues.

"Not only can undesirable workers leave their poor track records behind, but good workers have difficulty getting a good reference because employers have become very gun-shy about giving any detailed references," Becher writes. "The result is that all applicants look the same until they are hired. And then it's too late."

Becher chairs the Guardian Advisory Council for the Minnesota chapter of the National Federation of Independent Business. His organization is pushing for adoption in this state of an employer immunity law that would clarify the types of personnel information that can be provided to prospective employers without exposing businesses to liability for defamation.

We can understand where Becher and others with the same concerns about lawsuits are coming from, but it seems unnecessarily burdensome and complicated. All that should be necessary for previous employers is to be truthful in their references—no more, no less. Employers should not be held hostage with threat of frivolous lawsuit. Neither should good workers seeking employment elsewhere have to worry about vindictive employers giving false bad references in retaliation for their leaving.

More laws and lawsuits shouldn't be needed in this circumstance. Only one basic need be applied—the truth.

When Are "Our" Forests Really Our Forests?

In giving the go-ahead to Potlatch Corporation for a planned expansion at its plant in Cook, the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency has determined that it would have "no significant environmental effects." That determination is now being challenged by the National Audubon Society, Duluth Audubon Society and an organization which calls itself Minnesota Center for Environmental Advocacy.

"The PCA decision boggles the mind," states Don Arnosti, Minnesota director of the National Audubon Society in a prepared news release. "Dozens of impacts are documented in the state-sponsored Generic Environmental Impact Statement (GEIS) studies. The state is trading trees for talk. Roundtables and toothless forest councils meet to talk about better forestry while the industry is getting a green light for more cutting. That is not acceptable."

Brian O'Neill, an attorney who filed suit in St. Louis county district court, said that "we are asking the courts to order the PCA to prepare an environmental impact statement (EIS) to better understand the ecological and economic consequences of this expansion." He said "the time has come for the PCA to stop carrying water for the industry and start complying with the law."

Katie Dawson, president of the Duluth Audubon Society, said that unit joined in the lawsuit "...because our members are concerned that increased cutting will harm dozens of forest birds in northeastern Minnesota."

Bridget Hust, staff attorney for MCEA, added: "One million dollars of scientific research says current logging is not sustainable. This is a case of big industry having its way with the health of our forests for short-term financial gain. We are asking that the needs of future generations be considered as well."

Well, now, let's wait just a minute here. What does attorney Hust mean when she refers to "our forests" and how does she arrive at that possessive terminology? Why should she and Arnosti and Dawson and O'Neill feel empowered to interject themselves into the situation and seek to impose their narrow views? Isn't there something immoral or at least improper about that?

We called Potlatch Corporation and talked to Mike Birkeland at Cloquet. He said there are five million acres of forest land within a 50-mile radius of the Cook plant. Those five million acres are in a combination of private, county, state and federal ownership and include acreage in Voyageurs National Park, the Boundary Waters Canoe Area and Superior National Forest, all of which either prohibit or restrict timber harvest. No other owners of forest land are required to have their timber harvested.

Of the harvest projected for the plant addition at Cook, 75 per cent would be aspen (commonly called popple) and the remainder would be a combination of pine, birch and balm of Gilead. Among those species, all but pine are prone to natural regeneration. Pine will have a head start on forest re-growth if seedlings are planted.

At its nursery in Cloquet, Potlatch has about 2.5 million seedlings, about half of which are planted on corporation holdings for regeneration each year. The company also offers management advice and assistance free of charge for two years to owners of property from which trees are harvested for the company's operations.

Does this sound like "...big industry having its way with the health of our forests for short-term financial gain?" How many trees do the National or Duluth Audubon Society or the Minnesota Center for Environmental Advocacy plant each year to "provide for the needs of future generations?" Who is really "trading trees for talk?"

Regarding this latest effort to influence what other people do with their property, we think the MPCA should require one large tree to be set aside in the harvest area of the Cook plant. And the court should tell Audubon, MCEA, et al to go climb it.

Alcohol at your party? Minimize risk to guests

Some people may choose to serve alcohol during the gatherings of the holiday season when friends, co-workers and families get together to celebrate the season, notes Carrie Bang, field staff member in Crookston for the Minnesota Prevention Resource Center in Anoka.

"In order to minimize risk and promote safety concerning alcoholic beverages, there are things that can be done," she said. "Those who choose to serve alcohol at their events are encouraged to note the following points in this Recipe for Responsible Hosting."

Measure the appropriateness of serving alcohol for the party you will host. Are most guests non-drinkers? Will children be present? Think about the kinds of messages children receive when alcohol is served at family events.

Warm up the party with personal greetings and introductions. Make guests feel at ease without alcohol.

Prepare snacks to go with beverages. Go easy on the salty, thirst-producing appetizers.

Limit the amount of alcohol that is served, if it is offered at all. A good rule of thumb is one drink—a beer, a glass of wine or a one-shot mixed drink—per hour. That's about all the average person can handle safely.

Fill your event with activities people enjoy, like dancing, sports, social games and good conversation. Guests who are having fun are less likely to seek out the bartender.

Mix nonalcoholic drinks and alcoholic drinks, if served, with equal flair. The recipes at the end of this article will provide a start.

Place a generous supply of nonalcoholic drink ingredients and recipes in a highly visible location, if you're not mixing the drinks yourself. Make sure everyone knows that nonalcoholic drinks are available. Don't push alcohol on people who choose not to drink.

Wrap up the serving of alcohol at least an hour before the end of the party, in anticipation of your guests' drive home.

Make the party climate one that discourages overindulgence. If, despite your best efforts, a guest has too much to drink, do everything you can to prevent him or her from driving. Ask a sober guest to drive an impaired guest home, or call a taxi. Invite the guest to stay longer, or overnight. Chances are your concern will be appreciated later.

Keep alert yourself, so you can be a good judge of your guests' conditions. They're your responsibility.

Those who have other questions are invited to contact the Minnesota Prevention Resource Center at 2829 Verndale Avenue, Anoka, MN 55303 or call 1-800-247-1303.

Following are three recipes for nonalcoholic beverages:

Lemonade Spritzer

Ingredients: 1 (6-oz.) can frozen lemonade concentrate, thawed; 3 cans water, 3 1/4 cups lemon-lime flavored carbonated beverage, chilled; 1 (12-oz.) can grapefruit-flavored carbonated beverage, chilled.

Method: In large non-metal pitcher, combine lemonade concentrate and water; mix well. Cover; refrigerate until thoroughly chilled. Just before serving, gently stir in lemon-lime beverage and grapefruit-flavored beverage. Serve over ice cubes. Garnish each serving with lemon twist and whole strawberry on a skewer, if desired.

Yield: Eight (1-cup) servings.

Juice Cube Slush

Ingredients: 1 (6 oz.) can flavor fruit juice concentrate, thawed; 1 can water; 1 1/2 cups lemon-lime flavored carbonated beverage, chilled.

Method: In large non-metal pitcher, combine fruit juice concentrate and water; mix well; Pour juice mixture into divided 10x4-inch plastic ice cube tray, filling to top of each section. Freeze until firm (about two hours). To make slush, unmold 1/2 tray of frozen juice cubes and place in blender container. Add 3/4 cup of the carbonated beverage; blend at medium speed until slush consistency. Pour into glasses. Repeat with remaining juice cubes and carbonated beverage. Serve immediately with spoons and straws.

Yield: Seven (1/2 cup) servings.

Pineapple Trade Wind

Ingredients: 1 pint (2 cups) pineapple sherbet, softened; 1/3 cup crushed pineapple in its own juice, drained; 1/4 cup canned cream of coconut; 2 teaspoons lime juice; 2 cups crushed ice; 1 teaspoon rum extract, if desired; 1/4 cup toasted coconut, if desired.

Method: In blender container, combine all ingredients except toasted coconut; blend until slush consistency. Pour into champagne or wine glasses. Garnish each serving with toasted coconut. Serve immediately.

Yield: 6 (1/2 cup) servings.

NCTC offers workshops on OSHA items

Criminal Justice Association at Northland Community and Technical College will tour a variety of criminal justice agencies in the Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada area on January 29 and 30.

The trip will begin with a tour of Headingly Correctional Center west of Winnipeg which was the site of all Manitoba legal executions. The historical gallows are still in place and open for viewing.

Winnipeg Police Department, the largest law enforcement agency in Manitoba, is second on the visitation list. Students will tour the administration, investigations and training divisions.

Third stop will be at Stony Mountain penitentiary which was built over 100 years ago and is distinctive in its Gothic style. This federal prison houses more than 450 of Canada's most dangerous felons.

The trip will conclude with a tour of the training division of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. The RCMP has a modern training facility for cadets. While the system will be foreign to Minnesota students, the contrasts with the state system are expected to be educational.

The NCTC Criminal Justice Club is an active organization on campus and plans a field trip to correctional facilities and prisons annually.

School District settlement deadline Jan. 16

Just three weeks remain until the January 16 deadline for school districts to reach contract settlement with their teachers. District that have not settled by that date, or filed for binding arbitration prior to January 2, lose $25 per pupil in state funding.

As of December 19, a total of 150 districts had either settled or come to tentative settlement with their teachers. That pace is ahead of the one set two years ago in the previous bargaining round. Approximately 215 districts still remain unsettled.

Average salary schedule increase for 1995-96 amounts to 2.51 per cent; for 1996-97 the salary schedule increase is 2.13 per cent. More than 31,300 teachers are included in the 150 settlements.

"We're pleased that the settlement pace exceeds that of the previous biennium," said MEA President Judy Schaubach. "However, lots of work still needs to be done. We hope the largely collaborative, problem-solving atmosphere that has led to so many of these successful negotiations continues in other districts."

4-H Communications Contest is January 29

Sign-up deadline is January 16 for the Pennington county 4-H Communications Contest to be held in the courthouse meeting room at 7 p.m. on Monday, January 29. The winners will advance to the cluster contest in Newfolden later next spring.

Members planning to participate in the contest are asked to call the county extension office with name and age of the entrant and category in which the member wishes to enter.

Four age categories will be open in the contest: Cloverbuds, Grades 1-3; Beginners, Grades 4-6; Intermediate, Grades 7-9; and Senior, Grades 10-12. (Cloverbuds may use one of the available topics or select one of their own.)

Topics for the contest are as follows:

(1) What I can do to help others understand that we are all different, and these differences make our community a better and more richly diverse place to live;

(2) What I can do in my school to help myself and others accept with a positive attitude that we are not all alike in our personal and cultural values and beliefs;

(3) Why it is important that I take an active and positive stance in how my school, my club or my community accept the differences among my classmates, friends and acquaintances.

Competition is open in the categories of public speaking, interpretive reading, creative writing and photo story.

In the public speaking and interpretive reading areas, time limits are 1-3 minutes for Cloverbuds, 2-4 minutes for Beginners, 4-5 minutes for Intermediates and 7-8 minutes for Seniors. Public speaking speeches must be written by the 4-H members with no more than 10 per cent of the speech as quotes. Seniors must provide judges with a duplicate copy of the speech before the competition.

In the interpretive reading category, sources can be published prose, poetry, fiction, comedy, humor, children's literature, news articles, speeches, letters, journals, etc. Sources can be put together with brief bridging statements. The source, author and a short introduction must be included and judges provided with a duplicate copy.

In creative writing, entrants in the Beginner category should submit one to two pages and in the Intermediate category should submit two to three pages, hand written or typed. Senior entries should be typed, double spaced, with one-inch margins and four pages in length plus a cover page that lists the title, author and county.

Photo story entrants also have specific sizes and quantities for photos in color or black and white with Intermediate entries to also write a 250-word essay and Seniors a 500 word essay. The photo story category is designed to develop a "newspaper reporting" style of communication.

Further information is available from the Pennington county extension office.

Capt. Tony Kozojed retires from State Patrol this week to make Minnesota a better place to live.

In hindsight, he might have changed some things, but he says he probably would have handled situations in much the same manner. However, he said he would have added knowledge he gained as Chief of Minnesota State Patrol — how to respond to politics and bureaucrats more specifically. "I may have been more successful in that aspect," Kozojed said.

As he leaves the State Patrol he sees the challenge before officers of District 32 as one involving budgets, distances and a reasonable response time.

As the population of the metro area grows, comparisons made with rural communities seem to indicate that rural districts are doing less. But they're not, he said. Officers and residents will have to be vigilant of those comparisons. Many people forget about the distances involved in northwestern Minnesota. District 32 encompasses as much territory as all of the metro area.

The trend, he said, will be to be more efficient, which doesn't mean they're inefficient now, he said.

Overall, he said it has been an enjoyable career with the Minnesota State Patrol and he is proud to have been a part of that organization.

After over 28 years on the Minnesota State Patrol and 32 years in law enforcement, Capt. Tony Kozojed, commander of Minnesota District 32, finished his last day of work at district headquarters in Thief River Falls on Tuesday, December 26. He was the 12th commander of the District 32, which now encompasses nine counties, and is served by 24 uniformed officers, one safety education officer, five radio support staff, two clerical staff, and a includes a fixed wing aircraft and two pilots.

Kozojed began his career with the Thief River Falls police department in February of 1963. He joined the Minnesota State Patrol in October of 1967. His first assignment was to the Warren/Hallock office, and he was there until 1979 when he was promoted to Lieutenant and moved to Marshall. In 1984 he accepted a lateral transfer back to Thief River Falls and served in Thief River Falls until 1990 when he was promoted to Captain and moved to Detroit Lakes. In 1991, Capt. Kozojed became Chief of the Minnesota State Patrol, a position he held until 1993. Capt. Kozojed then became District 32 commander and moved back to Thief River Falls.

He said he plans to stay in Thief River Falls. He doesn't have any plans for other jobs, with the exception of making a full-time job of retirement, and enjoying the summer when it arrives.

National Guard unit sponsors Top Gun marksmanship event

Approximately 60 high school junior and senior boys and girls are expected to participate in a Top Gun marksmanship competition on Monday, January 8, at the National Guard armory in Thief River Falls.

Registration will begin at 6 p.m. and students under 18 years of age must have a signed parental consent form in order to compete. The forms are available at the local armory. Call 218-681-0924 for more information.

Entrants will compete using both pellet rifles and pistols used by the Guard in its marksmanship training programs. Prizes will include a Ruger .22 caliber rifle, $50 savings bond and merchandise.

Sergeant First Class Greg Newhouse, Army National Guard recruiter, will host the event with the assistance of about 15 Guard members. Flyers have been sent out, students contacted and registration is open until the competition begins.

Terry Olson of Marshall County Central worked against Karl Anderson of Thief River Falls as the Nordics set up their offense in Thursday's high school basketball game that was part of the annual Northwest Russ Smith Holiday Classic in the Lincoln gym. The Prowlers won 68-55.

Falcons, Prowlers advance

A 1994 championship game rematch was set up Thursday when Fertile-Beltrami beat Clearbrook-Gonvick-Trail 72-45 and Thief River Falls stopped Marshall County Central 68-55 in the semifinals of the 13th annual Northwest Russ Smith Holiday Classic boys high school basketball tournament.

The Friday finals matched the Falcons and Prowlers, who met in last year's title game – won by Fertile-Beltrami 79-71.

In Thursday's consolation semifinals, Argyle outlasted Kittson Central 77-72 in overtime and Roseau edged Badger/Greenbush-Middle River 46-45.

Fertile-Beltrami 72
Clearbrook-Gonvick-Trail ..45

Fertile-Beltrami rolled into the tournament finals for the fourth time in five years with a 72-45 win over Clearbrook-Gonvick-Trail.

Greg North scored 19 points, Ryan Solie 15 and Chris Swenson 10 as the Falcons posted quarter leads of 14-9, 32-18 and 56-31.

Dana Johnson scored 12 points to lead the Bears.

Scoring

Thief River Falls.................68
Marshall County Central 55

There was no Kyle Sanden, so Thief River Falls used a balanced attack to beat Marshall County Central 68-55.

Sanden, the Prowlers' 6-10 center who has been sidelined by a knee injury, was used sparingly in an 84-59 quarterfinal win over Argyle and did not play at all against the Nordics. But his scoring load was distributed among Ryan Swanson with 18 points, Jared Brandt 12, Jon Blomker 10, and Courtney Skjerven 10.

The Prowlers never trailed after a Robby Farbo basket off an inbounds play put them ahead 11-9 with 1:27 left in the first quarter, but they never really shook the pesky Nordics until the end. Thief River Falls led at the quarter stops 15-12, 37-29 and 50-42.

It was still an eight-point game when the Nordics' Kyle Halvorson hit a 3-pointer with 1:51 remaining. But the Prowlers wrapped it up on two free throws by Farbo, a short turnaround jumper by Brandt and a fast break lay-up by Paul Kopari over the next 52 seconds.

Marshall County Central got double figure scoring from Micah Ranum with 14 points, Trevor Magner with 13 and Halvorson with 13.

The Prowlers were 29-for-64 from the field (45 percent) and 8-for-12 at the free throw line. The Nordics went 20-for-53 from the floor (38 percent) and 10-for-17 at the line. Thief River Falls had a 33-27 rebound edge; Marshall County Central had more turnovers, 23-16.

Roseau's Greg Pladson hit a jumper from the side with 12 seconds remaining to give Roseau a 46-45 win over Badger/Greenbush-Middle River.

The Gators called a quick timeout, but a Jed Geer launch from behind the time line caromed off the rim at the horn.

Roseau led the entire first half – ending a 16-10 first quarter on a 3-pointer by Jacob Mertens and finishing a 23-17 first half on a trey by Mike Benke.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River went on a nine point run early in the second half to go ahead 26-25 on a pair of Mike Haarstick free throws, and the spread was never more than four points the rest of the way.

Matt Kujava scored off a drive to put the Gators ahead 45-44 with 36 seconds left, but the Rams then worked the ball for Pladson's game-winner.

Pladson finished with a game-high 17 points. Kujava scored 12 and Daryl Wockenfuss had 11 for the Gators.

McDonald's Holiday Classic high school hockey...

Prowlers edge Red River 3-2

Two power play goals helped lift Thief River Falls past Grand Forks Red River 3-2 Wednesday in the first round of the McDonald's Holiday Classic – a three-day, six-team high school hockey series rotating between three sites.

East Grand Forks turned back Red Lake Falls 4-2 and Fargo South shut out Crookston 6-0 in the other Round 1 match-ups at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center.

Thief River Falls coach Pat Cullen, concerned with the Prowlers' 2-4 start this winter, liked what he saw in the win over the Roughriders. "It was a very good effort," he said. "It was the kind of effort we've been expecting all year. It was a 45-minute effort."

A soft-touch pass by Steve Ramheck was quickly converted into a Thief River Falls power play goal by Wade Chiodo at 13:59 to snap a scoreless first period tie.

Red River goalie Matt Wilson picked up an assist when he threw the puck up the ice to teammate Tim Skarperud, who then blasted a long shot from along the boards that caught the far corner on Thief River Falls goalie Chanc Keefe at 4:55 of the second period.

Thief River Falls capitalized on another power play opportunity to regain a 2-1 lead when Aaron Ehrenstrom's centering pass from behind the net set up a Keith Anderson goal at 9:09 of the second period.

Red River tied it again just two minutes later when the Prowlers' defense left too many Roughriders standing in front of the net, and Brad Myerchin picked up his own rebound to make it 2-2.

But the Prowlers out-shot the Roughriders 17-7 in the third period and won it on a shot that matched Skarperud's second period goal – a blast by Ehrenstrom from the right wing, close to the boards – that beat Wilson cleanly to the far side at 5:22.

"We beat a good hockey team," pointed out Cullen. "I thought we played well in all areas of the rink."

Scoring

First period - TRF, Wade Chiodo (Steve Ramheck, David Halsa), 13:59.

Second period - RR, Tim Skarperud (Matt Wilson), 4:55. TRF, Keith Anderson (Aaron Ehrenstrom, Nick Chiodo), 9:09. RR, Brad Myerchin (Craig Ludowese-Tanner Johnson), 11:06.

Grand Forks Red River defenseman Tony Lee (5) was hounded by Thief River Falls forward Chad Hanson as he tried to carry the puck behind the Roughriders' net during Wednesday's high school hockey game at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center. The Prowlers won the McDonald's Holiday Classic match-up 3-2.

Red Lake Falls gains 3-3 tie with Prowlers

Area high school hockey followers were given something to talk about Thursday when Red Lake Falls came up with a head-turning 3-3 overtime tie against Thief River Falls in the second round of the first McDonald's Holiday Classic.

The Prowlers were coming off a strong showing in a 3-2 Wednesday home ice win over Grand Forks Red River, but they never matched that effort against the Eagles in East Grand Forks.

"It was frustrating," said Thief River Falls coach Pat Cullen. "Our performance was not to the level of the night before. The longer they stayed in the game, the more confident they became."

Keith Anderson scored twice for the Prowlers and Chad Hanson came up with one goal. Todd Knott, Blaise Larson and Buckley Cota scored for the Eagles.

Thief River Falls had a 1-0 lead on Anderson's first goal midway through the first period before Knott tied it on a power play with just five seconds left.

Hanson gave the Prowlers another one-goal edge early in the second period, but Larson tied it at 7:19.

Red Lake Falls went ahead on Cota's goal at 9:26 of the third period, but Anderson got the equalizer 72 seconds later.

Thief River Falls out-shot Red Lake Falls 33-14, with junior Brian Barry making his first varsity start in goal for the Prowlers. Junior Grant Seeger was in the nets for the Eagles.

Tunheim invites contact on issues

Minnesota legislative session for 1996 begins January 16 and is expected to move quickly, so Rep. Jim Tunheim of Kennedy has invited people with concerns about issues facing the legislature to contact him and express their views early.

His telephone number is 218-674-4480 at Kennedy and 612-296-9635 in St. Paul. His mailing address is P.O. Box 66 at Kennedy, MN 56733 or 509 State Office Building, 100 Constitution Avenue, St. Paul, MN 55155-1298.

"It is very helpful for me to talk with folks in our community about the issues we are discussing at the Capitol," Rep. Tunheim said. "This year it is more important than ever for people to contact me early because of the short session."

The legislature sets its two-year budget in odd years as it did during the 1995 session, so even year sessions are typically shorter. The 1996 session could be completed by the end of March, and bills will have to be approved by committees even earlier than that if they are to become law, Rep. Tunheim said.

"Final adjournment will come much earlier than last year and committees will face shorter deadlines to act on bills," he added. "The timetable is shorter, so things will be happening fast."

While lawmakers tend to address fewer issues during even year sessions, 1996 could be different. The legislature is expected to have to react to federal budget cuts that could total a reduction of up to $7 billion in federal funds over the next seven years.

"Meanwhile, the most recent economic forecast projected that increased efficiency and a strong economy will lead to an $824 million budget surplus by the middle of 1997," Rep. Tunheim noted. "That money will be sent to the rainy day fund and be used to pay back money previously taken from school districts.

"Reducing the property tax recognition shift to zero will cost $794 million. It's probable that the Department of Finance will certify that $502 million is available for shift reduction this year and that the remaining $292 million could be appropriated in fiscal year 1997. That means the $292 million could be returned in programs such as local government aid and nursing homes whose budgets were trimmed in 1995.

"Those will be major concerns for us to deal with," Tunheim said, "but we will also consider school vouchers, speed limits, wetlands, crime legislation and other important issues."

Grain elevator and mill safety workshop set

Grain Elevator and Feed Mill Safety is the topic of a workshop for elevator and/or feed mill managers, supervisors and employees to be presented Tuesday, January 23, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Evergreen Eating Emporium in Thief River Falls.

The workshop is sponsored by the Custom Training and Continuing Education Department of Northland Community and Technical College and the Minnesota Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA).

Cost of $45 includes lunch and refreshments. For more information or to register prior to January 19 call 681-0793 or 1-800-959-6282, extension 0793.

MPCA rules ban small incinerators

After January, the use of small incinerators to burn wastes at apartment buildings, shopping centers, schools, nursing homes, homes and other sources will be banned in Minnesota.

The Minnesota Pollution Control Agency said that a 1994 rule allowed the continued use of these incinerators only until January 30, 1996, to allow users time to find other ways to dispose of wastes. Because these small incinerators lack sufficient pollution control equipment, they release large quantities of air pollutants and are estimated to be responsible for 93 per cent of dioxin emissions from burning wastes in Minnesota.

The only types of small waste combustors still allowed to be used in Minnesota are those used by hospitals, metal-recovery incinerators and animal, pathological and human crematoria. These incinerators are subject to a number of rule requirements to limit the air pollution they produce.

Large incinerators that burn municipal solid wastes are required to have extensive pollution-control equipment and procedures. The rule includes stringent limits on pollutants in their emissions.

AL FINNEY

This building on the Maynard Hjelle farm southeast of Newfolden once housed the Ole Lea store and Humboldt post office. After the post office was moved to the Dyre B. Bakke store further west in 1895, Lee continued to operate his store for another nine years. His top salary as Humboldt postmaster was $64.62 for the year in 1889.

Inside the present Newfolden post office, postmaster Patrick Passa shows some of the operation to grandchildren of early postmaster Ole Lee. From left are Thorvald Lee, Katherine Knutson, Valborg Huglen and Rev. Raynard Huglen. Mrs. Knutson's son Mark and grandsons Mitchell and Tyler are the fourth and fifth generations of the Lee family to receive mail through the Newfolden post office. An open house and special pictorial cancellation honoring the centennial of the Newfolden post office are scheduled for Saturday, January 6. Open house will be from 8 to 10:30 a.m. with refreshments to be served.

Newfolden post office to observe centennial

June, 1884.

"Throughout the summer, the homesteaders debated the question of where their post office should be located. It was finally decided that Ole Lee should apply for the postmastership for a new office to be situated at the Lee homestead in Section 14. The Lee farm was on the 'open' prairie in the east central region of the township where most of the earliest settlers had filed claims. The application was submitted on October 29, 1884.

Office Named Humboldt

"On November 26, 1884, Ole O. Lee was appointed postmaster by the outgoing Republican Administration of President Chester Arthur. The new post office was named 'Humboldt' after a German scientist whom Mr. Lee admired.

"Humboldt was established as a 'special office' since it was not located on an existing mail route. At the time, West Valley Post Office, which was 12 miles west of Humboldt, received mail once a week by special carrier from Argyle where the mail was dropped daily by the St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba Railroad. The mail for Humboldt was added to the West Valley special route. Another special carrier picked up the mail at West Valley and brought it to Humboldt.

Eight Month Salary Was $4.64

"The special carriers for each post office were paid at a salary equal to two-thirds the amount paid the postmaster. Ole Hevle was the mail carrier from West Valley to Humboldt. His salary for his first eight months of work was $3.09. for the same period, Postmaster Lee received compensation of $4.64.

"Humboldt was a special post office for one year. On December 16, 1885, a star route from Argyle was initiated to haul the mail to Foldahl, West Valley and Humboldt once a week. The task of hauling mail on the regular route was let out on bids, and Christian Hiaasen became the first carrier at a salary of $55 per year. D. B. Bakke succeeded Hiaasen as mail carrier on the lonely hike across the prairies and swamps."

Top Salary Was $64.62 A Year

"... Postmasters were paid a commission based upon the volume of mail processed by the office. Humboldt's role as an early postal center is shown by Postmaster Lee's increasing salary. In 1887, Mr. Lee earned $40.84, and in 1889 his pay increased to $64.62, a sum much higher than the salaries earned by neighboring postmasters.

"...By the mid-1980s, however, a tiny inland village had grown around Dyre B. Bakke's large general store in Section 22. With the population increasing more rapidly in the southern and western areas of New Folden township, the more conveniently located and growing Bakke Store replaced the smaller Lee Store as the social and business center of the community and was a logical spot for a post office.

"Therefore, on October 17, 1895, D. B. Bakke was appointed as the new postmaster at Humboldt by Democratic President Grover Cleveland and the Humboldt office was moved two miles west to Bakke's store in the geographical center of the township. Ole Lee, however, continued his store on the Humboldt Prairie for nine more years.

"Because the Bakke Store and its little surrounding village was known as New Folden, the new Humboldt postmaster soon asked for a change to resolve the difference. On January 6, 1896, the request was granted and, for the first time, the settlers in New Folden township received their mail addressed to New Folden, Minnesota...."
